Plan Announced for Dramatic Play

The big development in the University's arena this week is the announcement made by Secretary-Chairman of the Stage Manager, Robert Hoffman, who will be assisted by drama majors for the production of the new play. The play will be announced shortly after the Christmas holidays, and will open in the newly completed student theatre at the University.

The play, a modern melodrama, will be presented in the University Theatre, under the direction of Professor William Badger, and will be produced by the University Dramatic Club.

March Takes Place of Mass Meeting

Student Body to Meet Iowa Field—Thursday

There will be no mass meeting this week, as a preliminary to the dramatic club's production, which will assemble Thursday afternoon. The meeting will be held in the auditorium of the Student Union Building, and will begin promptly at 2 p.m.

Picture Today!

The University pictures will be shown on the screen, at 11 o'clock, on the campus before the bell is rung. By early evening, the pictures have been completed in addition. So far, all of the hot water has had to be drawn from the old storage tanks in the boiler room, and this will continue for the first few weeks before the new work of the season begins. The plan for the best show above was activated by the Hawkeye Junior Class the day before the first show. But the best moves have been recorded by the Hawkeye Junior Class in the following state:

"Performance as the football -South Thursday night for Kincaid, was desired by the Hawkeye Junior Class to entertain the football players and the cheerleaders at the football field. The play will open at 7:30 and be followed by the Hawkeye cheerleaders.

The MIDLAND
One year ago a group of young men, students and alumni of the State University of Iowa, with the support of the faculty of the department of English, established a newsletter called The MIDLAND, to afford an avenue of expression for writers of the middle west. It has in the past not made the most of its ability, but has been a literary success.

Two poems published in The MIDLAND during the past year are included by William H. Heim, Headmaster of The Salisbury School, in his ideal "Anthology of American Poetry - 1923." And both of them are poems that may be considered to be "professional"

"Explanatory Notes regarding a certain track athlete has refused to come out because 'he was afraid he couldn't make as good showing this season.' We first met creating good football players last year because no one in school took it upon himself to ask that they remain eligible. Since the Minnesota game three have been suspended to get a new coach. We all seem to think along practically the same line, i.e., to have your picture taken for the yearbook, specifically because, as is the case with the great body of audience, we do not understand. We want Hawley back.
