Four men placed last game as the Old Gold quintet at Lincoln. They are Captains Barson, Gross, Garrettson, and Wilson. Each had an unassailable lead in the low fifteen machines.

If the coach is sure your year's prep will be much better. The general trend of this fall, will be particularly pronounced and should show rapid development next year. In fact, the five-star who registered all of the men against Northwestern, will be a big blocker of more than ordinary ability, whose talents can be used to greater advantage now than at a future time.

The backfield quartet will lose no quarter, but others will be narrowly picked to the wire, whose success will be largely dependent on the drays against Iowa.

The present season has been interesting, perhaps one of the most interesting seasons ever experienced.

Barson has three victories, all no-rusher games, and still finds himself in the top third of the Iowa ratings.

At the beginning, Coach Hailey the untimely death of the largest cereal student that ever adorned the Haystacks teams.

Win from Cornell.

After working with his material with weak, Coach Hailey sent the team against Cornell in the opening match of the year. The Hawkeyes had to struggle in disposing of the Buffs.

But they sent the Buffs to a field of 5-1, and they scored a win over the Buffs in the first game of the season.

The following statement was made next to the athletic board:

The board is in control of athletes, testing the need of a better understanding among students, alumni, and the board, are laying plans for more general cooperation.

To this end, the board at a recent meeting appointed a committee that should consider and recommend a board broad action plan for cooperation among all those interested in athletics and also for making more widely known the plans and efforts made by Iowa for the development of inter-collegiate athletes.

The committee consists of Head Coach, G. Schneid, W. G. Pur-son, and F. C. Lamont.
