PRESIDENT CALLS ATTENTION TO PROGRAMME OF LECTURES

To the student body:

The attention of all University students is called to the remarkable series of evening programs offered for the coming week.

On Sunday evening, we have Mr. Charles H. Brown, "The Dean of the School of Religion at Yale University. Every student should be on hand to welcome our distinguished alumnus.

On Monday evening, we have Lady Gregory, of Ireland. Lady Gregory is famous for her cooperation with Yeats in a successful effort to revive Irish literature. She is a delightful lecturer, and no lover of books should fail to hear her.

On Tuesday evening, Mr. Louis F. Sullivan, American's foremost sculptor, will give an illustrated lecture on his special field of art, and will surely delight every lover of beautiful things.

Students of the University of Iowa, or of any university, will not soon see such a list as this again, and I am glad to see the energy of The Daily Iowan to awaken, if possible, universal interest.

THOMAS E. MACHEREY.

showed the existence of radio-active substances, which there were at least four of them. In the early part of the nineteenth century, a firm held a number of laboratories for the purpose of investigating these substances.

The discovery of radio-activity led to a number of other discoveries, including the conservation of mass. However, the theory of radio-activity was fundamentally destructive of the old theories of the nature of the atom. The atom changed its nature through a force from within, rather than through contact with external forces.

The new theory was reviewed by Professor Starbuck, and it was agreed that the new theory was superior to the old one. The new theory was based on the idea that the atom is a self-contained unit, and that the force of radio-activity is due to the inherent nature of the atom itself.

Boat in Control of Iowa Board
Takes Position against College
Rival Hints

As the representative of the Big Nine faculty center who filled last fall's seat in the Big Nine, he will now be called for changes in ruling against summer baseball.

It is expected that the conference may precipitate some decisions as to whether or not the conferences are believed to be in the best interest of the
the board. In his position, he will work the plans of the Big Nine.

The attitude of the board in the present case is quite endorsing. We are looking in the usual practice as for plans in all
the Big Nine.

With the "one year rule"
in effect last year, the Iowa
and other states
will see democracy in
the Big Nine.
