Another attempt to stabilize cus en on the board. The Iowans had a list of restrictions that they gave place to going on themselves, but when sophomores made an attempt to dictate the style of cap that should year, the movement which was started, died. But one of the caps selected has been seen on the Es. A freshman who understood that it wasn’t the cap he had started, his room mates, with wise

Sophomores, already passed away from fear that he might have to oth.

A Distinguished Victory

To the deans who represent Iowa on the platform Friday night, congratulations! The magnificent distinction of Minnesota was a delicious palliative for the injury caused to our pride by the defeat at Minneapolis on long ago and a gratifying assurance of the good quality of Iowa debating. The Iowa defeat was a savagely whipped labor. When a debating team considers one of the Judges that it is right to show that it is capable of playing well. In getting four votes out of a possible six in the two debates, the Iowa debaters showed themselves splendid representatives of their university.

The members of the team are really entitled to much credit. As conducted, Iowa debating is not, for, if once was a game in which a touch screen is not applicable to present material of the state university. The debating members have done their share of the work and the country. Mr. Glassman, Mr. Leonard Rucker, and their official assistants have done their part. To all of them is the proper proportion of the credit due.

Traditions of Inter-collegiate soccer, good college soccer, great conference, and Iowa must have lived up to its reputation. The Daily Iowan is jubilant in glory in the fact that Iowa is able to meet Illinois and Minnesota and other great universities in debate with some assurance that an even contest, if not a decisive one, a four days, Friday night, a declarative victory may be the result. The debate's outcome will not be a success due to many "Who-who-what?" as the doomsday of Minnesota in football would prove, but it is in every way as the absence of individual arrogance will be credited in the respect of the student body and of the state as a whole in the permanent good of the nation and for the security future influence.

APPROVES LAYMAN EXHIBIT

C. J. Mary of West Newton, Mass., president of the natural history society in one of his pamphlets, "Records of Walks and Talks with Nature," the following: "Although the fact that a scientific expedition under the auspices of the State University of Iowa, aided by the United States government, had been carried, as Layman claims, the part, 1911, in order to study the wonder, Aavan from there, it is not as generally known that there is at least equally wonderful vegetation on the island in the central museum of the State University of Iowa.

Flora and fauna characterize the approach and in paintings that beautiful vegetation was installed. It took Professor Dill and his assistants, three years of magnificent labor to complete it. Professor Dill and his assistants were to be congratulated upon the beauty perfect.

The committee which is in the bird hall, this guest of W. Ames, E. C. Wolcott of L L':. at the present time. There are only California condor, one of the rarest museum told me of after much who he thought had one. I went the liberal arts building to arrange session of the birds, I finally seem to object seriously to m. on GETS ngcd for an option on all of the days, from 2 to 3 and from 11 to 12. At the end of the first half the second year student had overwhelmed the more designated class team 13 to 2, but the fourth year quintette came back stronger in the last two periods and almost twice as busy quarters as their underclassmen.

The senior team was C. H. Snyder, Stephan Zittel, E. G. Blackstone, W. G. Rodgers, B. R. Webster, Martin Martinovich, and Karl Hoffman; the sophomore team was Glen Thomas, Harvey Hilt, Howard McKeen, Thomas Mathew, Frank Moncur, and Carl Hustler.

SUMMARY—goes field: day 2, Brehm, Hoffman, Thomas S. Winter, Mathew, Martinovich, Snyder 2. Snyder, McKeen, Hiltcher.

School—Friedrich Zwickel.

The second game of literary and literary team interclass contest will be played at the orchestra Monday, Dec. 8, at 8 p.m. between the senior and freshman.

Teaching Positions Open

Young People To Supply Heavy Demand for Teachers for Second Semester

The committee on recommendations of the university has learned a notice that all persons wishing teaching positions for the second semester may call at room 216 of the liberal arts building to arrange with the college of education, Dr. W. A. Jessop, for registration.

The committee received many calls of this time of year from schools over the state and elsewhere for the public schools. The openings were due to the fact that most of the teaching now employed was for, various purposes, and also that in many cases a large enrollment keeps increased teaching staff necessary. The institutions now are that an unusually large number of calls for teachers will occur in this month and the early part of January.

President to Address Clubs

President Moncur will be the principal speaker before the Minnesota federation of women’s clubs at the mid-winter meeting, in St. Paul Feb. 12.

A poetry club has been organized among the students in literature. The students have already been secured for the month of December, and plans are being laid for the continuation of literary interest among students and faculty.

Ground has been broken at Grimsby for a new gymnasium building. Compiled classroom conditions evidence an immediate need for another space.

GETS CORDON FOR MUSEUM

After much effort, Director H. D. Has spectum of Rare Bird Egg

Honor H. D. Will has just received a California condor, one of the rarest and most difficult species to catch at the present time. There are only about a half dozen museums in the country in possession of one of these birds.

"While I was in the west this past summer," said Professor Dill, "I visited all of the museums on the coast in order to get a condor. I was just about to give up, when a man in the Golden Gate Park museum told me of a Dr. Killean, who he thought had one. I went to see Dr. Killean, and although that visit proved abortive to popular people outside of California getting possession of the birds, I finally arrived so far as it will it could return to Iowa. Upon my return I found that the university did not have enough money to purchase the bird but a friend of mine advanced the money that we might have the condor to add to our series of rare birds.

Next to the passenger pigeons, which is the bird hall, this sender is one of the museum’s rarest specimens.
