ROBINS CAMPAIGN GETS INTO SWING

LEADER ARRIVES AND MAKES TWO ADDRESSES

Advises Students in Assembly Audience To Do Mission
Work

With the arrival of Raymond Robins in Iowa City yesterday morning, the Y. M. C. A. campaign got into full swing.

Mr. Robins went to work immediately. At 9 o'clock, he met at Close hall with the leaders and laid the plans for their four days' work. At 10 he spoke before men and women of the university assembled in the natural science auditorium.

Begin at Home.

"There are plenty of opportunities for mission work in our own country," Mr. Robins told his audience. In the slums of the large cities, among the foreigners in various settlements, religion is a thing vague and indefinite.

"It is what a man thinks and believes that gets him a place in the world. He needs some grit, he needs an ideal that will furnish encouragement for him when he is on the border of despair.

Speaks Twice Today.

Mr. Robins' big meeting today will be at 7 o'clock this evening when he will talk at a men's mass meeting. At 4:30 he will address the women at the Y. W. C. A. Other leaders will speak in various places during the day and will have personal conferences with students.

SUNDAY MEETINGS NOTABLE

Strong Addresses and Record Attendances Feature Opening of Campaign

Strong addresses and record attendances were features of the Y. M. C. A. campaign Sunday. The churches were packed both morning and evening. The young people's meetings also had special speakers.

The Rev. James M. Stifler, of Evanston, Ill., was at the Baptist church, the Rev. Edward S. Ames of Chicago at the Christian church, the Rev. Ozora Davis of Chicago at the Congregational, the Rev. James Baker of Urbana at the Methodist, the Rev. H. C. Rogers of Kansas City at the Presbyterian, and Mr. W. W. Gethmann and Mr. E. C. Wolcott at the English Lutheran.

A meeting of the promotion force committee and all outside leaders was held in the afternoon at Close hall.

The time of fifteen men was filled with twenty minute interviews with prominent university men and women yesterday from 11 o'clock until 4. Anyone who wishes to talk with the leaders here may still make arrangements for interviews.

TO APPLY ROBINS' MESSAGE

Miss Dodge Will Relate It to Women's Activities in Talk Thursday Evening

How the women of the university should go about the living of the message of the Raymond Robins meetings will be the subject of Miss Dodge's meeting of the Y. W. C. A. for all university and town women Thursday, in liberal arts auditorium, at 7 o'clock.

Miss Dodge is an eastern woman, a graduate of Mt. Holyoke. After her graduation she was general secretary of the Y. W. C. A. at the Normal school at Farmville. Because of her splendid work there she was recommended to the north central field to succeed Eva Morris.

Miss Dodge came here several times last year, and has a wide circle of friends in the university, but,

UNIVERSITY MEN MUST LEAD

Will Deal with Community Problems,
Robins Tells Men in Evening

The present generation must and will deal with more of the present community problems than in the past and it is going to be the result of the concerted action of the average individuals led by the university men of the present and future generations, Raymond Robins told the men at the mass meeting last night.

"Our urban problem is greater than many of the people imagine as there is only one language in which we can speak to such a mixed population." Drawing his illustration from the ward in Chicago in which he lives, Mr. Robins pointed out that the only way in which they could hope to touch these people, speaking twenty-two languages, was through our universal language of "Good Deeds."

Beginning with most fundamental needs of the individuals such as better milk supply for the children, cleaning of the streets, founding of schools, they gradually proved to these people that they were working for them.

SOCIALISTS ORGANIZE

Chapter of Intercollegiate Society
Formed to Study International
Socialism

As a result of the visit to the university of Harry Laidler, national secretary of the Intercollegiate Socialist society, the Iowa chapter of that organization was formed last Friday night. Mr. Isaac Rubenstein was elected chairman and Miss Jennie Bedrick secretary. The charter will be granted during next week by the national officers and work will be started at once.

The purpose of the organization is group study of international socialism. Free-for-all discussion will feature each meeting and the public is invited to attend and enter these discussions. All the meetings will be announced beforehand. Socialists of the university who have not yet joined are urged to do so at once, as are all non-socialists who have any abiding interest in the movement.

JAPANESE GIRL TO REMAIN

Mihoyo Nobuhara Will Not Return to Native Land after Graduation

Mihoyo Nobuhara, liberal arts senior, who will be graduated from the university in February, does not expect to return to Japan. Opportunities for women are so rare in her country that Miss Nobuhara has decided to stay in the United States, and, after a time spent in graduate study, to go into chautauqua or lyceum work, if possible, speaking in costume of her own country.

Those who heard Miss Nobuhara before the Cosmopolitan club in the liberal arts auditorium Saturday evening found delight in the quality of her English speech.

GLOOM MARKS RUSSIAN MUSIC

Mrs. Anna Diller Starbuck showed, before a meeting of the Humanist society last evening, an analysis of the melancholy of Russian music of the present day. "They use special devices to produce this effect," said Mrs. Starbuck, "and the prevalent gloom of the Russian people is well shown in their musical productions." Mrs. Starbuck showed the character of the Russian music by illustrations on the piano.

MANY GIRLS WANT TO TAKE SWIMMING

EIGHT HUNDRED HAVE ASKED FOR PRIVILEGE

Pool Ready Jan. 1, but Classes May Not be Started That Early

Eight hundred girls have asked to take swimming when the new pool is ready in the women's gymnasium. Therefore a large percentage of the women student body will be interested to know that the new pool will be finished and in condition for classes Jan. 1. This is the report which came from the physical education department yesterday. This does not say that swimming will begin then. Further plans are pending and will be announced later.

The regular classes are receiving their new suits this week, and the lockers are being assigned, with a view to starting floor work immediately after the holidays.

Twenty-two girls who had been assigned to remedial work have been excused, owing to the fact that the department in its new quarters, with its small faculty, is not yet able to meet the great demand made upon it.

TO HEAR MAJOR PHALEN

Cadets Will Attend Lecture This Afternoon of U. S. Medical Corps Officer

This afternoon the cadet regiment will listen to a talk by Major Phalen of the U. S. army medical corps, in the liberal arts auditorium.

Major Phalen, who has his headquarters at Chicago, is in charge of the medical corps detachments in the national guard of the Central department. It is his duty to inspect these detachments twice each year. Besides this, he visits each detachment three or four times during the year for the purpose of instructing and giving short talks. He is here now on one of his inspection tours and has promised to talk to the cadets on this phase of military work. This evening, Lieutenant Phinney will take the officers up to Company A hall to attend Major Phalen's lecture on "First Aid."

The cadets will "fall in" between the liberal arts and physics buildings at 4:30 this afternoon and march into the auditorium. They are expected to appear in uniform and to bring notebooks.

USED PIE TO GET STUDENTS

The social welfare conference listened last Friday evening to an account by Thames Williamson, a liberal arts student, of his last summer's work with the Greeks in Chicago.

Mr. Williamson did social work among the Greeks about Chicago commons, the settlement headed by Graham Taylor, organizing the men of the neighborhood into English, athletic, and dancing classes. He relied largely on his ability to win their confidence, and during the summer had many interesting experiences.

"I secured a noteworthy addition to my English class," Mr. Williamson said, "by buying some pie for a group of previously disinterested fellows, and ever afterwards I had only to mention pie to get their immediate attention and support. Others had almost literally to be hauled from the coffee-houses, and it was a long time before any of them would come to the settlement without first being rounded up and corralled each night."

The greatest draw-back to the work, according to Mr. Williamson, is the suspicious and blasé attitude of the lower class of Greeks.

DAME RUMOR FALSE; NO EXTRA HOLIDAY

The report which spread rapidly on the campus yesterday to the effect that university classes would be dismissed for the Christmas recess next Friday instead of at noon Thursday, Dec. 23 was, as someone has remarked, "important if true." It proved to be unimportant.

The freshman who had dreams of extra days in which to exhibit his erudition to the admiring observation of the "hum" town folks will have to blow the smoke away and get down to the grind again.

Yes, "somebody is always taking the joy out of life."

PLAY WESLEYAN MONDAY

Iowa Basket Ball Team Will Start
Season on Home Floor—Prospects Good

The first basket ball game of the year will be played on the new floor of the men's gymnasium Monday evening, Dec. 20, when the Iowa team will meet Iowa Wesleyan. It is anticipated that the team ought to have no trouble in winning this game. "However, you can't always tell," Coach Kent says.

Coach Kent sent the varsity basketball squad through a stiff scrimmage with the freshmen yesterday afternoon, giving all of the men on the squad a good workout. The team is coming along fine as is evidenced by the good passing for so early in the season. The team's weakest point at present is on guarding but with another week before the Iowa Wesleyan contest this will be greatly strengthened and the team should be in fine form. The first two strings win easily from Coach Wheeler's men and although a lighter team than ever will furnish our opponents some mighty stiff competition.

At center Dutton, Fieseler, and Eggleston are showing up well; Schiff, Ticktin, Garretson, K. Von Lackum, Laun, and Beyers are coming out strong at the guard positions; and Bannick, W. H. Von Lackum, Nevin, Potter, and Pates are putting up a good scrap for the forward wall. Jenkins, who has been showing up strong at guard, is laid up in the hospital with pneumonia.

BANQUET ENDS INSTALLATION

Ames and Simpson Chapters of A. T. O. Entertain in Honor of New Group

A formal banquet at Hotel Jefferson Saturday evening marked the closing of the Alpha Tau Omega installation and the conclave of Province Three of that fraternity. The banquet was given by the Ames and Simpson chapters to the delegates, visitors, and new chapter of the fraternity.

Hon. George B. Drake of Denver, chief of Province Three, acted as toastmaster in the absence of W. C. Smiley, Minneapolis, worthy grand keeper of annals, who was unexpectedly called away. Afterward, the six-course, banquet toasts were given by the following persons: Dr. D. W. Wiley, Iowa City; Russell Jordan, Chicago; Ray W. Clearman, Iowa City; D. D. Kruideneir, Des Moines; R. C. Fountain, Iowa City; John Bettridge, Minneapolis; and W. N. Jorden, Des Moines.

STICKERS ARE GOING RAPIDLY

Pennant stickers for bag and suitcase, which the University of Iowa association has been giving away at the rate of several hundred a day will soon be gone, according to Secretary Theodore Waner. The supply originally totalled ten thousand. Mr. Waner expects to have enough to supply the whole student body, but he urges those who wish to be sure of getting them to call at once.

UNION MEMBERSHIPS SOLD IN BIG LOTS

DIRECTORS SIGN PLEDGE AND TAKE TEN EACH

Campaign Launched to Get Five Hundred More Members by January 3

A unique plan for increasing the membership roll of the Iowa union was adopted at the meeting of the directors of the organization Sunday afternoon. Fourteen members were present and each pledged himself by check for ten dollars payable Jan. 3, 1916, to gain ten new members for the union or to donate that sum, providing an additional number of university men to bring the total up to fifty be pledged in a similar manner.

The directors determined to make the union a really representative student association. Several plans were discussed but the one here outlined was finally adopted. Eighty new members were obtained as a result of the mass meeting last week, but the directors feel that this is not sufficient. Before steps can be taken with a view to obtaining a union building the students must be behind the movement as a unit.

Dances Considered

Several other matters were discussed but no definite action taken. The matter of union dances which were so popular last year was brought up, and if a suitable hall can be obtained they will be given again this year. If possible one may be given before the Christmas vacation.

Following is the pledge adopted and the subscribers to date:

"We, the undersigned members of the board of directors and officers of the Iowa union, do hereby subscribe an amount of ten dollars payable to the Iowa union by check dated January 3, 1916, provided an additional number of university men to bring the total up to fifty be secured for a similar subscription."

May Sell Memberships

"It is hereby understood that the above mentioned subscribers shall be permitted to reimburse themselves for their subscription by the sale of Iowa union memberships."

Ray W. Clearman, Frank J. Enright, L. G. Haymond, G. L. Dixon, Wayne J. Foster, F. Deardorff, H. W. Hartman, A. H. Gunderson, B. F. Hill, H. F. Thuenan, Robt. Rienow, Harold C. Place, W. Keith Hammill, H. M. Jobes, H. O. Miller, C. D. Waterman, Samuel E. Gross.

COACH WHEELER PICKS SQUAD

Coach Frank L. Wheeler has picked the following men as members of the freshman basketball squad: H. V. Rasmussen, Fred Becker, M. A. Olson, Charles Young, and W. H. Paige for centers; Clifford Berrien, Sid Nichols, Glen Gray, C. W. McClurg, and A. E. Brown for forwards; George Francois, R. C. Klatt, H. M. Patton, Ralph Kennon, W. L. Erickson, Howard Younkin, and Leo Cohrt for guards. These men have been showing up especially strong and are furnishing some valuable competition for Coach Kent's varsity men.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Professional Women's League—The Professional Women's league will meet at the public library this evening at 7 o'clock.

THE RUSSIAN DRAMA

Outline of an address by Francis Snow before the Readers' club, Thursday evening, December 9.

The beginning of the Russian national drama dates back only to the middle of the eighteenth century, until this period a dreary pseudoclassicism of foreign imitation reigns. Not till we come to Gribogedov, Gogol and Ostrovsky do we find the peculiar print and impress of the Russian character which is manifest in all the modern Russian drama, that tendency definable as toska (pronounced tasska).

The soul-sickness of the Russian people first appears in drama in the plays of Ostrovsky, his "Poverty no Vice" and "The Thunderstorm." In the first, Lubim-Torstov is the forerunner of a whole symbolic type of Russian Hamlets and Don Quixotes; in whom will is non-existent and who are pathologically diseased; whose cri du coeur is that of Boris in the Thunderstorm, "Oh! if I were strong!"—a cry that reverberates all through Russian literature and which is the chief premise of the Russian drama today.

So in A. K. Tolstoi's historical tragedies from the time of John the Terrible, in the fascinating character of John the Terrible and in that of Isar Fiodr Ivanovich, modelled on that typical Russian, Aleksandr II., we see depicted the nature of the Russian man in his great extremes, his sea-like fluctuation of mood, his desire of change, his aspirations, his strange soul-sickness, his inability, weakness and despair.

In the three great representatives of modern Russian drama, Anton Chekhov, Leonid Andreev and Maxim Gorky, we see this nation-wide psychical disease militating against the writing of successful drama. With but few exceptions the dramatic efforts of these writers of genius are lamentable failures. The explanation for this obvious—the plays are almost entirely devoid of action. And why is there no action? Because the psychological states of the "heroes" preclude all action. The first condition of their natures is that they cannot act. They are victims of toska.

To give a clearer idea of what toska is, the speaker described in some detail the character of a novel by Goncharov which appeared in the '50s, called from the name of the hero, Oblomov. Oblomov's name, he explained, has become proverbial in Russia in the term Oblomovshchina which is used to define the national weakness of will and pathological disorders.)

Oblomov is found in all of Chekhov's dramas, as well as in the plays of Gorky and Andreev. (The speaker analyzed Chekhov's Ivanov, The Sea-Gull, The Three Sisters, and Uncle Vanya; Andreev's To the Stars, The Life of Man, The Black Maskers, Anathema; and Gorky's In the Abyss and Summer Residents, showing how the Russian national type constantly appears.)

A notable exception to the general rule of dramatic failure is Andreev's Life of Man, which has an element of somewhat stiff and geometrical sublimity and which makes Man a rebel against his Fate and not a weakling; Gorky, too, in his didactic works revolted against the type but later descended to its level.

Modern Russian drama, is as drama, failure; yet the small number of dramas written are valuable as documents, throwing into illumination the Russian mind, the depths of the national soul. Nor is the soul all darkness. Weak, ill, pathological, it is also filled with sparks of love and compassion; it has its moments of glow and radiance; its bitter self-contempt is a lash which spurs it on its way to the divine.
