HOWARD JONES, FORMER YALE HEAD COACH, CHOSEN BY BOARD TO SUCCEED JESS HAWLEY

Wires Agreement to Contract Calling for Five and One-Half Years' Service

SELECTED FROM FORTY

Has Notable Record as Player and Coach—Begins Work at Iowa Feb. 1

Following the prediction printed exclusively by The Daily Iowan Sunday morning that the board in control of athletics would probably name the new coach Monday, announcement was made yesterday that Howard Jones, famous as player and coach at Yale, had been chosen. The board was unanimous in its selection of Jones from a list of more than forty men available. The contract which he has agreed to sign will pledge him to service here for five and one-half years, beginning Feb. 1, 1916.

Jones is a graduate of Yale, was head coach there during the years of 1909 and 1913; coach at Syracuse in 1908; coach at Ohio State in 1910. During the years of 1911, 1912, 1914, and 1915 he has acted as advisory coach at Yale, on what is known as Yale's board of strategy. His teams have had an almost unbroken string of victories.

Exactly the Man. "We started with a very definite idea as to just the type of a man we wanted to handle our football team here," said Dean Teeters, "and in Mr. Jones we, as athletic managers, feel that we have filled the place. His recommendations are of the best, and his record of successful coaching is, to say the least, an enviable one."

"Personally he is a quiet, modest, unassuming young man, filled with life and vitality and a natural leader. He has perfect confidence in his football knowledge and ability. One senses this from his attitude, not from what he says. He is very quiet. Every letter emphasizes, just as Mr. French, head of athletics at Columbus, Ohio (Ohio State) said in a recent letter to me, 'He is an exceedingly close student of the game, yet you will find that you will have to rely on actions rather than words for evidence of this.' He does not talk in regard to his ability."

LIVE BY THEIR RIFLES

That is Secret of Success of Stefansson and Anderson, Professor Nutting Says

"The great success of Rudolf M. M. Anderson and Vilhjalmur Stefansson in their northern expeditions," said Professor C. C. Nutting of the department of zoology, in commenting yesterday on Anderson's letter printed in Sunday's Iowan, "is due to the fact that instead of travelling laden down with heavy provisions they trust to their rifles to furnish them with sufficient food."

"One company of northern explorers became so dependent upon their own flour and canned foods that they were forced to abandon the expedition when these supplies were exhausted. Anderson and Stefansson, however, live like the Eskimos, killing their meat as they need it, and living mainly on meat."

"They are both skilled riflemen. Anderson having been captain of the battalion of this university. Their travelling outfit consists chiefly of guns and ammunition."

"Others just as brave and determined men as these two have failed in northern explorations because they have not had the right system of travelling—that of depending on the resources of the country in which they find themselves. Unless some unforeseen accident should befall them, Anderson and Stefansson can go on exploring in this way indefinitely."

Anderson was connected with the zoology department of the State University of Iowa as taxidermist and assistant to Professor Nutting. He is now collecting new specimens for that department in the far north.

AGAIN RUMOR FLOATS WITHOUT CAUSE

The report circulated late last evening to the effect that the colleges and schools would be dismissed today at noon proved to be unfounded upon investigation.

Rumor had it that the board of deans met yesterday afternoon for the purpose of discussing the advisability of dismissing the classes of the university two days early, that the meeting was left unfinished at that time, and that another meeting was to be held in the late evening, but, as has been the case of late, the worthy dame proved unworthy and the result is, as far as The Daily Iowan could ascertain, that classes will run the full course stated on the calendars.

Dr. Mary K. Heard will leave for her home in Northeast, Pa., Thursday afternoon.

HAWKEYE CUTS CAUSE OF MORE LAW SUITS

HOADLEY FAILS TO COLLECT FROM OWL AND KEYS.

Judge Hayes Can't See the Claim So He Taxes $5.80 to the Plaintiff

Two more lawsuits have resulted from unpaid bills for Hawkeye cuts and printing. C. W. Hoadley, junior law, is the plaintiff in each. In one he failed to make his case and must pay $5.80 costs; and the other is continued.

Both cases are for cuts and printing in the 1915 Hawkeye, the one published two years ago, and in each the plaintiff is the assignee of the original publishers. Both cases were originally filed in the justice court of Samuel Hayes, on the ground that Judge Ewing was prejudiced.

In the first case Owl and Keys, a sophomore organization, and Robert Showers, a member, were defendants and the amount claimed was $12.00. The case was tried to the court Wednesday and after hearing the evidence Squire Hayes took a day to consider the matter and decided that the plaintiff had failed to make his case and therefore it was dismissed at his costs.

In the second case the freshman Pan-Hellenic council and Wilbur Cannon, who was a member, are named as defendants. The amount claimed is $16.00 and interest at six per cent from Dec. 1, 1915. This case will probably be tried in the near future.

Attorney Milton Remley represented the plaintiff and Frank F. Messer, the defendants.

CAR AT CURRIER DROPS

Luckily, No One Hurt When Elevator Cable Breaks—Safety Catch Works

Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, the cable of the elevator at Currier hall broke and sent the car crashing down the shaft.

Elizabeth Houser was alone in the car and was badly frightened, but was not injured. The safety catch prevented the elevator from falling to the ground floor, and the only damage was the shattering of the big glass window.

PRESIDENT MACBRIDE HONORED

President Macbride has been elected to honorary individual membership in the Pan-American Scientific Congress, the meeting of which will be held in Washington during the Christmas holidays. The president will not be able to attend the meeting as he will be in Chicago at the meeting of the American Law Schools. The Iowa representatives will be F. Horack and Paul S. Peirce.

JACKSON CO. STUDENTS MEET

There will be a meeting of the students from Jackson county in room 204 of the liberal arts building, tonight at 7 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting, which is called at the request of Jackson county alumni, is to discuss plans relative to an Iowa reunion to be held at Maquoketa during Christmas vacation.

GRIPPE GERMS FIND MANY NEW VICTIMS

The grippe germ is continuing its deadly work. Four more men have joined the twelve who had taken accommodations in the hospital by Saturday. The new patients are Frank McKee and Edward Mansfield, freshmen; Victoriano Diamon, junior liberal arts, and Homer Scott, freshman in medicine.

Among the girls at Currier who have been confined to their rooms under the care of a physician during the last week are: Carolyn McGuire, Katherine O'Grady, Elsie Cutler, Bernice Cole, Edna Murphy, Erica Riepe, Ethel Roe, Ethel Blythe, Ethel Richardson, Ethel Henry, Charlotte Moody, Martha Robinson, Mildred Mansfield, Dorothy Messenger, Lucile Sawyer.

Other Currier girls who are ill, but who have been removed to the university hospital are Dorothy Hull and Luzia Thomas.

Amanda Hix and Mildred Brenton are confined to their rooms with the grippe.

BUSINESS NOW SCIENCE

Intensive Organization Becomes Necessary, Dr. Brisco Tells Philosophical Club

"Intensive organization has become a necessity," declared Dr. N. A. Brisco before the meeting of the philosophical science club last night. "This is the natural result of the changes which have taken place in our industrial system in recent years. Business of today is a science and is to be studied as a science."

"Waste of material, time, and energy must be stopped if a business is to be efficiently carried on. The highest efficiency is when the actual attainment reaches standard."

"Time study and motion study provide the two best methods of discovering the best way to perform a given task. By the use of these all tasks can be greatly simplified and greater efficiency secured. Efficiency in business may be attained by careful investigation, organization, planning, together with a good system of records and rewards to deserving employees. Finally, it is necessary that the environment of the workmen should be as pleasant as possible, and that the welfare of the employees be safeguarded at all times. Good work cannot be done under undesirable conditions."

The latter part of Dr. Brisco's paper summarized the origin and development of the efficiency movement.

HAWKEYES WIN FIRST BASKET GAME 55 TO 6

OUTPLAY IOWA WESLEYAN IN EVERY PHASE OF CONTEST

Bannick Does Sensational Work in Shooting Eleven Baskets—Guarding Excellent

Coach Kent's basket ball aspirants opened the season on the home floor last night by overwhelming Iowa Wesleyan's veteran quintette 55 to 6. Although a lighter team than ever this year, the Old Gold basket tossers clearly outplayed the Methodists in every department of the game, holding them so close the first half that they were unable to score a single basket.

At times, the team work of the Hawkeye five seemed up to mid-season form and the passing was far superior to what it was this early last season. Coach Kent was afraid the guarding would be Iowa's weakest point but Nevin and the younger Von Lackum presented opposition through which the visitors were able to pass only a few times and then they were unable to find the basket.

Bannick Stars. Bannick's basket shooting was the sensation of the evening. The shiftily little forward grabbed a total of eleven baskets and gave his opposing guard no end of trouble in attempting to keep track of him on the floor. Two of the little star's goals were long shots from nearly the middle of the floor. Bannick played an aggressive game throughout and showed up especially strong for the opening game.

Captain Von Lackum played his usual steady and consistent game at forward. His accurate passing and steady floor work stood out as one of the main cogs in the Hawkeye machine.

Dutton Strong. Dutton played a good game at center and shows evidence of coming out even stronger this year than he was last. He does not seem to be in the best of condition yet, however, for toward the end of the first period there was a lack of his usual "punch."

Nevin came out especially strong at his new position as guard. This is the old Ottumwa star's first game in the defensive position and he bids fair to come out as one of the strongest guards Iowa has seen in recent years. Nevin broke through for five baskets despite the fact that he was guarding.

Y. W. PLANS JUBILEE

University Association Will Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary During February

The Young Women's Christian association will hold a nation-wide members' jubilee in February, in honor of the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the organization in Boston, March 3, 1866.

The university association will celebrate all during the month of February, beginning with a devotional meeting Feb. 2, and ending with the birthday anniversary service March 3. Prominent secretaries from all over the country will be here through the month.

The chairman of the jubilee student committee has sent out a letter in which she says, "The remembrance of our fiftieth birthday means that the 65,000 members of the 721 student associations will look into the past years of the student movement to give glad recognition to the girls of yesterday who made ready for us the association as we know it today."

HOWARD JONES

The selection of Howard Jones to take charge of football at Iowa is, in the opinion of The Iowan, the most encouraging thing that has happened to the athletic situation in many months. While time only can decide whether Jones is the right man for the place there is every reason to believe that a better could hardly be found.

It was altogether unreasonable to expect that we should be able to get a man of anything like Jones's experience and standing. In having the aggressiveness to do better than we could expect the board in control of athletics shows itself worthy of our gratitude and strengthened confidence. The salary which Jones will receive is reported to exceed that paid any other Iowa coach. The student body, which supports athletics, will approve the additional expenditure readily enough if it means the acquiring of the best skill to be obtained. The student body will, likewise, feel inclined to approve heartily the board's new policy of requiring the coach to be on duty throughout the year to keep the football machine in running order.

The announcement is one which makes it easy for everyone to shake off doubts and dissatisfactions and disappointments of a disastrous season, to revive interest, to renew hope, and to develop firm determination to make all influences work in harmony toward immediate success.

CHRISTMAS

Now that the holiday season is here, and we are variously caught up in its whirl of gaiety, it seems worth while to stop to consider what thing or what event could possibly have transformed an everyday world into such a lively, laughing, joyous crowd of human beings. What thing is it which has made towns, cities, whole nations even, celebrate for a day and decorate for a week? The garlands, wreaths of holly, and mistletoe in the windows must have had some momentous reason for being there. The public squares with their Christmas trees and their festoons of colored lights surely must have been transformed to pay allegiance to some great personage. Even the finest candle in the cottage window must have been destined to serve a mighty purpose. Indeed, when we consider what a stupendous thing it is to find Christmas preparations going on in every land, in every community, we realize that some force exerted in centuries past, is just now stirring the latent sensibilities of all people.

NEIHARDT'S POEM

Reviewing John G. Neihardt's "Song of Hugh Glass", now in the university library, in the Boston Transcript of Dec. 4, the distinguished critic, William Stanley Braithwaite says:

"In this long narrative of adventurous life during the pioneer days in the West, Mr. Neihardt has found himself as a poet."

"In this poem he touches life, power, beauty, spirit; the tremendous and impressive forces of nature, and combines all these qualities into a narrative of far more convincing interest than any narrative Masfield has told with the possible exception of "Dauber"; far more human, real, and powerful than any Noyes has yet exhibited. Because "The Song of Hugh Glass" has a western setting, treats the life of pioneer characters in poetical pentameters, and therefore a thematic experiment, is no reason why the reader, accustomed to other materials in poetic narrative, should slight this performance. Let me assure the reader who is obsessed with European standards and influence, who is ready to make objection that there can be no poetry in the pioneer west, that this poem is an achievement of the highest order. The genius of American poetry is finding itself in such a poem as this, and a man of Mr. Neihardt's gifts, employing them upon such hitherto unworked fields, is showing the wonderful opportunities which exist in this country and its history, for poetic expression."

Mr. Neihardt's work is of special interest in university circles owing to the fact that he is a contributor to The Midland.

THE ADVANCING SPIRIT

It is a comparatively recent departure for the public to get together on a Christmas celebration such as we are going to have here this year. Only a few years ago the municipal Christmas tree was unknown. But once tried, its lights shed a million gleams and now almost every city, large and small, is placing this evergreen reminder where both rich and poor alike may enjoy its beams and profit by the hope which they send forth.

Christmas as we have it here in our own community and in other communities in which we go, is a true gauge of the onward progress of civilization. If anyone doubts that the world is steadily marching onward with higher ideals than it had a generation ago, let him but mingle with the Christmas crowd and lose himself in the benevolent spirit which Christmas eve will spread abroad in every community.

AN AMES VIEW

Iowa State Student—A news item tells of the visit to Ames of two prominent Iowa University alumni recently for the purpose of bringing from a near-by town, a new student for Iowa state college.

The occurrence is significant of a radical change in the relations of the two schools. At the last joint meeting of the two alumni associations, a resolution favoring the mutual besting of all enterprises in which the interests of the two schools do not coincide, was adopted. The spirit of the action was admirably carried out in this instance.

There is a chance for co-operation between the two Iowa institutions. In general the activities of the two do not overlap. If prospective students wish to take up work that is not given at our school it is far better to advise them to go to Iowa City than to permit them to go out of the state.

Ames students will do well to reciprocate this act of cordiality on the part of the university alumni.

opened on the initiative of the athletic board. So many friends of the university wrote to Dean Teeters and Director Kellogg suggesting the advisability of trying to get him that the board finally wrote to him and asked him to come to Iowa City at their expense. He was here last week and spent some time with the board talking about coaching and the football situation in general. He made a decidedly favorable impression—so favorable that when the time came to take a vote, Jones was the choice of every man.

THE LOOKOUT

An Indiana scribe, his brain inflamed from numerous concussions caused by contact of his skull with more or less unyielding ice, perpetrated the following paragraphs:

The weather may freeze;
The weather may rain.
Oh, it's good to get back
Close to nature again!

There's ice on the ground;
There's ice in the air,
We fall and we sit,
Unreproved, on the square.

We fall on our hands;
We light on our brain,
Oh, it's good to get back
Close to nature again.

One moment our head
Is above our poor feet;
The next, feet and head
Meet as one on the street.

The mercury, too,
Takes a fall not in vain;
Oh, it's good to get back
Close to nature again!

We tried our best to stand up yesterday morning, coming to school, but we slipped and fell notwithstanding. (Old, but still useful.)

Several upright and honest citizens lost their reputations yesterday. Others, more slippery, got away smoothly.

We started out yesterday a. m. with five dollars; we spent twenty cents for breakfast and fifteen cents for a shave. That left us four sixty-five. Then we came up the walk and lost our balance.

If the old adage, "Pride goeth before a fall", amounts to anything, we ought to be the proudest folks in the country.

Anti-skid chains are becoming popular in these parts.

The hardest thing we have had to confront has been the ground.

News item: Several cheap skates were noticed on the campus yesterday.

It's not so hard to get a fall out of people these days.

We slipped a guy a perfectly old conundrum yesterday, and he fell for it. (Officer, tell that policeman to call a cop.)

Numerous reporters of this, our paper, it is said, fell down on their assignments yesterday. You can't blame 'em at that.

We had five bones broken yesterday. We had a five dollar bill, and had to break it to buy some gum. Today we're broke ourselves.

Several parties have moved in on the ground floor, it is reported.

One of the most dangerous beasts we have run across of late has been the icy walk. When we think of this horrid creature lurking behind some tree, ready to spring out and hit us behind the head when we are least expecting it, we shiver in agony.

It may be well for Billy Sunday to drop around, as we noticed several backsliders on the campus yesterday. We fell down on our face, or rather, the sidewalk arose maliciously and with hatred premeditated, and took us across the nose. It was a beautiful sidewalk; in fact, we were quite struck with it. It was about 10 a. m. at the time, but we noticed with interest the constellation of Orion and several of the minor planets. We are not absolutely sure, but it struck us that Jupiter had another moon. It struck us forcibly.

With your kind permission, we will close today with this: The latest dance out is called the Icy Walk.

RED SHIRTS WIN GAME

Defeat Opposing Team of Freshman Squad in Curtain Raised by score of 10 to 4

Two teams from the freshman squad, the White Shirts and Red Shirts, played a curtain raiser before the whistle started Iowa's 1915-16 basketball season, the Red Shirts winning easily by 14 to 6. Neither of the yearling fives showed much team work. Their passing was not very good and the men were unable to roll the sphere in when given the opportunity. The game became decidedly rough at times and once or twice looked more like a football than a gasket ball game. It was the first time any of them have appeared on the floor before a crowd, however.

Younkin made all of the scores for the Whites in the first half, from the guard position. Berrien came out well and claimed one basket from nearly the center of the floor. The first period ended 10 to 4 in favor of the Red Shirts but in the final half the White shirted quintette held its opponents to four tallies while Gillis at center slipped the ball through once for two points for the Whites. The line-ups:

Red Shirts— White Shirts—
Nichols r. f. Beeker
Berrien l. f. McClurg
Rasmussen c. Paige
Francois r. g. Young
Ziegler l. g. Younkin

Summary—goals from field: Rasmussen 2, Berrien 3, Ziegler 2, Younkin, Gillis; substitutions: Gillis for Berrien—E. G. Schroeder.

SIDELIGHTS ON COLLEGE SPORTS

Respect for time honored precedent was cast to the wind when some of the most prominent football authorities in the United States, including Yost of Michigan, Rush of Princeton, Sharpe of Cornell, Warner of Princeton, Walter Eckersall of The Chicago Tribune, and Tom Shevlin, the rejuvenator of Yale, met at the Hotel Astor in New York preceding the Army-Navy game; for the consensus of opinion was that the western football teams were stronger than those of the east this year. Among other things the west was superior in playing a more varied game, taking advantage of every change in the rules while the eastern teams have hardly made a beginning with the forward pass.

Maroons Elect Captain.

Philbrick "Red" Jackson, for two years right tackle on the Chicago football team, was elected captain for 1916. Agar, Gordon, Fisher, and Schaeffer were also candidates for the position.

Eckersall To Coach.

Persistent rumors are afloat that Walter Eckersall will coach the Wisconsin football team next season. Doble of Washington and Warner of Pittsburg are also mentioned for the position but the Badger athletic committee insists that no decision has been made on the question.

Carlisle is seriously considering dropping football permanently after the disastrous season this year when everyone took a crack at the Indians, formerly considered one of the strongest teams of the east.

Macomber Sucker Captain.

Bart Macomber, halfback, quarterback and fullback of the Sucker eleven, was elected captain for the next season. Macomber was a star at Oak Park, Chicago, under Zuppke and has been a star at Illinois.

Lieutenant Daley, coach of the Army football team for several years, has been ordered to Honolulu to take his position with the First regiment of field artillery. Daley was captain of the Harvard eleven in 1900.

Clinton R. Black, of New York City, guard for two seasons, was elected captain of the Yale football team.

Coach P. I. Folsom called the greatest coach of the west, having led nine out of sixteen teams to championships at the Colorado university, has resigned due to increased duties in his law school work.

As Columbia came through the season undefeated, one of the alumni donated $10,000 toward a stadium.

Recent discoveries seem to unearth the fact that one of Michigan's best rifle shots is a girl.

LAMBERT TO COMPLETE PLANS

Prof. B. J. Lambert of the engineering college will work on the plans for the new Iowa avenue bridge during the holiday recess. He will be assisted by Harry Chesebro, B. E. '15, who also aided him in preparing the plans for the new Burlington street bridge.

LAWS HAVE STUDENT ROOM

The study and rest room in the basement of the law building, prepared by the Law Students' association, now presents an attractive appearance. The retinting of the walls has been finished and the leather seats which were temporarily housed in the library have been put in place. The room will be used as a general headquarters and meeting place for the law students.

PSYCHOLOGISTS WILL ATTEND

Professor E. E. Faris, Assistant Professor R. H. Sylvester, and C. J. Knock, of the psychology department, will attend the convention of the American Psychological association, to be held in Chicago on Dec. 28, 29, and 30. Professor Faris will read a paper on "The Psychological Justification of Punishment."

ALUMNUS HAS AUTO ACCIDENT

Dr. J. L. Klein of Muscatine Narrowly Escapes Injury in Collision

Dr. J. L. Klein, city health officer at Muscatine, and a graduate of the university medical college, class of '07, had a narrow escape Thursday in an accident in Muscatine.

A Davenport and Muscatine interurban car struck his automobile and he was severely, though not seriously bruised. His auto, a two-passenger roadster, was nearly ready for the scrap heap after the collision.

According to the doctor he sought to turn his auto around, when the interurban car crashed into him. The front step of the interurban struck the physician's auto, giving it an impetus that carried it a considerable distance. Dr. Klein had seen the car coming but thought that the motorman would cut down the speed of the traction car and he was on the verge of backing his machine when the crash came.

RAYMOND GOES TO NEW YORK

Dean W. G. Raymond will leave Saturday evening for New York to attend a meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers' committee on "The Valuation of Railways and Other Public Utilities."

The following faculty members are planning to attend the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, at Columbus, Ohio, during Christmas vacation: Prof. R. B. Wylie of the botany department, who is the official delegate of the Sigma Xi; Prof. Bohumil Shimek of the botany department; Prof. C. C. Nutting of the zoology department; Dr. George F. Kay of the geology department; Prof. G. W. Stewart, and Assistant Professors L. P. Sieg, F. C. Brown and H. L. Dodge of the physics department.

Several noteworthy papers reporting the research work of the physics department here will be presented before the society.

HAWKEYES WIN FIRST GAME

and, although rather light, should develop into varsity material of the larger caliber. This was young Von's first game as a varsity player but he handled himself well and easily at all times.

The Iowa Wesleyan players seemed completely bewildered on the large floor and did not know what to do with the sphere when they got hold of it. Their passing was very poor and they showed but little team work. Morrow was the only one of the Mount Pleasant quintette to toss the ball for a basket from the floor and this was not until the latter part of the second half. Wahl made half of the Methodists' counters from six attempts at shooting goals from fouls.

Subs Not So Good.

After the substitutions in the second half Iowa's score did not continue to roll up as rapidly. The passing was not as accurate and there was not as much team work as the first string had shown. The Iowa Wesleyan men were given more opportunities to lessen the lead in this half but they were unable to take advantage of the chances.

Yesterday evening's game was well attended for the opening contest of the year. The band was out and with "Mick" Riley to lead a few yells. The crowd filled the armory with that old Iowa spirit and aided the team.

Here Are Statistics.

The line-up and summary follow:

RADCLIFFE WOMEN FAVOR PREPAREDNESS

IOWA GIRL WRITES OF MEETINGS IN CAMBRIDGE

Pacifist Propaganda To Be Met by Campaign for Adequate Defense, She Says

Note—The following article was written for The Iowan by Florence Armstrong, a former graduate student at Iowa, who is now doing post-graduate work at Radcliffe, the woman's division of Harvard.

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 15.—The women of Radcliffe college have organized a Security league as a branch of the Civics club. A mass meeting of the students has just been held to consider the question of preparedness. The meeting was addressed by leaders in the Massachusetts branch of the National Security league. Dallas McGrew, who has served in the ambulance corps in France, and is secretary of the Massachusetts branch of the Security league, gave to the audience the conclusions reached after his experiences in the field.

Commercial supremacy, the objective of this war, is slipping from the hands of all the nations fighting for it into the hands of the United States, Mr. McGrew said. When the war is over the lean and hungry populations of Europe will be eager to fight for the food they need. They will be hostile to the United States through interest which is the greatest international motive. His experience in the conflict has made him feel that Europe will take what we have if she can get it. In such an event, no one section of the country, no one class alone, would suffer. Capitalists, laborers, dwellers on the soil, would alike suffer instantaneously.

Food for the Wolf.

The mere vastness of the population of the United States would not deter an attack. Numbers, without organization, would avail us nothing.

"No wolf," said Mr. McGrew, "ever hesitated to enter a sheepfold because of the large number of lambs therein!"

He described the condition of the defenses of the United States, and recalled well known facts concerning the weakness of American naval and military equipment. To remedy the weakness, the support of American women will be requisite. Mr. McGrew urged the college girls to aid in the development of a sense of community duty so that responsibility and a capacity for self-sacrifice might be increased in both men and women. Women could also help the public to a realization of the benefits derived in time of peace from efficient organization of society. Germany increased her industrial efficiency sixteen per cent, and France reported a greater per cent of increase.

Must Organize Industry.

Economic organization is as imperative to military success as military system. In France, Mr. McGrew learned that the French army could not have continued their work had not the economic system made use of all available resources, including the energy of women. But for the cool, grim determination of the French women who were carrying on the business of supplying the armies at the front, the war machine would have broken down. This industrial perfection Mr. McGrew has portrayed forcibly in his article in the October Review of Reviews' "French Character under Test." The women who heard these things were much impressed by Mr. McGrew's view of opportunities for serving the country by influencing individuals to a sense of their obligations to the nation, and of the economic benefits accruing to a people from economic efficiency.

Analyses Possible Action.

Walton Green, editor of The Boston Journal, analyzed the sources of action open to the United States, in case of attack: first, non-resistance; second, reliance on arbitration; third, fighting. Non-resistance would mean loss of territory. Reliance on arbitration would fail unless arbitration were backed up by force. The national integrity, industrially and economically, could be preserved, in his opinion, by fighting only. As that would unquestionably be the immediate response of the United States to an attack, it is the duty of citizens of the United States to see that they are ready to fight well, without blundering into a mere slaughter of their forces. The Panama Canal will be, he thinks, the most valuable possession in the world at the end of this war; that, and our many other possessions, such as Hawaii, the Philippines, and Alaska, the United States must be ready to protect. As there is danger of hostility, and fighting is the only response America could make, it is an imperious necessity that all citizens, men and women alike, do their share in preparing thoroughly to withstand the strain.

No Fear of Us.

To dash the pleasant theory that foreign nations stand in awe of the United States was the task of the next speaker, Ernest Gruening, managing editor of The Boston Traveller. He dipped into recent international history and brought to light muddy looking occurrences in our relations with Germany, Mexico, and England to prove that the United States has little weight abroad.

"We won a great diplomatic victory over Germany?" he asked. "It was because our supply of ink outlasted their supply of submarines! We interceded in behalf of Armenia? The Turks began after we sent our note!"

Mr. Gruening emphasized as the needs of the United States a good navy and a trained citizen soldiery. All young men should be in training camps like Plattsburg, and there receive the elements of military service.

Woman Closes.

Mrs. Barrett Wendell, of Boston, the final speaker, president of the Massachusetts branch of the Special Aid Society for American Preparedness, described the purpose and work of the organization she represented. Whatever their position on the suffrage question, Massachusetts women are rallying to the call for thoughtful service, and are joining this association by the hundreds. The purpose of the society is "to encourage and promote patriotic education, sentiment and service, among the people; and to aid in the establishment and maintenance of the national defense."

These addresses are among the very first to be delivered to colleges in favor of preparedness. Most of the propaganda among students has been pacifistic in nature. The movement among Radcliffe women is but an expression of the growing national conviction that the United States must be adequately prepared for defense. Eastern college women, in more frequent contact with the continent, perhaps realize the possibilities of danger earlier than their western sisters. In the coast states utter helplessness in case of war is more evident than from a distance. It is expected that in time women in all other American colleges will join hands in sharing the duties recognized by all thinking women.

CHOICE OF JONES WARMLY APPROVED

STUDENTS AND FACULTY MEMBERS EXPRESS SATISFACTION

Interviews Picked up by Daily Iowan Unanimous in Endorsement of Board's Action

Comments of faculty members and students on the campus yesterday were practically unanimous in their approval of the selection of Howard Jones as coach at Iowa for the next five and one-half years. It appears from the expression of all that the board could hardly have made a selection more fortunate so far as its appeal to the supporters of athletics is concerned.

Some of the expressions secured by The Daily Iowan follow:

Theodore Wanerus, secretary University of Iowa association—"From what I have learned of the record of Mr. Jones, both as a man and as a coach, I think that the board in control of athletics and the university as a whole are to be congratulated upon securing him. As a man he is said to have those qualities that exert a wholesome influence upon those with whom he comes in contact; as a coach he has a fine record. With the co-operation of the awakening alumni spirit Mr. Jones should, with his ability, make football history at Iowa in the next five years."

Prof. George F. Kay—"The selection of Jones is good business. I understand that he is a good, clean young man of high ideals. That will mean a lot to us. There is a great deal in the example of a coach, and it will be a fine thing to bring a man before the Iowa football players who will give them real inspiration."

Maurice Repass, secretary "I" club—"Jones is just the man I should have picked myself. I was in touch all along with what the board was doing. The highest kind of recommendations of Jones reached them. I feel confident that he may become to Iowa what Stagg is to Chicago, what Williams is to Minnesota, and what Yost is to Michigan."

F. L. Wheeler, instructor in physical training—"Judging from Mr. Jones's experience, both as a player and a successful coach, I would consider Iowa quite fortunate in securing the services of such an efficient man to take charge of the gridiron sport in the future."

Prof. C. S. Chase, medical college—"The dope sounds good. We ought to be able to crack the coconut now. Here's hoping it's filled with sweet milk. Last season it was sure filled with cheese."

E. G. Schroeder, director physical training—"What we need now is the men and the proper kind of support. No man has shown more ability than Jones has in the coaching field, and what we need now most of all is good men. You can't have a good team without the men no matter how good the coach is."

Morey Kent, head basket-ball coach—"We will have successful athletic teams from now on. However we don't need to expect conference championships from year to year. The fact that we have an all-year man will do away with the material problem, which has been somewhat of a handicap in the past. We will not be short of material from now on."

Assistant Prof. J. N. Pearce, chemistry department—"I think Jones is an ideal man, a man and a gentleman. He is a master in football teaching. I don't think we could have done better."

Prof. Percy Bordwell, member athletics board—"We expect him to make good. He is in the same class as Stagg and Williams."

Prof. H. C. Goodrich, law college—"I think the board have secured a good man. He comes with an excellent record."

Grover C. Jacobson, left tackle—"We feel satisfied. It will be up to the team next year."

Harold Barbour, varsity second string man—"I believe Jones is a good man, but we will not forget Hawley. The team should make good next year."

GRIPPE STOPS CONTEST

Second Postponement of Extemporaneous Speaking Caused by Illness of Entrants

The extemporaneous contest for women has again been postponed, this time on account of the prevalence of the grippe. So large a number of the girls who desired to take part were either confined to their rooms or had lost control of their vocal organs that it was decided to postpone it until after the holidays. No definite time has been set but it will be announced later. This is the second time that the speaking contest has been put off but the committee in charge believe that the third time will prove the charm and that the affair will then go through.

WILLIAMS DISCUSSES WORK

At the Geology club, Monday afternoon, Mr. A. J. Williams, graduate student, outlined the work that he has been doing for the last three summers in the driftless area of northeastern Iowa. Mr. Williams has found that a considerable part of the northeastern section of the state, which was formerly thought not to have been glaciated, was a matter of fact covered by ice during part of the glacial period.

GRINNELL ON SCHEDULE

Scarlet and Black Team To Play Football Against Iowa October 14

The football schedule is now complete, the last game having been agreed upon yesterday. Grinnell will play at Iowa City on Oct. 14. Iowa football fans will be glad to see Grinnell here for a game, for Grinnell has been playing good football the last few seasons and will give Iowa some keen competition. Coe was also considered for this date, but for some reason or other the date with Grinnell was preferred.

CAN GET BOOKS THROUGH NOW

University Library Will Be Able To Purchase Books from Germany Again

An arrangement has been made between the department of state and the British government which will make it possible for universities to import books from Germany.

The books are to be allowed to come in from Germany through a neutral port, provided that the librarian of congress will certify that the school to which the books are assigned is an institution of higher education and that the books are intended for use and not for sale.

This means that the university library will be able to get books by freight, but it will take about twice as long as formerly because the invoices have to be certified before shipment.

UNION WILL REMAIN OPEN

The Iowa union will be open during vacation, and union members who are in the city during this time will enjoy the privileges just as though the school were in session. The dining room will also be open all during vacation.

HAWKEYE WILL HAVE ADDITIONAL SECTION

INCREASE IN ADVERTISING MAKES IT POSSIBLE

Marasco at Work on Special Paintings for Three-Color Reproduction

With the close of the first month's campaign in the field of foreign advertising, the 1917 Hawkeye managers announced yesterday that the results obtained from this preliminary canvass would warrant the addition of another special section to the book, which had been held back earlier in the year due to indecision as to the financial status of the publication.

Triple Advertising.

"Thus far", said L. R. Fairall, the foreign advertising manager of the book, "we have practically tripled the list of foreign firms which will advertise in the Hawkeye. Formerly the larger manufacturers of the country have been well represented, but this year we have reached fields which were never touched before. This has been made possible by our dual-manager plan, which is incorporated in the business staff of the book this year for the first time."

The new section, made possible now by the assurance of the large bulk of new advertising, will be one of the valuable features of the 1916 issue of the Hawkeye. It will be something new in the annual line and promises to add a bit of originality to the Iowa publication which is entirely aside from the usual.

Works on Paintings.

During the last week, while the snow has been on the ground, Frank Marasco, art editor for the Hawkeye, has been working on a special series of beautiful oil paintings of snow scenes which will be reproduced in three color process at the head of the various sections. These paintings are likewise out of the usual class of annual work. Among these will be campus scenes, views along the river, and about the country surrounding Iowa City.

The success of the first of these paintings has been attested to by the fact that the engraving company, which is doing the Hawkeye work this year, has asked for permission to reproduce some of these paintings in a special bulletin which they put out, showing examples of the quality of their work.

"THIRTY" TODAY

With today's issue of The Daily Iowan, publication will be suspended, according to custom, for the holiday period.

To its readers and other friends The Iowan takes this occasion to offer its best wishes for Christmas merriness and New Year's happiness.

ILLINOIS LIKED FILM-PLAY

"Racing the Deadline", the motion picture feature of The Chicago Tribune which is to be seen here soon after the holidays, drew a big crowd when shown recently at the University of Illinois. The Illinois chapter of Sigma Delta Chi was sponsor for the film's presentation there.

REMODELING SENATE ROOM

The old senate chamber used for the offices of the extension department is being fixed to provide better quarters for the work of this department of the university. New and better lighting fixtures are being installed, and the room will be partitioned off in the same way as the offices in the registrar's office to make the offices of the several members of the department more private than they have been heretofore.

Mildred Brenton, who has been confined to her room with the grippe, was able to leave for her home in Grinnell yesterday.

COMING TO CEDAR RAPIDS

GERALDINE FARRAR

America's noted prima donna, Geraldine Farrar, has never yet sung in Iowa. Her concert appearance in Cedar Rapids the evening of Jan. 5 will be her first and, for the present, her only appearance in the state. Many university and Iowa City music lovers are expected to attend the concert.

FORMING NEW SOCIETY

Girls Keep Plans Secret While They Start New Literary Organization

The girls are to have a new literary society so rumor has it. Plans are as yet so incomplete that the organizers refuse to give out any information concerning it. A list of proposed members has been made and approved by Miss Klingenhagen. The constitution has not been finished but it will be completed soon after the holidays and the secret will be out.

"U" DRAMATIC CLUB MEETS

The university dramatic club held a business meeting last evening in the liberal arts auditorium. Final arrangements were made for staging "The Big Idea" on Dec. 12. A rehearsal was then held for those not in the cast.

BLACKMAR'S HOME BURNED

The $10,000 home of H. E. Blackmar, superintendent of schools at Ottumwa, was burned last evening, according to news which reached university folk last night. Mr. Blackmar's valuable library was included in the loss.

While superintendent of the Iowa City schools, Mr. Blackmar was connected with the university and made friends here.

DR. PELZER CHOSEN PRESIDENT

Political Science Club Elects Officers for 1916

Dr. Louis Pelzer was chosen president of the Political Science club for 1916 at a business meeting held last night. Dr. Pelzer has served in the position during the last four months, having been appointed by the executive committee to take the place when it was left vacant by the death of Judge Emlin McClain.

Other officers elected are Jacob Van der Zee, secretary; B. F. Shambaugh, W. C. Wilcox, and P. S. Peirce members of the executive committee.

HOADLEY COLLECTS THIS TIME

C. W. Hoadley has been successful in another case against debtors to the 1915 Hawkeye. This time the university orchestra was defendant. The amount claimed was $12.00. The case was tried in the justice court of G. A. Ewing and the plaintiff was given judgment against the defendant for the amount of his claim and for costs. This was another case brought by Hoadley as assignee of Verne Foley, business manager of the 1915 Hawkeye.

POSTPONE BOWLING MATCH

The bowling match between the Delta Tau Delta and Beta Theta Pi fraternities, scheduled for last evening, was postponed until after vacation.

GENERAL DEPARTURE IN COMMAND TODAY

DISBANDMENT AND RETREAT ORDER FOR HOLIDAYS

Little Relief for Home Folks in Sight for Next Ten Days or Two Weeks

The annual Christmas pilgrimage has begun. Defying the horrors of double cuts, many "eds and coeds" are now haunting parental fire-sides or joining the circles about the general store stoves telling the natives how they were so good in their work that the president let them come home three days early.

Many more will leave tonight. They have fortified themselves against the infrequency of depot lunches and the idiosyncrasies of branch line trains, and, as soon as their last classes today are dismissed they will be ready to brave the journey.

Others of us, not so lucky will await the closing of eleven o'clocks tomorrow. At 12:45 we shall call our cabs to catch the 10:30 Rock Island train (neat little joke that), or grab the first interurban car that comes along.

Everyone who can leave by tonight will be moderately certain of getting home in time for the dinner bell Christmas day, but for some of the late goers it will be a close shave getting there. It is a brief time from Thursday night to Christmas as some of the trains connect in Iowa.

Santa Claus will have nothing on a lot of us. Many an extra allowance for Christmas presents is now reposing in the safes of Iowa City merchants and the remainder will be pretty well gathered in by the big town merchants encountered on the way home. All the family will be remembered.

BOSE WRITES ARTICLE

Says the European War Will Give the East a Chance to Overtake the West

Dr. Sudhindra Bose of the department of political science is the author of an article appearing in the November issue of the Cosmopolitan Student, the official publication of the Association of Cosmopolitan clubs, on the subject of "Winning the Orient."

In this article Dr. Bose shows the needs of a closer association between the Orient and the west and he brings out some of the ways by which this association is to be gained.

"One of the results of the present European conflict will be a splendid chance for the races of the east to achieve success in all departments of life and to overtake the west in the race for progress", said Dr. Bose. He thinks that the Association of Cosmopolitan club can do a great deal toward bringing the west to recognize the east, and recommends that "our association work out a plan with a view to an interchange of professors among the leading universities of America and Asia." He also suggests that "the association immediately take vigorous steps to affiliate itself with the prominent student societies in Asia whose central purpose is in harmony with this organization. It may be desirable to send a delegate from this country to the east in the furtherance of the object of the association."

DANCES TONIGHT FROWNED UPON

University girls who attend dances tonight will be violating the rules, according to an announcement made yesterday by Dean W. C. Wilcox.

When it was called to the attention of Dean Wilcox that one or more dances for university students were being planned for tonight, he immediately pointed out that the university girls, under the rules, may not attend such affairs. They would be liable to suspension if they did.

THE DAILY IOWAN

A Newspaper for Students of the University of Iowa.

Entered at Post Office Iowa City, Ia., as Second Class Matter.

VACATION TIME

A few more hours and the bothersome business of keeping track of the hours when one must go to class can be abandoned for the dreamy contentment of letting the hours slip by unnoticed while we pour over an interesting book or warm our hearts in the glow of old friendships.

Bless the man who first invented vacations! It is not because they relieve us from the steady grind that we find them worthy, so much as it is because they give us perspective. After we have been with our noses to the grindstone for about so long a period, we need to quit, to take matters easy and to think in a big way. Life is broad, and it is in idle moments that we are likely to appreciate this fact most. In the midst of vacation dreams come often our big conceptions of purpose in all things, our realization of the true relation of our own parts to those of our fellows.

NOT FINANCIAL

Iowa students need have no fear for some years of the widely heralded and vigorously denounced "honorary athletic positions" of winding clocks, ringing chapel bells, and similar occupations given to worthy athletic men in certain colleges and universities in the central west. Thus far, even the ghost of such a thing has not put in an appearance on the Iowa campus. If anything, Iowa athletes, during the last few years, have had to pay in order to be allowed to participate in intercollegiate sports. The men who are candidates for the track team this winter will even have to pay for their own lockers, $2.50 apiece. This may sound small, but it counts in view of the fact that other colleges throughout the country have gleaned some of their stellar track material from the ranks of the men who are working their way through school. Place a $2.50 bar between a man whose salary is $4 a week, and a chance to try for a track team, and he will not take the latter.

Another notable fact is that all of the track candidates, when the outdoor season opens, must either buy their shoes or place a substantial deposit with the athletic authorities, before they can secure the required spikes for the cinder track.

Examples such as these are sufficient guarantee to any who may doubt Iowa's integrity in its attitude toward athletes that there is no danger of an athlete's receiving any sort of consideration which could be interpreted as financial for his service to the university.

RATHER CRUEL

The University of Michigan was formerly a member of the Western Athletic Conference. The Michigan Daily comments on their recent session as follows:

"The Big Nine has just announced its latest change. The Big Nine is forever altering and abolishing established institutions, and now it abolishes baseball. There's just about one thing left for the Big Nine to abolish, and that is itself. There are some who are convinced that this would be the most diplomatic thing that the Western Conference could do, but this fact alone is sufficient reason to block the movement."

THE NEW COACH

Iowa City Citizen—As a name, Jones is no more romantic than the monickers attached to the most of us.

But imagination, if not romance, is stirred by the announcement of the athletic board that Jones had been secured as the Iowa football coach for a period of years.

For Jones happens to be a famous Yale coach, and with the excellent material Iowa is able to turn out if the state sets itself about it, he will make a football team that is a winner.

Here's to the new coach! The song of the day is not "what happened to Jones", but what has happened to us.

Assistant training director F. L. Wheeler leaves tonight for his home in Dayton, Ohio, to spend the holiday vacation.

Myrtle Kelly is confined to her room with the gripple.

THE LOOKOUT

THE STUDENT SAVAGES
Three University of Illinois students have been dismissed for scalping football tickets. "These hair-raising stunts should be confined to students of the barber colleges," says the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

The Second Post.

Uncle Sam had been delivering a copy of The D. I. to the wrong man. He could not get interested, so he wrote:

Dear Sir: I am glad you wrote and wish you would have done so some time ago as I have never subscribed for this here paper and furthermore I don't want it stop it at once as I think that you have no right to send it thru the mail without being paid in advance and I know of no I. YOU HAVE TO TAKE IT

Oh, ye unkind fates! To try for hours to connect with Currier hall and then, when it is most exceedingly imperative to talk elsewhere to a gentleman friend in the next two minutes, to have "Currier hall", "This is Currier hall", sweetly echoed back, it's too much. J. M. H.

"Till the stars in the skies grow cold,

Prof. Short (very sternly, without smiling)—"Mr. —, the last stanza of America."

Mr. — (another freshman—

"Let mortal tongues partake."
(Becoming confused.)
"Let all that breathe awake—"
(Much confused.)
"Let socks their rilence break—"

The shouts (of laughter) were already prolonged.

ENTIRELY TOO MANY

Sir:—I note the esteemed D. O. G. says in its write-up of the freshman informal: "Punch' Dunkel's ten piece orchestra will melodiously assist in making the party a success. Punch will be served by four girls from the high school." Nice for "Punch", eh? Jerry.

JONES LIKED AT OHIO STATE

In a recent communication to Dean Teeters of the pharmacy college in answer to an inquiry by the dean as to the ability and character of Howard Jones. Prof. Thos. E. French of the department of engineering drawing of Ohio State University, states: "Howard Jones had a fine reputation in our college and a strong effort was made to persuade him to stay after he had coached here the season of 1910. He is a man of high moral character and believes in clean sportsmanship. I think he knows football thoroughly and is able to teach it."

"He is a very quiet in society, but on the field everything is business with him. From this quiet nature your first impression of him would probably be that he is not a man of strong personality or magnetism, but the men on the team will like him and will work for him."
"I am sure here in Columbus you will hear nothing but good words for Jones, both as a coach and as a man."

TO ATTEND URBANA MEETING

Henry Albert, Jack Hinman, A. L. Grover and Garret Jordan of the department of pathology and bacteriology will attend a meeting of the Society of American Bacteriologists in Urbana, Illinois, Dec. 28, 29, and 30.

TELL ABOUT THIS AT HOME

The most notable material sign of the university's development the present year is the new, women's gymnasium. It provides for the women of the university facilities for physical training which are unequalled in any other university of the west, and the building itself is an imposing addition to the university group.

Bessie A. McClenahan will leave for her home in Des Moines Thursday morning where she will spend the vacation holidays. On Dec. 28 Miss McClenahan will address the women's clubs at Fort Dodge.

George Grace, a student here last year, is visiting in Iowa City. He is now a student at Ames.

SOCIETY AND PERSONALS

MARRIAGE OF UNIVERSITY PAIR EVENT OF WEEK

On Friday at noon Charlotte Loveland, B. A. 1915, will be married to Jack Jones Hinman, of the university faculty, at the home of the bride's parents on East Burlington street. Mrs. Waterman of Renwick, Ia., will be the matron of honor, and D. M. Brumfiel will act as best man. The bride will be given in marriage by her father.

The bride and groom will take a wedding trip to Chicago and Urbana, Ill., where Mr. Hinman will deliver a paper at a meeting of the bacteriological society.

There will be about fifty guests present at the wedding, among them several people from out of the city. They will be Mrs. Hinman, mother of the groom, and Miss Wiles, both of Indianapolis; Mrs. C. W. Killen and Miss Bess Williams, of Chicago; Miss Helen Wilson, of Washington, and Dr. and Mrs. Waterman of Renwick.

Fraternities Have Christmas Trees.

The Kappa Sigma fraternity had their Christmas tree on Monday evening, and four other fraternities followed last night with similar Christmas-time parties. The Kappa Sigs were entertained by their freshmen, while the Tau Deltas, Sigma Chis, Sig Alphas, and Phi Psis put up their tree and all had a hand in the party. At each of the latter houses a tree was put up in the living room, and every man bought some little gift or other for another member.

There was nothing elaborate in any of these Christmas affairs. They were given merely to create a little Christmas spirit at the houses.

Contrary to the usual custom, there was no tree at the Beta, Sigma Nu, and Phi Delt houses this year.

BOOKS WORTH READING

The Moral Obligation To Be Intelligent—By John Erskine.—Duffield Co.

In four scholarly essays, Professor Erskine maintains through varying points of view the thesis set forth in the lecture which gives the volume its title. Intelligence, reason, sincerity, these are some of the virtues which he urges men to acquire. He strikes boldly at more than one well established tradition, throwing a clear and original light upon old precepts. He makes a plea for more rationalism in criticism; in "The Call of Service" he strikes at a fundamental error in much current teaching. To render our admirations and our loyalties more sensible and more noble is his avowed aim—an aim which his book is in a fair way to encourage and accomplish.

CHOICE OF JONES APPROVED

Merlyn Rawlins, foot-ball enthusiast—"Jones has a good record. We will see what he can do next year."

Prof. Arthur C. Trowbridge, secretary athletics board—"He's all right. He is a new kind of a man for a foot-ball coach, a man of clean habits, who does not even smoke and never touched a drop of liquor in his life. I think he is just the man for the place."

Prof. R. B. Wylie—"I like the idea of a man who is on the job the year round, who can live at the university and get acquainted with university people. Nothing can be done successfully when its head is away nine months out of the year. That is the main thing to me in the idea of a new coach."

Carl Brueckner, Coach of Emporia college and former Iowa star—"I think that Iowa has got the best man in the country in Jones. I'm glad of it."

KENT PLEASD WITH SHOWING OF TEAM

GOOD FORM IN GAME AGAINST IOWA WESLEYAN

Next Game against Cornell First
Friday after Holiday
Vacation

Coach Kent was well pleased with the team work, and the general showing of the team in the game against Wesleyan. Of course there are some changes to be made, and the men will have to have a chance to get into shape before they will show real form, said Kent.

Iowa played a fast game for an early season game, but the competition was rather light, and it was hard to tell just what the men could do if put to the test.

Basket ball fans will have a chance to see the team in action immediately after the holidays when the fast Cornell team meets Iowa the following Friday after school opens. Iowa opens her conference season the following Monday night against Wisconsin.

The big score against Wesleyan, according to the experts, was due to the fact that the Wesleyan team was unable to hold down the fast Iowa forwards.

SUMMER MILITARY CAMPS COMMENDED

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENTS SAY THEY HAVE MET EXPECTATIONS

The report of the advisory committee of university presidents on the summer military instruction camps for students declares that the camps have more than fulfilled the expectations and recommends their further development.

Following is the report, a copy of which has just been furnished The Iowan:

"These camps have now been in operation for three successive summers. In their growth and admirable management during the past two summers of 1914 and 1915, they have more than fulfilled the expectations of those endorsing them, based on the first year's experience in the summer of 1913. The camps of 1913 and 1914 were held before the breaking out of the great war abroad, which has brought into greater prominence than before their value to the nation.

Repeat Endorsement.

"We repeat the hearty endorsement given in our reports on the Camps held in 1913 and 1914. This year they were visited by a number of the members of our committee, and the committee as a whole has given attention and thought to their educational usefulness in the summer season.

"The students attending are under careful oversight. The excellence of food, sanitation, and medical care, has been well maintained. The students have an ideal five weeks' outing, pleasurable and beneficial to them; and the instruction, drill, cavalry exercises, field manoeuvres, field surveying and field work generally give them in the continuous five weeks' training, an insight into military matters. They are, in addition to this regular work, given ample time for recreation and rest.

Good Training.

"We commend the camps to the authorities and students of the universities and colleges of the country. We believe that the training and instruction which the students attending receive not only emphasize the dangers and losses of wars lightly and unpreparedly entered into, but we also believe that the training given is excellent, and a great benefit, mental and physical, to the students attending.

"President John G. Hibben, Chairman, Princeton University.

"President A. Lawrence Lowell, Harvard University.

"President Arthur Twining Hadley, Yale University.

"President John H. Finley, University of the State of New York and Commissioner of Education.

"President H. B. Hutchins, University of Michigan.

"President George H. Denny, University of Alabama.

"Superintendent E. W. Nichols, Virginia Military Institute.

"President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, University of California.

"President J. G. Schurman, Cornell University.

"President Edmund J. James, University of Illinois.

"Chancellor J. H. Kirkland, Vanderbilt University.

"President A. C. Humphreys, Stevens Institute of Technology.

"President H. A. Garfield, Williams College.

"President Henry Sturgis Drinker, Secretary, Lehigh University."

Prof. Thomas, of the department of geology, who is on leave of absence this year at the University of Chicago, is spending a few days in Iowa City.

TEACHER SAYS WEST IS FOR SUFFRAGE

"The east is more sex conscious than the west and that is one reason there are eleven suffrage states in the west and none in the east," is the way Miss Mabel Lodge, state organizer of the Iowa Equal Suffrage association explains this situation. Before coming to Iowa to join the faculty of the state teachers college, Miss Lodge made her home in Delaware.

"In Philadelphia when the Academy of Fine Arts was opened different days were set apart for men and women visitors. Private schools in the east—and there are many of them—have kept the sexes apart. Even so cosmopolitan an institution as Columbia university still refuses to admit women to two departments. So it is, or has been, in all ordinary life.

"The psychological effect of this has been to create a subtle intangible feeling that much of life is intrinsically masculine or feminine. The only way to change this is to recognize the human element in all ordinary life, and it is being done. Men and women are seeking to know what things are human and what things are intrinsically male or female. This frank interest in sex is a proof that men and women are open-minded to a readjustment. The readjustment has proceeded so far in the west that most western people regard voting as a human function. The difference between the east and the west in this respect is in degree, not in kind, as the result of the referendums on equal suffrage in the four eastern states show.

"As to the reason why western people have proceeded farther than the eastern people in their appreciation and practice of humaneness it would require an examination of the complete social history of the United States to make that clear."

NEWS OF OTHER COLLEGES

National prohibition is a favorite topic of intercollegiate debate in the eastern colleges this season. The Amherst-Williams-Wesleyan triangular uses the question, "Resolved, that the sale, manufacture, importation and exportation of alcoholic beverages, except for scientific and medicinal purposes, should be prohibited by an amendment to the constitution." This is a stronger statement of national prohibition than that of the Hobson bill, now before congress. Williams follows the triangular in a dual debate with Union on the same question.

Prof. Irving Fisher, the great economist of Yale, speaking of the conditions which enable an athlete to be at his best, says: "I have had occasion to examine the conflicting popular ideas concerning alcohol. I began the study quite willing to be convinced that alcoholic beverages have some virtues. I have ended in the conviction that they have none and I have found that this conclusion is almost universally reached by those who have examined the facts."

Student Opinion, a stirring new weekly at the University of California, is perhaps the first student publication launched for the distinctive purpose of raising the standards of student activities in a large university. It came into existence in response to large student demand for a medium of expression on student "politics," cleaner athletics, a more popular and democratic expression in the student governing body against drinking and the sort of influences that go with it, both inside and outside of college life. It is leading the movement at California against the serving of intoxicants in student affairs and after the Big games.

BOSE WRITES ARTICLE ON WAR

(Continued from page 1.) with the immigration bureau at Washington be established "which will let the Oriental students enter America unmolested." He thinks that this should be done because the "Oriental students trained in America today will be the leaders of Asia tomorrow."

Dr. Bose's article is an understanding treatment of a very important subject and the methods with which he proposes to bring about this better union, while being complex and large, are certainly not too difficult to attempt. As Dr. Bose says, "Prejudice will melt away in the warmth of mutual sympathy and friendship."
