PROFESSIONALS MAY BOYCOT SENIOR HOP

THREATEN RETALIATION IF NOT GIVEN PLACES

Dents Authorize Sheehan to Act With Othed Presidents in Registering Protest

Seniors of the professional colleges may decide to boycott the senior hop and hold one of their own if they are not given better representation on the commencement committees, according to the declaration made by one of the insurgent seniors last night.

The senior dents met yesterday morning and authorized J. T. Sheehan, their president, to demand a readjustment of the committee memberships. They are reported to have promised to stand by him to the last man.

A meeting of the presidents of the professional colleges may come this week or early next, leaders said last night.

NO FEE FOR VARSITY MEN

Locker Privilege Will be Given Without Cost—Same Fee Now at Ames

Beginning next semester, all men who make varsity teams will not be required to pay the locker fee of $2.50 The announcement was made yesterday by Director Schroeder.

The state college as well as the state normal, comes under the regulation requiring all students desiring to use the gymnasium to pay the locker fee of $2.50 a semester.

The ruling came partly because of the complaint made at Iowa last fall and this winter at which time the locker fee at Ames amounted to only $1.25 per semester and no charge was made for the use of lockers at Cedar Falls. It was decided to maintain the fee of $2.50, make it the same at all state schools, and permit varsity athletes the use of lockers free of any charge.

SCHOLARSHIPS AVAILABLE

"Now is the time to file all applications for fellowships and scholarships," said Dean C. E. Seashore yesterday. "If all those desiring information upon the subject will call at my office, I will be only too glad to advise with them.

"There are at present about thirty appointments open for the year. These range from $150 to $500 a year. Similar positions are open at other schools, and I suggest that all graduate students and seniors who are interested in the matter should confer with me."

BRENE HEADS DENTISTS

Dr. Frank T. Breene, dean of the dental college, was elected president of the Dental Faculties association of American universities which convened in annual session at Chicago January 28 to 29. He succeeds Dr. N. S. Hoff, dean of the dental college of the university of Michigan.

The selection of Dr. Breene comes as a larger honor in view of the fact that he was not even in attendance at the convention.

THIS BIRTHDAY NOT PROPERLY OBSERVED

A birthday which was overlooked by the society editor last week has just been reported. No, it isn't his nor hers, and no amount of guessing will enable you to find out.

Down in the botanical laboratory--unknown, unnoticed, and forgotten--stands a tiny, four-legged, round, walnut table, the history of which is not generally known among students. It was 69 years old last week, according to the calendar, and if youthful looks are considered, it will not be worn out for several years to come.

That table was used by the members of the first general assembly of the state of Iowa, and doubtless it did ts share in helping to pass February 25, 1847, the act that established a state university at Iowa City. It is reported that its companion, an old-fashioned chair, is about the building, also, but according to the table's story, the old friends have not seen each other for years.

PHARMACIST STUDENTS GET PRIZES

Seniors Submitting Three Best Papers to Receive Reward Given by Falkenheiner

In a recent communication to Dean Teeters, Al. Falkenheiner, secretary of the Iowa Pharmaceutical association, made it known that he will award prizes to the senior pharmacists preparing and submitting the three best papers on pharmaceutical topics.

The first prize is an order on publisher for one copy of the United States Dispensatory. The second prize is an order on publisher for one copy of the new Pharmacopoeia. The third prize is an order on publisher for one copy of the new Pharmacopoeia.

Otto Bruder, the associate editor of the National Association of Retail Druggists' Journal, was selected by Mr. Falkenhainer to judge these papers. Permission was also secured to publish one or all of them in the Journal if desired.

The object Mr. Falkenhainer has in view in awarding these prizes is to have the students of pharmacy take an interest in some problems that they will be expected to meet when they go into business for themselves and incidentally get the benefit of their work for the association.

PRESIDENT SEERLEY GUEST

President and Mrs. Homer H. Seerley of the Iowa State Teachers college at Cedar Falls will attend the banquet to be given by the former students of that college at the Jefferson hotel Monday evening, February 7. Other members of the faculty who will attend are Professor and Mrs. Wright.

The committee in charge of the banquet is Anna Bennett, Eva Cresswell and Mabel Paull.

Dr. E. O. Vollum '08 graduate from the medical college, was a business visitor at the hospital yesterday.

Prof. M. F. Boyd of the epidemiology department returned yesterday from Marshalltown where he went to investigate an epidemic of diphtheria.

SEVEN ORATIONS HANDED TO MERRY

CONTESTANTS PREPARING FOR TEST FEBRUARY 17

Present Day Problems Furnish Material for Majority of Manuscripts Submitted

Seven orations had been received by Professor Merry by five o'clock yesterday evening in accordance with the requirements for contestants in the annual oratorical contest to be held February 17.

The subjects and writers are as follows:

"The Goal of Delinquent Justice," Benjamin Mather.

"A Plea for the Minimum Wage," Robert J. Shaw.

"Fillers In," Demaree Bess.

"Pan-American and World Peace," John M. Phiffner.

"The Man Behind the Child," Henry J. Kroeger.

"Who is the Patriot?" Walter Briston.

"The New Imperialism," Arlen Wilson.

JONES NOT HERE YET

Coach Howard Jones failed to arrive yesterday with President Wilson. A search of the Iowa City hotels failed to reveal his presence and Dean W. J. Teeters, chairman of the board of athletics and Nelson A. Kellogg, director of athletics, each declared that Mr. Jones had not reported to them. Mr. Kellogg said that any Chicago train might now bring him to Iowa City.

PRESIDENT WILSON SEES CADETS

Greeting of President by Cadets is Spoiled by Early Arrival of Train

The greeting of President Wilson by the cadet regiment did not materialize in the manner anticipated. The president's train beat them to the station and everything was in wild confusion. Ranks were broken and there was a quick race to the front. Cadets were soon mixed with the crowd and did not make a very great showing.

They did not escape the notice of the president, however, for upon seeing them, he asked if they were members of the national guard, but was quickly informed that they were cadets.

The train's arrival was several minutes earlier than previously announced. Word to that effect came too late to be made known by the military department.

DESIGNS JUBILEE POSTER

A handsome new poster, designed in the Y. W. jubilee colors by Dorothy Messenger, appeared on the bulletin board in the liberal arts building monday. It is neatly done in water colors and bears the following message: "65,000 students will celebrate in February the Y. W. C. A. jubilee. 1866-1916.

Prof. R. S. Wilbur, who has been in the hospital for several days, is fast improving and will be able to look after his work in the engineering department next week.

AND NOW WE HAVE A FOURTH KIND

No, they are not holding a convocation every hour, they are just holding classes as usual. That's why the bell in the Old Capitol is rung. The student who loiters in the smoke house or in Whetstone's will now be able to make his classes on time—maybe.

The only difficulty in the matter is the triple standard of time which we seem to have in this town. There is university time, Western Union time, and St. Mary's time, as well as the Ingersoll variety. For this reason we doubt the efficiency of the bells, unless they be rung punctually according to schedule. And we are not the only ones, some of the professors feel the same way about it.

ANIMALS SMILE SEASHORE DECLARES

He Tells Phiyosophy Club History and Psychology of Smile and Frown

The meeting of the Philosophical club was held last night at the home of Professor and Mrs. E. D. Starbuck. The paper of the evening was given by Dean C. E. Seashore upon the topic, "The Smile and the Frown as Language." Dean Seashore said, in part:

"All action reduces itself to two types: attraction and repulsion; all emotions are embraced by two qualities: pleasure and pain; all speech is in its elemental form aye or nay; so all science which precedes speech and underlies speech, is ultimately the science of attraction ad repulsion, affirmative or negative. The most primitive, differentiated pair of signs are the smile and the frown. The psychology of the frown runs entirely parallel with the psychology of the smile. If we know the origin, the genetic history, the laws and fundamental traits of one, we shall find the parallel in the other."

"The smile and frown form a universal language, and are unconscious, instinctive, and habitual. One cannot smile at will. Being automatic, the smile and the frown tell the truth. They are freely adapted to represent all types of intelligence and feeling."

Dr. Seashore traced briefly the probable origin and development of the smile and frown, from the simple expression of an early form of animal life up to the present use as the instrument of culture. He maintained that animals smile and also have analagous signs for the expression of affection.

GIRLS TO HAVE VICTROLA

The girls who live at Currier Hall were made happy Sunday afternoon when Miss Klingenhagen announced to them that a new Victrola had been ordered for Currier hall which was to be a permanent fixture there. The records, too, she said had been chosen by a committee from the school of music.

MISS CHAWNER READER

Miss Mary G. Chawner will read from some of the Russian dramatist Tchekoz's plays at the regular meeting of the Reader's club, to be held Thursday night at 8 o'clock in the Readers' room.

THOUSANDS GREET PRESIDENT WILSON

ENDURE THE COLD FOR BRIEF GLIMPSE OF EXECUTIVE

Few are Able to Hear His Words But Iowan Reporter Gets Up Close

Yesterday afternoon in a temperature below zero, an enthusiastic crowd composed of three thousand students and townspeople awaited the arrival of the train which bore President Wilson on his trip through the west Their blowing of fingers and stamping of toes continued for full half an hour before they were rewarded by a glimpse of the chief executive as he stood on the rear platform of the incoming train.

All cold and discomfort were forgotten as the president and some of his party appeared. For a few minutes after the train stopped, the crowd cheered loudly while the president spoke informally to those who were nearest him. The first question addressed to him was, "Where is Mrs. Wilson?" "Let's see the first lady of the land."

"Mrs. Wilson is resting and can't see you," answered the president. "She hasn't as much cheek as I have," he added with a smile. Mrs. Wilson appeared later, however, at the second window from the rear of the coach and the desire of many was satisfied.

"This is the greatest crowd yet," he announced to some of the members of his party. This remark he followed with his speech which lasted but a few minutes, the train pulling out as soon as he had finished.

"It is very difficult under these circumstances to speak of the serious condition which surrounds us as a nation. They told me in Washington that you people in the middle west were full of lethargy and indifference to national defense. It is with the utmost confidence that I appeal to you to realize that our nation stands in grave danger of being involved in this tremendous conflict which is now going on in Europe. I appeal to you in confidence that you will sustain the government that you have created, in preparation for an adequate defense. Let there be no uneasiness on your part that this is prompted by a sordid motive. It is very necessary that materials for such preparation be bought from someone and without delay."

With these words from the president the train pulled out bearing him westward.

Prof. B. P. Fleming ha completed his report on the Yuma irrigation project in Aarizona, and has sent it to the chairman of the arbitration committee. He has been closely connected with that great engineering project for the last year and his work in connection with it is now complete.

Prof. Shimek, who was taken to the hospital following an injury sustained from an accidental fall on the sidewalk, has sufficiently recovered to again attend to his duties.

The Wesley Guild will entertain their friends at an "X-am jubilee" Friday evening.

THE DAILY IOWAN

WE WISH HIM WELL

Arriving to take charge of Iowa's football, Howard Jones will have the confidence and good will of everyone connected with the institution. Whether he keeps these and increases their degree will depend upon his conscious effort and fate. Jess Hawley's efforts to make football what we wanted it were good but fate played against him. The Daily Iowan wishes Howard Jones better luck.

NEW SERVICE

It is due the reportial staff of The Daily Iowan that the readers' attention should be called to the fact that they are receiving their papers during examination week. It has been customary in the past to suspend publication during this week. Arrangement of the work this year as a part of the regular practice of the students in journalism makes it possible for the staff to continue operations without a break.

ECLIPSE OF THE SUN

By O. H. Truman

The first eclipse of the sun which has been visible in Iowa City for six years will occur next Thursday morning, February 3, from 9 until 11 o'clock. It will be only partial, of course, and small at that, but will doubtless arouse the usual curiosity.

The eclipse is computed to begin at 9 hrs, 1 min. 28 sec.; the middle will come at 9 hrs. 52 min. 20 sec.; and the moon will pass completely from in front of the sun at 10 hrs. 43 min. 12 sec. At the maximum only one-fourth of the sun's diameter will be covered, so that daylight will not be perceptibly diminished. These circumstances are calculated for Iowa City, but will apply closely enough to all nearby points.

A partial eclipse is of little astronomical importance, but as a matter of curiosity the times of beginning and ending will be carefully noted, if the weather is clear, to find how closely they agree with the computed times. It is not expected that they will vary more than a few seconds.

The beginning will be observed from the top of the physics building, as the sun will not yet be in view from the observatory. From the middle on its progress will be followed from the latter place. Those caring to watch the eclipse for themselves can use a smoked glass, or if they have a dense camera negative handy it will do as well.

While this eclipse will be a rather small matter for us, for the inhabitants of Columbia and Venezuela it will be far otherwise, for there it will be total. The path of totality is a narrow strip which starts in the Pacific Ocean, sweeps across the northwestern part of South America into the Carribean sea, and thence crosses the Atlantic to a point southwest of Ireland, where the shadow of the moon finally leaves the earth, after having traveled across it eight thousand miles in about three hours. Even should the weather be cloudy, the sudden coming of darkness will be striking, and where the sky is clear the Columbians and the passengers on those steamers which have properly arranged their courses will see that sight which visits any one place, on the average, only once in three centuries, and which is described by all witnesses as one of the most impressive and awe-inspiring in the experience of man— a total eclipse of the sun.

The junior engineers at Michigan by a ninety-five per cent vote adopted the honor system without the clause which provides that each student must sign a pledge that he will neither receive nor give help.

If You Want to Teach

next year, you can secure a position through the Midland Schools Teachers' Agency, of Des Moines, Iowa. It places more teachers each year than any other agency and its terms are the most liberal offered. It covers the entire territory west of the Mississippi river, except California, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas.

For one dollar you receive an enrollment, a year's subscription to the Midland Schools and an Iowa high school teachers' directory, showing the names of all Iowa high school teachers with subjects taught and salaries received. Any one of these is well worth the price.

Arrangements have been made with Mr. Baldwin, publisher of the Daily Iowan, by which you can secure blanks and enroll directly through him. This will save you some trouble and expense.

Read his announcement in this issue or write directly to C. R. Scroggie, Des Moines, Iowa.

Sixty student members of the Unitarian church and their friends enjoyed a masquerade party Saturday evening at the church parlors. Refreshments were served.

Arla Rawlins has decided to return to her home in Dunlap at the close of the semester. She will accompany her brother M. M. Rawlins.

Pearl Saylor, graduate student, has been elected to fill a position as teacher of Latin in the schools of Mason City.

Morgan Cornwall, law student, spent the week end at his home in Spencer.

MISS WILMARTH PROSTRATED

Miss Alice Wilmarth is ill at her home in Aurora, Illinois. She has not been able to return to her work in the physical education department since the death of her brother two weeks ago. Her place is being supplied by Miss Carrie Hupp.

The junior students at the university school of music will give a recital at the school Saturday afternoon.

TO TEACH CURRIER GIRLS

Miss Corrine Jackson, who was a student in the university three years ago, will conduct a dancing class in Sueppel's auditorium this evening, assisted by Mr. Gates, of Minneapolis.

Early in the evening she will give a few instructions to the girls of Currier hall, where she will be the guest of Dean Anna Klingenhagen. It is the plan of Miss Jackson to continue the Wednesday evening dancing classes indefinately.

Last week there was some misunderstanding on the part of the university girls, who thought that Miss Klingenhagen did not approve of their attending the school. This report was false, however, for the dean gave out this statement in regard to the school. "I am heartily in favor of such a plan, for I think that it is necessary for the girls to learn the proper positions, steps and figures in the latest dances, many of which are abused and overdone at times. If the school will maintain its nature all of the evening and not be turned into a general dance I see no reason why the girls of the university may not attend."

ADAMS TAKES FRESHMEN

Ed Adams, who has returned from his trip to Europe will resume his work with the freshmen basketball squad.

Mr. Adams had charge of the squad until he was invited to join Ford's peace party at which time he turned them over to Assistant Wheeler. Wheeler has showed the boys a great deal of basketball but it is thought best to turn them over to Adams since he started the season with them. and since Mr. Wheeler's duties are so numerous that he is unable to give the boys the amount of time they need.

AMES MADE MONEY HERE

The gate receipts at the Iowa-Ames game last November broke all former records, amounting to nearly $12,000, and exceeding former records by at least $1000, according to information given out yesterday by Director Kellogg.

Of this amount Ames received $5,968.38, more than Ames received at any other game at home or away from home. The Nebraska game paid Ames $5,253.00, but this amount was about $700 less than Ames' share of the gate rece'pts at Iowa City, and the Nebraska game was played at Ames.

The gross income from football games at Ames this year was $19,786.36 and her expenses amounted to $9,490.49, leaving a net balance of $10,295.87. Baseball paid out last year and netted Ames $77.94.

Ex-Freshman Marries

Friends of Miss Helen Fisher of Council Bluffs, who was a freshman in the liberal arts college at the opening of the year, have received notices of her marriage to John Allavie of that city, which took place at the Francis Xavier church.

Miss Fisher was called home before Christmas on account of the serious illness of her mother and did not return to the university. She is the daughter of Mrs. John Fisher of North Platte, Dakota. Mr. Allavie is a machinist employed by the Illinois Central Railway company. The couple have gone to Chicago to spend their honeymoon.

Seashore Has A Birthday

Dean Carl E. Seashore of the department of psychology recently celebrated his birthday in company with his friends and fellow members of the faculty who called at his home unexpectedly. After a social hour the dean was presented with a handsome golf bag.

Catholic Students Give Reception

The Right Rev. Bishop A. Davis of the Davenport diocese of the Catholic church was the guest of honor at a reception given by the Catholic students Sunday afternoon at the K.C. hall. The address of welcome was given by Ray Blankenheim, president of the Newman society, and other enjoyable numbers on the program were readings by Helen Baldwin and Florence McGovern.

Announcements have been received of the marriage of a former student, Fred K. Bruene, by Miss Luella Lydia Benz, at Northfield, Minnesota, on January 26. Mr. Bruene, whose home was in Gladbrook, took his master's degree here in 1913. They will make their home at Beaman.

Mary Peck, who will be a mid-year graduate, will be the guest of honor at the Phi Delt house Friday evening, when the Polygon society entertains. Miss Peck will return to her home in Enid, Okla. next week.

Achoth sorority will entertain their friends at a dancing party at the Masonic temple Saturday evening. Professor and Mrs. Lorin Stuckey will chaperone the party.

The freshmen students in the college of dentistry will entertain their friends and upper classmen at a party at Sueppel's hall Friday evening.

"THE SOUL OF BROADWAY"

Stage folks are no more superstitious than other people, or at least they say so. Nevertheless, they can discover more evil portents in daily life than most other people, as witness the following: Director Herbert Brenon, who is producing "The Soul of Broadway" for the Fox Film Corporation, had erected an immense outdoor stage on which was reproduced the interior of the famous Hall of Chance, which the Parisian police recently closed. The walls, floor and stairs are formed of immense cards, dice, and other gambling paraphernalia. When Valeska Suratt, who plays the lead in the picture, saw the set she expressed herself as being very pleased with its effectiveness.

In the first scene in which the set was used, about 50 people are grouped about the various tables. The scene has been rehearsed over and over again in the sweltering sun. All is in readiness. The orchestra is playing. "All right!" cries the director. "Go!" The cameras turn. The action is on. And— "Wait a minute," cried Miss Suratt, "wait a minute. I can't go on. Look!" There, in the direction in which she was pointing, was a large wall panel on which was painted the Death Card, the Ace of Spades. "I'm not superstitious," said Miss Valeska Suratt, "but—"
