TWO RESOLUTIONS ARE PRESENTED IN INTEREST OF TODAY'S BALLOTING

BY PAM-HULLINE COMMITTEE

Whereas the Executive Committee of the College of Liberal Arts has suspended several of the Junior Prom Committee for three weeks for a violation of the rule not permitting decorating in the university, and whereas, as President of the Junior Prom Committee, I am unable to continue, be it resolved, that the action of the Executive committee was out of proportion to the offense committed, and unjust and unfair to the cases. As a result of these resolutions, it has become apparent that students who are not at fault, have been suspended and unjustly dealt with.

RESOLVED, that the resolution of the Executive committee should be rescinded, and the members of the Junior Prom Committee should be reinstated.

THE PAN-HUSSELS COMMITTEE

IOWA SOCIETY TAKING A TURN ON ROLLER SKATES-LATEST FAD

Mary Nole and Dick Lyons, recent junior arrivals, find Iowa City has a place to They skated until the 10 o'clock hour called them.

Voting will take place in the library and in rooms of the Liberal arts building 1 to 5 in the afternoon. BE SURE TO VOTE.

Voting on Question of Social Coed-Legs Will Take Place at Two Places This Afternoon

Students believe the movement for self-government which is to be voted upon today, last night issued the following statement regarding the situation:

In view of the fact that the student body may not fully understand the situation in which the junior Prom committee has been placed, the following is a statement which in every respect accords with the facts.

What the Prom Committee Did

A university rule prohibits, and as it must be done in the interest of safety, the junior Prom committee attempted to decorate the armory after 12 o'clock midnight on Thursday night, March 14th, and worked on decorating for a few hours.

The Penalty Imposed upon Them

All the members of the committee were suspended, and with the exception of one member, all of them were suspended for a period of three weeks.

The Student's Reaction

Believing that the Council of the student body, and of at least, large number of the alumni, that the penalty was greater than the offense deserved, Alumni and students have joined to protest the action of the Executive committee of the Illinois Valley University.

The Students' Vote Today

The students of the university were requested to vote whether or not they shall have student government at all. This vote may not be considered as final, as they may be requested by the faculty to take another vote. As long as the present system of dealing with violations of the rules is not changed, the students will continue to protest.

The Ball of the roller skates is the most popular of the junior's younger set. The full roster has been compiled by Mrs. Jackie Madsen with a pair of horror-dollers and Dick Lyons in his little brother's shoes, they will have all over the hard-surfaced and byways of Iowa City. The roller skaters have a place to They skated until the 10 o'clock hour called them.

We should never have a place to They skated until the 10 o'clock hour called them.

MISS HEBERLING
AS PEGGY O'MARA

Producers Hoberling, of Iowa City, a sophomore in the college of liberal arts, will play the leading feminine part in Charles Frohman's New York success, "All-of-a-Sudden-Peggy," which will be presented at the Englert theater next Wednesday evening by Zetagathian and Hesperian societies.

This English comedy is new to amateur performances. Filled with clever scenes and delightful humor it should prove interesting throughout its three acts.

The cast for the production here has been carefully selected from the members of the two societies. Several weeks' consistent training and excellent coaching has made it possible for them to present a finished product at the performance Wednesday evening. Miss Hoberling made her first appearance in dramatic work last year in her representation of Betty Graham in "The Fortune Hunter." Several others of the cast are also favorites in university dramatic productions.

The cast follows:

Jim Keel........George Mercer
Lord Crackenthorpe........Harvey Vaucluse Archie Crackenthorpe......Earl Durfor Lady Crackenthorpe.........Margaret Hambright Edward Crackenthorpe......Mary Hambright
Mr. O'Mara.................Charlotte Woolverton Peggy O'Mara.............Producers Hoberling Mr. Meade.................Arlo Wilson
Miss Doro as Nymphaeas Devinely

Grace and Abandon of Greek Melodies Reproduced in New Triangular Form of the Forest Scenes

There are some beautiful classic dancing women in the heart of a great forest and also some thrilling pictures of the woods on fire and her dog running in the new fine Fine Art Triangle play "The Woodymph starring Miss Doro. Miss Doro wears eight film costumes and her hair long dark hair streaming deep her back, as she dances lightly through the forest like the gnome and abandon of the old dress dresses. Her face is alert with the joy of life and her arms and limbs in rhythm to an old melody In the fauna and fauna mighty harp tuned.

Starting from the ember of a night fire made by a couple of tramps to cook with, the fire is soon inflammable by degrees till its smoke also flames awaken the nymph and her mother. Miss Doro portrays dramatic ially the fear of the young girl as the terrible sound of fire almost rounds her. Her terror grows in magnitude as she is separated from the monster. Finally she falls death in a faint. Then her unforgettable father he came through the forest looking for the girl. After a deep despair struggle, in which his clothes are set on fire and his hand is burned he rescues her. The girl's lover and the father also come in the looking for the nymph and her mother. All ends happily with the mythology and dances regained life triumphing over distress.

J. M. WITTLER SPEAKS

What has been accomplished in Iowa, in two years under the commission-manager plan of government was explained at the Early part of the Municipal Day program Tuesday afternoon by J. M. Witter, commission-manger. His lecture was largely illustrated with stereopticon slides which showed graphically how to business management has bettered conditions.

ABDRINH BY REPORT

The results of the home rule movement are that state legislatures have been saved from constant appeals to the citizen for additional power and different schemes of government, a compulsion to corruption has been removed from state lands, many cities have been able to work out a plan suited to their local needs, these cities are able to solve their local problems as these arise, and the process of training starters has eased people in understanding the government, to feel a pride and respect in it.

This is the information which was given the Municipal Day visitors late Tuesday afternoon by Prof. A. R.
Cment, professor of political science in Western Reserve university.

American cities are no ignores a conspicuous failure in matter of government, he declared. "That had been existence before of municip-als and states and counties.

Regardless home rule is only another step for the community acknowledgment. Needed is local self government. That is a doctrine to which all Americans are supposed to give wholehearted allegiance.

"Cities everywhere have only the men that are specifically granted to them. In England and in the United States these powers are grant-by law making them one by one.
In its best form of granting pow-ners results in an unwarranted waste of legislative time. At a recent session of the legislature in Iowa was completed with city affairs.

"Cities are so distant in their problems and personalities as are persons.
"Andre it possible to mention

MAX POSTPALE PLAY

The literary societies are considering a program of their own.

"Suffrage Mr. Armstrong," in order that it may be given before the meeting of the literary societies of the state which convenes in Iowa City May 18 and

"Then the date for the production was first decided upon, the convention for literary societies was unanswerable; but since it has been assigned, the society are in giving their play as a partial entertainment for their guests.

It is impossible as yet to give out the cast for the play. The leading role—chose which John Barrymore took in New York City—is unusually hard to fill, there being few good candidates among university students.

If there are, only a couple of tens left to choose from, and the much believes that the list of characters will soon be announced. The remainder of the casts were almost decided upon.
