THE DAILY IOWAN

Vol. XV. PUBLISHED FOR IOWA STUDENTS IOWA, CITY, IOWA, THURSDAY, APRIL 13, 1916 NO. 134

MEDICAL CLINIC FEATURE OF WEEK

Two Hundred Physisians and Surgeons Are in Attendance Here.

Clinics and Laboratory Demonstrations, together with Reunion, feature Meeting.

Two hundred physicians and surgeons from all parts of Iowa and from adjoining states had registered by 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the headquarters for the seventh annual clinic o fthe State University's college of medicine.

Clinics, laboratory demonstrations, and addresses kept the visiting doctors busy throughout the day. The feature of the day's events was the address by Dr. E. C. Rosenow of Rochester, Minn., on "The Elective Localization of Bacteria following Intravenous Injection." Among other interesting things, he showed that the streptococcus bacillus causes appendicitis, ulcer of the stomach, diseases of the gall bladder, endocarditis, and many other common diseases.

The programme began with a clinic in eye, ear, nose and throat, conducted by Dean L. W. Dean. At 9:30 President Thomas Huston Macbride extended the welcome of the University to the visitors. From 10 to 12 they attended a clinic in surgery conducted by Dr. C. J. Rowan.

In the afternoon Dr. J. B. Kessler conducted a clinic in dermatology and Dr. A. H. Beifeld demonstrated cases in pediatrics, or diseases of children. Dr. Beifeld told of finding three cases of pellagra since he came to the University seven months ago; from which he deduces that this plague may not be altogether uncommon in Iowa.

A laboratory demonstration in anatomy was given by Dr. H. J. Prentiss and his staff. In the pathology laboratory Dr. Henry Albert and his staff showed monstrosities and other malformations of the fetus, a method of mounting eye specimens for the museum, and gross staining reactions in pathological specimens. Dr. Albert also discussed "Hygiene and Preventive Medicine." Dr. C. S. Chase and his staff presented some facts in pharmacology and demonstrated the action of drugs upon mammals. Laboratory work in physiology was demonstrated by Dr. J. T. McClintock and his staff.

Following dinner, the guests were entertained at a theatre party, a special entertainment, and a smoker.

CADETS' LAST DRILL THIS AFTERNOON

Major Monroe McFarland of U. S. Army will Make Inspection

Sham Battle may be Staged West of City—Cadets Finish Early

This afternoon at 3:30 the cadet regiment will have its last drill of the year and will be inspected by Major Monroe McFarland of the United States army.

The companies will fall in, in the armory and march to Iowa field, where the regiments will be formed for review and inspection. The band will head the troops and the full number of staff officers will be in their positions. If the inspection officer desires, a sham battle will be staged on the hills west of Iowa City.

This will be dress up day for the cadets. Every button must be in its proper place, the uniform clean, and the leggings properly laced. Hats must sit squarely on heads. The rifles must be oiled and shining, and the bayonets showing no rust. Woe to the unlucky private who, failing to come up to these requirements, comes under the eagle eye of the inspector.

After Thursday no more drill will be required, with the exception of dress parade on Governor's day and four hours at the rifle range. The final drill is earlier than usual this year, the first of May being custumarily the time when the cadets finish their work. For cadets desiring to get additional training in military tactics, Lieutenant Phinney will continue the Saturday morning marches.

The spring field class in the department of geology will have its first meeting and field trip on Saturday, April 15th. The class will meet in Room 108 Old Science Hall at 8:10 Saturday morning.

"SUFF" LEAP YEAR PARTY MAY 5

LEAP YEAR PARTY

Girls Start "Bidding" for First University Leap Year Party of the Season

The officers of the Equal Suffrage Association are vigorously renewing their work of polling the men of the University and of campaigning for funds as a result of Mrs. Ella Stewart's address and work among the girls.

At a meeting of the finance committee Wednesday, it was decided that a second suffrage party would be given May 5 at the park pavilion. Following the example of the suffrage clubs at other universities, it is to be a Leap year party. No man may purchase a ticket, and because of the restricted floor space, only a limited number of tickets will be sold—not more than five to any one buyer.

It is understood that "bids" are already being given by the suffragettes.

Horace Vasey, law, '13, now practising in Cedar Rapids was a guest of friends in Iowa City Tuesday.

Athens literary society will hold on Monday, April 17, the meeting and programme planned for vacation week.

Cosmopolitan club members will be guests of Mrs. Whittaker at the school of music Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. All members are invited.

KENT'S SLUGGERS WORKING FINE

First String Pitchers Get in Bad With Record String Batters.

Choicest Offerings of Nemmers and Knapp Receive Merry Reception on Diamond.

First string pitchers were batted all over Iowa Field in their contest with the second string batters Tuesday afternoon.

Nemmers and Knapp, whom Kent chose for the hurlers, were forced to watch their choicest offering slammed to the far parts of the field. Everybody hit. Singles were common, doubles were no novelty, and longer hits came with amazing frequency.

After five innings of this performance Kent concluded that the pitchers had been assaulted enough for one day and called the game.

The teams lined up with the first team composed of: Miller at first, Leighton at second, Clough at third, Davis at short, Ericson behind the stick, Nemmers on the mound, and an assortment of men in the field. In the second team were: Ticktin at first, McGrath at second, Imhoff at short, Cassutt at third, Frank at backstop, and Knapp in the box. It too had an ever changing outfield. The second string was ahead 7 to 2 at the finish.

E. W. Pickard, pre-medic student is entertaining Dr. J. F. Bellin, who is attending the medical clinic, Mrs. Bellin, and Miss Grace Ruby Vieux, all of Green Bay, Wis.

Former Lehigh University Professor will Explain the Curved Flight of a Base Ball.

The regular meeting of Baconian club will be held in Physics hall Friday, April 14 at 7:30 P. M.

Dr. W. S. Franklin, formerly Professor of Physics at Lehigh University, will give the paper of the evening on the subject "On some Phenomena of Fluid Motion and the Curved Flight of a Base ball". The lecture will be accompanied by experiments.

Dr. Franklin has occupied a number of government offices more particularly pertaining to ballistics in the insurance world. He has also published a number of books on Physics and Mechanics and Electricity.

The public is cordially invited to attend this lecture.

STUDENT PAPER PLANS COMPLETED

Plan is under Way to Publish New Paper Within a Month's Time.

Illinois Plan of Publishing Student Paper Will Probably be adopted at University of Iowa.

Definite plans for the publishing of an all-university student newspaper at Iowa were completed yesterday at a meeting of representative students and faculty members. Steps will be taken at once toward the formation of the organization which is to undertake the work and an effort will be made to issue the first number within a month.

The meeting was attended by Stanley Hands, representing the Iowa Union and the Associated Students of Applied Science, Magdalene Freyder, representing the Women's League, Ray Clearman, representing the Y. M. C. A., H. J. Garretson, representing the Men's Pan-Hellenic, Naomi Gunderson, representing the Women's Pan-Hellenic, and Prof. C. H. Weller, Prof. G. F. Kay, and Asst. Prof. F. M. Foster, of the faculty committee on student publications.

A plan of operation modeled closely after that in use at the University of Illinois in publication of The Daily Illini was thoroughly considered; then approved by unanimous vote for recommendation to the Iowa student body. It will place the new student paper in control of a board of trustees composed of four students elected by the student subscribers and three faculty members appointed by the president of the University.

It was decided by the representative committee to submit the plan at once to President Macbride for his approval and to ask him to appoint the three faculty members for the board of the new paper. The faculty men will then call for an election by the student body of the four student members of the board. Two juniors nd two seniors are to be chosen and thy may come from any college of the University. The plan is to have candidates nominated by presentation of petitions containing the names of twenty-five signers and to have the whole student body vote this first time on the candidates. In future years, under the constitution provided, the student subscribers to the paper will elect the student members on the board.

The plan of operation will be printed in full prior to the election and copies furnished to students. Under its provisions the co-operative basis of newspaper operation which has long been in use at most large universities will take the place of the control which has existed at Iowa.

JIMMY BARRY

Eighty-three years old and feeling "ez foine ez a top," Jimmy Barry, "the oldest member of the faculty," was at work in the service of the University yesterday as he has been for 58 years.

Sunday was Jimmy's birthday. "I didn't celebrate," he told a reporter yesterday. "I jist got up in the mornin' and went to church and thin I come home and took some ice cream to the family and thin I jist tuk it azy."

Jimmy was born in Cork, Ireland. He came to Boston in 1854 and worked on a farm near there. On St. Patrick's day, 1858, he arrived in Iowa City. Shortly thereafter he went to work for the University and he has been so engaged ever since. He has been keeper of the athletic grounds for eleven years.

"I'd go back to the ol' country," he said yesterday, "if it wasn't for this war business."

Jimmy is feeling as hearty as ever and he declares he will spend many more birthdays. "The finest prisint I had was some flowers from a lady," he remarked concerning his fortune Sunday.

In spite of his liking for the lady of the flowers, however, Jimmy is no suffragist. "The wimmin should stay with their own home and their childrin," he told the reporter. "I don't want no petticoat goverinmint."

When asked what he thought of university spirit, Jimmy replied, "They need the pepper down in the legislature not here. Why do they give so much to Ames and not us?"

MODERN POETS POPULAR

The following statement was issued from the librarian's office yesterday:

"A selection of the works of prominent modern poets has been placed on the special loan shelf in the general library for home reading. These are of especial interest because of the present revival in poetry and it is hoped that students will take advantage of this opportunity to acquaint themselves with the productions of some of the best known modern writers of poetry.

"In commemoration of the Shakespeare tercentenary there has also been placed on this shelf a collection of books bearing upon Shakespeare and his period. These books may all be borrowed from the library for two weeks."

WASSAM TO LECTURE

Dr. W. C. Wassam of the political economy and sociology department will lecture on the subject of "The Modern City" in the liberal arts auditorium Thursday evening at 7:15. The lecture will be open to the public.

QUAINT RELIC UNEARTHED

A quaint old stone fire-place was brought to light when work began on the mailing room in the basement of the Old Capitol building. The fire place was in one of the committee rooms of the building when it was used as state capitol, and furnished the only means of heat on a cold day for the state legislators. There were six committee rooms in the basement of the building and it is supposed that there is a similar fireplace in each . When the wainscoating was torn away in the course of remodeling this fireplace was discovered, simple and unadorned, fashioned out of rough stone and blackened by soot and smoke. Stoves were used upstairs in the building, but the committeemen warmed their fingers at this old fireplace built in 1840 when work on the Old Capitol began. The walls have now been boarded and no trace of the fireplace remains.

ORGANIZE EIGHT WEEKS CLUB

Will Train University Girls to do Y. W. C. A. Work in Rural Communities.

Plans are under way for the organization of a Y. W. preparation class for Eight Weeks club leaders under the instruction of Mrs. E. W. Rockwood. The organization will be completed before the close of the week, and any girl interested in the work is asked to call on, or telephone the Y. W. secretary. The class will begin mmediately after vacation and will meet every week until the close of the semester. Twelve universty girls have already enrolled but the number wanted is twenty.

The Eight Weeks club is organized in rural communities to do the same work the Y. W. C. A. does in the larger towns and cities. The leader is a college girl trained to conduct the class so as to give some of the things she got in college to girls who have not had her opportunities. The purpose of the club is three fold: to study, to do service for the community, and to have a good time.

Study is made of the works of famous authors and painters, their books and paintings; of music and its composers, or of work in homemaking, including management and decoration, cooking, preserving fruit and sanitation. The community service includes church work, opening and conducting public reading rooms and every kind of civic betterment.

Homer I. Smith, senior in the college of law, is a candidate for the office of clerk of the district court on the Republican ticket in Clinton county.
