GABRIELSON'S CHILD ILL
Ira N. Gabrielson of the biological survey of Washington, D. C., is in Iowa City, having been called here by the illness of his two-year old child, who is now in the University hospital. Mr. Gabrielson was a former graduate student at the University.

Buglers in the cadet regiment this year will spend more time learning
how to "wig-wag" than how to blow
the bugle. This is because bugling has almost ceased in active warfare.
Whistles and signals, manipulated
by officers, have practically taken the place of bugle calls.

Fourteen men are working in the physics department of the graduate college. Six of them started last year.

Junior engineers will meet in the student's room Friday afternoon.
Class officers will be elected.

DEAN MCGOVNEY PUZZLED BY SHOWING THIS YEAR—RE-QUIREMENTS NOW HARD

Enrollment This Year is 135—Freshman Class Largest With Fifty Members, Seniors Second with Forty-Eight, and Juniors Thirty-Seven.

Dean D. O. McGovney of the college of law yesterday gave out the following figures of enrollment in that college: first year students, 50; second year, 37; third year, 48; making a total of 135 students in the law college. This set of figures shows a decrease of 21 from last year's enrollment and of 52 from the enrollment of two years ago.

The new dean is puzzled as to the meaning of these figures. In speaking of the matter yesterday he said:
"The decrease in enrollment may be due to the increase in entrance requirements. In the fall of 1914 the one-year college-work requirement took effect. The next year, the two-year requirement was made. Up to that time, there were a number of students entering with high school education only. No doubt there is a new crop each year of persons in the state who consider a high school education sufficient for taking up the study of law.

"On the other hand, out of the fifty students in this year's freshman class, forty-two have obtained
more than the necessary two years of liberal arts. This may mean that a lot of people have caught the new point of view so well that they are making more preparation than our minimum requirement, but there are still some who have not caught the point at all or decline to follow it up.
It will take time for the new thought to spread, but I am convinced that in a few years the idea that a prospective lawyer should first get a broad, general education will be come normal and general, and that our attendance will then go back to its former figures.

VOICE CLINIC FOR SECOND SEMESTER

PUBLIC SPEAKING DEPARTMENT ALREADY HELPS VOICES OF STUDENTS

In the second semester the department of public speaking will open a voice clinic for the service of students in the University. Those who possess organic defects requiring the advice of a surgeon will be referred to the university hospital. Already examinations have proven that a very small percentage of applicants will be affected by this.

Any student desiring suggestions on improving the quality, power, or pitch of his voice will be given directions. This is especially intended for those who are unable to take courses in public speaking or who have unusual voice defects. The work will be in charge of Prof. C. N. Merry.

OLD GOLD AUTHOR TO RULE IN COLORADO

Dr. John Carl Parish, who spent the summer in study in Iowa City, has been chosen as one of a committee of three which will administer the affairs of Colorado college until a president is elected.

Dr. Parish did both his undergraduate and graduate work at the University. He has published books and articles on Iowa and western history, and is also well known as the author of the university song, "Old Gold."

BACONIAN DISCUSSES "WHAT'S IN A NAME"

Friday night at Baconian club Professor C. C. Nutting in an address entitled "What's in a Name?" discussed the manner in which animals receive their names, showing how the history of a species is bound up in a name.

"The naming of an animal by systematists is governed by many rules and regulations," Prof. Nutting said. "The chief among these rules is the law of priority by which the first name given to a species holds good throughout its existence. Therefore it is essential that a systematist have a knowledge of all things that have ever been written, and especially an understanding of Greek and Latin."

Ray Short has been elected assistant instructor in the department of public speaking at Harvard university. Mr. Short, who was graduated from the college of liberal arts in 1915 and received his master's degree in 1916, was assistant in public speaking here.

At Harvard Mr. Short will pursue the study of psychology and will be associated with Professor Ivan Winter, head of the department of public speaking, who has also been for many years a celebrated actor.

Dean Klingenhagen's office has been moved from room 114 to 112 in order to make another classroom. Professors Hunt and Sloan have moved to room 10.

Style in clothes for college men

COLLEGE clothes are not especially different from those worn by business men of college age; if they were, college men wouldn't wear them. But it's a fact that

Hart Schaffner & Marx Varsity Fifty Five models

are the favorites with college men; they have a smartness, an individuality, a real dignity in design which such men want.

We have many different types of the Varsity Fifty Five; single and double breasted; belt; some with patch pockets and other variations.

COMMUNICATIONS

To the Editor:
In perusing the Oct. 11th. issue of the Daily Iowan the writer runs across an article on the front page, second column, telling of the state shoot results of Civilian Riflemen. Now this article is a little off color in regard to the facts and the writer's aim is to correct a few facts which have been stated in the same.
No Civilian trying out at the Shoot in Des Moines used telescope sights or any other sights than those prescribed by the National Rifle Association. All members used the same gun as Mr. Price did with the same sights and therefore had no advantage over the Iowa man. The writer can vouch for the fact as he witnessed the shooting as a spectator and did not have so much on his mind as he could tell whether any person had the advantage over the other participants in the match. This looks rather like you are boosting the reputation of your entry by mis-stating facts so as to impress on the people of this State what a wonderful shooter you have. Now Mr. Price is a gentleman since the writer received that impression when he was introduced to him and is an excellent shooter, but if Mr. Price finds objections with the above, the writer will not hesitate to apologize.
Again you mention that most of the shooters were Professionals. This can not be true because there no persons known as Professional riflemen. There are in trapshooting and a few other branches of shooting but in the Civilian Clubs they are so scarce that you can't find them with a bi-ological microscope. Beside there is no money in professional rifle shooting so where do they come in?

There were thirteen men chosen and the high score of the shoot was 415 out of 500 points. Here you are wrong again so we will advise you to re-write that article or else take that cute little reporter who wrote the salve out to the University Hospital and see if he has not got a small vacuum space in his nut.
This will be all for this time, but remember we have a little one horse typewriter up here that can run to beat the deuce if necessary.
Respectfully yours,
S. W. Aldrich,

CHEMISTS UNCORK A FEW BROMIDES BEFORE REPORTER

"CUB" SNOOKS AROUND AND COPIES PASSAGES FROM THEIR SACRED EDDA Finds Blunders of Former Students Recorded Therein—Explains Why the Squirrels Around Chem. Building Look so Prosperous.
Leaning over the desk in the chemistry dispensing room, two assistants were pouring into the pages of a worn, yellow book.
"What the dickens is in that book that makes you fellows so happy?" asked the lynx-eyed reporter who happened to be passing.
The assistant looked him over carefully, then one said dramatically. "We have here the sacred Edda of the chem shack. In its pages are inscribed the blunders made by the chem students for years."
The reporter got hold of the book and found that it dated back for sixteen years. Some of the prize things written in it were:
"H2SO4 has a great infinity for water."—Van der Burg, 1901.
"The filtrate tastes sort of sour and drainy."—Mrs. Dunn.
"I used a test tube filled with diluted water."—unknown?
"I want some potassium intrate."—Clara Hayden.

IOWA DOWNS GRINNELL IN EXCITING GAME 17-7
sult in a getaway for another marker.
The entire Iowa team is deserving the greatest credit for having defeated a crack eleven of true worth. The Hawkeye line, especially on the defensive, was impregnable and time and again the Grinnell backs were stopped flat for no gains. After the first quarter all Grinnell attempts at the Iowa ends were disastrous. Mendenhall, who went out of the game with a severe cut in his forehead, played with great success while in the fray and was a consistent performer. Davis put up a great game and was particularly successful at grabbing forward passes himself and at spoiling those of the opposition. Duncan could not be stopped and Scott was good at hitting the line but not fast enough to skirt the ends when carrying the ball. On the whole, the right side of the Iowa line yielded less ground than the left, although every man was in the game for all that was in him.

Funny how ubiquitous a sweater is. From matriculation to graduation its uses are multitudinous, its paths devious. And how nomadic, too. The athlete's luxurious shaker, proudly alphabetized, migrates from "stude" to co-ed, from frat house to girl's dorm. If it's a Bradley, it abides there.

NEW PLAYS GAWKEYES AGAINST

IOWA VARSITY SENIOR DRILL IN NEW PLACE YESTERDAY

Coach Jones Puts Jenkins in First Day's Varsity Plays for Boilermakers Sidelines and Leighton Place.

In spite of the fact that some of his players were still bruised and sore from the game Saturday with Grinnell, Coach Jones mustered his varsity team for a field drill yesterday. The drill was in the line in which it has been customary to participate this year.

New formations and plays must be worked up for the next Saturday game. The Purdue game was held yesterday. The varsity in profusion was to perfect the open football which Jones has had the entertainment of the varsity in profusion. In the college games played last season the Iowans had a uniform style of attack by occasional forward passes. The Hawks will have the opportunity of something of the sort in the game which they are capable of putting in.

After preliminary work, an unorganized sort of game took some of the players' muscles; Jones put them together at 5 o'clock and kept them after 6. Captain Leighton's sideline because of a clash and Leighton had been substituting at the game, was switched over to run through the sign place.

Another change of lineup appeared at quarter time of Jenkins, who showed in Saturday's game. Jenkins was given first Bannick to try out with the varsity is regarded as significant. Bannick yesterday at quarter time.

There were no other changes in the lineup of the regular team, who were taken out of the game with a severe forehead, was back at the game and Davis and Scott remained in the back line there were no changes in the place of Leighton in the place.
