To the Daily Iowan,

We, the members of the Student Council at Grinnell, take this moment to express our regret over the apparent shift in editorial direction of the "Reduced Language" column in the recent issue of the "Daily Iowan.

We are concerned that this change in tone may be indicative of a broader trend within our university's student publications. We believe that it is crucial to maintain a balance of perspectives and to encourage open dialogue among our student body.

As representatives of the undergraduate body, we believe it is our duty to ensure that the student voice is heard. We encourage all students to continue to engage with these issues and to contribute to the ongoing conversation about the future of our campus and its publications.

Very Sincerely,

The GRINNELL STUDENT COUNCIL
Waldo Norris, President.

We Accept, Cherish
The Daily Iowan, as on behalf of the students of the University, best called upon to accept the apology and explanation made by the Cornell Student Council and appointed elsewhere in this line with reference to recent editorials in the Student and Black, the Cornell college newspaper.

The criticism characterized student team of the University of Iowa as existing for "the benefit of athletics."

As the student council says, we believe that this statement, although so politely made and widely read in the "Evening Press," does not represent the general sentiment of the student body. It may be thrice repeated by someone unfamiliar with the true spirit which exists between the two institutions, by someone who was in the press writing a stirring story on the eve of the first football game between the Congregational and the State University in many years.

The writer needs not to be embarrassed, but to be cleared and pursued with a word of caution against better judgment in the future.

It was noticeable fact that no game between Grinnell and Iowa on October 14, although battery and closely contested from first to last, was the object of so much inarticulation of poor sport, or under the cheers of the spectators. Not one "as a decision of official complaint," not one did the players reveal themselves individually or as a team. Certainly nothing would add more clearly the free spirit of the Iowa players, and the fact that in just as many games Iowa is playing to the Hawkeyes. The same good sportsmanship was manifested in Iowa in the Purdue game Saturday. The Purdue teams, illustrious for the abilities of their players and for the skill of their teams, so little were marked in any fashion as recent Highland Park, Des Moines game are constantly being coming less numerous.

Iowa is taking her place with other schools in making football a sport, and is well aware of the need of the football season to be helped more vigorously by more successful preparations and promotions of the University.

"WHAT MEN LIVE BY."

(There will appear in this column from day to day, under the direction of the Y. M. C. A., questions from students, women, and others, to which we will be happy to answer.

My calculations and the data have been obtained from various primary sources and have been confirmed by such statements, with the help of almanacs and tables of years, as have been available. Messrs. G. W. Johnson and B. R. Tuckett, while making the calculations, were careful to take into consideration a number of important factors which have limited the time of the experiment.

NOTED HINDU POET AND PHILOSOPHER WAS PROFESSOR OF IOWA PROFESSOR

The coming of Tagore, the noted Hindu poet and philosopher, to Iowa City on Thursday has aroused a widespread interest both among the faculty and students of the University and among the citizens of Iowa City. In response to the many requests for information concerning the life, the writings, and the ideas of Tagore, Dr. Nathadwar Bose, lecturer in the University of oriental politics and civilization, will give an informal talk on "The Personality of Tagore" in the hall of liberal arts, room 201, on Tuesday afternoon at 4:30. The talk will be open to students and other persons who are interested. Dr. Bose is a native of India, and the talk will make possible a larger appreciation on the part of those who will attend the address of Tagore on Thursday evening of this week.

ENTERTAIN TONIGHT FOR NEW FACULTY MEMBERS

President and Mrs. A. J. Iowa will entertain at a reception this evening at their home on North Clinton street in honor of the new members of the faculty. Those in the receiving line besides President and Mrs. Jones will be Dean and Mrs. Dudley Odell McElroy, Dean and Mrs. Carl Emil Semander, Dean and Mrs. Leo Waite Bean, Dean and Mrs. Frank F. Brown, Dean and William O. Raymond, Dean and Mrs. Clark Fisher, President and Mrs. Norman A. Britz, and Dean Anne M. Killion Graham.

PHILOSOPHY CLUB POSTPONES

The meeting of the Philosophical which was to have been held this evening has been postponed because of the president's reception to the new members of the faculty. Dr. Patrick was to have been the speaker.

Profs. Lofthus, Stanley E. K. and R. H. Stewart are attending the United Charities convention conventions at Ottumwa.

Edith Eastman, who has been recently in Missouri, is to entertain at a reception this evening.

The introduction of these animals and birds in the produce is quite necessary to give the proper atmosphere for the big dance tonight.

THE RIFLE TEAM who has been secretary to Dean W. C. Wilson, will take her place.

"NAVALIZATION"

Besides the big symphony orchestras and the army of actors carried to present the music and the acted prologue for the big Thos. H. Rice spe- cialization which comes to the Auditorium theatre Wednesday and Thursday, quite an assortment of men are required to give an artistic and picturesque fall prologue.

One of the most striking views in this production is the open carriage, when one sees the rural district just as the rays of sun over the hill. The first object that appears in the spectator's eye is a rear window in a fence. This horse has been so remarkably trained that he stamp his feet and raises just as he would in real battle.

Two dogs, trained to pull a milk cart also play an important part, as do rabbits and pigeons. The introduction of these animals and birds in the produce is quite necessary to give the proper atmosphere for the big dance tonight.
