CROWD AT STATION SEES VARSITY OFF TO GOPHER CONTEST

IOWA SQUAD TAKES LAST WORK-OUT YESTERDAY AFTERNOON FOR BIG GAME

Band on Hand with "Ramble" and Crowd Yells Who-Wah-Wah As Men With Jones At Head Depart on Annual Invasion of Minnesota

With "Ramble" ringing in their ears and the Who-Wah-Wah of hundreds of loyal rooters being shouted to the heavens as the train pulled out, the Iowa varsity football squad left at 8:30 o'clock last evening for Minneapolis to meet the Gopher machine that is for the Hawkeyes the critical contest of the season.

Practice Defensively

The final workout yesterday afternoon on Iowa field was a severe one, yet no bruising scrimmage was attempted. A sort of dummy scrimmage play was instituted in which the freshmen, using Minnesota plays and formations, were continually on the offensive. The varsity line and Scott at defensive fullback were the only players used on the defensive and the men were drilled to shift correctly, to charge quickly and safely, to watch the ball, and to take good care of their own positions and let the rest of the line care for itself. Although Jones talked pretty plainly to some of the men about their faults, yet it was seen that the work of the line was fairly successful for the most part. Captain Laun played in his position throughout and Bowlesby and Kriz both saw action at right tackle while Grubb and Kelly were both used at left guard. There were no other changes. The day's work ended with a signal drill and the past practice before the game, except for signal work which will probably be done this afternoon in some enclosed field which may be available in the Flour City.

At the station last night the crowd called for Jones to speak. He attempted to say a few words but the noise of the engine soon compelled him to stop. Laun was called for and appeared on the car platform, but could not be prevailed upon to open his mouth.

Iowa Not Without Hope

Iowa goes north full of hope and enthusiasm and with some expectancy of a successful stand against the Gophers. The team has been drilled on defense until they should be able to stop the German army, and the individual work which Jones has been giving them is expected to bear some results. It is certain that the team has great latent strength, and if this will only come to the surface now when it is needed, Iowa will be able to turn the trick and defeat the Minnesota eleven which has an unsullied record so far this season, just as the Hawkeyes have.

The following men made the trip north: Captain Laun, Bowlesby, Foslack, Becker, Grubb, McKee, Triplett, Jenkins, Mendenhall, Davis, Scott, Reed, Kriz, Hunzelman, Wyland, Kelly, Glatts, Bannick, Berrien, Duncan, Hammond, and Van Pelt. Accompanying them were Coach Jones, Kent, and Kirk, Trainer Watson, and Assistant Trainer Lee Rosenthal, Doctors Harding and Rohner, and Director of Athletics Nelson A. Kellogg.

The team arrives in Minneapolis at 8:05 o'clock this morning and will be at home at the West hotel.

The new lights which have been installed in the law library will add much to the facilities for night study.

ONCE WARM NEAR POLE; GLACIERS NEAR EQUATOR

"It was once warm at Spitzbergen, twelve degrees from the north pole, and there were once glaciers within eighteen degrees of the equator," was one of the statements made by Dr. A. P. Coleman of the University of Toronto in his lecture on "Ancient Ice Ages" yesterday in the old science building.

Dr. Coleman has studied the glacial deposits of Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India and Spitzbergen, and is the first man to show that there were ancient glaciations in Canada.

REAL BEAR STORY BROUGHT BACK BY MONTANA HUNTERS

MANVILLE EXPEDITION GETS EXCELLENT TROPHIES FOR MUSEUMS

List of Specimens Includes Five Elk, One Bear, One Deer, and Some Birds—Student Helps With Work.

Five elk, one deer, one bear, and some small birds are the result of the Manville expedition to Montana in behalf of the University museums. B. H. Manville, the Iowa City business man, and Elmer Kubicek, student in museum training who was with him, returned to Iowa City Tuesday with their trophies.

Cold weather and wildness of the animals caused the hunters some difficulty in securing the specimens. These were, however, in excellent condition when unpacked at the museum laboratory yesterday. They had been prepared by Mr. Kubicek before shipment.

A tale told by the returned hunters is that one day when all the members of the camp were away a grizzly bear entered and did no little damage. Besides upsetting and demolishing some furniture he opened a bottle of syrup and drank the contents, then made away with half of a skinned elk.

The expedition was financed by Mr. Manville.

BIOLOGY CLASSES ARE ROAMING COUNTRY-SIDE

The introductory classes in animal biology are taking their first field trips this week. Armed with empty bottles and buckets they are roaming over the fields and byways in search of the little microscopic creatures which infest the pools of stagnant water found in the pastures and along roads. These bottles of water will be sealed and placed in the laboratory until next week when the students will examine under the microscope the sort of animal life found in the same water served to them at their various boarding house tables.

MARSHALL LAW MEETS

Marshall Law society will hold a meeting tonight in the society rooms. The program for the evening will be the trial of a libel case. Archie Nelson and Walter Bedell will act as attorneys for the plaintiff, and C. W. Barlow and J. L. Parrish for the defendants.

The October number of the Iowa Journal of History and Politics will be ready for distribution the last of next week. It will contain an article by Jacob Van der Zee on "The Opening of the Des Moines Valley Settlement," and an article by Ruth Gallaher on "Indian Agents of Iowa."

George Heinrich, a pharmacy graduate in 1906, has bought a drug store in Osceola. He was formerly clerking for Schunamen & Company of Waterloo.

MAMMOUTH FEAST WILL BE FEATURE FOR HOMECOMING

WHOLE "IOWA FAMILY" TO SIT TOGETHER FOR BIG FEED ON NOVEMBER 24

Plans for Entertainment of Alumni and Former Students are Maturing Rapidly Under Direction of T. A. Wannerus

A mighty all-University feast will celebrate the return of the "prodigals" for the fifth annual homecoming of Iowa University alumni and former students November 24 and 25.

At six o'clock on the evening of the 24th the whole "Iowa Family" will sit down to a repast such as always greets the return of long-absent sons and daughters to the prosperous parental board. Probably several fattened calves will be killed beforehand, and the young men and young women of the Iowa student body will carry wood and water without stint to prepare a cheering reception for the favored brothers and sisters.

All Get Together

The dinner will be a new feature of the homecoming. There have been banquets of various groups before but never a common breaking of bread. The law alumni have been accustomed to have a dinner, but this year they have expressed a desire to join with all. The most capacious floor in Iowa City will be used as the scene of the event. Backers of the project are fearful lest even then they will not be able to accommodate all who seek to partake of the feast. But at least they hope to make the crowd so representative that the affair will deserve its designation as the "Iowa Family" dinner.

TAGORE PLEASURES LARGE AUDIENCE

MAKES ELOQUENT PLEA AGAINST OXIDENTAL TENDENCY TOWARD NATIONALISM

Sir Rabindranath Tagore poured out the philosophy and the learning of the East last night in the natural science auditorium to one thousand persons. With a voice that at first seemed high and almost irritating but which became plaintive and musical as the lecture progressed, and dressed in a typically oriental gown, the long bearded scholar from India held his listeners almost spellbound for an hour and a half.

His philosophy consisted in a plea against a materialistic.

He characterized a nation as a creation of commerce and finance nationalism. United States and the European powers were subjects of his condemnation on this score. He declared that in their wild striving for commercial power and prestige the individual has been lost from view.

"Simplicity in everything has characterized India," he asserted. "We are living individuals with certain sensibilities. I believe there is much to be learned by the western nations through a study of our life and ideals."

After his lecture he read three of his poems which also related to the subject of nationalism. In these his voice assumed a more uniform pitch, with only an occasional inflection, the effect of which was to make the poems take on an almost weird element.

President W. A. Jessup introduced the speaker.

FANCY DINNER PARTY FOR GIRLS AT CURRIER

The gruesome sight of wiggly snakes, little black alligators, and ghastly skeletons greeted the startled eyes of the girls at a table in Currier hall Tuesday evening. Set amid red roses and ferns were all the hideous fantastic shapes imaginable awaiting the arrival of the guests at their feast of "In Memoriam," for the changing of tables the next day.

The girls ate their "birthday paragon" while the "ghosts" of ty of cake and candy with keen appetite departed good times together looked on with sickly grins of enjoyment.

FORMER STUDENTS START NEWSPAPER AT BROWNSVILLE

"SCOOP" FAIRALL IS EDITOR AND "BOB" SHOWERS BUSINESS MANAGER

First Edition of The Iowa Guardsmen Will Embrace 3,000 Copies and Will Make Appearance on Sunday

Two former University students, Lawrence Fairall and Robert Showers, both of Iowa City, have organized a newspaper on the Mexican border, where they are now stationed with Iowa troops, the interests of which will be devoted to the interests and activities of the militiamen. The first edition will appear Sunday with a circulation of 3,000.

The publication will be known as The Iowa Guardsmen. Fairall, who will act as editor-in-chief, was formerly city editor of the Clinton Advertiser, had worked both on the Iowa City Citizen and the Republican, and was a business manager of the Hawkeye last year. He is a member of the local chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the journalistic fraternity. Showers as business manager has also had considerable experience with various publications which will fit him for the position.

A special correspondent staff will furnish a service from the cavalry camp at Donna while a complete news organization, embracing a dozen experienced men, will cover the Brownsville military field.

The initial issue of the paper will be of four pages, six column size. As the circulation and business field develops the men in charge expect to increase this to eight or ten pages of seven column size.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS ARE USING ARMORY

Twenty-five University high school boys are making use of the armory this year under the direction of Director E. G. Schroeder. They are given two hours of work a week. Tuesday afternoon they take swimming, elementary for those who cannot swim and advanced for those who can. On Friday they have an hour of physical training.

Efforts are being made to make room in the gymnasium's crowded schedule for an hour or two each week when the high school boys can play on the big floor.

"Michael Angelo and the Tomb of Pope Julius II" is the title of the lecture Professor Weller will give Saturday morning. The tomb to be discussed is known to represent the great tragedy in Michael Angelo's life. Slides will be used to illustrate.

The junior pharmics have elected as their Hawkeye representatives Joe M. Severid, department editor, and Ben C. Rogers of Clinton, manager.

GOPHERS READY FOR HAWKEYES WITH ALL FIRST STRING MEN

GAME WITH IOWA WILL BE FIRST MINNESOTA CONFERENCE GAME

Dopesters in Minneapolis Feel That Their Chances of Being Defeated Are Remote—Gopher Strength Unknown Quantity.

(BY "JACK")

Minneapolis, Oct. 26, Special to the Daily Iowan.—Just what Coach Williams has to offer in the way of real football remains to be seen in the Iowa game. Thus far the Gophers have not been forced to display more than mediocre football. In the game Saturday in which they ran up an 81 to 0 score against the Coyotes, second string men were used almost altogether.

Iowa's defeat of Purdue by a decisive score has given rise to comment on the coming game with the Hawkeyes but the idea of defeat at their hands is remote.

The Gophers with a few exceptions have come through the three games played in good shape. There are a few minor injuries but it is reported a full line-up of first string men will be ready to receive Coach Jones' aggregation Saturday.

The first two days of the week were his men some new plays which will be used against the Iowans if it is found necessary to go beyond the curriculum already in hand.

Present indications are that the same line-up which faced the Coyotes will be presented to Coach Jones' aggregation Saturday.

Ecklund whose great work at guard Saturday gained him recognition doubtless will be retained in that position. He formerly held down a wing position.

Mayer's injuries it is feared will keep him out of the game at tackle and his place will be filled by Townley. Mayer has been on the field walking with the aid of a cane and it is probable he will be ready to take the field again for the Illinois game.

Interest in the game Saturday has not reached any great height as yet. It is felt the Iowa team is due for a beating and the main interest lies in the fact that it is the first conference game of the season.

Iowa scouts who viewed the Saturday game with South Dakota are reported to have put away their pencils and paper after the procession started and to have given up hope of getting a line on the Gopher's real ability.

Minnesota scouts returning from the Iowa-Purdue game are reported to be perfecting a defense for the Hawkeye's onslaughts.

Iowa is said to have a more aggressive team this year than last and preparation for it are being worked out by Coach Williams.

BEST SPEAKER ON GREEK COMING HERE

John A. Scott, professor of Greek at Northwestern will lecture next Thursday evening on "Modern Lessons of Ancient Democracy."

THAT BEAT IOWA SPIRIT

I. S. C. Student—Let's get away from the thots of the Missouri game anyway and think of Iowa.

There you have it. The sun's coming out already. Can we beat Iowa? That's the big question. Sure we can. That's the big answer. What does it all mean anyway? We can't tell. It's just a hunch. That's all. The Beat Iowa spirit seems to have been born in the blood of every Ames man and women. It's just a something that we all have and this is the time of the year that it breaks forth and we just can't suppress it.

Is it something that we should suppress? Let's hope it's not. Let's let it break forth and simmer until November eighteenth and then turn the flame up a little higher and let it boil over.

We're going to beat Iowa.

Again we have an opportunity to see that the biggest thing of the entire year in the camp of the Aggies is the football game with Iowa. Well, we certainly are glad to know that the students in our sister institution take such a serious view of the matter. At Iowa we have many larger problems than this to solve. Of course the Ames game will need some attention in a few weeks, but now we have Minnesota and Northwestern before us.

"WHAT MEN LIVE BY."

(There will appear in this column from day to day, under the direction of the Y. M. C. A., quotations from modern writers and speakers, letters from alumni and friends of the University, and statistics relative to men and institutions.)

"It is not pleasant to say so, but it is very much to be feared that much so-called doubt is merely a sort of cloak for something else, a thing far worse and meaner than the doubt. The word doubt has quite an intellectual flavor. It seems to suggest mental strength. It makes a fine cloak. Its ample folds and soft gray color can cover up very much within. It is quite apt to be an intellectual covering for some very un-intellectual, very common, and very coarse habits. Scratch some self-styled doubters and you will find ugly, selfish sinners. Let such friends remember and not forget that there is no necessary connection between selfishness and doubt, between sin, just common, plain sin, and intellectual difficulties."

"Two thousand and twenty-five Iowa year tickets sold to date," proudly reported Athletic Director Kellogg yesterday. "This is an increase of 209 over last year's total sales."

"And," he added significantly, "They are still on sale."

HERE'S A RACE THAT EVERYONE HAS VIEWED

Around the corner the whistle blew and the race was on. Down College street came the racers. They all seemed to be running an even race but as they neared one could see that a big, brown, rough-looking one was in the lead. They were coming at top speed and acted as if they were totally unconcerned with the onlookers. After they had run a short distance, the race changed and a wiry, red-faced runner took first place. He held supremacy only until he was struck by an automobile and knocked flat on his back. The racers were the representative teams of the oaks, the birches, and the elms, and the whistle was the southwest wind.

MOTHERS HEAR OF IMPROVED METHODS IN CHILD WELFARE

Dr. Ernest Horn discussed the problem of recreation in the small towns and cities of Iowa, urging the establishment of recreation centers in small towns as well as in the larger ones. Miss Bessie McClenahan gave a report of the meeting of the Playground and Recreation Association of America's recent meeting. She urged direct supervision of play.

Mrs. A. O. Ruste, president of the Mothers Congress and Parent-Teacher association, explained the work which her organization is doing in raising the standards for the child and parents and Mrs. E. B. Rockwood of Iowa City told how the work of the local child welfare station is conducted.

Most of the morning session was devoted to reports of the work of local associations.

Professor E. E. Farris of the University talked on "Social Discipline of Children."

At the noon luncheon at the Jefferson, Mrs. William Benson presided. Speakers were Mrs. G. T. W. Patrick of Iowa City, Mrs. A. W. Brett of Des Moines, Mrs. C. E. Daniels of Des Moines, Mrs. Vanderham of Mount Vernon, Mrs. H. J. Prentiss of Iowa City, and Mrs. Max Mayer of Iowa City.

FIRST LAW SMOKER IS HUGE SUCCESS

JUNIORS AND SENIORS ENTER-
TAIN FRESHMEN AND FACUL-TY MEMBERS

The first and second year classes of the Law School, under the direction of the Iowa Law School Students' Association, gave the first law smoker of the year in the Law Library Wednesday evening at eight o'clock in honor of the first year students and the faculty, as well as a general get-together meeting.

The Executive Committee of the Students' Association composed of H. C. Harper, Orville Harris and F. A. Walker, assisted by Arthur Nelson, Harold Thuenen, and Edward O'Connor, representing the second and third year classes, were in charge.

Mr. Harper, as chairman of the meeting, spoke in a few well chosen words of the place the law school occupied in the life and activities of the University, after which Mr. Besore, a member of the first year class, gave a well rendered solo. Herbert Hoffman staged a bit of vaudeville comedy which was very well received. Dean McGovney was then introduced, and, in his first appearance before the students of the law school as a body, made many friends. Several numbers were given on the banjo by Mr. Kroppach and Mr. Caswell followed by a banologue which was greatly appreciated.

Jessup a Speaker

The feature of the evening was the address given by President Jessup who spoke in highest terms of the work being done in the Iowa Law School and of the part which the Law School should play in bringing about the greater Iowa. His address was enthusiastically received.

After the formal program, the eats, consisting of sandwiches and cider were enjoyed, after which an impromptu orchestra consisting of Mr. Foarde, Mr. Caswell and Mr. Kroppach made its appearance, entertaining with a variety of music. Their two banjos and the piano was not only a novelty, but furnished excellent music as well. Informal quartettes also sprang up and a delightful hour was spent in singing familiar songs.
