The earnest man does seek for truth, and not be held back by somebody's extreme statement of it. Both men are extreme because somebody else is extreme and therefore both in part wrong.

FLORENCE LA BADIE
WILLIAM GRIFFITH Beautiful Florence La Badie, whose pictures are well known as those in the Pathé Football Hunter plot, "The Path to Paradise," promised by the Pioneer Film Company by Van Oorschot, made her first stage appearance with Clansman Oost in "Hagned Hiths.

It was a member of the old Bigire Company since W. G. Wilson, and after a season before the camera on the Pacific Coast, no longer did the want to appear in the smoking drums. Predicting that she would become a great actress, Edith Van Oorschot signed a long contract ex-time, and she has been at his New York studio ever since.

If she had not been a notable proscription of the movie world, she would have made her return to the screen. She is a masterful and distinguished actress, and the very air she takes in her dog. A Californian by birth, and a girl of singular grace and character.

Clara Carden, famous for a cast of exceptional brilliance will be seen at the Market Theatre on October 19, 19, 21, in the Science Museum profession production. "Scientific," written by "The Common Law.'" This is the first of this uncommon popular story's presentations at the head of her own producing company and has been well limited as a veritable triumph of film art.

LEARN TO TELL STORIES IN CHILD-LIKE FASHION

The class in story telling is one of the most informal in the University. Students, who range from timid sophomores to gay haired seniors, gather in a group and practice telling tales in child-like fashion. The class started by reading Bible stories to suit children six years of age. Now they are telling Norse myths. This week some of Tagore's poems have been learned and recited. Some students will be telling stories to children in the model school and in the children's ward of the hospital.

CONFERENCE A SUCCESS

"The Child Welfare Conference was a great success, and the program was very gratifying. The last week was spent very well and included a very enjoyable session," was the comment by G. A. Kimball of the extension division recently.

Mary Trickey's first picture since she acquired her subject of nearly infinite by conservation that in the future she intended to be independent of production and to be shown at the French Theatre. It is "How the Durt," an intensely human study of modern English and India. Most of the biggest scenes take place in India. To obtain the cast members of this novel setting recent expeditions research work was necessary, and a complete city was built, faithfully reproducing the architecture of a small Indian town of today. Illustrating the attention to detail with which "The Durt" was staged, a small incident may be MORE.

DEFICIENT ENGLISH STUDENTS MUST NOW TAKE GRAMMAR WORK

Any student who is likely to be seriously handicapped in the spelling work, by defective English will be required to take the test, approved by the dean, to which has just been adapted.

The student will then be expected to arrange for at least two hours of instruction in grammar only once or twice a week. The term will consist of twelve weeks during the six weeks. Groups of not more than ten will be allowed in each class.
