Valuation of Public Debaters' Admission

Iowa has been the center of attention for several years by its Debaters. The school administration is trying hard to make the room as nice as possible for the Debaters to come and participate in the discussions. The team is currently ranked third in the nation and is considered one of the strongest in the country.

The Debaters are required to practice hard every day to improve their speaking skills. They are often invited to different schools to debate, and they have a high chance of winning these debates due to their extensive training and preparation. The Debaters are known for their ability to quickly analyze arguments and counter them effectively.

In conclusion, the Debaters' admission to the University of Minnesota is a significant achievement for the school. It is a testament to the hard work and dedication of the team and their coaches. The future looks bright for the Debaters as they continue to work towards even greater successes.

Perhaps you've wondered why they are called "sport" coats—that is because they were originally designed for playing golf, hunting, etc. They were so stylish and becoming, young men started wearing them for business and semi dress up.

"SPORT COATS" are Gaining Ground, the Knit One, the Star

YOU know how hard the knit coats were "smashing the line" last season. Well, they're going into it even harder this fall and winter; the best dressed young men of the country are "rooting" for them.

Perhaps you've wondered why they are called "sport" coats—that is because they were originally designed for playing golf, hunting, etc. They were so stylish and becoming, young men started wearing them for business and semi dress up.

You will see them in our windows.
