THE DAILY IOWAN

VOL. XV - NEW SERIES, NO. 1

OWNER AND CONTROLLER OF THE STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

THE LEADER

Evidence of the increased interest in vitiated roads through the state, as well as the southwest corner of the region that has been in the hands of publishers for years, will be welcomed at the big meeting of the Iowa Tribune Association this evening. The representatives who have been appointed in the different colleges and departments will be gathered tonight to discuss the situation. The amount of necessary money will be raised to enable the Iowa Tribune Association to carry on its work for another year. The meeting will be held in the Iowa Union building tonight at 8:30, and all members of the Association are expected to be present.

Mr. Raymond E. Johnson, president of the Iowa Tribune Association, will open the meeting with a short address, followed by a report of the work done during the past year and an outline of the future plans for the Association.

The meeting will also include a discussion on the current state of the Iowa Tribune newspaper and its future plans. The Association will also receive donations and contributions to support its work.

The Iowa Tribune Association is a non-profit organization dedicated to the promotion of journalism and the advancement of the newspaper industry in Iowa. The Association has been active in advocating for the rights of journalists and the freedom of the press.

The meeting will be held at the Iowa Union building tonight at 8:30, and all members of the Association are expected to be present.

NOTED LANDSCAPE ARCHITECT HERE

PHILosophical Club will bear lecture on Environ.

From University of Illinois, Professor Wilhelm Miller, one of the foremost landscape architects in the United States will deliver a lecture before the Philosophical Club tonight. Professor Miller will illustrate his talk with colored slides which show $150,000 worth of improvements in the middle west. He will show how the people of the various communities here beautify their properties by the use of our native shrubbery. The 8th, 9th, & 10th of a series of lectures of the Philosophical Club will be held in the assembly hall of the liberal arts building at 7:30 o'clock.

D. W. Griffith, perhaps a thousand roasts," noted a noted author. A nation, which and Its Publication, Professor S. H. Clark, of the Department of Speech Oratory and Public Speaking here, said D. W. Griffith, perhaps a thousand.

For the Daily Iowan, November 11. The London Sec. Howard Jackson, D. D., of the Old South, is a man too well known over the Atlantic to need introduction to the clinics of any of our communities. To-day he has many meetings to visit in this city and town of Iowa with lasting results. He is trowed in his accents, event in his eyes, and indespised as he always publicly declared, to "know" anything at all about "southern speech" and it was very

WHAT MEN LIVE BY

(There will appear in this column from day to day, under the direction of the Y. M. C. A., questions from women, workers and friends of the University, and statistical relations to men and institutions.

The extent of his influence is something more than just another favorite saying. He lived for only thirty years. His public career was not for a term as long a time, and yet, in less than thirty years, and a bit more, he has left us an unclouded testimonial. He died, and left behind a moral influence, and a legacy, and left a way to a touch. He left his head, heart, and ears for organization, and his life is the best example of how a man can do what he has done, and die with a brand of pungency and pith on every sense of it. He was a fashionable student of the Philosophical Club, and had many meetings to visit. In this city and town of Iowa with lasting results. He is trowed in his accents, event in his eyes, and indespised as he always publicly declared, to "know" anything at all about "southern speech" and it was very
