SENATOR WHITMORE INTRODUCES BILLS AGAINST IOWA WETS

WOULD PUT IOWA UNDER STRINGENT REGULATION OF LIQUOR TRAFFIC

Measures of Series Follow Closely in Detail West Virginia Statutes Which Were Recently Sustained by United States Supreme Court

Des Moines, Jan. 13.—Senator Chester Whitmore of Wapello county introduced a series of bills in the Iowa legislature yesterday which, if passed, will put the state under the most stringent regulations of the liquor traffic. The measures follow closely in detail the West Virginia statutes recently sustained by the United States Supreme Court.

The importation of liquor is not only prohibited by common carrier, to other than a permit holder, but the place of delivery is made the place of sale and the machinery of the Mulct law made operative against the carrier by the use of injunction. The personal consumption clause now in the Iowa law is repealed and it provides that no person, other than a permit holder, may have more than two quarts of whiskey or two dozen quarts of beer legally in his possession at one time. The measures also prohibit the advertisement of liquor by any form within the state.

Senator Whitmore said that he believed these measures, if passed, would have the effect of making the state real prohibition territory. "The admonishment of Governor Harding in his message" he said "that responsibility for law enforcement lies with the legislature has been reinforced by a letter which I have from United States Senator W. S. Kenyon in which he calls attention to the Supreme court decision on his bill and the West Virginia law and suggests that this assembly is responsible for making them operative within this state.

"My bills represent no elaborate programs of legislation. They offer a few simple amendments to the present laws, the constitutionality of which have now been sustained and the enactment of which will afford a reasonable measure of prohibition.

FRED SMITH FAINTS AT MERCHANT'S CAFE

FRIENDS ASSIST HIM TO ROOMING PLACE AT 505 EAST WASHINGTON STREET

Falling and striking his head against the door jamb of the Merchants restaurant, Fred Smith, liberal arts student, fainted and did not regain consciousness for four minutes, Thursday evening. Medical attention was procured, and Mr. Smith was able to resume his studies Friday morning.

How the accident happened is more than Mr. Smith can understand. As he started from the restaurant, he felt suddenly weak and did not know more until shortly before a doctor arrived.

Friends picked him up while he was still unconscious and, after he had been revived, assisted him to his rooming place at 505 East Washington street.

CAN JIMMY BE REJUVENATED?

No, this isn't 1513, nor is it Ponce de Leon still roaming around among the Indians in Florida on the great quest. But in a country called the Beautiful Land, or Iowa, in a city of the same name, an ancient man totters up and down the armory hill twice a day.

But our Jimmie's getting older as everyone does, you know. Even the grand Old Capitol is growing older. But we hear that the Old Capitol is to be made fireproof, then why not put the scientists and explorers to work to find out this long sought for fountain of youth just to give it to Jimmie Barry.

ECONOMICS TO BE GIVEN

Due to the demand on the part of those who wish to begin a course in Principles of Economics (01), a beginning course (02) will be given the second semester.

UNIVERSITY WOMEN PETITION TO VOTE

The S. U. I. Women's Equal Suffrage association will hold a meeting next Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 in the liberal arts drawing room. The purpose of the meeting is to formulate a petition asking the legislature to vote for submission of an amendment to the present state constitution, permitting the women to vote in Iowa. Short discussion will be had on the national suffrage situation.

DAVENPORT PAPER QUOTES SYLVESTER

LECTURED AT DAVENPORT MONDAY ON MENTAL HEALTH OF THE CHILD

The following article is taken from a Davenport paper pertaining to the lecture given by Dr. R. H. Sylvester at Davenport last Monday on the mental health of the child.

"Public schools are beginning to provide for the needs of the individual children who do not fit well into the regular school routine and course of study," said Dr. Sylvester, associate professor of psychology of the State University of Iowa, before the general meeting of the Davenport Woman's club at the Outing club.

"We find six types of children not in good mental health, Dr. Sylvester stated and discussed at length what has been done in Iowa in caring for the subnormal child. In reference to the type of child mind proved in their tests, he said, "My point of view is a specialized one—the science of psychology applied to the study of the minds of the children. I do not presume to cover all the problems with which teachers and parents have to deal. "What I offer is drawn from experience with some 1,200 Iowa boys and girls, many of whom were not in good mental health. In our laboratory at the State University we measure and analyze their minds and plan training and treatment for those who need it."

Zaba Fry and Lois Hochstetler of Currier hall are spending the week end at their home in Kalona.

Don't forget the track meeting in the liberal arts auditorium at 7 tonight.

Mrs. Jesse B. Hawley visited at the Pi Phi house Thursday.

Iowa Ranks Second in I. M. I. Debating League, Has Won Second in Hamilton Oratorical Contest and Third in Northern Oratorical League

Virgil M. Hancher, liberal arts junior, was elected president of the Forensic league at its annual meeting in Close hall last night. A. G. Brown, representative from the Irving literary society was elected secretary, and Roy Burns of Philomathean, treasurer.

The following representatives from the men's societies were sworn in: Irving, Harold H. Newcomb and Horace Hinkley; Philomathean, Rothermer Scott and Cyril Saunders; Zetagathian, William Hutchon and Howard Mawdsley.

President-elect Hancher gave a brief speech emphasizing the value of forensics and the need of more interest in the work. A financial report was given by W. Keith Hammill, the retiring treasurer.

The past year has been one of the biggest and most successful of the Forensic league. Iowa ranks second in the I. M. I. debating league and has won second in the Hamilton Oratorical contest, and third in the Northern Oratorical league.

Following the adjournment of the meeting the three societies listened to programs in their respective rooms.

KURTZ RETURNS FROM TRIP THROUGH EAST

SAYS CONDITIONS THROUGHOUT EAST DO NOT EQUAL THOSE OF WEST

C. F. Kurtz of the extension division returned yesterday afternoon from an extended trip in the East, where he was engaged in investigating business conditions of the section. Mr. Kurtz left Iowa City Dec. 23 and in his absence has visited and studied business conditions of New York, Washington, D. C. Pittsburgh, Staatsburg, Ohio, and Chicago.

"Conditions throughout the East are exceptionally good," says Mr. Kurtz, "but they in no way eclipse the wave of prosperity, that is being enjoyed throughout the Middle West and especially in Iowa."

Leta Montz, Chlorie Shade, and Merle Toop have gone home with Lillian Zimmerman at Lone Tree for the week end.

BUFFALO BILL IN MODERN NEW ROLE

They were breakfasting at the College Inn. "We had a lovely time at the Graduate club last night," she announced.

He too talked of writing these as a part of the day's occupation.

"I never get to read the papers," sighed she.

"Then you did not know that Buffalo Bill was dead?"

"He is? What a shame; And they will never be able to find a man to take his place in the movies as they did John Bunny's.—Why, yes, I see Buffalo Bill in the movies every Saturday. He is a little man and does all sorts of ridiculous stunts."

C, illustrious Colonel Cody. Fortunately it is that you did not live to see the day when you were confused with Charlie Chaplin, by a graduate student.

MISS LUNDIN NAMED HIGH SCHOOL TEACHER

Miss Hilda Lundin, senior in the college of liberal arts, has been elected as teacher of English in Iowa City high school at a salary of $90, a month for the second semester. Miss Lundin is a graduate of the Iowa State Teachers College and has had several years experience as a teacher of English before coming to the University last year to take special work. Miss Seitsinger, who has held the position this semester, has been compelled to give up the work because of ill health.

POST-EXAMINATION JUBILEE FEB. 3RD

A prize of twenty-five dollars will be given to the organization producing the best stunt.

A preliminary try-out will be held, in which five of the best features will be selected to compete on the final night. The nine different organizations which will try out are: The Women's Forensic, Men's Forensic, Women's Pan-Hellenic, and Women's leagues; and the colleges of medicine, dentistry, law, engineering, and pharmacy. The date of the try-out and the names of the judges will be announced later. Any organization with the exception of the glee clubs, the band, and the University players will be allowed to take part.

An admission fee of ten cents will be charged to defray the expenses of advertising and prizes. Gladys Coon and John Edge are in charge of the arrangements for the program.

INDIANA OUTPLAYS HAWKEYES TO WIN VICTORY 21 TO 12

IOWA SCORING MACHINE FAILS TO WORK WITHOUT BANNICK IN LINEUP

Iowans Hold Invaders in First Half But Fail to Hit Their Natural Stride at Any Time—Williams and Von Lackum Star Shooting From Foul Line

With Captain Bannick out of the lineup at right forward and the Hawkeye scoring machine weakened about fifty per cent by his absence, Indiana defeated Iowa at basketball last evening in the second conference game of the season for Kent's men by a score of 21 to 12. Had Iowa played as well as against Cornell earlier in the week there might have been a different story to tell.

Berrien and Von Lackum were the star Hawkeye performers. Berrien had the very difficult task of filling right forward position in the place of Bannick, and succeeded in grabbing off two field goals and a free throw. His floor work was creditable and in every way he made his best showing of the year.

Indiana scored first on a free throw, but after a moment the Hawkeyes jumped into the lead by a margin of 3 to 2. Here Indiana pulled ahead again, led at the half by a score of 9 to 7, and widened the gap further at the start of the second period. Kent's men were never in danger of winning, for the Hoosiers, while failing to make any sort of a phenomenal showing, were just about as good better last night than the Old Gold as the margin of the score indicates.

Iowa played in hard luck from the first. Bannick's absence was almost a mortal blow in itself. Beyer had to retire in favor of Laun, but the change helped matters only a little. An injury to Von Lackum's head was the signal for his exit in the middle of the second half, and Schiff suffered the misfortune of four personal fouls. With about two minutes left to play Kent put Olsen in for Dutton, and at the end of the game Berrien was the only man playing who started. The Hawkeyes had some misfortunes shooting baskets, missing long shots in the first half by some narrow margins and "blowing" some easy chances in the second period.

SNOWFLAKES

It's literally in the atmosphere, that intangible, indefinite something that comes with every snowstorm. Perhaps it is the freshness of the air, perhaps the furry flakes that shower about us as we hasten along, perhaps the sound of the snow crunching beneath our feet, but at any rate it seems to effect all. Dull spirits rise like bubbles and even the dullest take on a simulance of "pepper."

People walk hurriedly down the street with the air of having something urgent on hand. Now and then someone slips on the icy pavement, struggles for a few moments vainly striving to regain his balance, and finally falls. The barbarian in us rises to the surface and we laugh; invariably we do though, even understanding and sympathetic in a way.

A breathless youngster standing at the top of the hill gives a shout and dropping face downward on his sled starts down. In an instant the crowd of sleds gather roused by the echo of the first cry. With caps and muffler-ends flying, halloing and shouting they are off for the "big slide" on the new track. Passers-by stop for a moment to watch the dark figures flying over the white ground, and then jamming their hands farther into their pockets, move on with a more alert step. None but a cheerful greeting could be heard today for everyone's thoughts are drifting light as the flakes themselves.

Some would analyze this as the recurrence of the child in every man, the spirit of youth, or such Nature in our everyday routine.

MORE ON SIDEWALKS

The Daily Iowan would seriously dislike any reputation, or notoriety, as the case may be, for being a chronic "knocker" but someone must be the "goat" and voice the sentiment on certain matters if the students and faculty members refuse to submit opinions of their own volition.

For the third time—and we hope the last—it becomes necessarily to complain of the conditions of the walks around the university buildings and grounds. Early this week the sidewalks were covered with slush so that the only safe way for one to keep his feet dry was by wearing rubber boots. This slush and water was allowed to remain on the walks.

Now ice has taken the place of the water and slush, where the wind did not dry it off earlier in the week. With the light snow which fell yesterday it was impossible for the students to see the ice. Especially was this true between the liberal arts and natural science buildings. As a result many students fell sustaining bruises and sprains. Luckily no student was seriously injured, although it is not at all improbable to suppose that such may have resulted when we consider that one of the University professors is in the hospital today with a broken shoulder received from a fall on an icy sidewalk.

Such a condition is certainly a deplorable one. If the students are not warranted in asking for common conveniences in this respect, they may at least demand that their safety be protected.

INCIVILITIES

On a recent Friday afternoon the interurban car was crowded with students, mostly young men, starting for home to stay over Sunday. When all the seats were taken, an aged woman entered, carrying some small bundles. She did not find a seat and was standing when the car started. Do you think one of the university students had the manners to get up and offer the woman a seat? Not much. A farmer of her own age got up and stood all the way to North Liberty. The students are no exception to the general rule. It is unusual to see young men offering many civilities to their elders. If we were looking for the cause, we would point out these self same elders. They are reaping what they have sown. People who do not teach their children to observe good manners are likely to suffer from the incivilities of other people's children—Iowa City Republican.

CONTRIBUTIONS

WOULDN'T IT BE GREAT?

Oh! to be a little green shrub, And be kept in a nice greenhouse, To be growing in a big red tub Just quiet as a mouse.

Nothing to do but stretch and grow From early morn 'til night, From the top of your head to the tip of your toe, And always feel just right.

Never to hurry to an eight In that real comfy home, Nor get called down if late Nor look as if you hair isn't combed.

Rubbers aren't even popular there, In that right regular spot, For umbrellas you don't give a care Not even for the little tots.

Never need to worry about the weather, In that real large place, Not even about wet shoe leather, Nor icy winds in your face.

Oh! to be a little green shrub, And live in a big red tub, Wouldn't that beat this endless stuff, Of being a studious dub?

"THE WEATHER" BY DARN

Half a step, half a step, Half a step onward. All on the icy walks, Students in hundreds. Forward the Stude Brigade! Let no one be dismayed! Out on the icy walks, Students in hundreds.

Ice to the right of them, Ice to the left of them, Before, back, and under them, Lightly snowed under. Theirs not to hesitate, Lest they to class are late. Out on the snow-covered Perils unnumbered.

Watch your step, watch your step, Watch and go slowly. Some studes who tried to flee (Oh, what a sight to see) Fluttered and floundered. Passers-by must not stare! They must remarks forbear! Theirs is to step with care Lest they too be humbled.

Sliding step, whirling step, Any step onward. All on deceiving walks,— If they fell not they wondered. Oh the wild charge they made! Oh the big words they said! When will the memory fade? Students in hundreds!

PLATO AND RELIGION

University men often advance the idea that absolute idealism can take the place of religion. This question will be discussed in a sermon entitled "Christ or Plato" at the Unitarian Church Sunday at eleven.

Alfred Boysen and Charles Safely were in Des Moines Wednesday buying furniture for the new Phi Psi house.

"WOMEN'S FRIEND" SPEAKS AT Y. W.

Miss Whatton, "women's friend," of the Des Moines police courts spoke at the regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Tuesday night about her work among the women and girls with whom she has come in contact in her official capacity. She has been engaged in this work for the past six months and in that time has come to know women of all types and classes.

She stated that the majority of girls with whom she deals have been brought into court because they have run away from home. This, she explained, is due usually to the fact that their parents have not understood them. It is for this reason that the police woman endeavors to meet the parents to find out the conditions in the home.

It has been only for the past two years that an organization of this kind has been conducted in the police courts of Des Moines. The "women's friend," as she is called, received her commission from the city officials. She dresses in a black and white garb to distinguish her from the other women of the courts. Her training was received in the Methodist training school for deaconesses.

WHAT MEN LIVE BY

There Will Appear in This Column from Day to Day, Quotations from Modern Writers and Speakers, Letters from Alumni and Friends of the University, and Statistics Relative to Men and Institutions:

In studying 201 men in Clark College from 1906 to 1909, Professor E. L. Clarke found results which may be tabulated thus:

Numbers and per cent of habitual smokers, 41, 20 per cent; occasional smokers, 52, 25.9 per cent; non-smokers, 108, 53.7 per cent; dropped college or took an extra year, habitual smokers, 51.6 per cent; occasional smokers, 25.8 per cent; non-smokers, 22.6 per cent. Athletic honors—habitual smokers, 21.5 per cent; occasional smokers, 36.6 per cent; non-smokers, 41.9 per cent; Scholarship, 54 students—habitual smokers, 11.1 per cent; occasional smokers, 25; non-smokers, 68.4 per cent; honors in both athletics and scholarships, 12 students—habitual smokers, 16.6 per cent; occasional smokers, 25 per cent; non-smokers, 58.4 per cent.

These Clarke college records show that men who took up smoking after entering suffered two per cent in strength, one per cent in lung capacity, and 10 per cent in scholarship in comparison with those who remained non-smokers. So the cumulative and permanent effect appears shortly even in those who begin the use of tobacco after reaching college age.—Adv.

PRIVATE DETECTIVES HIT

Required to Furnish Bond and Secure $10,000 Licence to Operate

Des Moines, Jan. 12.—Private detectives or detectives agencies operating within the state in the future will be required to secure a license and provide a bond of $10,000 for the lawful conduct of their business if a bill introduced yesterday afternoon by Senator Clem Kimball of Pottawattamis county becomes a law.

Senator Kimball says that the measure was drawn at the request of labor unions and is aimed at private agencies maintained for the purpose of furnishing armed guards to break up strikes. By the provisions of the bill the governor is empowered to forfeit the $10,000 bond whenever any agency furnishes arms, armed men, or ammunition or supplies to any person.

So Foster Would have Attorney General Examine Legislative Bills

Des Moines, Jan. 12.—Senator John W. Foster of Guthrie county would have the Iowa attorney general examine every bill introduced in the legislature and advise either house in which it originated of its probable effect upon existing laws or of any defects that he finds. He introduced a bill to this effect in the senate yesterday afternoon.

In commenting upon the measure which he proposed, Senator Foster said he believed it would prove of the greatest benefit in the passage of laws. "Many amendments to existing laws are introduced here," which do not fit in with the laws they are intended to change. We are not all lawyers and the lawyers who are here do not have time to study the technical defects in every measure. Through the attorney giving the matter his attention and advising us we are certain to obtain results and have fewer defective laws."

ADVISE PRECAUTIONS IN HARVESTING ICE

Experts at University Tell of Danger of Pollution; Suggest Measures to Insure Purity

The pollution of the waters of Iowa makes it advisable that care be taken in harvesting the season's supply, according to a statement which has been issued from the public health laboratories at the University of Iowa.

All Waters Polluted

The statement follows: "Practically all the waters of our streams and ponds are sufficiently polluted to make them unsafe for drinking purposes. Fortunately, those that are not heavily polluted are able to furnish a natural ice crop which is not only satisfactory in appearance, but satisfactory from the hygienic standpoint as well. For this state of affairs we are indebted to the fact that ice in forming tends to exclude dirt, rubbish, bacteria, and even salts in solution. To be sure, the conditions in our natural sources of supply do not always favor the process of self-purification in freezing. Shallow water often forces the ice to include dirt, pebbles and debris. Such matter may contain great numbers of bacteria and thus render the ice actually dangerous. While the bacteria do slowly diminish in number on storage, such ice may remain unsatisfactory from the bacterial standpoint for a long time.

"No ice packer should put up for general use natural ice which is other than clean, clear and transparent. The top of the ice should be shaved off to remove contamination incidental to harvesting. Only scarcity of ice or an emergency justifies the packing of dirty or opaque ice.

Examine Water

"It is a good idea for the ice packer to have the water from his source of ice examined. The examination is especially desirable in the water of ponds, which are frequently very heavily polluted. It is also advisable to have the ice itself examined before putting it on sale. A satisfactory report of the examination of the water and ice is good advertising material for the packer as well as a practical guarantee of safety to the consumer.

"In order to have such an examination made, persons should write to the Director, Laboratory for Water Analysis, Laboratories for the State Board of Health, State University of Iowa, Iowa City. He will furnish directions for the collection of the samples and special containers for the water specimens. A twenty-five to fifty pound cake of ice is usually boxed and shipped to the laboratory for examination. The sender of the samples pays all transportation charges and in addition a fee of one dollar for each sample examined as required by an act of the last general assembly."

INDIANA OUTPLAYS HAWKEYES TO WIN 21-10-12 VICTORY

(Continued from page one) The Hoosiers played a good passing game and brought forward a star in the person of Buschman, who made four field goals, three of them in the last half. Williams produced a sensation by tossing in seven out of eight chances from the foul line, making his first six shots successful. Von Lackum' record for Iowa was almost as good, for after missing his first try "Peanuts" made five successive attempts count.

Bannick emerged from the hospital, where he had an operation, to watch the game from the sidelines in civilian garb. Jack Watson is authority for the statement that the Iowa leader will probably be in shape for the next game, which is a return encounter with Indiana to be played at Bloomington next Friday night.

BACTERIONOGIS ADVISES BO ALL CITY

Hinman Denies, However Of Sickness Last Week To Water Impurities—Absolute Safety, He S

The large number of ness during the last week thought to have been caused by impurity of the city water attributed to some other according to J. J. Hinman, bacteriologist and chemist. The impurity of the water to the fact that on Wednesday the workmen at the city failed to close the river valve had been instructed to close the river carried as much s did at that time. The water pumped in until Thursday before it was discovered. Bacteriological tests of the water showed that the soil organisms due to the amount of melting snow run into the river.

"I do not believe that could have been the cause which some persons attributed to it," said Mr. terday. "Nor do I believe contamination of the water sult in the development of diseases. For the next few a further series of tests made, it might be well water which is to be used for ing purposes. I do not think it would be absolutely safe to do this, but boiling would at least doubt of safety."
