UNIVERSITY NOT PLACE FOR SELF AGGRANDIZEMENT

Jessup Says Duty of University Is To Raise The Standard Of Citizenship

1500 ATTEND FIRST CONVOCATION

Stewart Welcomes New Members Of Faculty—Response By W. F. Russell.

Fifteen hundred students attended the convocation exercises held in the Natural Science auditorium yesterday. Prof. G. W. Stewart of the physics department gave a welcome to the fifty-four new members of the faculty, and Dean W. F. Russell of the department of education responded to the welcome with a pledge of loyalty for the new members to the University as a whole.

The main address was given by President Jessup, who described our national ideals of education in its relation to the present war crisis. The address follows in part:—

"The ideals of education in America are changing, says President Jessup. "Even in a generation ago many people sought education in order that they might have political opportunity, because of the feeling that the most desirable thing in life was an opportunity to vote for officers or to hold office. A little bit later there seemed to be a disposition to challenge young people on the ground of securing money by going to school. In other words, the emphasis in America seemed to change from that of education being a factor to secure political opportunity, to that of education being a factor to secure economic opportunity.

War and the College

"With the world at war, and the hundreds and thousands of young men who are sacrificing their opportunity for an education and indeed offering their very lives in order that they may be able to bear their share of the responsibility for the safety of democracy it is imperative that every man and every woman who is a student in the University of Iowa this year assume a share of this obligation. The world has a right to ask you this year why you are here. If you are here simply as a pretext in order that you may take advantage of personal opportunity, or that you may attain your own selfish ends, either for political supremacy or economic aggrandizement, the world has a right to challenge your being here. In other words, the state of Iowa is maintaining the state educational institutions this year for the express purpose of guaranteeing a certain type of citizenship for tomorrow. If you accept the opportunity which the state has provided for making citizens, you by this very act assume the obligation of making every moment count in order that you may be able to do your bit in the making of the life of the state of tomorrow what it should be."

Earl Wilcox of Mason City has accepted the position of supervisor of manual training in the University high school.

Staff and Circle will hold initiation Thursday evening at Currier Hall.

LANGUAGE COURSES DROPPED

Prof. Stephen H. Bush announced yesterday that the Russian and Italian courses have been dropped for this semester in his department because of the demand for Spanish and French. It has not been determined whether or not they will be taken up the second semester.

At present Miss Franchere has three extra French classes and one Spanish section.

MASON CITY GETS STATE CONFERENCE

Sociological Workers to Attend Meeting of Charity and Correction Organizations

The state conference of Charities and Correction will be held this year at Mason City, Oct. 14-16. Members of the conference will speak in the different churches in Mason City Sunday morning, Oct. 14. In the afternoon there will be addresses by Prof. Paul S. Peirce of the University of Iowa, President of the conference, Rabbi Emmanuel Sternheim of Sioux City, and Prof. John L. Gillin of the University of Wisconsin.

Conferences will be held on rural social problems, industrial welfare, community health, child welfare, social research and correction, including a discussion of police station lodgers and delinquent girls.

The official program will be announced later.

Officers of the state conference are: president, Prof. Paul S. Peirce of the University of Iowa, Iowa City; first vice-president, Mr. H. L. Houghton; probation and truant officer, Sioux City; second vice president, Mrs. Lucy M. Sickels, Superintendent of the Boys Industrial school, Mitchellville; third, vice-president, Miss Ruth C. Reed, overseer of the poor and secretary of Social Welfare league, Waterloo; secretary treasurer, Miss Bessie A. McClenahan, Bureau of Social Welfare, Extension Division of State University, Iowa City.

SPEAKERS TALK TOO LONG SAYS MERRY

Most speakers of today make the mistake of talking too long. The mixed audience cannot be interested generally for more than an hour. The old lyceum lecturer prided himself on his ability to make his speech extend over two or three hours, but today are instructing their lecturers to say what they have to say in an hour or less. Most long speeches would be more effective if confined to a half hour.

Prof. Glenn N. Merry, head of the department of public speaking, is authority for the above statements.

More attention paid to the principles of public speaking would aid in removing the aversion most persons feel toward public speaking, he declares. The three most neglected features of speaking are insufficient preparation, inadequate analysis of the demands of the audience, and a careless regard for time limits.

There is a popular conception that the able speaker possesses a magical mind that can always call forth entertaining material, says Professor Merry. Such a speaker would not be worth listening to. Conviction and a persuasive enthusiasm are developed only as the speaker studies his proposition.

GERMANS SHOULD FEEL THEIR OWN SWORD—NEWTON

Hates Institution of War But Admires Spirit Possessed By Allied Soldiers.

NO BLARE OF TRUMPETS ANYMORE

"The Whole German Government is a Lie—That is Why We are Engaged in the War."

"War should go fifty miles beyond the Rhine that the people who made this war shall know what war means."

This was a statement by the Rev. Joseph Forte Newton in his address before a packed auditorium last night on his experiences as a visitor in the trenches on the western front.

For an hour his hearers listened, sometimes breathlessly, to his gripping account of a journey throughout the different zones on the battle field to the first line trenches.

"I came out of that maelstrom with a hatred for war and its awfulness," he asserted, "but I was filled with an admiration of the spirit which prompts those Tommies, those Australians, those Frenchmen, and those Canadians to go through hell to make the world safe for democracy."

There is no blare of trumpets in Europe anymore, if there ever was he pointed out. The whole business of war there has become a matter of fact thing. The speaker paid high tribute repeatedly to the Tomie Atkins with his reserved but admirable disposition. He told of his visits with university Englishmen in his trip to the front, how they have carried their poetry and learning in their miserable dugouts and how they detest anything that savors of brazen publicity.

All of the inventions of war were described in their operation by him. He told of trench warfare in its different zones, mines, and aeroplanes. Throughout, his talk was interspersed with interviews and observations bounding in human interest. He told of the faith which the European countries have in the United States; of the contempt which Germany holds for United States' invisible and non-existent armies; of the dislike of Fritz for bayonet fighting; and of the superiority of Canadians and Americans in sharpshooting.

"You can trust a Turk in war ethics, but you can never count on a Hun's complying with any recognized obligation of an enemy in war. America tried valiantly for three years to remain neutral. The country that disregards national treaties, which have always been regarded as sacred, cannot be trusted. The whole imperial government of Germany is an organized lie. That's why we are at war."

HANNA—SWISHER

The invitation for the wedding of Miss Geneva Hanna of Luverne to Ingalls Swisher of this city were issued yesterday. The marriage ceremony will take place on October 4 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Hanna, in Luverne.

The Hon. Fred Townsend of Albion is attending the meeting of the municipal League and visiting his daughter, Katherine.

BACONIANS TO MEET

The first meeting of the Baconian Club for the year will occur on Friday, September 21, at 7:30 p. m. The address will be given by the retiring president, Professor Arthur C. Trowbridge, the title of the paper being "The Driftless Area, A Progress Report." Election of officers will take place. The meeting is open to all who are interested.

DIFFICULT TO FILL ALL FACULTY JOBS

War Conditions Affect Teaching Staff Seriously—Many Leave University

Finding instructors for several departments of the University has been a difficult task. The demand of war has produced a noticeable effect upon the supply of instructors. Many have taken positions in other institutions, while others have gone into other branches of service.

In the chemistry department there have been more losses than in any other department. The position left vacant by A. W. Hixon, now studying at Columbia, has been filled by Orville H. Pierce. No instructors have been hired to fill the vacancies of S. D. Marquis, now in Y. M. C. A. work at Camp Dodge; of H. L. Dunlap, who goes as assistant professor of chemistry to Ralla, Miss; and of R. B. Davis, who is to be head of the chemistry department of Sewanne, Tenn.

Dean Teeters, of the college of pharmacy reports a complete staff and full classes. In the medical college there are two changes in the staff. L. R. Dragstedt, formerly a professor of physiology, will take the place Dr. Benjamin Kramer, who will be an instructor at John Hopkins University. The place of E. D. Baskett will be filled by C. A. Dragstedt.

The new appointments in the department of pathology are: Doctor McGlumphy, who replaces Doctor Grover, Dr. Margaret Armstrong, who comes from Chicago as assistant pathologist, a newly-created position; Mr. Pebbles, who will have the position formerly occupied by Minnie Goldberg; and Miss Stanley, who comes to act as research assistant in another new position.

The need of pathologists is more urgent than ever. "Scarcely a week passes without one or more calls for men," says Dr. Henry Albert. Although the classes are apparently as full as ever, it is hard to find men suitable to take these places.

JESSUP AIDS CAMPAIGN

President W. A. Jessup of the State University has been appointed by Governor Harding as a member of an advisory committee to plan the next liberty loan campaign in Iowa, which will be made in October. The first half of the month will be utilized in an educational campaign.

Professor F. W. Kracher, of the university department of German has been appointed as one of the educational secretaries for the army Y. M. C. A. work at Camp Dodge. His special work will be in the languages.

The Rev. and Mrs. L. F. Townsend will keep open house for all Methodist students tomorrow evening at their home, 130 N Madison street, at 7:30 o'clock.

BLOCKING FEATURES YESTERDAY'S WORK ON IOWA FIELD

Jones Sends Candidates Through Initial Rough Work-out Of The Season

SCRIMMAGE NECESSARY FOR TESTS

No Line On Material Until Seen In Action—Freshmen Hold Opening Practice

"Go after 'em until you get 'em", was Coach Howard Jones's order to the thirty-eight men who, wearing shoulder-pads for the first time, were being put through the initial rough work-out of the season. For nearly an hour backfields and linemen were sent in relays at blocking practice, until the squad, bruised and fatigued by the unaccustomed work, rejoiced at the call to the lockers.

But despite the fact that the majority of the time was consumed by elementary blocking, forward passes still maintained their accustomed place on the practice role, and as day by day goes by it becomes almost certain that the open style of play will be a big factor in the Old Gold offense in the coming grid-iron struggles.

The problem of weight for the line received a decided impetus toward solution yesterday when Johnson and Backoven, two big recruits from the university's list of retired high school stars, appeared on Iowa field for their first varsity practice. Never before has the eleven needed weight as this fall, and a determined search is being made among the upper-classmen for additional material.

"Practically nothing can be told as to the relative merits of the men until scrimmage is begun," said Coach Jones when questioned as to the prospective "I" candidates. "We must see them in action in order to obtain much of an idea as to their actual playing ability." However, from superficial observation it seems apparent that the premature choice for a backfield is allotted to Jenkins at quarter, Nugent and Capt. Davis at halves, and Peterson at full-back. Similarly, the line positions might be awarded to Longley at Center, Kelley and Hunzelman as guards, Hamilton and Greenwood holding down the tackles, and Reed and Bender at the extremities of the line. But this is merely an arbitrary selection.

Twenty-five men, many of them husky looking athletes, appeared for the first freshman football practice yesterday afternoon. At least a dozen additional men are expected to report today, and from this number Coach "Stub" Baron will attempt to develop a team which will offer real opposition to the varsity. The squad was put through the usual loosening up process of passing and running. Real work will not commence until next week.

JONES ON TRIBUNE STAFF

Neal Jones, a student at Iowa in 1901, has been appointed managing editor of the New York Tribune. While here he worked on one of the local papers. Since then he has been connected with The Des Moines Register, The Cleveland Press, and the Omaha Daily News.

Minnie Habicht is teaching science at Corning.

WELCOME, MICHIGAN

The "Big Nine" is no more. Michigan, after long absence, has re-entered the conference, and it is now the "Big Ten". Michigan will again compete on the same terms with the other big Universities of former "nine". Iowa, for one, extends the hand to Michigan, and looks forward to future contests with that school. Welcome Michigan.

CROSS COUNTRY MEETING

There will be a meeting of the cross country candidates tonight at 7:30 at the armory. Unless a satisfactory number of men turn out for this meeting with the spirit in mind of doing something and sticking to it, cross country will be discontinued for this year at least.

J. P. Watson

THEY HAD A HARD TIME DOING NOTHING

After a half hour of shrewd political maneuvering the freshman class of the State University of Iowa, A. D., 1917, in a called meeting managed to do nothing. If Dean Robert E. Rlenow had not interrupted proceedings by taking possession of the assembly room for a faculty meeting, it is predicted that almost twice as much of the same thing would have been done. However, it was feared for a time that something instead of nothing would transpire.

Well, it happened something like this:

In answer to an anonymous call some four hundred freshmen assembled in an assembly in the liberal arts assembly. An unknown gentleman of august appearance opened the deliberations by introducing one, Devy Devault, or words to that effect. The latter took charge of the meeting in a most unparliamentary manner, and called for nominations for president.

After careful campaigning a set of officers was finally chosen, when amid the din of congratulations a man versed in parliamentary procedure addressed the multitude, contesting the election on the ground that, though the original motion had moved to elect by acclamation, the choice was really made by standing vote, and he therefore declared the officials unrightly seated.

Pandemonium broke loose and for twenty minutes the air was alive with motions. Then out from the babble of opinions arose a stentorian voice. A diplomat leaped to the rostrum, offering to compromise by merely electing temporary officers. The suggestion was received with enthusiasm, and the body was proceeding to the task with all due deliberation when Dean Rlenow arrived on the scene.

Marion Hosford, a student here three years ago, has come back to take her senior year's work. Miss Hosford has been at Ames for the last two years.

UNIVERSITY HIGH NOW LOCATED IN OLD DENTAL HALL

Enrollment in High School Has Reached 145—Elementary School Has 125.

JESSUP DELIVERS OPENING ADDRESS

Brief Description of University High School is Given by President.

The University high school and the University elementary school opened Monday in the building formerly occupied by the college of dentistry. The enrollment in the high school, which includes the seventh and eighth grades, is 145 and in the elementary school about 125.

At the opening exercises, President Jessup delivered an address, giving a brief history of university high schools and of this high school in particular. Following this address, Principal Carl G. Franzen called upon the supervisors of the school to speaking. There are nineteen members of the faculty, which are as follows:—Carl G. Franzen, Principal; Ellen Geyer, Magdalene Freyder, Ruth Rath, English; Bessie Louise Pierce, Mary Kinnavey, history; Alice Camerer, history and mathematics; Arnold Oehler, mathematics; Frank Elbert Goodell, Irene Cutler, science; Helen May Eddy, German and Latin; Beatrice Beim, Spanish; Jean Dayton, art; Earl Wilcox, manual training; Geo. Wilcox, athletics and physical training; Annie Pierce, music.

One of the interesting features of this school is the department of athletics and military training. Mr. Geo. Wilcox of Cincinnati, who has recently returned from the Philippines and Turkey, hopes to form a Junior Guard of America among the "high school boys. The military training is voluntary and is being encouraged.

DR. EVANS SPEAKS TO MUNICIPAL MEN

Health Editor of The Chicago Tribune Says Public Must Learn Conditions

The theme of Dr. Evans' address to the congregation of municipal representatives was "Education of the Public in Health Matters as an aid to Health Officers." Dr. Evans made a special appeal that experts aid public officials in obtaining the cooperation of the public health education.

He stated that in Autocrat Prussia health regulations can be formulated by experts and enforced by Autocracy. But in the United States the public and the representatives of the public are in control of the government and all public health regulations must be made by and through their cooperation.

"The most effective medium of obtaining this cooperation is publicity through newspapers." He warned his hearers that all efforts in the field of public health education should be carefully, scientifically and accurately prepared, acting in harmony with the principles of effective newspapers and advertising.

NUTTING RETURNS FROM WEST INDIAN ISLANDS

Prof. C. C. Nutting has recently returned from Barbados and other West Indian Islands where he has been making preparations for a party of zoologists, who propose to visit that region in the spring.

The expedition will be under the auspices of the graduate college of the State University of Iowa and will consist of instructors and graduate students in zoology.

In his preliminary trip Professor
Nutting visited the Island of St.
Thomas, St. Croix, St. Kitts, Antigua,
Dominica, Martinique, St. Lucia, and Barbados. The proposed expedition will probably make either Barbados or Antigua the base for their opera-
