VARSITY RECEIVES FIRST CHALK-TALK GIVEN THIS SEASON

Jones Lectures To Men On Every Formation Now In The Iowa Curriculum.

FRESHMAN SQUAD SHOWS PROMISE

Coach Barron's Forty Athletes Bid Fair To Produce A Strong Aggregation

In a cold drizzling rain, Iowa's varsity football squad slipped out of the gymnasium yesterday afternoon about five o'clock for a half hour's signal drill, the main object being to obtain some practice in handling a slippery ball, which quality may prove a valuable asset later in the season. Despite the inclement weather, the team went through the work with an enthusiasm entirely out of place in the gloomy surroundings.

The ground was wet and soggy, almost to the point of muddiness, which made the practice, however enthusiastic, extremely slow. Frequent fumbling, due to the slippery condition of the oval, also made smooth, snappy work impossible, but Jones held the men to the task, until, as the work-out neared its end, the elusive pigskin found its nook with regularity.

Chalk Talk Given

In the fore part of the practice the men received their first chalk talk of the season. For forty-five minutes Coach Jones lectured to the athletes in regard to formations, picturing every play now posessed by the Hawkeye machine, and by word and design, showing the duty each cog must perform to the success of the whole.

In signal drill the line-up remained practically unchanged. Jenkins was no where to be seen, his shoulder evidently keeping him off the field, and in his place Brigham, who has

INTERESTING LETTER TO CURRIER GIRLS

French Mother Extends Thanks To Girls for Gift—Also Sends Pictures

I come in the name of my little boy and in my own name to thank you for your kindly interest in my situation. Today received a money order from the bow, and you may judge how grateful I am to you. I herewith send to you the photograph of my son and of my husband. Receive from my little son Pierre my best regards.

Yours very truly
Mrs. Suneider.
19th Street, Fondary.

The above letter written in French on black bordered paper was received by the Currier hall girls recently. Last spring the girls of the hall sent $72 to the Life magazine to be used for the support of a little French child.

The photograph of a beautiful dark haired boy of three or four years accompanied the letter. The girls are exceedingly proud of their French protege, and expect to frame the picture to hang in the parlors.

Y. W. C. A. HAS OPENING MEETING

Program Given by Delegates Who Attended Geneva Conference —Attendance Small.

Conflicting attractions is given as a cause for the small attendance at the opening meeting of the Y. W. C. A. yesterday afternoon at Close hall. The program given at this meeting was in the hands of those girls who attended the Geneva conference last spring. It was as follows:

Violi solo—Corinne Hamill; piano solo—May Disert; violin solo—Sibyl Ralston; Scripture reading—Miss Anderson; "Y. W. C. A. Work in Protection of Young Girls Around Army Training Camps," Violet Blakely; "Why We Entered the War," Bernice Cole; "General view of the Conference," Katherine Townsend; "Our South American Neighbors," written by Mary Anderson, read by Violet Blakely.

Hereafter the Y. W. meeting will begin promptly at 4:30 instead of 4:15, according to Miss Anderson.

MRS. JESSUP TO LEAD CHAW KWAI PARADE

Elaborate Plans for First All Iowa Woman's Party Tomorrow Are Announced.

Mrs. Walter A. Jessup will lead the Japanese parade at the first annual Chawa Kwai tomorrow evening. The campus women, each carrying a lighted Japanese lantern, will follow a carefully planned line of march over the campus.

The parade will start from the north entrance of the liberal arts building and will terminate at the women's gymnasium. Glee club members will be scattered along the line to lead in the singing of "Old Gold."

Japanese lanterns and palms will be used to decorate the lobby and drawing room of the liberal arts building, where the reception will be held. The names of the new girls will be written upon white paper badges, while the names of the old girls will be stamped upon old gold paper.

Games of the get-acquainted variety will be played at the women's gymnasium. The committee in charge anticipate a crowd that will tax the capacity of the house, and it is hoped that all women who have connection with the University will be present at the first annual Chawa Kwai to help make it the biggest success of the school year.

RED CROSS ASKS FOR ASSISTANCE OF STUDENTS

The Iowa City chapter of the Red Cross wishes to announce to the University students that their rooms on the second floor of the City hall are open after nine in the morning and that anyone willing to aid in the making of surgical bandages, knitting or other ways, are urged to come in at any time.

PROFESSORS SPEAK

At the Zetagathan meeting Tuesday evening Dean Kay made a short speech. At the Irving meeting last night Dean Rienow gave an address in which he emphasized the importance of literary work and encouraged every student to take an active interest in that work.

DRILL STARTS WEDNESDAY

The first drill for cadets of the University will be held Wednesday October 3, at 4 o'clock, according to an order issued yesterday by Commandant Andrew C. Wright.

FRESHMAN NOTICE

All freshmen in the liberal arts college who have not done so should report to Mr. Rienow's office at once and register for freshman lectures.

NEW EXHIBIT FROM SCHOOLS OF LONDON

Mark Beginning of New Educational Museum—Several Lines of Work Represented.

The exhibit from Montem Street Girl's school and Tollyington's Park Central Industrial school of London, now on display in cases at North end of third floor of the liberal arts building, is one of special enterest to educational students.

This exhibit came from Superintendent Griffith of Waverly, to whom it was sent, but was not set up for general inspection until this year. The display, temporarily installed, is the courteous reply of the above mentioned schools to a similar display sent from the State Fair at Des Moines.

Prof. F. C. Ensign informs us that this is the beginning of what the department hopes to make into an educational museum. The work cannot be undertaken systematically at present on account of the war. However, this exhibit was sent out after the war had been going for two years displaying a lively interest in education in spite of unsettled conditions.

Several lines of work are represented, including domestic science, manual training, forge work, printing and typewriting, mimiograph work, office routine, infant care, home nursing, first aid, and Bible, all taught below the high school.

Leaves from English trees, picked and mounted by the children are to be found in the folders. The writing is noteworthy in that it is as slow as English wit, being a laborious straight up and down movement. The finished product, however, puts our American boys and girls to shame.

The English industrial school system has been in existence since 1870

COLLECT IN WEST INDIES FOR NATIONAL MUSEUM

Prof. C. C. Nutting, head of the department of zoology, has been appointed to collect material for the National Museum at Washington, D. C., on the West Indian expedition which will be sent out by the university next summer. He will be equipped with dredges and other implements necessary for effective marin collecting by the government, on the condition that he turns a part of the material collected over to the museum.

This is not his first connection with the National museum, for in his younger days Prof. Nutting went several times on special collecting missions to Central America for this museum, and for the past twenty years he has been making an intensive study of the hydroid group of animals in cooperation with the National museum.

INTELLIGENCE TEST GIVEN FRESHMAN

College of Engineers Gives Test To Determine the Efficiency of its Students.

Eighty freshmen particupated in the intelligence test in the college of engineering Wednesday morning, under the supervision of Dean Raymond. The examination covered a review over the principles of high school algebra.

The intelligence tests are given annually to the freshmen, for the purpose of rating the efficiency of the student. It forms a basis for the segregation of freshmen students, relative to the time necessitated for a degree ranging from a period of three to five years. The desires and financial status of the student are also given consideration.

Accuracy and speed are the two main requirements of the test, with the emphasis on the former.

Gamma Phi Beta announces the pledging of Esther Schwartz.

FRESHMAN WILL GET SOME GOOD TRAINING

Time Is Now Being Spent in Training Officers—Plans For Work Not Complete

Complete arrangements in the military department have not yet been made, according to Captain Wright. He assures the freshmen, however, that when they march out on the field for the first time, they will march to the snappy count of a guide and will be prepared for a thorough grind in the fundamentals of carrying rifles and marching in file without conforming to the principles of stubbing toes.

The work throughout October will be over "close order" exercises in the infantry drill regulations, and a few finer details of the mechanism of extended order.

At present, efforts are being made to prepare candidates for offices left vacant. The officers' training class meets daily and is said to be making excellent progress.

A part of the training for the year will deal with trench warfare. The men will practice charging trenches over obstructions such as wire entanglements and dummies. Colonel Rockwood has been making a study of trench construction and is prepared to teach the technique of modern warfare.

U. I. LAW GRADUATES PAS BAR EXAMINATION

Every man who was graduated from the law college at the State University last spring passed the state bar examination. In the special examination, given for the men who went to the officers' training camp at Fort Snelling, everyone of the eleven University men succeeded in satisfying the examiners, and in the regular bar examinations held at the University at the close of the school year, the remaining forty of the senior class were all successful.

KLINGAMAN IN CHICAGO

Mr. O. E. Klingaman will attend a meeting of Red Cross officials at Chicago today and tomorrow. The meeting has to do with the training of the civilian population in things that will be of service to the Red Cross work. Much importance is attached to the meeting.

ENGINEERS TO HOLD ELECTION TO FILL VACANT OFFICES

President-elect Hugo Kemman And Secretary W. Long Did Not Return.

FRESHMEN WILL BE ALLOWED VOTE

Officers and Committees Have Commenced Plans For Event of the Year.

A special meeting of the associated students of applied science, for the purpose of electing officers to fill the vacancies left by two officers-elect unable to return to school this fall, will be held this afternoon at 4:30 in the Engineering building.

The offices to be filled are those of the president and secretary. President-elect, Hugo Kemman of Lowden, was unable to return to the University because he was selected in the first draft. W. Long, of Des Moines, who was elected as secretary at the June election, is holding a position in the arsenal at Rock Island, and will be unable to return this fall, also.

All members of the A. S. of A. S. are urged to be present at the election. Freshmen are entitled to a vote, providing they are to become members of the organization, membership being open to all engineers.

The officers and committees of the organization are in chargo of the general arrangements of the social and business events of the year. One prominent event always looked forward to with delight by the students is the annual Mecca Day, on March 17. The usual Freshmen stunt will take place between halves at the Cornell game on October 6.

The vice president, McLaughlin, and secretary Jones have both returned to school and will retain the respective offices to which they were elected last June.

CATHOLIC STUDENTS HAVE BIG MIXER

Program of Prominent Speakers Is Enjoyed by a Large Number.

A cordial welcome to all Catholic students of the- University was extended at the Majestic hall, Tuesday evening, by the Newman society. 175 men and women enjoyed the reception which assumed the nature of a mixer party.

A number of prominent speakers appeared on the program. James Mc Carthy, president of the Newman society, and Father Shanahan gave the opening addresses of welcome. Other speakers who appeared on the program for short addresses were County Attorney, Steve Casey of Iowa City; District Attorney, Frank O'Connors, of New Hampton; and the Hon. Judge Wade of Iowa City. Wm. Sloan responded to the addresses of welcome in behalf of the freshmen.

Light refreshments were served at the close of the evening program.

Mr. Howard Snedaker, a sophomore in the college of liberal arts college last year, is visiting friends at the University this week. He is to be called in the draft in October, and he is merely beating time until his call comes.

THE MARK OF A LEADER

From time immemorial men have striven to lead. They have designed economic systems and pondered over philosophy. Plato built his ideal system of existence on slavery. Feudal times saw little change. It was a virtual change, a change in name only,. The leaders still dominated by a control over the many who labored for the feudal lords. Under democratic governments leadership is largely a matter for each man to decide for himself.

The young man must fan out failure in the game of life. The whole question of leadership, however, is not superiority in wealth, but superiority in individual happiness; not superiority over others, but superiority over influences that tend to lessen economic vitality. And those who lead are those who live each day the best the know, who strive each hour to be their greatest selves.

And the measure of leadership is largely a measure of manliness. It is a question of faith, courage and constructive imagination.

The measure of a man, a man who achieves, lies in his range of experience his breadth of vision, his superior choice.

WOMEN AND ATHLETICS

Yesterday a University girl asked with a great show of concern when the Iowa team intended to start football practice. The true wide-awake Iowa girl resents such lack of knowledge among her sex but her own attitude does little to alleviate such pitiful ignorance. She has yet to become a real booster. Men of the University eye with suspicion the fellow without an "I" button in his lapel. Such a person is catalogued a slacker.

In the matter of athletics, there is the old double standard for men and women. Women seek political emancipation and the same consideration as men in every field. When they fail to display loyalty to their teams, they also should be considered slackers .

In some universities and colleges the purchase of an athletic ticket is required at registration. Iowa does not believe in enforced loyalty. The Old Gold teams deserves the voluntary support of every student, women as well as men, for co-educational institution puts women on the same educational footing.

"I bought a ticket one year," remarked one University woman," and I had a bid to every game. But the money was simply wasted." Athletic managers found many uses for that money.

REMEMBER OUR SOLDIERS

Many letters have been coming to the offices of different deans and professors from Iowa men who are now at Allentown, Pa. Although one could never find in any of these letters a note of discontent or disloyalty, it would be readily seen that the boys get lonesome occasionally. Their life in the concentration camp is vastly different from their old mode of living, and now that the new ness has worn off they are begining to wonder about things back home.

Professor Rienow has just received a letter from a young manwho states that the literature, besides being scanty in amount, is not always the most desirable in quality and that footballs and football material as well as reading matter would be greatly appreciated.

Present students should respond to the requests of these loyal University representatives. Iowa should be quick to honor all of her represen- [illegible] tatives in war service. There is plenty of literature here that could be doing much good at Allentown and other points at which former students are to be found.

MONOTONOUS ENOUGH TO BE A MONOLOGUE

"Where are you going?" I demanded.
"To Heaven I hope," the freshman replied
"What's your name?"
"Albert Spinach sir, you've probably heard of me"
"Aha, vegetable, where you from?"
"Primghar, sir"
"Et tu Primghar, but stay, why are you coming to school?"
"Merely for an education."
"Sure you haven't any ulterior motive?"
"Yes sir—I didn't mean to come but I couldn't get a job."
"Are you looking for work?"
"Yes sir, enough so that I hope to see it first"
"Its beginning to dawn upon me that you're a bright boy"
"Well, mother always used to call me her son."
"Dont you know that you are supposed to show respect for seniors?"
"O yes sir, I always try to. Mother told me to respect all unfortunates."
"Listen: do you take The Daily Daily Iowan?"
"Well, I did this morning—I found it in front of a store."
"What form of athletics do you excel in?'
'Dancing, sir,"
'Ye gods, and what does the vegetable expect to take in college?"
"I don't intend to take much in but I expect to take a lot out"
'You'll need it. What are you going to major in?"
'Palmistry, sir"
"Palmistry—where do they teach that?"
'At any of the sorority houses, I hear."
'Going to be a lawyer?"
'No sir, I expect to make my money honestly."
'What else are you going to take?"
The top slice sir, when the plate is passed."
'Albert your answers are getting dry. What about your ancestors?"
"The very best of the Puritans who came over in the Mayflower were my ancestors. It is from them that I descended."
"—a long ways. But don't leave I wish to speak with you."
"I thought I would hear something if I stayed long enough. Speak."
'Well freshman, it has been decided to make all of your kind wear bright green caps while upon the streets. Do you hear me?"
'Yes sir, but why, so that the professors can tell us from you seniors?"
I had endured enough—that was the last straw—I killed him.

TWENTY-FIVE MEN WANT PLACES ON GLEE CLUB

Seventy-five University men were candidates in the priliminary tryout for the Glee club held last night at the school of music. No selections were made. Another tryout will be held next week and individual vocal tests may be made in some cases before the final results are announced by Prof. W. E. Hays.

This is one of the largest fields of candidates that ever tried out for the Glee club, according to Professor Hays.

CHANGE IN LAW COURSE

The professors of the law college enjoyed a faculty luncheon at the Jefferson Wednesday noon. It was decided that the classes in the law school hereafter should begin at 2:05 instead of at 2:30 as before. The change was made in order to make the schedule of the different colleges uniform.

rected the varsity practice. Aside from this shift, no new faces appeared in the first-string eleven.

Freshmen Show Promise

"The strongest squad we have had in years! exclaimed Coach "Stub" Barron, the former Hawkeye star and captain, when asked as to the prospects of the first year team. "We have several men here who could make a strong bid for the varsity right now." The freshmen have shown a loyalty and a regularity in their appearance for practice, seldom evidenced by a first-year aggregation, and the squad of forty athletes bids fair to produce an eleven that will give the varsity worthy opposition."

Although not yet announced, it is certain that a scrimmage between the two teams is imminent, and if not today, certainly before the end of the week, Iowa's best will have an opportunity to test their strength on Coach Barron's huskies.

APPOINT NEW MAN

Ralph N. Lynch, second year law student, has been appointed to the Law Bulletin staff.

LAW PROFESSOR ELECTED AS SECRETARY AGAIN

At the meeting of the State Bar association at Council Bluffs June 28 and 29, Prof. H. C. Horack of the Law College was elected secretary of the Association for the seventh consecutive time. At this convention, Dean McGovney spoke upon the Webb-Kenyon law and the constitutional aspects of the liquor legislation.

The association is composed of 800 law practitioners in the State of Iowa. It was organized to raise the standard of the profession and to suggest statutory changes in the law to aid in court procedure. Its membership is larger than associations of this kind in any other state. Judge Charles W. Mullen of Waterloo is the president.

The President's reception for new students will be held Oct. 6. The party will be informal, and all new students and upper classmen are invited.

WOMEN PHYSICIANS FOR IOWA SCHOOLS

This is Advice of S. U. I. Commission After Studying a Typical Iowa School.

The employing of a woman physician to care for the health of school children and the sanitation of school buildings is one of the recommendations of the University survey commission, under the direction of the college of medicine, which has just completed a study of the school children and the sanitation of the school buildings at Wapello at a request from the school board there.

This is the first survey of its kind ever made in Iowa. Wapello was believed by the commission to represent a typical Iowa town and the findings and recommendations resulting from this survey will have statewide application and therefore be of great value in improving health conditions in Iowa schools.

Although the school enrollment in Wapello is only four hundred, the report of the University experts show that it would easily pay the community to employ a full-time woman physician. The work of health supervision would not be great enough to prevent the teaching of subjects related to her work, such as physiology, first aid, hygiene, sanitation, and other branches not at present receiving attention.

Another solution of the problem, the report points out, would be to make the health officer of a community, who at present renders only part time service, a full-time employee through the co-operation of the boards of education and health. For the board of education the physician would serve as a school physician and for the board of health he would serve as health officer. This is believed by the commission to be the most desirable solution for small towns.

Either solution would eliminate the need for a second school nurse, the report states.

A. F. I. MEN TO MEET

All members of A. F. I., the honorary senior society, will lunch together at the Burkley hotel Saturday noon.

IS THIS TRUE OF ALL PROFESSIONS?

Says An Engineer Shound Interest Himself In Activities Outside His Profession.

The engineer who cannot see beyond the border of his profession is not much in favor with Dean W. G. Raymond of the college of engineering. He holds that it is possible to be a most thorough engineer and at the same time have a liking for literature and painting and other things of an allied sort. That the ability to use good English is indespensible in engineering is another one of his contentions.

"Off-hand, I cannot think of a single strikingly successful engineer I have known who has not had a good command of English," he asserts. "It is impossible to compare the importance of this subject with some of the technical subjects in the engineering course, but I believe it rank with any of them if such a comparison were possible. The ability to express thought clearly in oral or written reports before educational or political bodies is one of the essentials of engineering.

"Our college has always insisted on thorough courses in our mother tongue throughout the course. In a large majority of cases we are able to judge the kind of home from which the individual student comes by the grammar he uses in the class room. Young men from cultured families will invariably speak more grammatically and with a better choice of words than the young men from homes where rules of grammar are constantly disregarded.

"I believe that every engineer, and every other person for that matter, should have some hobby. Making money or collecting old relics are hobbies, but I should say that an intellectual hobby, such as an ambition to create something new or to build up an excellent library, is far better in results.

AFRICAN HEARS OF IOWAN'S INVENTION

Device of University Physicist Promises to Have Great Influence in Musical World.

The fame of the musical invention called the Tonodeik of L. E. Dodd of the physics department has spread to South Africa. The inventor has received a letter from a man in Cape Town in the southern part of the dark continent asking if it will be possible to get one of the devices to that point.

With this invention it is possible for the musician to tell whether the note that he strikes on an instrument or sings is in true pitch. He can read from a revolving sylinder the exact number of vibrations of the tone that he sounds.

"The purpose of the machine is to improve pitch discrimination," says the inventor. "By practicing before this device a singer can tell whether he is striking true tones or not. If he is not he can do much toward correcting them by using the Tonodeik. For the child who learns the scale from a piano that it out of tune or from a music teacher whose pitch discrimination is faulty, this device will be of great aid in correcting the pitch intervals."

Mr. Dodd has been besieged with letters from piano manufacturers and other instrument makers, and music teachers from all parts of the United States and a few from the continent. The device has not been placed on the market yet but plans are under way now for its manufacture in large quantities.

MANY OCCUPATIONS FOLLOWED IN IOWA

University Authority Finds Over Four Hundred Kinds of Industry in This State

Over four hundred different occupations are pursued by men and women of Iowa, according to E. E. Lewis, professor of education. Some of them are very rare, but most of them make a fairly good showing. There are only 5 longshoremen or stevedores, and 37 dyers in the state, while there are 19,143 carpenters and 4,724 barbers.

There is one carpenter to every 115 persons, or in the average community of 1,000 there should be about 8 carpenters. One person out of 10 is a laborer; 1 out of 10 is a farmer; 1 out of 252 a clerk; 1 out of 395 a ditcher; 1 out of 876 a printer; 1 out of 877 a baker; 1 out of 578 a physician; 1 out of 1,931 a dentist; 1 out of 743 a mail carrier; 1 out of 90 a teacher; 1 out of 606 a clergyman; 1 out of 290 a painter; 1 out of 539 a real estate agent; 1 out of 540 a mason; 1 out of 396 a traveling man; 1 out of 5,321 a jeweler; 1 out of 5,386 an undertaker; 1 out of 5,674 a nurse; 1 out of 5,010 a college professor; 1 out of 7,724 an auctioneer; 1 out of 1,058 a plumber.
