PATRIOTIC DUTY TO ATTEND IOWA DAY CELEBRATION

Commandant Ursula Cudahy to Graduates of Delta Kappa Kappa:

OWA DAY, Friday, October 5, 1917.

The Hon. James B. Weaver.

LEARN HOW BEST TO DO "YOUR BIT"

Ways to Serve Nation Will Be Suggested—University Band to Appear on Program.

It will be a part of the patriotic duty of each student to attend the Iowa day exercises, it is the opinion that Commandant M. C. Wright expressed respectfully to the cadet regiment. The captain urged all cadets to be out at the meeting, in order that they might hear the address and see the actions in the most effective manner.

The Hon. James B. Weaver in his address on "Iowa's Share in the Great War" will attempt to suggest ways to serve the nation. Mr. Weaver through his work as director of the American Red Cross in Iowa will be full of ideas for service. The address should be of particular interest to the cadets of the cadet regiment, because he is an Iowa alumnus, and has the interests of the institution at the heart.

Another feature of the program will be the appearance of the University band for the first time this year. "They may have to borrow their instruments," was the question, "but the rest of us in dress," said Professor Horack.

The afternoon will be occupied in giving the address Address of welcome, President, W. T. Burns.

Director E. G. Schroeder will leave tonight for Chicago where he will attend the annual meeting of the intercollegiate gymnastics and wrestling association, of which he is secretary. While at the meeting Mr. Schroeder hopes to schedule another dual wrestling meet for Iowa as well as several meets with the eastern intercollegiate teams, used in Ames.

In the past the team has always gone to Nebraska but this will probably be the appearance of the team on the trip.

The CALL OF THE WAR

The young men of the nation must face the fact that the athletic year does not belong merely to the young men of this year. There is an urgent need for the development of a sense of service in all men. It is not enough to rely on the patriotism of the young men alone. It is necessary to involve all men in the spirit of the war. The young men have shown a great deal of patriotism in their activities so far. But it is necessary to extend this spirit to all men of the nation.

The The Great Educational Meet at University

Representatives from 23 Great Universities Meet Here in Annual Conference.

The University will be the center of interest to all the colleges and universities of the United States on Nov. 9, 10, and 11, when the Association of American Universities will hold its ninetieenth annual conference here. The conference consists of twenty-three of the foremost universities of the country.

The leading educators of the nation will be present to discuss the different phases of their work. Among other things they will consider the organization of universities, the uniting of degrees in different institutions, and problems in higher education which have arisen out of the war. Issues of colleges, presidents of institutions, and instructors in the various college branches will discuss their peculiar problems in special meetings.

President W. A. Joseph of the University was head of this great organization of colleges last year and is responsible for what will probably be the greatest educational conference ever held in the state. It is predicted that practically all of the twenty-three institutions in the association will have one or more representatives at the meeting.

The programs and resolutions which make up the organization are as follows:

- University of California, Cathedra University of America, University of Chicago, Clark university, Columbia University, Cornell university, Harvard university, University of Illinois, Indiana university, State University of Iowa, Johns Hopkins University, University of Kansas, Leland Stanford Junior university, University of Michigan, University of Minnesota, University of Missouri, University of Nebraska, University of Pennsylvania, Princeton university, University of Virginia, University of Wisconsin, Yale university.

-The two programs of the 8th will be devoted to business sessions of the council of the graduate schools. For the general sessions on Friday and Saturday the following three topics are announced:

1. The modern trend toward vocational education in its effect upon the professional and non-professional studies of the university. Paper by Professor John Dewey of Columbia University.

2. What provisions should be employed to effect in behalf of scholarship the interests and ambitions of the best students? Paper by Dr. H. C. Grinnell of Indiana university.

3. Outside professional engagements by members of professional faculties. Paper by General Medical college—university by Professor J. W. January, Johns Hopkins university.

Point of view in general—Dean of the college of agriculture, University of California.

The guests will be entertained by various groups at luncheons and dinners. One unusual feature of the program is the division of the University into four or five natural groups and having galleries of faculty members of these divisions on Thursday evening, each hosting to the guests of honor the visitors who belong to the respective divisions in the University.

Little Damage by Frost

Damage to the corn crop by the early frost was not so great as was expected, and a botanist at the University, after an extended survey of corn conditions in northern Iowa. Although the frost was very heavy in some localities, especially around Clear Lake and Mason City, and did considerable damage, the state as a whole had not suffered greatly.

"I was once a farmer," the botanist said, "and I know that farmers always like to underestimate their crops and then regret after the harvest."

Mildred Miller will leave tomorrow for Des Moines, where she will spend the winter with friends.

The Department of the Interior has worked out a plan for the improvement of rural schools in the state. NEW KIND OF WORK FOR WOMEN Good Opportunities for Women in Bacteriology, Says Dr. Albert.

"The present is a particularly opo rtune time for women to begin work in the field of bacteriology. For many years women have been doing work in this particular subject for which they are especially well adapted, but the opportunity for entering the field has never been so good as it is at the present time," Dr. Henry Albert, professor of pathology and bacteriology and director of the laboratories for the State Board of Health says.

The growing recognition of the importance of preventing disease and the important part played by the laboratories in the early and definite recognition of communicable diseases has caused a large number of public health laboratories to be established during the past few years. In many places the work of such laboratories is conducted by women.

Bacteriological work is of importance in connection with army life in the preparation of vaccines and serums. Many of the laboratories of this country and also of other countries have been practically staffed by bacteriologists to furnish enough trained men for this special line of military service and, their places are being filled by women.

This important work will need to be done after the war is over, when the bacteriological laboratory will play an important part and the need for trained bacteriologists will continue to be great.

IOWA WOMEN GOING TO PUT A BAN ON ALL BRIGHT YARNS

Movement to Discontinue Use of "Selfish Yarns" Has Already Received Big Impetus.

MARGARETTE DAY FORWAYS PLAN

Believes that Stabile Colors for Red Cross Work Will Be Increased in This Way.

If a movement which saw its introduction thirty years ago is as effective as its champions hope it will be, the bright colored yarns will be a major quantity not only at the University but throughout Iowa, and possibly across the whole United States in the near future.

The Pi Beta Phi recently took official action in a meeting Wednesday which placed the ban on "selfish yarns," and the Y. W. C. A. followed it up last evening. The individual who is sponsor for this unique movement is Margarette Day of Des Moines, a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority.

The whole movement is based on the belief that when colored wools are eliminated, it will be possible to claim the best material for Red Cross knitting. Miss Day explains:

"There is a marked shortage of the plainer yarns, and the Y. W. C. A. is very conscious of the fact that the best of colored materials will take a bright colored yarn. Manufacturers forget about the plain kinds because of the higher profits that the bright yarns yield.

"The colors substitute for this.

"It is obsolete lack of patriotism to use a little or any bright colored yarns for barrier or anyone else. It is due to anything else than 'selfishness.'" Miss Day declared at school.

"Every bit of knitting done should be done for our sanitary needs and only dollar yarn should be used. If our young men can't get plain yarn we would give up the pleasure of wearing pretty colors."

Dean Kilgore approves.

There should be increased emphasis laid on the need for knitting. Miss

Jenkins Not To PLAY SATURDAY?

I'll Just Staff Work. Cut Before the Cornell Game.

In the last surmises of any importance, the initial meeting at the seashore was held. The seashore was more lively, a football team than time this year. The registration of the Col. G. D. 0. R. from these companies is called Everett to keep the freshmen from with apprentice coat, a.

"If the regulars of the Sophomore and Junior class turned back to keep the freshmen from the fifteen yard line the first year team will be taken on as they are.

"If the regulars are lagged in Birmingham who was downed by the Nebraska team through right tackles for twenty point. Then the big flickish shot will be on the forward line in Birmingham who went over for the first score.

Process Successful.

The steady goal being given the line in the art of forward passing is beginning to show, and this department of the game will probably feature Iowa's offense throughout the season. The ball will go far for the first score, the varsity completed three out of four aerial attempts, for a total gain of about forty yards. Of course this is probably above the average of the season but it demonstrates the potentialities of the pass as a scoring tool.

Three Tackles Examinations

For Schollers. However, to be sent to Oxford during the War.

Three young men study the Rhodes Scholarship examinations in the Old Capitol Monday and Tuesday. Cyril Milligan, a graduate student in English, and Harry Davis, Hunzelman, and the marine of the three, the veteran Iowa quarterback, do not attend the examinations. The examinations will be taken in the course of the academic year and will form a part of the year's work.

"Not to bicker,"

friends of the captain say. The examination is under the supervision of the United States in the war. The war will be declared for the sake of the game.

The examinations will be concluded in two days, and the master's degree will be conferred on them. The next examination will be the same.

One of the events of the week.

"The captain, " said Coach Jones.

"In the course of the week, the man will be weighed and the examinations will be extended to other college fields."

Coach Jenkins, William Jenkins, who has been expected to practice the greatest part of the week. The captain will return to the field after his examination of the week's events are over.

"I will not play unless his condition warrants it," said Coach Jones, when asked for information regarding Jenkins's condition. "But Saturday is a long way off.""

Will Jenkins Play?

Chief interest in athletic circles centers about the condition of Albert Jenkins, veteran Iowa quarterback, whose absence has enticed him from practice the greater part of the week.

"In school work, he is suffering from a nervous trouble, which threatens to keep him off the field. Saturday will be a long way off."

"I will not play unless his condition warrants it," said Coach Jones, when asked for information regarding Jenkins's condition. "But Saturday is a long way off."

It is probable however, that the captain will return to the field at least part of the game. If he does not, his loss will be keenly felt, although, as Jenkins, an Iowa school star, appears to be an able substitute.
