ENGINEERS SHOULD AWAIT INFORMATION BEFORE ENLISTING

Message From Dean Raymond Advises Students to Await Government Action.

PLANS OF CIVILS UPSET BY TELEGRAM

Men Who Were to Volunteer
Tomorrow in 23d Regiment
May Chance Draft

A telegram received Friday by Prof. B. J. Lambert from Dean W. G. Raymond, at Washington D. C., advising all engineers to await the action of the secretary of war before enlisting, has caused more distraction in the plans of the senior civil engineers who contemplated enlisting, Monday.

The telegram advised as follows: "Advise all students to await the action of secretary of war. Some action practically certain."

Face Great Problem.

The engineers are in a greater dilemma than ever and as a body are divided upon the best action to take. Several are inclined to carry out the plans previously decided upon while others are governed by the prospects which the communication carries.

Walter D. Yager, president of the A. S. of A. S. stated yesterday that probably half of the engineers would carry out their plans and leave for Davenport, Monday, where they will be given physical examination.

Some Have Gone Home.

"Only a few of the fellows are here," Yager said. "The rest are home, making a farewell visit and are unaware of Dean Raymond's advice."

"Just what action will be taken by the class as a whole is conjectural and will depend upon the events that take place between now and Monday.

There is nothing in the message which assures the students that he will be allowed to complete his course and it is doubtful if this will change the attitude of the fellows. It is possible that some will be influenced by the telegram and the rest will leave Monday," Yager said.

Would Follow Lambert.

The engineers contemplated entering the 23d regiment of highway engineers, of which Professor Lambert is major. The plans had been made to leave for Davenport Monday, where the physical examination would be given.

The civils would be sent to the Jefferson barracks St. Louis Mo., for assignment and from there to Camp Meade Maryland, for training. Each man would enlist as a private.

Dean Raymond has been in Washington the past week for the purpose of learning what action the government would take in behalf of drafted students in technical schools. He will return this evening.

MYTHICAL ELEVEN

WINS FROM SOLDIERS

Playing on a frozen field swept by a biting northwest wind, the mythical all state eleven defeated the Camp Dodge football team by score of 7 to 0 yesterday afternoon. Three Iowa men were represented on the all state team: Elwood Davis, Glen Greenwood and Roland Reed. "Chuck" Laun played with the Camp Dodge team.

This is the first time a mythical eleven has been brought together in Iowa.

FAMOUS ENGLISH STATESMAN TO SPEAK HERE TOMORROW EVENING

The Right Honorable Sir George Reid will give an address in the natural science auditorium Monday evening, December 10, at 7 o'clock. The coming of this distinguished statesman is an event of more than ordinary interest and significance, for while Sir George's visit is not in any sense official, his importance in the British political world, his long and able career in Australia, and his keen interest in the United States, her public men and her international relationships, gives his address a weight and value that will not fail of appreciation on this side of the Atlantic. He comes at a time when there is a greater and warmer interest in Anglo-American relations than ever before; at a time when every utterance from so distinguished a statesman of the British empire will be of undoubted value.

Sir George Reid comes to the University under the auspices of the senate board on University lectures. His address is open to faculty and students of the University and to citizens of Iowa City.

"GRET" KANE TO HOLD

IOWA CITY EDITOR'S JOB

Gretchen Kane of The Daily Iowan staff will begin work Dec. 15 as city editor of the Iowa City Daily Press. She will fill the place of J. E. Reizenstein while he is spending his vacation out of the city. Miss Kane has been a reporter on the Iowa City Daily Citizen for three summers as well as the whole of last year. This is her second year of work on The Daily Iowan.

WAR TAX PROVISIONS OFFICIALLY STATED

All-University Parties, Charity Benefits, and Athletic Contests are Exempt.

Information regarding the collection of war taxes has been received from Louis Murphy, U. S. collector of internal revenue. Those matters which directly affect University affairs and concerning which there has been some question among the students, are giving here:

"If the entire net proceeds of entertainments, dances, etc., inure exclusively to the benefit of charitable organizations, institutions or association, no tax need be collected. Entertainments for the benefit of the Red Cross and Soldiers' Fund, where these are in control of an organization or society, come in this class.

"Season tickets or any tickets of admission purchased prior to November 1, 1917, are not subject to tax; purchased thereafter they are taxable on the basis of the price paid for them.

"Tax need not be collected upon basketball games, or other athletic contests, if the entire net proceeds go into the treasury of the school or college, or to a charitable organization. If the net proceeds inure to the benefit of the student body in control of athletics, or to individuals, tax should be collected."

According to these rulings, Prof. R. E. Rienow is of the opinion that the all-University parties will be exempt from the war tax, since the net proceeds will go to the war fund.

NEW IOWA SONG TO BE REHEARSED AT BIG MASS MEETING

One Half Hour Long, Committee
Announces—Meeting To Be gin at Five Sharp

UNIVERSITY BAND WILL PLAY SONG

Copies of Piece To Be Given To Everyone Who Attends Song Practice.

The proposal to hold a mass meeting tomorrow night between 5 and 5:30 o'clock for the practice of the new Iowa song has been met with favor among the students, according to a member of the committee in charge of preliminary arrangements. Advance indications are, he says, that there will be a large body of students out for this event.

An effort will be made to begin the singing at 5 o'clock sharp so that it can be closed by 5:30. Everybody is requested to try to be there as near this hour as is possible as a means of making the half hour most productive of results. Students are expected to be out, and townspeople and others who are interested in Iowa will be welcome.

Band Will Lead Song.

The band under the direction of Dr. O. E. Van Doren will open the half hour's work by playing the piece over two or three times so that the hearers may get into the swing of it. Then Prof. W. E. Hays will take the platform and direct the singing with a band accompaniment. He will probably have it sung over and over again although he may give special attention to some of the more difficult parts.

Through the president's office arrangements have been made for the printing of enough copies of the song to supply every person who attends the meeting tomorrow night with a copy. There have been many calls for the words and music during the past few days by students in the University and alumni in Iowa and other states. It is expected that these additional copies will serve to supply the demand very largely.

Alumni Watch its Reception.

LAW STUDENTS MAY HAVE JUBILEE THIS YEAR

The law school students' association at their meeting Thursday evening voted in favor of having a law jubilee again this year. The law jubilee was such a "howling success" last year that the laws of this year felt duty bound to follow in the footsteps of their predecessors. In spite of the decrease in the number of students in the law school it is expected that the jubilee this year will be just as great a success as the entertainment last year.

TEETERS' HOME IS BURNED TO GROUND

Loss Will Run to $7000, Partly Insured—Origin of Fire
A Mystery.

Fire of unknown origin almost completely destroyed the home of W. J. Teeters, dean of the college of pharmacy, just before noon yesterday. The loss will be about $7000, which will be partially covered by insurance to the amount of $4000.

The fire was discovered by Rose Edie, liberal arts senior, who roomed at the Teeter's home. Miss Edie called Mrs. Teeters, who hurried to the basement, where the fire started, only to be driven back by the flames, which had made considerable headway.

When the fire department arrived, the house was a mass of flames. Two streams of water were played on the structure, and the fire finally brought under control. Part of the contents of the house was removed by the firemen, assisted by the neighbors, and some of the members of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Delta Chi fraternities. Dean Teeters, who was not at home when the fire started, declared that he considered the house a complete loss.

Dean Teeters and family will make their home with Dr. and Mrs. Prentiss, while arrangements are being made for permanent quarters.

ACHOTH SORORITY ENTERTAINS

One hundred and forty University people were served at tea at the Masonic Temple yesterday afternoon, by the Achoth sorority. The Achoth girls formed the receiving line and Mrs. W. E. Beck poured tea.

HAWKEYE QUINTET SHADES FRESHMAN IN CLOSE CONTEST

Confidence and Polish of Kent's
Men Awards Them the Edge
Over Bannick's Five.

ALBERT JENKINS BACK IN LINEUP

Squad is Rapidly Rounding Into Shape for Imminent Contest with Cornell College.

Battling back and forth, playing hard as a result of the keen rivalry between the opposing quintets, Iowa's varsity bucked against the promising freshmen crew, gaining a slight advantage after a struggle of considerable length. It was the greater confidence and polish of the first-string five that bested the yearling team.

The freshmen, however, demonstrated conclusively that they possessed the material for a first-class five, and under the supervision of Edwin Bannick, easily the most brilliant basketball man who has tossed the sphere for the Gold in recent years, they promise to develop into a strong aggregation.

Jenkins is Back.

The absence of Albert Jenkins, who left the early part of the week to make inquiries regarding enlistment at Omaha, Nebr., was not long of duration. The gridiron quarterback was missing at but two practices and then returned to the floor. "Jenks" has come to no definite decision in regard to departure from school, but it now seems probably that he will attend the University as long as the draft will allow.

The varsity lineup, although showing numerous substitutions, seemed to display one personnel which might be called the first-string. This was composed of Olson at center, Pyles and Brown at guards, and Berrien and Jenkins forwards. This team possesses four men who have seen some previous experience and only one, Pyles, who has not entered an intercollegiate game.

Freshman Lineup.

The yearling squad which opposed the varsity yesterday displayed the following lineup as its apparent first choice: center, Rich; forwards, Finlayson and Doornink; guards, Kaufmann Newcomb, and Dahlen. Worth has also shown considerable promise at center.

Reports from the Cornell camp indicate strong prospects. Whether they will materialize enough to furnish Iowa stiff competition remains to be seen. Every effort is being made by Coach Maury Kent to pick a quintet for the fast-approaching contest, and a close struggle seems probable with the revenge-seeking Cornellians.

ASK YOUR STUDENTS

We have learned recently that the question of altering the present examination system is to come to the attention of the faculty in the very near future. They are to determine whether or not a plan under which the student's knowledge is put to test in a fifty-minute period in a time when he is trying to keep up his class work in his other courses shall be continued.

Here is one place, it seems to The Daily Iowan, where it is distinctly the part of the student to have a voice in setting the rules by which he is governed. We would not say that the instructor is not to be counted on at all, but we would say that the greater weight should be given to the desire of the student.

Before this meeting, then, we suggest that the professor or instructor who believes that the student body is content with the present system put the proposition to a vote in his classes. If the result of the investigation which the editor of The Daily Iowan has taken it upon himself to make can be taken as any criterion, the individual who conducts such a referendum will find that there is an audible undertone of dissatisfaction with our plan of holding examinations.

For an improvement over the present system, we cite our faculty to Wisconsin, to Harvard, to Michigan, and to nine out of ten of the institutions of higher learning which rank with or above this University. Any plan which will lay aside a certain period for examinations exclusively is to be preferred to the plan in vogue here now. The working out of the hours for the examinations and their length are mere matters of administration. What is vital is that students be not encumbered with regular class work during this time when they are trying to show what they have learned during the previous semester.

We do not recommend a change because we would see examinations stressed more than they are now, for there is a general feeling on the part of students that they are already emphasize for more than they should be in many cases. But so long as examinations are given, students have the right to insist that the best working conditions be provided.

Please look at the situation from the student's viewpoint as you cast your vote on this thing, Mr. Faculty Member.

A SERVICEABLE PRESENT

In the news columns of this issue is the announcement of a special subscription offer designed to make The Daily Iowan available as a Christmas present for your friends who are in service now. All of us who have wished to remember our soldiers friends have found ourselves confronted with a problem in deciding what that remembrance shall consist of. Neckties, cuff links, and the old standbys have all been eliminated as possibilities. Can you think of a better present than one which will give your friend the news of the University every day?

But why doesn't The Daily Iowan send its sheet to the soldiers if it is so solicitous of their welfare, some will ask? The reason, very frankly, is that we cannot afford to do so. War has hit college newspapers and The Iowan is no exception. We had hoped at the beginning of the school year that the University would see fit to provide subscriptions for its war representatives, as some other universities are doing, but this was not done. By setting a special price which will barely cover the cost of the paper alone, we feel that we are doing as much as we can possibly do for the Iowa men in arms.

We have had letters from men in service this year which indicate that there could be no more acceptable gift than The Daily Iowan. It's a present which will remain with your friend for the remainder of the school year. Why not call at the business office on South Clinton street any afternoon and place your friend's name on our subscription list under this special arrangement?

SIGN YOUR NAME!

During the past few days The Daily Iowan has received several unsigned communications for the "What Others Think" column. We are glad to get the opinions of others, but we shall continue to insist, as a matter of protecting ourselves and our readers that the name of the writers of every contribution be known by us at least.

We shall permit articles to run with initials or blanket names such as "A Senior Girl" or "A Woman Student," although we should like to have every article printed above the writer's name.

We believe that the free parliament column in our paper this year has been fairly successful, but at the same time we feel that it has lost something because of the fact that many of the expressions were unsigned.

By insisting on knowing the identity of the writers of several communications which have come to our office, we have been forced to discard some well written and interesting opinions. We have several of such letters on hand now, and if the writers of the same will call and give us their names, we should be glad to print them with his initials or above a blanket title, if they can show good reason why their signature should not be used.

YOU REALLY SHOULD DO IT

Are you planning to attend the mass meeting tomorrow night? You and every other loyal Iowa student should make your plans to attend this. There is no better way to aid in developing an Iowa spirit than by learning an Iowa song.

What Others Think

The Daily Iowan will gladly print any communications from students or faculty members. The writer must sign the article to show his good faith in sending it, but no name will be printed if the sender so designates.

(All communications mailed to The Daily Iowan must bear the name of the writer. This rule will be observed religiously. If specific request is made, only the initials will be used when printed in this column. The fact that we print articles is no indication that they express our views.)

THE PASSING SHOW

The report was circulated some time ago that University formals were doomed at S. U. I. by the votes of representative coeds. If the Sophomore cotillion was indicative of this effervescing patriotism, we wonder if Santa Claus did not drop in just a little early with the gorgeous display of feminine finery that was in evidence.

Further, we wonder why a distinctly exclusive UNIVERSITY function should be held in a small privately owned hall while the state of Iowa owns an ample sized armory for such functions.

NEW RULES MAKE FOOTBALL A GAME OF CHANCE

Coach Fielding Yost of the University of Michigan says:

"Modern football with all its complications, is now as uncertain as baseball. The Giants may be beaten 8 to 1 in one game by the Pirates and then win three straight. A football team may be a world beater one Saturday and a poor team the next. That change was rarely possible under the old game. I have gone out one afternoon with my first team and have beaten the scrub team 40 to 0. The next afternoon, with exactly the same men, my first team couldn't score. Where everything broke properly one day nothing broke properly the next. Against Nebraska, Michigan looked like a great team, for we played beyond our normal strength. Against Penn we looked like a poor team, a much poorer team than we actually were."

TO EXAMINE MEN MONDAY

First Lieutenant Charles M. Fitzpatrick, examining officer, will be in Iowa City Monday to determine those who are physically fit to enter the third officers training camp at Camp Dodge. There are thirty-six candidates to be examined.

Fern Wolford and Genevieve Church have gone to Lone Tree for the week end.

Mildred Weller of Currier hall has gone to her home in Centerville for the week end.

MCEWIN MADE TRUSTEE

Ella Cromer is spending the week end in Davenport.

Elizabeth Trei, Sadie Clapper, and Grace Holthnes, all of Currier hall, went to Cedar Rapids yesterday.

1. It burns with a long hot flame, licking with its fiery tongue the dome of your furnace or the lids of your stove.
2. It leaves little ash and burns up completely.
3. It is very free from clinkers (melted ashes).
4. It is mined clean—no stones, all coal.
5. It is more economical than other coals.

There are other reasons. The proof is in the using. Our trade in Pyrolite is increasing daily.

UNIVERSITY PARTY MARKED SUCCESS
 Three Hundred And Fifty Students Enjoy Dancing and Games

The first all-University party at the women's gym last evening exceeded all expectations both from the standpoint of the committee and the attendants in the way of success and entertainment. Close to three hundred and fifty students participated in the hilarity of the occasion.

A grand march led by Dean and Mrs. Kay initiated the entertainment which was followed by a program of dances. Those who did not dance found a diversion of games in another room. Arnold Oehler sang a baritone solo between dances.

Commenting on the success of the party, Dean Kay said, "The way in which the students responded this evening is conclusive to me that this enterprise has infinite possibilities. The most optimistic of us, hardly dreamed that tonight's entertainment would be so highly successful."

The chaperons for the evening were Dean and Mrs. Kay and Miss Klingshagen. The music was furnished by Feeny and Cahill's orchestra.

WHAT THEY SAID AFTER THE BALL WAS OVER

"Lots more fun than a formal", was the general verdict of those who attended the cotillion Friday evening. The only ones who were disappointed were those unfortunate young gentlemen who spent a bunch of money on dress suits and silk hats last year and felt that it was the duty of the university to furnish them an opportunity to "doll" up. The majority of the men, however, seemed highly pleased with the new order of things.

In spite of that "morning-after" feeling Saturday morning everyone made "eight o'clocks" on time, and a number of people are still grumbling because they danced only till twelve o'clock. "Talk about saving money," said a young freshman, "seems to me they ought to give us an extra hour of dancing: that's what I'd call conservation."

The committee is now having calls for teachers and principals to begin work next semester and is anxious that all who will be ready for positions at that time register with the committee at an early date.

AVIATOR TO TALK AT LOCAL THEATRE

Lieutenant Hall, Winner of Many Medals, Will Talk Tuesday on "Fighting for France."

University men will have opportunity to hear the well-known aviator, Lieut. Bert Hall, member of the Lafayette escadrille, who is to speak on "Fighting For France" at the Englert theatre Tuesday night.

Lieutenant Hall has fought on all of the major fronts of the great war and has nine German machines to his credit. He wears the military decorations of four of the allied powers.

Among these medals is the coveted Medaille Militaire of France. This is the highest military decoration of the French government and was pinned to the breast of the American tier by Marshal Joffre. Other medals worn by the fighting air man are: the Croix de Guerre and the Cross of the Legion of Honor, of France; the British distinguished service medal, the Cross of St. George and Cross of St. Stanislaus and two Roumanian decorations. The Cross of St. George is the highest military decoration of Russian and was the last one granted by Czar Nicholas as he was deposed four days after the decoration.

Lieutenant Hall had hoped to serve his country in the air but has been denied a berth in the American flying corps on account of his various wounds. He will return to France when his present leave of absence expires.

At the close of his address Lieutenant Hall requests the audience to ask any questions regarding the war. He is remarkably well posted on all phase of the conflict as he has fought both in the infantry and in the air and has seen service on all fronts.

Irene Barret of Logan, who attended school here last year, and who is teaching at Cambridge, is spending the week end here.

WILL SING IOWA SONG AT MASS MEETING

song from a large field, have written to University officials to learn how their choice has been received. The answer to their query will be withheld until this meeting has been held.

"Where the song has been sung repeatedly, there is a genuine liking for it," said a University music critic yesterday. "It is a little difficult to master on the first singing, but the swing of it carries you along when you hear it several times. I predict that it will be very successful in the end. This plan of holding amass meeting is very wise, I believe."

W. K. Keister of Coon Rapids, senior l. a. will report this evening at army headquarters, Des Moines, where he has been accepted in the aviation department. He will be sent to Fort Logan, Monday.
