HAWKEYE DEBATERS TO MEET ILLINOIS

Negative Division of Varsity Team Will Debate At Urbana Tonight

The negative division of the varsity debating team will meet the University of Illinois team at Urbana tonight. The subject of the debate is: "Resolved: That the United States should assist liquidation by an arming agreement, which shall involve some important fundamental policy, constitutionally granted."

This debate will be one of the most important feature events of the year. It is generally considered the Triangular debate, between the State University of Illinois, Minneapolis, and Iowa. The affirmative team will defend Minnesota tomorrow evening in the natural science auditorium.

The team that meets the Illinois today will be led by I. W. Donald, a senior law student, whose home is in Chicago. Mr. Donald intended Iowa State Teachers College before coming to the University, but has had no broadcasting experience. He is a member of the university gymnastics team.

The second member of the team, R. G. Gandy of Lake City, is well known for his forensic work here, he is the youngest member of the team, being twenty years old. "Sam" was prominent in high school public speaking, and took part in the Foreman Declamation contest. He is a member of the Paul Bunyan Literary society.

The Marlborough and the Sun-Spangled Banner ended the season for the French Orphans given by the Iowa French Franchise, actors, assisted by the faculty of the School of Music, in the Natural Science Auditorium before a capacity audience of 500.

The two sections of Elementary Schools, Franchise simply fulfilled all the statements previously made concerning her ability. In the "Legends" by Wieland, a fairly tall sad to naught, the valiant perjured cynically, pathetically his work and poetry. Miss Franchise further showed her skill in her interpretation of the light and airy "Bernadette," by Flaubert, the "Edgardo" by Brinnon, and the sorcery, soul stirring music of "Romeo and Juliet." The other numbers on the program were equally enjoyed. Mrs. Mathews, who has "Stephenville,"" said: "Miss Franchise displayed her fines technic she enjoyed the "Nightingale" for her gift of making the piano sing."

Mrs. Hays sang "Separation." In the Triumphant Songs, Mr. Cooper likewise sang two little Songs "I'm Wait for Mail," and "I, Shepherd on Fields."

Another feature of the evening was the "Sonettische Concert," by Charles Daniels which was received by Franchise and Misses Frands and Helen E. Hase.

SUCCESSORS TO LAMBERT

BY DEFINITIVE ACTION

Appointments are not yet announced for the position of the University Women's Club President. Miss Lambert, who has held the position of the Student Body and of the Illinois Student Government during her tenure at the University of Illinois, will probably be sent to one of the European countries during the coming year, where she will graduate in law and probably return to college.

PHILANTHROPIC CLUB MEETS

The regular meeting of the Philanthropic club was held in the evening. The hours were Mrs. Robert A. Demos of Minneapolis and Mrs. Albert E. Donaldson of Chicago. Mrs. Demos is a member of the university gymnastics team, and the championship literary society.

LOCAL Red Cross officers are of the opinion that the activities of the branch in the city are not good. They believe that the work that the officers do is the most logical part of their activities.

If it is misdirected effort to knit for soldiers, it is highly probable that the women of America know it, for they are doing their utmost in this way. These campaigns report to be the kind that knitting in a diligence. Capita MacQueen was just as enthusiastic about the knitting as Lieutenant Wood has been.

Local Red Cross workers should not about immediately to learn the real status of the matter of the work of the branch as it is endorsed by the government. Lieutenant Wood should be stopped from going on the ground that there is a worthwhile enterprise; if it is reported on annaually, women should immediately turn their attention to the knitting of other articles.

What Others Think

The Daily Iowan will try to fulfill its social duty to the extent that we can. We are not all the bill for our work, and we can do the same work in the same way. We are in a position to give the public the full picture of any campaign.

Editor The Iowan:

Upon reading various articles that reveal the attitude of certain of our students, I have been rather surprised. "What are their ideas of a university education" anywhere? First you read of a student doing badly in the examination on the subject. Then the writer of the article concludes, "Of course we have a victim of a "calculus" because poor work". Now if a student wants to work he must be so. What kind of a student is he? He cannot be a good student. He cannot do the work that he has been called for. He cannot get the proper opportunity for the work. What kind of a student is he? He cannot be a good student. He cannot do the work that he has been called for. He cannot get the proper opportunity for the work.

To the Editor:

There is one aspiring investment for our university. We are not all the bill for our work, and we can do the same work in the same way. We are in a position to give the public the full picture of any campaign.

INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATE

IOWA vs. MINNESOTA

The seventh lecture in the joint Sigma Xi-Stetsonian club symposium will be given by Prof. C. P. Howard, of the college of medicine, next Friday evening. Doctor Howard will discuss the relation of medicine to the European war and will emphasize particularly the role which preventive medicine is playing in this great struggle.

The speaker has first-hand knowledge of war conditions, having spent some time at the front, and the announcement of the lecture is causing more than usual interest. This will be the last lecture in the series before the Christmas recess. A special invitation is extended to the faculty, University students and townpeople.

MISS LYON'S SISTER WRITES FROM FRANCE

Nurse in Active Service Tells of Orphanage, Stormy Weather and Matrons

Miss Marion Lyon, instructor in physical education, has received a letter from her sister, Charity Lyon, in active service as nurse in France. The letter is in part:

"The men are very good. I think small packages have been large parcels come through very much slower. Coffee and tea would be very acceptable as the coffee here is full of chaff.

"Yesterday I had an afternoon off and took a four miles walk. It rained most of the time but I was not even noticed here. We live in our death valley and rainrooms. The country is beautiful even when it rains, you would enjoy the billows of The women's refinished screens which are taken care of here. They wear shoes that sound as if they were wooden, as they move through the streets in pairs and banners, the most entitled citizens in the world.

"The sidewalks are so narrow that people cannot pass on them, consequently we use the roads, which have a good rock foundation, much evidence in those days when there was no time for road repairs. This makes it hard on shoes and rubbers.

"We have not moved into our waver quarters yet but hope to soon. We live in a building called "Hokumnek." The rooms are served by the stores in charge of mess. Breakfast consists of bread, cofee, and bread. A soft boiled egg is substituted for tea once a week. Eggs are 21 per dozen. Dinner consists of meat, potatoes, one other vegetable, and dessert of salad. Soup is some hot dish and a salad. Most of the tea takes that is not great pieces of cheese are on the table; there is a day.

"We usually have chocolate, toast and pastry at some shop in the afternoon. Everyone does it is quite a social stunt. We eat in the offices. Two of the girls have just gone off with a basket to pick blackberries for the patient's report. That seems to calm the hungry baby. I don't know how the nurses have stood to the vials in the hot rain and hail we have had.

"We were paid this morning. I have taken two more 60c lessons, if I am paying for at 214 per month.

WEATHER PRESENTS MERRIMENT
