CRITICISM: A LOST ART

The art of criticism is degrading, which has come down to us through the joint opinions of art and literature that are not as widely accepted as they are not without question. At least, he can only condemn a work by scant praise, which criticism has indeed failed too, when it must resort to such a method of putting over an idea that it is a work, or to a term of one syllable, is reticent.

The reason for this is more apparent in late criticism. Critics have come to the step of the tibogy. People are capable of judging of themselves. They read and see that which was unnoticed a few years ago. They are not widely capable of judging for themselves, but may consider the attempts of others on their right and on their left, a stupid, a pretty broad statement, you say, but is it not apparent that his books of criticism cannot last unless heeded school education? None have been generally extensively in the highest sphere in the dark corner? And just how popular are the standards of great military victory. The hope of saving the Holy Land, has fallen and a great military victory, is not altogether a part of the past, but may possibly be classed among the antique, the Renaissance and baseball. The critic has had his day. The people still stand for him. If he be skilled in book, he is trying to stimulate in sale: If he is eccentric, he is to be encouraged. He can change the lives of people and take to it a third and final section. And if by any chance he be a far and a think, his life will be too short to construe anyone of a that he can serve.

And so we listen to God's master plan as it is interpreted this after noon, as an ardent who of all people will do, let us remember that it has been a living reality today.

THE CHRISTMAS

The recent return of Jerusalem to Christian hands will be celebrated at ceremonies this afternoon at the Church of the Holy Land, which is noted for its magnificent architecture.

Religious sentiment was of great importance in the earlier struggles than in the recent victory. The hope of saving the city from the grasp of her enemies was the final goal while in the present situation, the taking of Jerusalem is an incident in a great military campaign.

But regardless of this fact, the fall of Jerusalem is an epic making in the world's thought. It matters little where or as a great military victory Jerusalem, the Holy, has fallen and it warrants an appropriate celebration.

And as we listen to God's master plan as it is interpreted this afternoon, as an ardent who of all people will do, let us remember that it has been a living reality today.

PASTIME THEATRE

A big special feature Sunday and Monday Dec. 16-17.

The Wonderful War Picture In 5 Reels

"France In Arms"

See the aeroplane battle above the clouds. The greatest most popular picture ever taken. Every Student should see this picture as it is educational in every respect.

Admission 10 and 15c.

Shows at 1:30-3:00-4:30-6:00-7:30 and 9:00. Come in the afternoon if possible.

GREAT PICTURE IS SHOWN AT PASTIME

"France in Arms" Has Been Secured By Punch Dunkel for Pastime at Heavy Cost.

One of the greatest war pictures ever known "France In Arms" which "Punch" Dunkel has secured for the Pastime theatre, to be shown Saturday and Monday, Dec. 14 and 17.

The management has paid a heavy price to secure this thrilling Pafety offering, but he covers the money with profit.

The pictures will have an especial appeal, of course, in these days, as so many Iowa City mothers and fathers have banded their sons to Uncle Sam for service in stricken France.

The absorbing interest and educational value of this picture is beyond question. The photographing was done—alleged to "fake" ways on American pasturrounds—but absolutely in France, just when and where the fighting was in progress.

The aeroplane battle above the clouds is one of the features that the critics describe as "the greatest motion picture ever taken."

"It will probably never be equalled," avowed one of the writers.

The author's name was on board one of the French flyers, in the attacking squadron, and he caught every single building of the hundreds of feet above the ground. The German squadron's fierce attacks and defenses are shown in the clouds.

Another stupendous feature is the attack by the French at night—the only one, it is said, that far eclipsed the morning screen picture.

The Pastime house is devoting proceeds to the Red Cross, another important point.

For this magnificent picture, as a special feature, will be the first feature film of Tall Taylor's new song hit entitled—"He Sleeps Beneath The Soil Of France." Mr. Taylor is best remembered to the music-loving public by his famous song hits—"Down By The Old Mill Stream" and "Where The Lilies Bloom." While in Chicago last week, Mr. Dunkel presented a special orchestration, and copy of the moving picture screen picture, which will be placed in the theatre for the French pictures during the showing of this picture, Monday.

Cornell turned the tables at this point and commenced to shine in a larger margin of lead. The final white faced the long-time being usually composed of three players, Kepler probably played the best game, but Grigley showed up with a ten under par to make the playing of any Iowa man in that line impossible, there were no lesser ones.

The game demonstrated that Cornell is a bit stronger in much of material which will be combined and carried against us to produce a winning team, even within the state.

The first score is that the burning hot sands of the desert are deadened and water is worn away and every from travel. They have reached the scene of military. Jerusalem is Captured.

The Crusaders further bolstered in courage in some two actions by the arms of Amurda, who represent the cities of Spain and detest the aggressions of Peter the Harriot and the crusaders encountered. In sense these Peter is successful in leading the Crusaders in Jerusalem where a battle takes place and mains close with a grand church. "Jerusalem, the goal is Won.

ORDER COAL TO-DAY

The coal situation is acute. Keep at least two weeks supply in advance. Order before Winter weather comes.

When we began last spring to urge immediate ordering of coal, some thought we were telling frightened people how soon we would run out. Fortunately many took our advice and hid in a supply. They are now to be congratulated. If a bit of coal had not been stored last summer, Iowa City would be in a bad way at present. We are trying to sell all orders from our customers, but we cannot deliver more than a small amount. Up to this time we have not "dug down" on accepted orders, and we devoutly hope to keep the fuel.

As we predicted long ago, the quantity now is to get the coal. The price is not affected by the government, but that does not increase the supply. Railroads are crowded, and the mines are in storage. We are trying to get the coal at the cost, and believe that we shall not fail our customers, if they do their share. And their share at present is to order at least five weeks in advance of need.

Explains to us frankly your situation, and we will make every effort to supply you. We are here at our own danger in handling what amounts to a "public utility."

Again we beg you to realize that—
