SMALL FIRE IN RECENT BUILDING

Fire slightly damaged part of the floor and destroyed the doors and rooms on the entrance to the building in the second floor of the new dental building this Friday afternoon.

The origin of the fire is unknown but it was probably due to some electric arc, used in cleaning, which fell near a steam radiator. No one was in the building at the time of the fire, which was detected and reported by some passers-by. The cause of the fire was by going up the fire escape and breaking in the fire and

THE DAILY IOWAN

The following post is a page from a newspaper and contains an article discussing the importance of maintaining a good academic record at the University of Iowa. The article argues that students should not neglect their studies, especially during the first two months of college, and should take advantage of opportunities to improve their grades. The writer emphasizes the value of good grades in shaping one's future and encourages students to strive for excellence in their academic pursuits.

BAD POLICY.
The Des Moines Register of Wednesday morning contained a front-page story featuring President W. A. Jessup's emphasis on military training in the college, in the course of his speech at Drake University. The Iowa Register publishes a statement by President Jessup in which he discusses each such matter as a matter of fact, a formal denial of the story is really unnecessary. From the formation of the University of Iowa there has been only one evident that the fact lies in the newspaper.

Bad news of the part it all is that the direct quotations from President Jessup's speech have so little or no beating on the headlines. The Register has for some time been engaged in exposing any kind of military training for young men, which will fit them to enter service on their country in case of need. It appears that in its zeal to find support in the mind, the editor of the paper has grossly distorted the President's speech.

It is of the utmost importance that the Register continue its own outputs to the editorial page, instead of putting them in the mouths of others. But some newspapers have been striving to use the news as it is in their columns, free from editorial comment or expression. The Iowa between The Register has been guilty of very poor The "YOU'RE-UP-YOUR" ALUMNI.

When will our service be put when the recent additions are completed? Will it be long enough to be the prey of the element? It seems best to the writer that it be hung in one of our buildings, preferably where it might be seen.

What Others Think

A letter from a student to the college president expressing appreciation for the university's policies and programs.

"I am very grateful to the university for the opportunities it has given me. I have learned so much here and the professors have been wonderful. I look forward to my future with enthusiasm."

A CHIEVEMENT

Twenty-five years ago the General Electric Company was founded. Since then, electricity has come to dwell through the whole structure of life. In every wheat field, in every factory, in every home, it is at work. It is the life blood of our modern civilization.

The achievements which this company has already made may well be a stimulus to every other industry to aim at, and to stick to its work. It has been the aim of the General Electric Company to build up a name in the public mind as the leader in the field of electrical products.
Chapter VII. The First Program. On the first school day of the first month of the new year the first program of the Daily Iowa's Jour- nal club was held. It was Tuesday, Jan. 8 by the calendar and by the clock; the Society assembled at their meeting place the vicinity of The Daily Iowa editorial office and had an experience meeting.

There was no room for everyone to talk as it had been previously decided by lot that Marian Dyer was to lead the discussion. Miss Dyer spent her holidays working on The Daily Iowa News, and she gave testimony of the experience she encountered in cigar stores and dairy stores looking for scale reading parts of the feminine Hooverist, in pawn shops verifying the reported scarcity of teeth, and at department stores looking for spring styles. At one time Miss Dyer took for a child who had strayed from her parents in the city, and at no time did she meet with rebuffs. "People were easier to approach and more courteous than they often are around here," also confided to us since re- ports on the Iowa staff.

Virtan Carpenter also spent a week on the News during vacation, but her supplementary remarks to Miss Dyer's discourse were curtailed by the last call to dinner. The other member of the Hawkeye Scoopy trio, Alice Hinkley, who was a real reporter during the Christmas season, did not appear at the meeting, but the girls suspect that she has some trifle of an Omega flavor which will produce something interesting for the club when the year's files are complete.

An interesting part of the pro- gram was a presentation of "Snow-bound" by Stella Choosan. This took place in Wisconsin and, being given in a rather unflitting spirit, it met with little appreciation from the club. The chosen thought it a triffe "unnoticed."
