WILL GIVE MIXER FOR ALL ATHLETES WITH EXPERIENCE

Men of High School and Varsity Athletic Training Are To Be Guests.

ALL MEN ARE REGISTERED BY BOARD

Must Take High School Stars From Sororities to Field, Says Dr. Prentiss.

Plans have been adopted by the athletic board and sanctioned by the University officials, which, if they materialize, will place Iowa athletically on the map. The latest innovation is the compilation of every university male student who has been affiliated with any branch of athletics previous to his sojourn at the University. The registration will not only give evidence of possible material but will be used to encourage the promotion of all athletic activities.

To dedicate the new plan which is being inaugurated and to give the project an auspicious send-off, an all-athletic mixer will be held at the armory Wednesday evening, January 16. This is the first attempt of an athletic board to entertain all the athletic men in the school on a big scale. A variety of entertainment including boxing, music, speeches and refreshments will be tendered the guests between the hours of 7 and 9 p. m.

Men All Registered.

Every male student who has taken part in any American sports, either in college or high school, has been registered by the athletic board. The compiled figures gives the athletic board a brief but systematic record of every man in the University who has pursued sports, the number of years the individual has played, the branch of athletics followed and the school he was associated with. Every man registered will receive an invitation to the event the latter part of the week, a member of the athletic board said yesterday.

Primarily the mixer is to stimulate an interest in athletics and to recover possible material in many branches of sports. "Many high school stars come to the University each fall," Dr. Prentiss said, "and are lost sight of in the crowd and college activities, while the sororities demand a certain amount of attention from the young athlete, who could spend his time as profitably on the athletic field. Coaches demand an abundance of material from which to select winning teams and only an interest and an emulation in the sports can produce records of victory," Dr. Prentiss declared.

Appreciate Work of Athletes

"Our arrangements call for many other mixers, if our plans prove successful," Dr. Prentiss asserted. "We of the athletic board, loyally supported by President Jessup and the deans of the various colleges, want the athletes to know that we are interested in them and their efforts. This will be one way the University can show that it appreciates the work of the men who in turn will appreciate the University."

The proposed "booster program" which the athletic board is promulgating is in accord with the action taken by the National Athletic col-

HORSE STEAK IS GOOD EATING

It's as Palatable as Lots of Beef, and a Great Deal Cheaper.

"Horse meat is of superior quality to the grade of beef known as cutters and canners," says the meat expert in the animal husbandry department at Ames. "People should lay aside their prejudice against it and eat it. Right now horse meat is being used and will continue to be used in many of our large markets all over the United States. I have known butchers to supplement their supply of beef with horse steak and no one was able to tell the difference."

To make good meat, a horse should not be too fat. Most of the fat should be trimmed from horse steaks before serving. If the fat is cooked with the steak almost anyone can tell it is not beef steak. The fat is soft like butter. An 800 pound horse in medium condition will dress around 50 per cent.

Prices in one of America's largest meat markets last week were as follows:

Steaks—round, porterhouse or sirloin—12 1-2c a pound; pot roast, 10c; flank, 7c; stew, 6c; soup bones, 4c, and bologna, 12 1-2c.

UNIVERSITY DANCE TOMORROW EVENING

Social Enterprise Begun Before Christmas Will Be Continued With Renewed Vigor.

The third all-University party of the year will be held tomorrow night in the women's gymnasium. The low admission rates will be retained and Cahill and Feeney's orchestra will furnish the music. Chaperons will be announced tomorrow.

At the meeting of the inter-fraternity council Wednesday night, the support of the fraternities of the campus was pledged to the enterprise by the different delegates present. Pressure will be brought upon all Greek letter men to attend the all-University function in preference to other attractions. This insures a large and successful dance, the persons in charge believe.

No attempt will be made to furnish entertainment for persons who do not dance; refreshments will, however, be available as at the previous dances.

"The thing we want to do now when money is so tight," Prof. R. E. Rhenow declared yesterday morning "is to give the students a good time at less expense than they have been used to paying. If these all-University affairs are as successful as it now appears that they will be, they will have a great influence in bringing real democracy to the student body."

GETS BABSON SERVICE.

Prof. N. A. Brisco has made arrangements to receive the business service of Babson's statistical organization for students in the school of commerce. The various bulletins will be placed on the bulletin board of the department.

NOTICE

I. W. A. A. pictures will be taken at Townsend's Saturday at 1:30. Every member should be present and wear a light waist.

ARTHUR SHATTUCK COMES HERE FOR BIG PIANO RECITAL

Music Council Has Arranged for Two Concerts in Place of the Regular Course.

PLAYED WITH NEW YORK SYMPHONY

Jean Cooper, Who Has Appeared Before University Audiences, Here March 12

Students of the University will have an opportunity to hear two noted musical artists free of charge, according to an announcement yesterday by Prof. M. A. Shaw, chairman of the music council. The first of these artists is Arthur Shattuck, pianist, who will appear in concert at natural science hall on the evening of Jan. 23, and the second is Jean Vincent Cooper, contralto, already well known to University music lovers, who will sing here March 12. The enterprise originated in the music council, and that organization will have charge of the recitals.

"The regular artists' course which was given for years was abandoned this year on account of the war," Professor Shaw explains. "The University, however, recognizes the value of music and is bringing these two artists to give concerts on a plan similar to that by which it brings the noted lecturers. This is the first time that musicians have ever been brought in this way."

Third Tour of America

Mr. Shattuck, who appears here Wednesday, Jan. 23, is making his third extended tour of America. He ranks as one of the best pianists in America and he has appeared in all the large cities and capitals of Europe. He was born in Wisconsin and it is doubtful if any individual has carried the name of that state to farther corners in the world than has this musician.

After his preliminary training in his native town, Neenah, and Milwaukee, Mr. Shattuck went abroad to become a pupil of the greatest of piano teachers, Leschetizky of Vienna. Thirteen years were spent in Europe as student and concert pianist, and during that time he made a tour of most of the countries, appearing repeatedly in nearly all the large cities and capitals, and winning everywhere the most unqualified praise from critics and public.

Iceland to Africa

His tour extended from Iceland to the heart of the African desert. He crossed the latter some years ago by private caravan, camping on a number of the principal oases, and appeared in concert in various cities of Egypt. He paid every country in which he stayed for any length of time the compliment of learning its language and something of its literature and people.

University persons who heard him when he was with the famed New York Symphony some years ago declare that he is without equal in America.

WELLER LECTURES SATURDAY

Prof. C. H. Weller will continue his Saturday lectures on art till the second semester. The lecture this Saturday will be concerned with "The Barbizon School" and will treat mainly of Corot.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN ARE MADE GLAD

Christmas Celebrated With a Big Tree at Hospital

Christmas was a joyous occasion for the children in the Perkins ward of the hospital at the University. A great Christmas tree on the fourth floor of the building and dolls plus hobby horses and other toys galore were the immediate cause of this happiness among the kiddies, but the generosity of the people of Iowa who sent the multitude of presents was the real underlying cause.

Every boy and girl received a box containing an assortment of gifts, and they were all sensible, according to Dr. W. T. Graham, superintendent of the hospital. Besides the toys there were underwear, suits, caps, rompers, kimonas, bathrobes, stockings, slippers, mittens, dresses, aprons, coats, furs, scarfs, fruits, nuts, popcorn balls, books, magazine subscriptions, children's chairs, beads, and flowers.

The youngsters are already commencing to count the time until another Christmas comes to the Perkins ward of the hospital.

TAFT ADVISES MEN TO CONTINUE WORK

College Students Should Keep on With Studies, He Tells Grinnell Reporter.

(Iowa College Press)

Grinnell, Ia., Jan. 10.—"Don't make the war an excuse to give up your regular work in college. Young men will find that classroom work and college degrees are even more important than before the war," is the warning that ex-president Taft would give to all college students as expressed in an interview granted a Scarlet and Black reporter during his recent visit to Grinnell.

It is important that men under twenty-one should remain in college as long as possible in order that they may be better prepared to serve their country after the war. In this connection he urged that students realize the opportunities which surround them and make the most of them.

Mr. Taft expressed his faith in the patriotism of the colleges in these words. "We find a fine type of patriotism in our colleges. The men are at an idealistic age. There are few slackers."

Wartime athletics are heartily approved by the former president, especially interclass and intramural contests, but he also emphasized the importance of military training. "College military training is of great value. It makes better men and good men are always needed."

HAVE YOU YOURS?

Have you seen all the boys coming up the hill with their white boxes? Nope, it isn't a box social or anything like that. The drill suits are here! L. R. Haller of the M. C. Lilley and Co. at Columbus, Ohio, came yesterday all supplied and Captain Wright says if you haven't got yours yet you'd better get right down there and get it today.

Make plans now to attend the all-University dance at the women's gymnasium tomorrow night.

MILITARY SPIRIT WILL BE FEATURE OF BALL TONIGHT

Red, White, and Blue Lights and Colors of the Allies Will Form Decorations.

RAINBOW EXTRA TO HONOR TROOPS

Feeney and Cahill's Orchestra Will Furnish Music—All Tickets Sold Out.

If you are going to the military ball tonight you'd better get there early for they are going to begin promptly at eight o'clock. When you get there you will enter through a regular triumphal arch, only it will be divided into two parts. Then you will see red, white, and blue on all sides of you. There will be red, white, and blue bunting around the balcony, with here and there an American flag.

The platform for the orchestra will be in the center of the floor, and according to Art Thorwick of Coast's, who is in charge of the decorations, will represent all the warring nations, Germany excluded. England, France, Belgium, Italy, and the United States will have a place.

The lights will be different, too. They will really be a star feature of the evening. Right in the center of the room, high up above all your heads, is a five by five star. And that is the lights; they are red, white, and blue.

Three Extras Given

Pretty soon then, after you have had a look around, Feeney and Cahill will play "I Don't Want to Get Well" for the first one step and the rest of the program is:

- 2—Fox Trot, Keep Your Eye on Mary Brown.
- 3—Waltz, Flora Bella.
- 4—One Step, Over There.
- 5—Fox Trot, The Jazz Band.
- 6—Waltz, Old Fashioned Wife.
- Le Carnival Extra—Chu Chin Chow.
- 7—Fox Trot, Havana.
- 8—One Step, My Sweetie.
- Rainbow Extra—Charming (in honor of the Iowa troops with the rainbow division).
- 9—Fox Trot, Yah-De-Dah.
- 10—Waltz, Sing Me Love's Lullaby.
- 11—One Step, Long Boy.
- 12—Fox Trot, Some One May be There When I'm Gone.
- 13—One Step, We're Going Over.
- Serpentine Extra—My Arabian Maid.
- 14—Waltz, Home Waltz.

Then, the extra dances. First, there is the "Le Carnival Extra one step" and then you will get hats and all kinds of military favors. The stars will go behind the clouds and a rainbow of colored lights will cover the floor. The last extra, that serpentine fox trot, will have lots of confetti and everything that is fun. Maybe you weren't supposed to know these things till you got there but some way the powers that be came down and "let them out." And did you know the balcony will be open? For fifteen cents, too.

Honorary Patrons in France

The patrons and patronesses are: General and Mrs. Plummer, Gov. and Mrs. Harding, Colonel and Mrs. Mumma, General and Mrs. Logan, Captain and Mrs. Wright. President and Mrs. Jessup, Dean and Mrs. Kay, (Continued on page 4.)

DEAD? NOT EVEN SICK!

"Michigan's initial attempt in basketball in its narrower conception may be classed as a failure. The team lost to Case, a school with less than 1,000 students.

"Perhaps the loss of the first game was the best thing which could happen to the team. It is new, composed entirely of players who, until Saturday night had never played intercollegiate basketball.

"The team must have learned something which will be of great help to them later in the season. They learned more losing than would have been the case had they won. A bigger lesson is always fastened upon defeat than victory.

"If this same lesson, and the others they will learn, traceable perhaps, to the first contest, will remain with the team and coach throughout the season, we will have little reason to fear that our first year with basketball will be other than a success."—Michigan Daily.

If we at Iowa are anything of philosophers we may console ourselves in the above manner. Our team too was composed almost entirely of players who were inexperienced in intercollegiate basketball games when it fell before Cornell and Lombard before the holidays.

They have demonstrated that they did learn something in those early games, and it may develop that it was just as well that they lost. The Hawkeyes showed in their game with the speedy Cardinals Tuesday night that they are playing a brand of basketball which reflects good coaching and conscientious effort on the part of the men.

The season is young. We have lost two conference games and none of us is optimistic enough to anticipate a high rung in the Big Ten ladder for our team. But we still have a chance for state honors. A return game with Cornell is to be played. The Iowa team of now is a different team from the five which entertained the Methodists here in December. Ames has defeated Cornell and it is altogether unlikely that the rangy Cornellians will find the unruffled surface that they encountered here. State college has had its reverses in the loss of its captain, however she looms up as the most prominent of the contenders for the state pennant. Grinnell has not yet entered the field, but it is said that she will also have a strong team.

But in the meantime there is only one thing for Iowa students to do—support and encourage the team. The men do not possess the physical endowments, height and weight, which are so essential in basketball and this handicap must be overcome by judicious coaching methods, team play, and individual stamina. Our men are giving the best that is in them and it would not surprise some of us if their best will be enough to surprise some of our neighbors before the close of the season.

WEARING DOWN THE KAISER.

Many are familiar with the fable that appeared in the old school readers about the king who offered a fortune and the hand of his daughter to the man who could tell him a story that would last forever in the telling, with the stipulation, however, that, in case the story came to an end, the person who failed to complete it was to lose his head by the sword.

A number of adventurous spirits lost their heads in the attempt to keep a serial going forever to amuse the eccentric monarch, but one young man finally won the fortune and the laughter by wearing out the very soul of the king with the story about the locusts carrying off the corn. "And then another locust came and carried off another grain of corn," etc., etc., until the king decided he had had enough of the story.

America—in fact, the whole world, is dealing with an "eccentric monarch" today. This monarch wants the impossible, and every one who refuses to give it to him must lose his head. There is one way to deliver the peoples of the world from this menace.

Kaiser Wilhelm can be worn out, if he cannot be crushed by one tremendous blow. And the Government at Washington has pointed out the way.

Money will defeat the kaiser. Small savings, like the locusts, coming along from 110,000,000 American citizens, will wear out the soul of the war-mad monarch. American money can wear out an army in the world, because there is a great deal of American money and there are many Americans who have it. Just a mere matter of a quarter a day from every student in the University for the remainder of the year will help materially in the buying of guns and food for soldiers and ships to carry them across the Atlantic to defeat the kaiser and his crew.

A quarter, like the grain of corn, is not much in itself, but millions of quarters every day mean victory for righteousness and humanity.

KEEPING ABREAST THE TIMES

Even though we hate to admit it, the fact is before us that a small minority of the students of this institution actually read the daily newspapers and weekly periodicals thoroughly enough to be well posted on current events.

The excuse given by most students is that of lack of time; that their school and social duties fill every moment. They hesitate to take the time to spend an hour or two in keeping up with the daily affairs of the world.

Next semester a course is being offered in the department of history on the World War. This will be an extensive study of the war from every standpoint. This is the only course in the University curriculum which is primarily concerned with this commanding topic of the hour.

For the student who has so little time to read the newspapers outside of his school work, it might be advisable for him to register for this course, and thus make the reading of daily newspapers a routine duty.

CAMOUFLAGE

Camouflage is the French word which has become famous during the war in denoting the work of artists in protecting supplies and army locations from enemy aviators. But why limit the excellent word to military terms? It fits many of our daily actions.

A business man may attend church services and offer up prayers for the soul of the sinner who does not love his neighbor as himself. And the next day he may take advantage of the financial distress of a fellow citizen and foreclose a mortgage on his property. An ordinary example of camouflage.

A student who has been too busy the night before playing a social game with his friends may go to class with the results of his roommate's study copied for his own. And when called upon, he gets credit for work that is not his. An example of educational camouflage.

A young man of ordinary circumstances, who should be helping to support his widowed mother may throw away his week's wages in showing his friends how liberal he can be. Nothing is too good or expensive for the young lady of his choice. An example of social camouflage.

The young lady delights her lover with frills and foibles, leading him to believe she is the woman for whom he has sought so long. But she has never learned to cook, and furthermore detests the idea of having to manage a house. A horrible example of personal camouflage!—Missourian.

What Others Think

To the Editor:
The holiday spirit is waning, and exams are about to appear on the horizon. What has become of the exam week propagandists? Have they been compelled to keep silence under fear of arousing faculty displeasure, or are they pausing for breath for a renewed drive? Whenever they are ready to launch a new campaign for such a just cause, the majority of students are behind them. Of this I am sure.

Exams are a very real horror to most of us, especially the freshmen who have been fed on stories of past weeks of terror. The students are working harder this year; they are keeping up their work more consistently than in years before; they have taken on a new dignity and seriousness, the result of the world at war. They wish to stand well in the college life which for many may be curtailed.

Best work can be done only under the most favorable conditions. The state has given us beautiful surroundings and rarely excelled opportunities to do our best in the educational field. If the faculty can in any way improve the working conditions of the students, they should not be loath to try it. Greater universities than ours, in size, at least, find the exam week the best. Its success elsewhere should be the strongest argument in favor of its trial here.

Legiate association which met in New York recently. The association laid great emphasis upon the importance of athletics at this time with respect to the need of developing physical fitness in men who will see army service. Furthermore it was pointed out by a member of the athletic board, that the men in school should appreciate the seriousness of the situation, curb the frivolities, and give the best that is in them to promoting winning teams which will stand on a par with the teams which the enlisted men have left behind them. "Men in camps," a member said yesterday, "have but few happy moments and one of those happy moments is when their alma mater is victorious over an old rival. Every athletic man in school owes it to his school, to his predecessors and to his country, to boost for athletics," the member declared.

And the gentle soft note that allures,

For the virtue and truth that you learned
In the halls of Old Gold it's discerned,

SEES 34 SHOWS IN HOLIDAY SEASON

City Editor of Daily Press and Wife Equal Show-Attendance Record Made Last Year.

By attending 34 shows in fourteen days on their holiday visit to New York, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Reizenstein of Iowa City surpassed all records in this field, excepting their own, set up last year. Twenty-nine of this number were legitimate stage productions, dramas, melo-dramas, and musical comedies, and the remaining five were vaudeville performances.

The record made last year by the well known Iowa City newspaper man and his wife would have been splintered had there not been one afternoon when no matinees were available. With this setback it was only by attending a morning performance of one of the large plays showing in Gotham and a musical comedy which took the form of a watch party New Years eve that they were able to equal their last year's accomplishment. The vaudeville engagements were merely sandwiched in, along with sight-seeing tours and the like.

Mr. Reizenstein makes no claims for honors, yet it is certain that the feat of seeing five shows in three cities, Chicago, Philadelphia, and New York, on three successive days is without precedent. When asked to name the best thing he saw in his two weeks of activity, Mr. Reizenstein declared that he was being asked an impossible question.

"Most of the shows were good," he explained. "And they were so different that it would be merely a matter of personal likes and dislikes to single out the best performance. New York is head and shoulders ahead of Philadelphia, however, in the matter of plays. The day we were in Philadelphia there was only one play which Mrs. Reizenstein and I had not seen in previous trips to New York."

Mr. and Mrs. Reizenstein have been making this holiday trip every year for the last sixteen years.

ENGINEERS BECOME ENLISTED RESERVES

Two-Thirds of S. U. I. Engineering Students of Draft Age Apply for Special Enlistment.

More than two-thirds of the men of military age in the college of engineering at the University have made application for enlistment in the Engineers' Enlisted Reserve corps or the Signal Enlisted Reserve corps. For those whose applications are passed on favorably, and it is likely that practically all of them will be, the privilege of remaining in the University and continuing their courses until their training can be utilized to the best advantage will be granted.

The list of men eligible for such enlistment was arrived at by the faculty of the engineering college by an investigation of the grades and abilities of all the students old enough to be subject to the draft. The entire holiday recess was devoted by professors and instructors to this task and a complex but accurate system made the list absolutely accurate and just.

Shortly before Christmas all engineering students were advised by the government to enlist in the Engineers' Enlisted Reserve corps but a late communication received by President W. A. Jessup instructs students specializing in electrical engineering to make application for enlistment in the Signal Enlisted Reserve corps. As a result of this advice ten of the advanced electrical engineering students have made preliminary arrangements to enter this field.

More than half of the total number of students in the applied science college are not of draft age yet.

MOVIES WILL RECORD INDIES TRIP

Iowa Scientists Will Carry Motion Picture Man on Expedition

The work of the University's West Indies expedition, which is attracting attention in all parts of the world, will be brought to the doors of the people of Iowa in the form of moving pictures. Maurice Ricker, principal of the West Des Moines high school, has been employed to accompany the party as official photographer and a part of his equipment will be a splendid moving picture machine.

There have never been pictures of the manipulation of the boat and the management of equipment in deep sea dredging, according to Prof. C. C. Nutting, who will head the expedition. The pictures which Mr. Ricker will take will, consequently, be in demand. "Close-up" pictures of the dredges with their complete hauls of marine animals will also be interesting, Professor Nutting points out.

Prospects for an entirely successful expedition have taken a decided leap since the announcement that Prof. H. K. Fisher of Leland Stanford, Jr., university would be a member of the party. Professor Nutting was with him on the U. S. expedition to the Hawaiian islands in 1902 and he considers the Californian one of the most capable marine zoologists in the country.

The war has kept some of the men who originally intended to make the trip from going, but others are stepping in to take their places and there will be no difficulty in reaching the maximum quota, twenty persons. The scientists will leave New York City April 27 for the far away islands, if present plans hold.
