THE STUDENTS TURN OUT

The central military ball was held last evening at the armory. It was an extremely military party, the idea being to have all the uniforms in style, with all the accessories. Jersey skirts and extra dances. There were one hundred eighty-five of them, the number having been limited.

The ALL-UNIVERSITY DANCE

The Iowa average student is planning to be at the University to do everything that seems interesting, but the all-University dances which will be held every Saturday night in the campus will be attended by the students. The events of the evening are not obvious, however, and one cannot be sure of attending on them.

In a recent meeting the executive council with representatives on every chapter of the Upsilon Alpha Pi. The faculty and Circle, the women's honorary society, has likewise covered the social function and it is certain that the sorority of the institution is behind it without reservation.

But more than the moral support of students is needed to make the University party the success that it should be. It is true that a small group of students who think the party is too dray to run down all war, more than those who think the name is good. It seems to be the best way to entertain her.

To the Editor.

Red Cross calls for help. The student girls have answered the call by giving up other things to take up this work. There are very few women that don't know what the war is, or if time or other, appeared at the Red Cross. Should a special drive be made to get them out? Are they better than the student women? in these lines, student women are more important than other women.

Law Bulletins Issued

A new law bulletin has just been published. It contains an article by R. C. Humble, a professor of "A Treatise on the Philosophy of Freedom," and to those that are interested in war time relief work to these patriots.

LAW PROFS HELPED ANSWER QUESTIONS

Professors Wilson and Goodrich Helped Fill Out Questionnaire—

during the vacation Prof. K. F. Goodrich and Prof. E. A. Wilson both professors in the College of Law, helped fill out questionnaires. It was the opinion of both of these men that the questionnaires were a set of well-stated questions, and that from them might be gained information concerning the condition of the University and the professional standing of American lawyers. One legal adviser is quoted as stating:

Prof. E. A. Wilson said that which attracted his attention most in filling out these blanks was the difference in the production of the farm. He did not attribute this to the fertility of the soil but rather to the grade of farmers. Given the same opportunities he said that very often the income would be remarkably different.

"In two cases" Prof. Wilson told "I found there was need of legal knowledge in filling out the blanks." Prof. Goodrich was also of the opinion that legal knowledge was not so much needed as a well rounded human knowledge.

LEACOCK CALLS HUMOR HARD WORK

Famous Humorist Head of Economics at McGill University.

Few people who have heard of Stephen Leacock, the famous humorist who is to speak at the University Monday night, January 16th at the natural science auditorium, identify him as the Stephen Leacock, head of the department of economics and political science of McGill University. Though he has written several books on political science, one of which, "Elements of Political Science," is used as a textbook in the University, it is for his humorous articles that he is known.

Speaking of his works of satire, Mr. Leacock says:

"Many of my friends are under the impression that I write these humorous anecdotes in idle moments when an urgent business is unable to perform the serious labor of the economy, my only experience is surely the other way. The writing of such informative stuff for bits and figures is easy enough, there is no trouble in writing a scientific treatise on the folk lore of central Asia or a statistical inquiry into the declining population of Prime Edward Island. But to write something out of one's own self a work reading for its own sake is an enjoyable continuous one to be of service in unceasing moments five and as far as, of course, personally I would sooner have written "Alice in Wonderland" than the Encyclopaedia Britannica."

WHEN A MAN SEES RED

What is the Liberty motor? Is in Germany succeeding in her branch of industry? My own experience is that very often the opinion of both of these men that the questionnaires were a set of well-stated questions, and that from them might be gained information concerning the condition of the University and the professional standing of American lawyers. FRESHMAN FOOTBALL MEN HONORED

Twenty-five men of the freshman football team was recommeded for freshman honors by Coach Barron, the mentor who coached the second string scrubs last fall. The F.I.L. has been passed and approved by Coach Edward Jones.

That each member recommended will receive a numeral. In general, it is dependent upon the scholastic record he maintained during the first semester, for the recommendation letter has expressed the decision that no man shall receive a numeral unless he proves his first semester work the material will accompany a letter.

The numerals are awarded by the athletic board as a token of appreciation for the work they have done during the gridiron season, for it is known that without the unselfish efforts in the past season;

All three men have grinded a knowledge of the opportune shot point in the game and have been locating the zone with a degree of accuracy the past few days in practice. Olsen will start at center. His "work in the last contest will not be remembered by the Wisconsin five and he will be subject to close scrutiny.

Wisconsin has set out to establish a record in the Big Ten conference. She has been successful in drawing all opponents to the present date. She has won from several smaller colleges in her own state and has defeated Marquette in a majority of one point, January 6th, she defeated Northwestern by a margin of 141 points.
