CARAY ON ART.
In this day of urgent strain we find ourselves continually attached to the artful interest. The "art" of the artful is not to be viewed with all their might at the logic of our most eloquent and artistic thinking. They remain in the realm of the world and a part of our victory shall be in the direction of the west and in the battle's edge, believing Greece to remiss once any of the art and art manifestations which are so important in this whole field.

But in this country and in this activity the artful and the artful art has been less interesting and less profound. However, we require to view our attention on our friends in Europe, our future, and a thousand other things related to the war, long enough to do our duty to the literary work of the drama, forevermore, and the like. Our duty is to keep the University up to its usual standards of these fields.

Women's readers have been our holding on this subject. Literary societies, men's and women's, in this year's issue, as for times has been little done in drama, but is said there will be most interesting activity in this art during the second semester. The debated season in American literary circles was mentioned and the various platform squares between the different arts; literary societies lied for us to these of former years.

Women's readers this year are particularly gratifying. The literary societies have played their usual part in the life of the university and the women's forensic league has snapped up a program which exceeds all former years. As proof of the increased emphasis on forensics for the women's of the University, we may cite the registration for the speakers' contest to be held in natural science auditorium Tuesday night which is the largest of the past several years.

The Daily Iowan comments this event to its readers as a means of keeping up our interest in the speakers, in the held in the natural science hall at 7:30 Tuesday evening students should attend if it is possible.

THE MAN WHO COMES LATE.
If you belong to any organization, if it is dramatic club, class club, or literary society, let me mention this, the man who comes late. He broods troubles wherever he goes and you encounter him all the time.

Next to squires and professors who hold their classes overtime, this pest has probably compiled more

STUDENT HEALTH IS GOOD, SAYS GRAHAM

Measles and Typhoid Cases No Cause for Alarm—Need Not Fear Influenza Milk.

“The student’s health is unusually good for this time of year,” according to Dr. W. T. Graham, superintendent of the University hospital, with such a large number of persons going into the various communities and being continually exposed while away there is usually a large number of students who are liable to catch anything.

There is no ground for alarm because of the few cases of measles and typhoid that have recently developed, he declared. For the size of the school there are exceptionally few cases that have come to the hospitals during the past week. There is always danger of eating uncooked foods so no more now than at any other time.

In regard to the statement made by a woman in one of our local hotels during the past week suggesting that milk be avoided because of typhoid, Dr. Graham states that this research was probably assigned by the extra cost, as any public eating house would not feel justified in handling questionable food.

AVIATION SERVICE HAS LOST ROMANTIC FEATURES

Attentive readers of the war news must have noticed that the dispatches describing the work of the aviators on the various fronts no longer feed us any better than the man in a wheat field, and the flying machines, to say nothing of the aviators these days, are more reminiscent of the atmosphere of a yearling schoolboy.
