MEN'S GYMNASIUM TO SAVE OIL

Swimming Pool Will Not Be Used While Coal Weather Lasts.

Complying with the government's request to save all possible fuel during the war, the swimming pool at the men's gymnasium has been closed. The appropriate authorities have introduced several new methods which are being opened to keep the men healthy and its routine. The swim take immediate effect. Under the new plan, the swimming pool will be closed until cold weather. The lights will be turned off at the buildings at six o'clock and the building will be closed at that time. BOARD OF DEANS DECIDES TO CUT HEATING PERIOD

Forced to Take Action by the Coal Situation—Rock Island Con- soled Shipment.

Reduction of the amount of heat is one issue which many of the University builders were decided upon by the Board of Deans meeting earlier this week, according to the war's necessities, as a means of conserving the coal supply. The main reduction is to be made in the amount of heat by shutting off the heat in the last few hours of the day. The Board of Deans held Friday afternoon the conference on the coal shortage and the country, the University, and the individuals of the consumo. It was agreed that in the future, the country was the most important, and that the University was the second in importance. The Board of Deans has decided to make the reductions in accordance with the above agreement. It was also decided that the country should curtail still further its consumption of coal. The main reduction will be made in the University, and the reduction will be made in the amount of heat supplied to the buildings. THE COLLEGE GYMNASTICS AND THE WAR

By Herbert Bower

(United States Food Administrator)

To the college men of America I address myself with confidence, a challenge born of understanding with the purpose of service. In the relief of Belgium, most of the actual work of the Committee of Public Safety was done by young American college men. Each time a call was made for volunteers many took up the challenge. The country needs men and every man has a part to play. SPACED time to the country and the world.

Prepare for Service.

Finally, to both lower and upper classes, to the great army of American college and university graduates, to the world over. The country looks to you for the justification of the advantages it has given or for the present, and for your ability to stand up for the principles of the United States of America. The programs were in the color of the class. They were of green leather with the words "Freshman Party" and "Fresmaxs" stamped on them. The names of the class officers and the members of the committee were written on the covers. There were no Extravagant and no favors.

Most graduates made use of the gallery to watch the affair on the floor. The champagne was Capt. and Mrs. Wright and Dean Hines and Mrs. Evans.

"The following arrangements have been made by the Board of Deans:"

1. To reduce the heated area in such buildings, as far as possible.
2. To reduce the heating day, in such buildings, as far as conditions would permit, by shutting off the heat in the late afternoon and evening.
3. To reduce the length of the heating period on such buildings Friday evening and most of the other Saturday evening. In de- pite of these arrangements, the Board of Deans has not made any recommendations for the reduction of heat in the buildings.

COLLEGE STUDENTS

AND THE WAR

The popular view is too self-centered, too selfish—to see an ugly word. It does not look across the sea. The backwash of Europe’s misery does not carry our shame. We do not know, and hence cannot feel, the pain of hunger, and pain of fright or weakness that are everywhere in Europe. They are pains felt by our allies as well as by our foes. We must make this known to all our people, that all our people may understand the great and indispensable immediate role they must play in this all-important part of the war situation. You who can readily understand, write to the Editor.

Spend the Gospel.

You can improve the people around you, and wherever you go be sure that the critical phase of the world food problem is now be cushioning of high or low prices, but the question of producing and selling and supplying enough food to our Allies to keep them alive and strong and conduct the war. The critical question now is this is the question of actual physical strength of the fighting nations.

You can understand it, and you can explain it. You must be able to explain to all the people of this country that our Allies depend absolutely on us to maintain their food supply. They themselves, simply cannot do it. It is not done for the Allies by the end of the war, and it is a sad end, an inescapable but end. Even every American college must be country expects the trustiest do—men, the greatest patriotism of the work done, and the highest service. And it will go in. You will give it.
