FOOTBALL PRACTICE BEGINS SUNDAY

What about next year's football teams?

The first spring practice has been scheduled for next Monday. It has been hoped that the season will begin as soon as the snow is off the field.

The first practice will be held only on Saturdays, but as soon as the weather improves, outdoor work will commence. Instruction will be given in first, second, and third team play will be given at first, with signal work following later.

TRACK MEN TO AMES FOR INDOOR MEET

Coach Watson Urges All Men Who Are Interested To Report At Once.

Track team candidates worked with renewed vigor last night, after they had heard Dr. Lovejoy give a talk on the preparation of the team for the coming season. During the early part of the season, Ames had held the lead over Iowa in all games, and it was felt that the team would stand no chance of competing against the Hawkeyes. However, with the renewed effort, the team members have been working hard to prepare for the coming season.

The progress being made by the team is remarkable, and it is amazing to see the transformation that has taken place. The team members are working hard to improve their skills and are determined to compete against the Hawkeyes.

The program of athletic events will include running, jumping, and throwing. The team will be working on improving their skills in these events, and they hope to compete against the Hawkeyes in the coming season.

The team members are determined to put in their best efforts and to compete against the Hawkeyes. They are working hard to improve their skills and to be ready for the coming season.

WRITES BOOK "PREVIOUS CLAIMS"

Dr. Lovejoy has been busy writing a book called "Previous Claims." This book is about the history of the university and its development over the years. The book covers the university's early history, its growth, and its current status.

Dr. Lovejoy says, "I have been working on this book for many years, and I am proud to say that it is finally finished. The book covers the university's history, from its early beginnings to the present day. It is a comprehensive overview of the university's development, and I hope that it will be of interest to everyone who cares about the university's history."

The book will be published soon, and it will be available for purchase at the university bookstore and online.

NEW BOOKS AT LIBRARY

New books in the Library now:

Among the novels are several interesting classics, including "The Valley of Destiny," by Edith Wharton; "Myth of the Sphinx," by Katherine Mansfield; translated from the Russian; "Life and Adventures of the Original Jack, the Flashy Jack," by Cats; and "The Four Thieves.

They say they enjoy:

Isolation has its joys as well as sorrows. True you are awakened at five o'clock in the morning to take your appointment of 3000, and your competitor behind the counter may yap, get no smokes except glass cigarettes, and discover that you are expected in a 1000-watt room to touch the door or washstand for a period of from four to six weeks, although you may register 9 to 1 degrees for two days and lie normal the rest of the period. But in time you grow accustomed to these circumstances. You no longer grumble at the early waking hours because you have all day to sleep. No questions need be sprung: tests oxidant. You discover that in time you can drink your head out and still get several books companions in the same situation as yourself.

You discuss the styles of smoke stranded by the institution, the war, and at last call out on the heads of the city madness at the far end of the tail and carry on a lengthy discussion—at least half a block long. True you have a vote that would shake the average foot, and all crowd and are occasionally incongruous by the ones of a fancy hat with chins, but it is all to the best.

You decide that the evenings are altogether and after a few o’clock supper, as you suggest is the eastern range and pulls past the spires three stories above, and they stop to listen to the "10 Cents." You help to compose an orchestra reinforced by the ladies, in the case that the fortunate ones who have music are dancing.

About eight o’clock you begin to feel hungry. The most powerfully tarred ink the others, and the ban service from hotel to twenty twenties. The nurses go in on this in the center, and the invited guests serve a hensendon. When all is over you get under with the happy feeling that isolation is one long happy time.
