HAWKEYES TRAMPLE ON MAROON QUINTET IN LAST HOME GAME

Berrien, Brown and the Visiting Center Divide Honors—Coach Praises Watson's Work.

CALLED BEST HOME GAME OF SEASON

Five Minute Extra Period Required to Take Measure of Midway Team. Score 29 to 26.

In what was undoubtedly the fastest game played on the home floor this year and which was one of the fastest contests ever seen locally, the Hawkeye basketball team won their last home game from a giant five from Chicago by the score of 29 to 26. A five minute extra period was required, however, for at the final whistle of the regular period the score stood 25 all. The largest crowd of the season attended last night's game.

The fray was replete with sensational playing on both sides from the beginning to end, and from the standpoint of the spectator was a perfect game. Time and again Iowa would forge ahead one or two baskets only to be overtaken and surpassed by the lean visitors from the Midway. At no time was there more than four points difference in the score. The first half ended with a tie score, 18 to 18.

Chicago began the scoring by way of the foul line and followed with a basket from the field. Iowa began scoring at this time by both the easy and the hard routes and the first half see-sawed back and forth until the whistle closed the hostilities temporarily with the score tied. The free throwing of Cotton and Gorgas during first half was one of the features. Only one miss was charged up against the two performers.

Iowa came back in the second half with a new fight and piled up a three point lead which was soon destroyed by the Midwayites. To a remarkably large extent the second half was a reprint of the first period, excepting that the guarding was perhaps a little more intensive and the metronome registered an even faster rate of action. Cotton failed three times from the foul line in succession but his passing and team play had lost nothing. Brigham was inserted for Jenkins during the last moments and celebrated his entry to the game by caging an uncanny basket from out of a sea of hands directly under the north basket.

Cotton opened the final period with a beautiful long shot for a basket and Berrien followed with another to tie up the game, his fourth one of the evening. Berrien undoubtedly played the best game he has ever played on the local court and he must be given great credit for his performance. To be successful any basketball team must have a man who will "ride the ball" incessantly. This was the role which Cliff Berrien played last night in faultless fashion and to make his part stronger, just for fun, he whirled the ball through the hoop for eight points.

Brown too played a game which must be counted on when sports critics go to select their mythical five. While holding his opponent to 2 field goals, he himself rolled in the (Continued on page 4.)

CROSS SPEAKS TO SOCIOLOGY CLASS

National Social Workers Secretary A University Visitor.

Wm. C. Cross, secretary of the National Conference of Social Workers of Chicago, spoke before Prof. F. E. Haynes' class in "Crime" on "Some Aspects of Crime" Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock. At 9 o'clock he spoke to Prof. C. S. Chase's class in "Principles of Sociology" on the topic "The War and Social Problems."

Mr. Cross has been for some time the secretary of this national conference, which up to last year was called the Conference of Charities and Corrections. He spoke before the state conference of social workers of Nebraska a few days before coming here. His talks have been mainly in the interests of the annual meeting of the national conference which is to be held in Kansas next May.

MILITARY PROGRAM TO CHARACTERIZE FOUNDATION DAY

Classes Will Be Suspended for Two Hours While Students Celebrate Birthday.

FORMER DEAN IS MAIN SPEAKER

Soldiers, Band, and Glee Club to Make Morning's Program Live and Interesting.

All University classes will be postponed from 10 to 12 o'clock tomorrow morning during the Foundation day exercises. At 10 o'clock there will be a University assembly in the natural science auditorium to celebrate the seventy-first anniversary of the founding of the school. The custom was instituted last year for the first time and will be constituted as an annual feature hereafter.

Pres. Leanas G. Weld of Pullman Institute, Chicago, has been secured by the committee in charge to make an address at the meeting this year. President Weld was formerly closely connected with the University as professor of mathematics and dean of liberal arts and the graduate colleges. Capt. Percy Bordwell and Prof. Arthur C. Trowbridge are also to speak, coming from Camp Dodge upon invitation of the University. The visiting speakers will be entertained by the Iowa City Commercial club for luncheon Monday noon.

"Iowa and War" is the theme of the day's exercises. Dr. George F. Kay, dean of the college of liberal arts, will preside and the following program will be carried out:

- "Hungarian fantasia" (Tobani)—The University Band.
 - Historical Review—Benj. F. Shambaugh.
 - "The Trumpeters"—The Men's Glee Club.
 - Address—Pres. Leanas G. Weld, Pullman Institute.
 - "Overture to Martha" (Flotow)—The University Band.
 - Viewpoint of the Soldier—Capt. Percy Bordwell.
 - Viewpoint of Y. M. C. A.—Arthur C. Trowbridge.
 - "Today's Opportunity"—President Jessup.
 - "Old Gold"—The Audience.
- The military spirit will be further carried out in the decorations by profuse use of flags.

IOWA'S WAR FLAG ON DISPLAY AT 71ST ANNIVERSARY OF UNIVERSITY

New State Emblem Will Be Shown in Iowa City for First Time—Other Eight Flags of This Pattern Are in Army Camps and France—Mrs. H. J. Prentiss Was Chairman of D. A. R. Committee That Planned Flag and Solicited Funds for Its Distribution Among Iowa's Soldiers—Will Probably Be Made Official State Flag After War.

One of the features of the Foundation day exercises to be held in natural science auditorium tomorrow morning will be the first appearance of Iowa's new war flag in the state. Two of them, along with the University's giant service flag, will be given prominent places in the elaborate scheme of decoration. The first eight emblems manufactured were presented by Governor Harding to Iowa soldiers at Camp Cody a short time before Christmas and at least one of them is in France today. The two which will be seen here tomorrow are the first sold to parties within the state.

Around this flag is women an interesting story in which the University is rather intimately connected. This emblem is a creation of the Iowa society of the Daughters of the American Revolution and is aimed to identify Iowa troops wherever they may be found. Mrs. H. J. Prentiss, wife of Dr. Prentiss of the college of medicine, is chairman of the flag committee of that organization and is in a large measure responsible for the flag. It was designed, however, by Mrs. Dixie Gebhardt of Knoxville, regent of the Iowa society.

Iowa Has No Flag.

The movement was begun a year or two ago and the design was presented to the Iowa council of defense and formally accepted May 11, 1917. Since that time Mrs. Prentiss has headed a campaign within the state for the raising of $1,000, which has been necessary to carry forward the plans of distribution of the new flags among Iowa's fighting bodies. Anin and Company of New York City have been granted the sole right to manufacture the flag and a patent has been taken out by the state.

While the flag has only the status of "war flag" today, it is believed that the state authorities will see fit later to make it the official emblem of the state both in war and in peace times. It embodies a part of the Great Iowa seal and the state motto and other features which make it particularly well adapted to serve as a state flag. Iowa, according to Mrs. Prentiss, is the only state in the Union which is without some sort of emblem like the one which the Daughters of the Revolution would see placed in use here.

Lillian Prentiss Makes Sketch.

The cut of the flag which is being printed in The Daily Iowan today was sketched from the original flag by Miss Lillian Prentiss, daughter of Mrs. H. J. Prentiss. The three great bars are blue, white, and red respectively, the colors of the French Republic. These colors are recalled to typify the origin of the state in the Louisiana territory. The eagle in the central bar is taken from the Great Seal of the state and the words printed on the ribbon suspended from the beak of the eagle constitute the state motto. The word I O W A is in red letters to typify the sacrifices made by Iowa representatives in the war.

MARCH LAW BULLETIN IS OUT

The March number of the Iowa Law bulletin is now in the hands of the printer. The third and concluding installment of Prof. R. M. Perkins' article "Limitations of the Carrier's Liability" is a special feature of this issue. This installment deals with the restoration of the liability by modern statutes.

DENTAL BUILDING IS DEDICATED IN FORMAL MEETING

Prominent Dentists Gather for Dedicatory Exercises of Hall of Dentistry.

MEMBER OF BOARD PRESENTS KEYS

Delegates of Learned Societies Give Greetings—Many Dentists Attend.

Iowa's $200,000 Dental building was dedicated at a beautiful and inspiring service with an assembly of prominent dentists from all over the country Friday afternoon in the natural science auditorium. The decorations were of a patriotic nature in keeping with the spirit of the day.

Following the singing of the national hymn, the Hon. D. D. Murphy of Elkader, president of the Iowa State Board of Education presented the keys of the building to President Walter A. Jessup. He finished with these words, "It is with pleasure that I turn over the keys of this new building to you, the executive of this great institution. The state of Iowa is confident that dental science will be brought to its highest point in the State University of Iowa, and that the graduates of this institution will always reflect honor upon it."

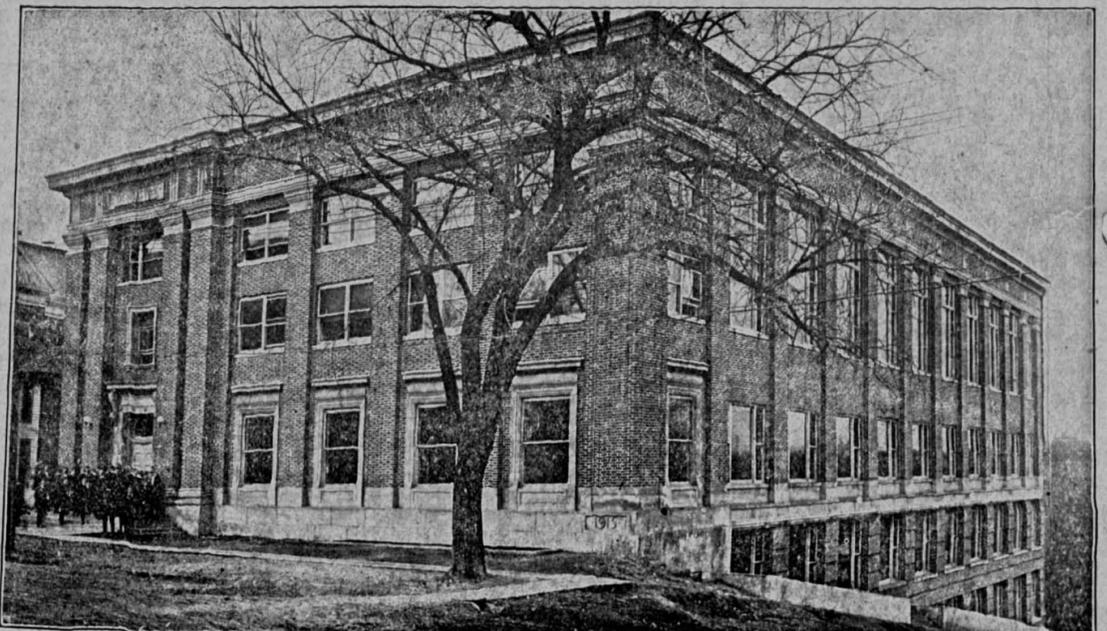

Sketches History of College.

President Jessup accepted the keys with a few well chosen words. He briefly outlined the history of the dental college at S. U. I. He told how dental classes were first held in the basement of the Old South hall in the year of the installation of dentistry in 1882. The first class was graduated after four months of training with a class role of eight. After this President Jessup turned over the keys to Dean F. T. Breene. Dean Breene spoke of the appreciation on the part of both the students and the faculty to the state of Iowa for the well equipped building. He thanked all the loyal alumni who had used their influence in obtaining it.

OUR UNIVERSITY

The State University of Iowa will be seventy-one years old tomorrow. Born of the pioneers' love of education for the common man, the University stands today as one of the finest symbols of America's belief in democracy.

The founders of the University have long since all passed away, but the institution lives on. Its spirit is the essence of the loyalty, devotion, and affection of the men and women who studied and taught in its halls in years gone by.

How then may we fittingly observe the birthday of the University? By pledging ourselves, both now and in the future years, to an earnest endeavor to carry forward the ideals for which they perpetuated and their vision brought nearer to realization.

COLLEGE PRESS CONVENTION

The Iowa College Press association will hold its second annual convention at Cedar Rapids March 8 and 9. Because of the close proximity of the Parlor City, this institution should have the greatest representation of any college in the state. Last year the meeting was held at Colfax and Ames led in the number of delegates. Our sister institution is openly making efforts to duplicate the feat this year.

Practically every member of The Daily Iowan's staff will attend at least a part of the two-day program but the University's representation is by no means limited to this group. Anyone who is interested in journalism in any way will be welcomed, without regard to whether or not he is now actively engaged in it. In fact, there should be a large number of such persons here.

Between now and March 8 the Iowan will carry items describing the program to be given at this convention. We have already enough information to assure students that it will be highly worth while. We ask you who have even so much as a passing interest in journalism as a profession to leave open the two days for a profitable visit in our neighboring city.

BETTER LIBRARY SERVICE

The insistence that the books most used by students shall be returned to the library by 8 o'clock in the morning, excepting Saturday when the time limit is an half hour later, often occasions considerable inconvenience.

The library opens at 10 minutes to 8, leaving a period of only 10 minutes for the return of the borrowed articles. Often students take out a book at the time of the library's closing and use it in another University building which does not close so early. They would like to return it the same evening and not be obliged to visit the library the following morning. And again a student may wish to return a book in the morning earlier than the ten-minute period before 8 o'clock. In either case the students' hands are tied.

A simple solution to the situation would be to have a slot in the door or a box near one of the entrances. In these places books could be deposited at any time and with no great amount of trouble for the librarians. In general the library service at the University is worthy of praise, but because of the numerous complaints about this particular item, The Daily Iowan believes that the suggestion made here would enable the library to give even better service.

AN UNCROWDED FIELD.

One of the most needed fixtures on the campus is a typewriter doctor. We are virtually without such an individual at the present time and the considerable-sized group of click-clickers sprinkled about in the various offices in the twenty-five or thirty buildings which make up the University are becoming terribly diseased.

Consumption, broken arms, tooth-ache, melancholia, pip, and a constitutional run-down due to over-work are a few of the ailments which the Iowan editor has diagnosed in our own eight machines, and a very much wider assortment of troubles could doubtless be found by wiser heads. If it's a disease, our typewriters have it. The office ought to be quarantined, as a matter of fact.

And the sad part of it all is that we can't locate anybody who will attempt to remedy conditions. We have called on everyone whom we even suspected had ever taken a typewriter apart, without inquiring whether he got it back together or not. Sometimes they promised us they would be over the next day, but come they never did. Our typewriters are crying out in distress this very moment and we're going to call in a blacksmith in a day or two in our desperation.

Horace Greeley said: "Go west, young man! Go west!" We say: "Stay here, young man! Become a typewriter physician!" It's certainly a grand profession for a man with a monkey wrench.

CONTEMPORARY OPINION

THE WORK THAT BROADENS.

(Daily Princetonian)
If it should be asked wherein the undergraduates, failed most signally in availing themselves of their opportunities, it would be said probably that it was in the field of general cultural and educational advantages offered by the university, rather than merely in that of curriculum. Lectures on all kinds of topics are held during the year, and by attendance at these lectures, the undergraduates could acquire much general knowledge. The library is open to all, but it is not used nearly so much as it should be.

The purpose in coming to college is not merely to learn a few dates, or a few subjects. Those studied here will probably be of little direct value in the future. The purpose in studying them is rather to acquire a broader outlook upon life to fit one for future tasks.

SMILE!

(Scarlet and Black, Grinnell)
The war cannot be won by gloom. Enthusiasm, good nature and fight are what are counting in America's preparation for service in France.

It is a mistake to think that social events in England and Canada are overserious and oversedate during the war. Having become convinced that a certain amount of social life is desirable and useful in keeping the people all working to "win the war," these countries are giving special attention to the affairs they do have.

ARE KIDS A NUISANCE?

Are kids a nuisance? "T" who asserts that they are should look back with a kind eye over his own childhood. What is the dignity of a "stove-pipe" hat or a college campus to a child? Why not be thankful that they can, at one time in their life, get out without care or dignity, hoot, snow-ball and play about the campus. If need be, the students can in self defense stoop and pick up a hand-full of snow themselves and return the gentle greeting of the snow-ball. However, that would be very undignified!

Over in the University hospital, the little children stand by the windows, or are strapped down upon their beds, wishing that they could be out of doors and play, and yet they are contented to roll marbles around on the floor.

Why coop the children up in a yard for a playground, for even there, an occasional snow-ball may find its way to the prohibited campus?

Dr. Kremer, who has been on the faculty of the dental college of the University of Minnesota, considers the new building the finest structure devoted solely to the purpose of the teaching of dentistry in the United States, and therefore in the whole world. "The only one which can in any way approach it is the Evans Institute at Philadelphia, which is larger but is incomparable in equipment and fitness." Dr. Kremer's opinions are the same as those expressed by the guests at the convention.

RECONSTRUCTION IS THEME OF DR. WARD

Boston Sociologist Gives Several Talks on Social Conditions in America.

"The biggest problem to face us after the war is that of social reconstruction," said Dr. H. F. Ward in a lecture before a representative student group at Close hall, Friday morning.

Dr. Ward used Russia as an example of social oppression. He showed that social conditions in the United States had become worse since the outbreak of the war, that the number of millionaires were increasing and paupers were multiplying at a still faster rate. He urged the college students, the future leaders of the United States, to organize in groups to study these social problems to avoid a social revolution in America like that of Russia.

Dr. Ward also spoke to about forty representatives of the churches and University faculty at the commercial club rooms Friday noon.

A temporary committee was appointed by Prof. G. W. Stewart, chairman of the meeting, to consider University participation in the group student movement. The committee was composed of Dr. E. D. Starbuck, Dean G. F. Kay, Advisor R. E. Rienow, Secretary Simmer of the Y. M. C. A., and Miss Mary Andersen.

DENTAL BUILDING IS ADMIRIED BY VISITORS

Minnesota Professor and Graduate of Iowa Declares it Finest in the Country.

"The people of Iowa City and of the state can pat themselves on the back as hard as they please for they have the best building with the finest equipment in the most ideal arrangement that I ever have seen," is what Dr. Frederick D. Kremer of Minneapolis said of the dental building yesterday. Dr. Kremer was graduated from the college of dentistry in 1890 and was one of the 350 dentists in attendance at the clinic yesterday morning.

LOST--A BAG OF GOLD

On Saturday, December 1st, Katherine Foley, an employe of the Nevens Company, Minneapolis, lost the results of years of labor.

For three years she had carried in her pocket a bag of $20, $10 and $5 gold pieces.

"I was afraid to put it in the bank," she told the police.

If, three years ago she had invested it in "First National" Certificates of Deposit she would have had today, in addition to the original $735, a tidy sum of accrued interest due and payable upon demand.

same number and was a contributing factor in several more. Olson played against one of the best men Iowa sports followers have seen this year and he probably gave him as much worry as any center in the conference would give him. The mighty Gorgas is credited with only two field goals, but his record from the foul line is 8 out of twelve, which means that he was responsible for almost half of the visitors' total score. Berrien, Brown, and Gorgas must share honors about equally. "Sixty per cent of the strength of the Iowa team may properly be attributed to Jack Watson and his eficiency in conditioning men," Coach Maury Kent declared last night when interviewed after the last game. "We have had a fairly successful season and I want Iowa students to know that Jack Watson is the factor which has made the Iowa team come back in the second half of every game we have played and play our opponents off their feet."

In the curtain raiser, played before the game and during the intermission between halves, the freshmen defeated by one point margin a pick-up team composed of Kerwick, Chehak, Synhorst, Doornink, and Worth.

The box score of the game follows:
