You can't keep up with the University unless you read THE DAILY IOWAN. The Iowan reporters tell you about all that is going on. No one person can get all the news.

You ought to have your own copy every morning. Then after you read it, send it on to your friend in the army—or still better, do the job up right and subscribe for an extra copy for him.

It's easy

and cheap to subscribe for the rest of the year. You cannot spend money more profitably than to subscribe for the Daily Iowan.

University Botanist shows State's

orest system for trees

Although Iowa is not covered by forest state there are in the neighborhood of a hundred different kinds of native trees, according to Prof. Robert H. Travis, head of the department of botany. He has made an extensive study of the trees and shrubs in every county in the state and is now preparing a book with classification and data on the whole.

Among the native trees which the University botanist has observed are the following: 17 kinds of oaks; 2 of them being oaks: 14 willows; 5 or 6 of them willow shrubs; 8 maple including 1 shrub; 5 ashes; 6 birches; 10 or 13 hawthorns; 4 cottonwoods; 3 elms; 2 ironwoods; 2 walnuts; 1 sycamore; 5 elms; 1 or 2 hackberry; 1 alder; 1 oak; 4 juniper; 3 shrubs and 1 tree; 1 peach; 4 cherries; 1 plum; 4 locusts; 1 hazelnut; 4 Hawthorns; 5 alder shrubs and 3 slender trees; 1 mulberry; 3 buckbrush; 1 red cedar; 1 white pine; 1 basswood; 1 sycamore; 1 buckthorn; 1 blister root. The last three are usually shrubs but sometimes they are small trees.

There is no more difficulty in drawing the line between trees and shrubs; many genera and species appear in both forms. The University botanist declares that not one in a thousand has anything like an adequate ability in the identification of trees.

NOW THEY SPOT THE DISEASES

Pins inserted in Map of As for Cause of Contagious Diseases.

To make possible a close watch on the health of the state, Iowa's state epidemiologist at the University maintains maps of the state with black-headed pins pasted in every point where there is a case of any communicable disease. Whenever an examination is made and the specimen shows that the patient from whom it came is afflicted with typhoid fever or dysentery, it is stuck in the map at a place corresponding to the location of the patient.

This system enables Dr. J. H. Hamilton, the state epidemiologist, to tell at a glance in what portion of the state the disease is spreading as most prevalent. When a certain portion of the map becomes unusually black, it indicates that effort must be expended to check or stamp out the disease. It also enables the epidemiologist to answer more accurately the many questions which come in from doctors and health officers regarding certain communicable diseases in their locality or surrounding territory.

Gladys Whinfried and Ethel Black spent the week visiting Albion and Fort Dodge, respectively. Victoria Walter spent the week at her home in Tipton.
