FLOWERS FOR PROM ON BLABKLIST, SAY MEN ON COMMITTEE

Girl Who Dares Wear Boquet Will Be Mighty Unpopular at the Big "Wartime Formal."

TICKET SALE BEATS EXPECTATIONS

President and Mrs. Jessup, R. E. Rienow and Mrs. Evans, Coach Jones and Wife Chaperons.

The girl who is so indiscreet as to wear flowers at the junior prom held at the armory Friday evening, March 22, is certainly going to be frowned on, a member of the junior prom committee declared yesterday. "We intend," he said, "to make this one of the most successful parties in the history of junior proms, but it's going to be a wartime party and flowers are absolutely banned."

The rapid sale of tickets has been a surprise to even the committeemen themselves and they believe the maximum limit of 150 copies will be reached in a very short time. The tickets have been in the hands of the members of the committee so far and will perhaps not be placed on sale at Whetstone's and other places because of the speed with which the desired number is being approached.

Japanese Decorations

The decorations and programs will be of Japanese design. The latter are of silk with a pretty oriental design. The persons in charge of the biggest of class dances are planning to make the decorations on par with other years by devoting more work on them themselves, thus eliminating the expense of hiring laborers to aid the decorator.

The Schubert orchestra of Washington, well known in southeastern Iowa, has been engaged to furnish the music. This musical organization is said to possess one of the best programs of the newest pieces of any orchestra in the state. This is the first time that it has been engaged for a University dance.

Profits to Red Cross

The list of chaperons as given out by the committee yesterday is as follows: President and Mrs. W. A. Jessup, Prof. R. E. Rienow and Mrs. Evans, Coach and Mrs. Howard Jones.

All profits from the function, and it is anticipated that there will be a neat little sum, will be turned over by the committee to the Red Cross. Persons who have not already purchased tickets are advised by the committee in charge to see any of the members as soon as possible for the maximum limit is likely to be reached within a day or two.

The committee it made up as follows: Everett Raymond, chairman, George Scanlon, Winifred Arrasmith, J. Mel Hickerson, Harold L. Thompson, Jack V. Treynor, Harold Stoner, Clifton Cooper (now in service), Harry Gross, Glenn Cutter, Kenneth Kinney, Ed Rate, Homer Brown, Erwin Naeckel.

CRIPPLED KIDS HAVE MEASLES

The school for the crippled children at the University hospital has been closed temporarily on account of the measles. The girls have been quarantined at the isolation hospital for the past two weeks, and now the boys are quarantined in their own rooms.

WILL REPRESENT IOWA AT AMES INDOOR MEET

According to a statement from Coach Watson, the following men will represent Iowa at the quadrangular indoor meet at Ames Saturday, having been successful in the try-outs:

Justin and Younkin—40 yard dash.
Younkin and Paige—low hurdles.
Prudhon and Martin—half mile.
Marasco and Feldman—Mile.
Windsor and Voege—high jump.
Nugent and Taylor—broad jump.
Taylor and Bailey—pole vault.
Machmar—shot put.
Valentine—two mile.

MEN ARE NEEDED FOR Y. M. C. A. WORK

Dean G. F. Kay on Committee to Secure Men for Service at Home and Abroad.

Dean G. F. Kay has recently been appointed as a member of the recruiting committee to secure men for the Y. M. C. A. service abroad and for association work at home.

The need for men, real men, men who are ready to put their hearts in ot the work has never been greater. The demand is growing day by day. One thousand men must be secured at once for army service in France and Italy. For the next five months this state has been asked to provide at least twenty-five men each month for the overseas service.

The variety of positions open is encouraging. A man can enter the "Y" service and practically continue the work he has been doing prior to his enlistment with the Y. M. C. A., at least he can continue in the same line of work. Men are needed for secretaries, mechanics, canteen managers, accountants, religious directors, comptrollers, chauffeurs, physical directors, contractors, store keepers, moving picture operators, etc. The list of positions open are practically inexhaustible.

For women, the field is not so large but the need is pressing. The French army, the English army, and the Italian army, are all calling for workers. Any man or woman who is considering "Y" work, or who is terested in any way in it, should see Dean Kay and talk with him.

GIRLS SPEND AFTERNOONS WORKING FOR RED CROSS

Sixteen girls reported for Red Cross work at the home economics Red Cross room last Friday. Last week showed a promising increase in the number of girls and faculty women who appeared to make bandages for our soldiers in France. From eight to sixteen spent some time each afternoon last week. Two girls of the home economics department take charge and instruct in the making of various bandages. Any one can learn in a moment.

DIRECTORS' NAMES OMITTED

In the item about the last day of the Iowa college press convention at Cedar Rapids the list of directors for the coming years was omitted. They are Harry O'Brien of Ames, instructor in journalism, Rollin Baird of Cornell, Donald White of Beuna Vista, and Willard Osinkup of Grinnell. They, together with the president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer, constitute the executive comtee.

ENGINEERS ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR ANNUAL MECCA CELEBRATION

Parade to be Given Saturday, Followed By Exhibition Given in Engineering Building.

BANQUET AT JEFFERSON NEXT TUES.

"Hawkeye Follies" Musical Comedy—Joe O'Donnell Stars As Leading Lady

The engineers will begin their ninth annual Mecca day celebration with a parade Saturday afternoon at one o'clock. This will consist of from twenty-five to thirty students which the committee in charge believe to be up to the standard of the yearly parade.

Following the parade the engineering building will be open for exhibition and inspection. There will be guides to conduct visitors through the building and to explain the many exhibitions. Chemical and electrical stunts will be features of interest.

The Mecca Day banquet will be given at the Jefferson Monday, March 18. W. D. Yager, president of the Associated Students of Applied Science will act as toastmaster. Among the speakers of the evening will be Prof. B. Shimek, Prof. W. G. Raymond, Prof. H. L. Dodge.

Comedy Written by Student

"The Hawkeye Follies," a musical comedy written by Milton Mehl, sophomore engineer will be given at the Englert Tuesday, March 19. Joe O'Donnell will star in the role of Helen Carson, leading lady. Raymond Justen will be the beautiful and charming Margaret. Robert Dunham will be the captivating hero, the famed foot-ball star of S. U. I., who wins the heart o fthe fair Helen against her cruel father's will. A "Girls'" chorus of ten voices will entertain the audience with specimens of their beautiful voices.

The Mecca week will be brought to a close with the all-engineers' dance at Company A Friday, March 22. Dean and Mrs. W. G. Raymond and Prof. and Mrs. F. E. Holmes will chaperon.

30 OUT FOR BASEBALL PRACTICE

Coach Kent Puts Men Through Light Workout—Not to Use Cage.

Thirty men responded for the first baseball practice of the year yesterday afternoon in the armory. They were put through a light workout which consisted of tossing the ball back and forth easily. This will be the order of affairs until weather permits of out of doors practice, Coach Kent said last night. Because of the difficulty in putting up the cage and the necessity for removing it for the basketball tournament this week end and the junior prom on the following Friday, the men will be given no batting practice indoors.

"I am unable yet to say anything about the material," Coach Kent declared last night. "I'm optimistic enough to believe that we shall be able to practice out doors in a very short time and then I can begin making some predictions about the outlook for the season. The indoor work is important chiefly for the conditioning and training which it gives the men."

NEW BOOKS IN SOCIOLOGY AT GENERAL LIBRARY

For those who are interested in the different faces of sociology, a collection of books upon timely subjects may be found in the general library. These books treat of social service with direct relation to conditions in the present war. The following is an incomplete list of those volumes: Hunt, "War Bread;" Conyngton, "How to Help;" Wolfe, "Care of Dependents of Enlisted Men in Canada;" Davis, "The Field of Social Service." Many other works on kindred subjects are in this collection.

IOWA HIGH SCHOOLS COMING THIS WEEK

Many Surprises Sprung in Various Sectional Tourneys—Hard to Make Any Predictions.

As a result of the sectional basketball tournaments held in all parts of the state Friday and Saturday, the following teams will be seen here in a tournament for the state championship Friday and Saturday of this week: Mount Pleasant, Goldfield, Sioux Center, New Hampton, Ellston, Dallas Center, Cedar Rapids, and Iowa City.

Many surprises were sprung in these sectional meets. Sioux City's defeat from Sioux Center and the victory of Goldfield over Fort Dodge in the Ames tournal are among these surprises. Iowa City performed up to expectations in winning the Grinnell series. Cedar Rapids and Mount Pleasant did likewise.

By reason of the upset of the dope bucket which took place in these sectional affairs, local dopesters are not keen to predict the state champaions. Iowa City and Mount Pleasant, the teams which fought it out for the honors last year at Ames, the latter having been successful, are probably the favorites because of their records of last year. It is conceivable, however, that Cedar Rapids, or some of the smaller teams from the western part of the state may come through with new surprises.

Arrangements are being made now by the fraternities of the campus for the entertainment of the visiting high schoolers. The event seems to be creating more interest this year than it did when the University engineered it every year.

PI BETA PHI TO MANAGE "GARDEN"

Entire Proceeds of Two Days to Be Given to Local Red Cross.

Girls will have the "upper hand" at the Garden theater today and Wednesday. There will be girl ushers, girl ticket sellers, girl pianists and other duty that presents itself will be performed by girls.

The Pi Beta Phi sorority will have full management of the Garden today and tomorrow. Madam Petrova will appear in "The Light Within." There will be good music both days. Tuesday night Johnson's orchestra will play and Wednesday Jinx's Jass Hounds will render the music. Through the kindness of Manager W. H. Englert, the entire proceeds will be given to Red Cross, Pi Phi being an auxiliary of the local Red Cross chapter. Go to the Garden and see a good movie and incidentally help the Red Cross.

CARRY ON, ADVISES IAN HAY, UNTIL WE GET LASTING PEACE

Says Germany Is Going to Strike Blow This Summer to Open Way for Peace Offering.

GERMANY FOILED IN ALL WAR PLANS

Transportation and Conservation Important Factors—Subs are No Longer Effective.

"And until Germany can assure our sons and daughters the peace which we could wish for ourselves, let our watchword be: 'Carry on.'"

This was the closing statement of Ian Hay in his stirring address before fifteen hundred persons in natural science hall last night.

"We are going to see some tremendously hard fighting this summer," declared the famous Britisher. "Hindenberg has already announced publicly that he will be in Paris by the first of April. It is clear that Germany has planned a great offensive. She intends to mass her soldiers, drawn chiefly from the Russian border, on the West Front and penetrate the Allied lines without regard to the loss of human life."

Want To Get Peace

And the purpose of all this, the soldier author explained, is to gain a victory which will give Germany an excuse for making another peace offer, with the advantage for Germany. The great duty for the people of allied nations to do is to withstand whatever tempting offers may come from the despised of nations until she is whipped and whipped soundly.

His address embraced a series of personal experiences in the war, and the picture which he drew gave the great audience a vivid conception of trench life. His words possessed the typical determined attitude which "Tommies" possess.

One of the greatest instruments of German success so far in this war, he pointed out, has been her ability to utilize her press to deceive her own people and preserve their morale and by shrewd and subtle methods and to disseminate false news in the armies of her enemies. This was true in the case of Russia and it was even more openly true in the case of Italy. Newspapers describing a great revolution in Italy were actually distributed among the Italian soldiers, he asserted.

Huns Respect U. S. Strength.

Germany has not yet been successful in one of her major plans of war, he said. She intended to march on Paris immediately but was checked. She intended to take possession of a submarine base on the west coast of France and was unsuccessful. She intended to starve England out of the war by way of the submarine and is being foiled. The Allies today, he declared, are destroying submarines as fast as they are being made by Germany.

The powers of Germany have a wholesome respect for America, he declared, although they have discounted our strength to maintain the morale of German citizens. That the war will be won largely by transportation, was another one of his assertions. America must fight the perils of German propaganda, produce food for her armies in the field and her armies to come, and become determined to accept no peace but a lasting peace.

BRINGING IT HOME

The daily papers of Sunday carried Rainbow division casualty lists which included among the dead the name of Corporal Donald H. Macrae and among the wounded the name of Private Fred S. Becker. It seems fairly certain that it is our own Fred Becker, although he is a lieutenant instead of a private.

There is, however, more doubt about the identity of the Donald H. Macrae. The Daily Iowan interviewed sorority sisters of Mrs. Macrae, who was Joyce Parker, Gamma Phi Beta, here last year, and were informed that it is unlikely that there has been time for the transfer of Don from Camp Dodge, where he was stationed at the time of her last letter, to the West Front. Then, too, it is likely that his address would be given as Council Bluffs.

And so we wait for verification or denial of the reports. We hope they are unfounded, yet it is to be expected that this University must sooner or later sacrifice blood as she has given of her other resources. If Don Macrae has fallen or if Fred Becker has lost blood, Germany has struck the University's own sons and our own brothers. It is ours to avenge the deed by doing whatever is in our power to crush the force which is menacing the world of today and casting a shadow upon the world of our sons and daughters.

IT WOULD CRIPPLE US

In Sunday's issue of The Daily Iowan there appeared an article opposing military exemptions for agricultural workers. Fortunately for the country the government has taken quite a different attitude upon this question. It has not been prodigal, however, in the distribution of exemptions to farm help on agricultural laborers. Can the writer of this article in question point to a single instance in which an exemption was granted to a farmer unless he was the actual owner or manager of a farm? Now it must be this class, these owners and managers of farms, which the writer meant to attack.

There are a few problems of extraordinary importance which occupy the attention of our government. One is shipbuilding, another is railroad transportation, another is war finance, still a fourth is the training and equipment of troops, and by no means the least in importance is the production of food. Just because we find England, France, and Belgium drained of man power, just because women are forced to perform the agricultural work once performed by men, we find that the United States has become the food reservoir for the Allies. Our imperative duty is to provide an abundance of food for those who actually do the fighting.

The war may be won in the corn and wheat fields of these middle western states. Under these circumstances we believe that those men actually managing farms should be given a deferred classification. It is true enough that there are many positions in Iowa City formerly filled by men which are now filled by women. It is also true that there are any number of positions in this city which may be dispensed with altogether if necessity arises. If war assumes a more serious aspect, these dispensable activities must go to the scrap heap. Any one who believes that farming comes in this class is suffering from gross ignorance of agricultural conditions or a wilful misinterpretation of observed facts.

If conditions finally warrant it, we are not opposed to the drafting of farmers for military service. The condition does not warrant such action at the present time. There are over the country thousands of workers in less essential industries who should be called on to shoulder muskets before the country's potential strength is tapped by a diminution in food production, a thing which must result if farmers are taken from their work for military service. To put women in the actual management of farms and farm labor would be to curtail production, lessen the food supply and render the present situation more acute, we believe.

Why not draft the ship builder for military service? The reason is obvious. Ship builders are performing a special and very necessary piece of work for the government. In spite of the fact that they are receiving unheard of wages, they are not satisfied. They are continually striking. Why shall we criticise the farmer, therefore, who is attending to his business and asks only to be left free for the performance of his special service to the government in this time of national crisis?

CONTEMPORARY OPINION

SHALL IT EVER BE AGAIN?

(Hamline Oracle)

A terrific indictment was given out against college men last spring by Crowder. He said one great reason that so many college men failed to make good in the Officers' Reserve was because of physical carelessness and slouchiness. Every college youth was made to blush and hang his head in shame in the face of such adverse criticism. The reason that we chafed under the indictment was because that was a deal of real truth in his statement. It surely was an unexpected jolt to the college men.

One of the cardinal aims of the U. S. today is to train her youth to be good soldiers. We are told that the essentials of a good soldier are strength, discipline, courage and an appreciation of team work. If these be the qualities of a good soldier, Hamline should have more men out for athletics this year than ever before. Where is a finer place to acquire physical strength and endurance than in college sports? It takes strength to break through the line and smash interference for a touchdown. Where is better discipline for the youth than having made the team, and played the game according to the rules? The man who has mastered bodily fear in athletic contests has made one mighty stride toward courage in all things. Team work is the big idea in college sports. The individual "star" is a "has been," notice has been served on him that he is not wanted.

Go out for some branch of athletics. Do your "bit" and see that you are not the cause of such an indictment. Be firmly determined that such shall never be again.

What Others Think

The Daily Iowan will gladly print any communications from students or faculty members. The writer must sign the article to show his good faith in sending it, but no name will be printed if the sender so designates.

"ARE YOU A FARMER?"

If you are the son or daughter of a farmer did not your blood boil at the rank injustice accorded him by the author of the article published in Sunday's "Iowan" concerning the farmer? One would scarcely think that the author meant the content of the article to be taken as his honest sentiments. Rather one would think that he offered it for the fun of getting a 'rise' of righteous indignation.

It was stated that the farmer has control of the resources of the country. True, food production is largely in his hands, but yet our writer would send him from his work. We would not exempt the individual who has turned farmer since the declaration of war nor the rich young landowner who lives in town, who is perhaps cashier of a bank and calls himself "farm manager." Such people we must call traitors. But the man who has had five or more years experience on the farm is as badly needed back of the firing line on the farm as he is at the front. His place cannot be taken by women. Everyone who has lived on the farm knows that the work is not all done there by turning a switch or opening a throttle, even if this is an age of machinery. Imagine your sister swinging a sledge hammer to mend the broken fence that has beet letting the cattle get into the corn, or struggling through a herd of squealing pigs to give them their slop. Perhaps this does not represent conditions as we like to think of them on the farm, but how far from ideal are conditions on the farm, especially farms occupied by tenants?

Apparently there are people who believe that the farmer should not get a fair return for his labor, and that he should be made as near as possible like the peasant of Europe. When one considers all the risks and losses that the farmer sustains during a year, he has hardly been getting a fair return. The wealth of the old retired farmer is due more to speculative value of land than anything else. When the agriculturist by stress of circumstances, not by demands of his own, gets a fair return for his product, people rise and call him a plutocrat and a traitor. It is not reasonable to suppose that our farmers are any less red-blooded and patriotic than others but it is reasonable that they can further food production more than any substitute can. Moreover there is not need of becoming aroused over the young farmer's becoming exempted, much as such a measure might be justified. If he gains exemption it is on other grounds.

To the Editor:

I wish to register my approval of the recent protest against the supplanting of "Old Gold" by "Iowa, University Iowa."

The main reason why I object to it is because it is so extremely difficult to sing. Any one who has observed an audience attempt to sing this song, realizes the truth of this assertion. It is almost as hard to sing as "The Star-Spangled Banner," which, all will admit, is a jawbreaker. The tune is so high that one can only admire it, not daring to venture to manipulate his voice to show his approval. I admit that it is a beautiful song, and that it has an added advantage in being distinctly our own.

I admit that it has never been given a fair trial. Few students know it, for the reason that it is so hard to sing.

"Old Gold" is within the range of the average voice. It is also more tuneful. It does not have the pep and individuality of "Iowa, University Iowa," but it has the stately dignity and thousands of associations.

Imagine graduating without hearing "Old Gold" sung in the old Armory! It is taking away one of the too few school traditions to supplant "Old Gold" by "Iowa, University Iowa."

HAWKEYES DEFEAT INDIANA BUT LOOSE GAME WITH PURDUE

Game With Indiana Was Hard Fought Contest—Final Score 13 to 11.

PURDUE SHOWS GREAT IMPROVEMENT

Final Defeat Places Iowa at Ninth Place in the Big Ten Conference

Iowa's basketball five closed its season with the games at Indiana and Purdue last Friday and Saturday. Although the Hawkeyes were victorious in the first game, they were forced to take defeat the following night at the hands of Purdue.

The victory at Indiana was won only after the hardest kind of a fight. From the start of the game until the final whistle, the ball seesawed from one end of the floor to the other, both teams showing good teamwork and clever guarding. The basket shooting was not so good as is usually seen in a conference game, but most of them were made from cover.

Five minutes after play had started, Indiana secured a field goal, and a minute later, Cotton scored for Iowa with a free throw. An intercepted pass gave Indiana their second basket. A goal by Cotton, just before the close of the half, ended the scoring for this period.

The second half began with Iowa showing a much improved quintet. Shots were scarce, but not quite so scarce as during the first half. Olson, Berrien and Brown all scored in turn, and cotton, not to be kept out of the scoring column, made good his one attempt at free throwing, making the score 10 to 4.

At this point, Indiana made two substitutions in order to stem the tide of defeat. Three bad passes by the Iowa team were intercepted, and a goal resulted from each one, the last one putting the Hoosiers into the lead 11 to 10, with five minutes to play.

With the next toss-up, the Iowa team showed new life, and Olson succeeded in caging an easy goal. A free throw by Cotton ended the scoring and soon time was called, with the score 13 to 11 in Iowa's favor.

The terrific pace of the Indiana game told on the light Hawkeyes, and they succumbed to the attack of the Purdue five after a gallant struggle. Purdue showed a greatly improved quintet, and scored almost at will during the first half. Their team work was superb, and their shooting accurate, while the Iowa team missed many chances to score through bad passes and inaccurate shooting. During this period, Markley and Tillson, the Purdue fordards, each scored five baskets. Time was called with the Boilermakers leading 25 to 7.

Iowa swept the Purdue five off its feet for the first ten minutes of the second half, and scored 14 points to their opponents 4. Clever teamwork and dribbling paved the way for many easy shots, and when guarded closely, the men would drop one in from the center of the floor. Berrien, Olson, and Cotton each scored two baskets from the field during this spurt, and two free throws brought the Iowa score up to 21, as against Purdue's 29.

From this point on, Purdue gradually increased her lead. The Iowa five, tired from their game of the night before, could not stand the stiff pace set by the Boilermakers, and had to submit to defeat, 46 to 22.

DATE OF MEN'S SWIMMING EXHIBITION IS CHANGED

The swimming and diving exhibition at the men's swimming pool will be held on Thursday, March 14, at 7:30, instead of Wednesday, as was previously announced. This change was made in order to give Coach Armbruster a better opportunity to pick the relay teams.

The relay races are always the most exciting events in a water carnival of this kind and Mr. Armbruster urges that all men who are good swimmers tryout for these teams. The 250 pound transport has increased its speed to about three knots per hour and several of the naval experts doubt whether the submarine will be able to overtake it.

CHAMPIONSHIP DEBATE FRIDAY NIGHT

Irving and Philomathean Will Stage Final Contest for Supremacy.

The final debate to decide the championship of the University will be held next Friday evening in the natural science auditorium at 8 o'clock.

In the preliminary debate, held in January, Zetagathian, taking the affirmative of the question, met Irving Institute, taking the negative and was defeated by the latter team. Irving will meet Philomathian next Friday evening in the finals to decide the championship of the University.

The question to be debated is: Resolved—That two-thirds of the cost of the present war should be borne by current taxation. It is a topic that is being discussed nation wide at the present time and one in which most of the students here are much interested.

Both teams have been working hard for several months on this question. Both Irving Institute and Philomathian are confident of victory, and will back their teams to the limit. All the old rivalry is reborn in this annual fight for the championship honors.

COLLEGE NEWSPAPER MANAGERS ORGANIZE

Men In Charge of Business Side of Press Elect Secretary and Adopt Letterhead.

The business managers and advertising managers of the various colleges met in several sessions at the convention of the Iowa College Press association in Cedar Rapids Friday and Saturday.

A uniform letterhead for all papers was agreed upon. The upper right hand corner of the sheet will bear the names of the editor-in-chief and business manager and in the center of the page will be the name of the paper with the words, "Member of the Iowa College Press association. Reaoches 15,000 students."

A secretary of the business managers was elected. It will be his duties to list the various foreign advertisers who are buying space in the different papers and to correspond with foreign advertisers in an effort to interest them in the college papers of Iowa. There were reports and talks on advertising and circulation, followed by open discussion.
