IOWA WILL SEND BUT ONE LETTER MAN TO AMES MEET

Outlook For Winning Team From
Iowa Not Especially Rosy
Says Dope Men.

NUGENT EXPECTED TO SHOW UP WELL

Iowa Track Team Is Composed of Green Material—Will Develop Later.

Iowa's track team will compete in the quadrangular meet to be held at Ames next Saturday. The meet will be held on the indoor track and will be the first of its kind to be held in the state. Grinnell, Drake, and Ames will be the other schools who will enter teams.

Iowa's chance for winning the meet cannot be considered very bright, for only one letter man will participate. Due to the fact that Iowa did not have a track team last year, the rest of the squad will be composed of new men, who have yet to be tried out in a meet.

Nugent Is Bright Hope.

Captain Nugent is expected to score points in the broad jump, though he is not in the best shape at present, due to an infection. He won first place in the state meet last year with a leap of 21 feet, 11 1-2 inches.

Taylor, who was counted on to win points in the pole vault, will be unable to make the trip to Ames, due to an injury sustained in practice last week.

The try-outs, which were held last Saturday in the armory, showed some very promising material, but no exceptional marks were recorded. The team appears to be well balanced, but green, and the competition at Ames should do much toward developing the men for the outdoor meets to be held later in the spring.

Two men will be entered in each event, except the pole vault. Due to Taylor's injury and the ineligibility of two of last year's freshmen, no one of any ability whatever is available for this event. A mile relay team will also make the trip. The men who will represent Iowa are as follows:

- Justin and Younkin—40 yard dash.
- Younkin and Paige—low hurdles.
- Prudhon and Martin—half mile.
- Marasco and Feldman—mile.
- Page and Smith—440 yard dash.
- Windsor and Voegel—high jump.
- Nugent and Haylor—broad jump.
- Taylor and Bailey—pole vault.
- Machmar—shot put.
- Valentine—two mile.

THE ICE IS GOING OUT

Those whose thoughts are taking a more or less amorous turn, now have a new objective for their spring ramblings. The ice is going over the dam.

It has been going over, for the last two weeks, but at present big cakes are poised half way over the dam. The river is not nearly empty yet, though, so even if you postpone your annual trip to the Burlington bridge to see the ice go over, until next Sunday, you will not miss the sight.

Lula Gray, Tri-Delt, returned yesterday from Des Moines.

PROF. STUCKEY ACCEPTS COMMISSION

Former Professor Gives Up College
Presidency for War Work.

Prof. Lorin Stuckey, instructor in the sociology department last year has accepted an appointment from the government under the Fosdick commission of the War and Navy departments as Community Director of War Camp Service and is now permanently located in New York City. Dr. Stuckey has resigned the presidency of Sayre College, Lexington, Ky., where he has been since leaving this University.

Dr. Stuckey's work lies in the heart of the war activities in this country. His main office is at Hoboken at the port of embarkation, where the largest ships afloat are anchored and where thousands of soldiers are coming and going all the time. He has under his supervision eighteen nearby towns including Comp Merritt, an officers' house, and all the activities in the interest and welfare of the soldiers and sailors in the big seaport.

FINAL CHAMPIONSHIP DEBATE FRIDAY NIGHT

Irving and Philomathean Societies
Will Clash for Silver Loving Cup in Forensic Events.

The final championship debate to be held next Friday evening in the Natural Science auditorium will be one of the most important forensic events of the year.

Irving and Philomathean will stage the final fight for the championship of the University. In the preliminary debates, held in January, Irving met and defeated Zetagathian.

Both societies are anxious to win this debate, for besides the honor of leading the three societies, the winner of this debate will receive several points to count toward securing the silver loving cup that has been offered to the society winning the most forensic events. This is worked out in a system of a certain number of points for each man the society has on the intercollegiate team, for the winner of the oratorical contest, and for the winners of the freshman, sophomore, and championship debates. At the present time Irving leads in points, but it is still anybody's cup. If one society wins this cup three successive years they get to keep it as their permanent property.

Irving Institute will have the same team that defeated Zetagathian. Francis Brown will lead the team, and the other two members will be Harvey Hindt and Abe DeVaul.

The Philomathean will be upheld by George Killinger, William Johnson and William Anderson.

WILL REPEAT PLAYS

The two plays "Nevertheless" and "The Kleptomaniac," which were given by the University high school Saturday evening will be repeated Thursday evening, March 14, at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

They will be presented this time before the parent teachers' association and friends interested, and admission is free. The plays have been directed by members of the class in dramatic action supervised by Miss Ellen Geyer.

LIFT UP YOUR HEADS FOR IT IS VERY NEAR

In the last few days the spirits of the students have been rising with the temperature. Of course everyone knows how long it is yet, but less there be some who have not been making the days on the calendar, perhaps we had better be explicit and say, "two weeks more!" To those of us who have spent many of our days in the school room, vacation has become an institution; it is a word which connotes a great deal. Like "home" and "mother" it calls up a flood of associations and most of these memories are glorious.

While we students, most experienced in the way of the world are preserving a fairly cool, unmoved attitude, the freshmen are expressing themselves in unbridled ebullitions. However, we all are lifting our heads from the volumes of romantic or unromantic lire, and breathing a little more freely.

Perhaps those of us who have not been home since Christmas are expecting to go home again. At any rate, exactly two weeks from today noon a great sigh of relief will go up from the campus.

"MESSIAH" WILL BE GIVEN MARCH 24

Men's and Women's Glee Clubs are Working on Easter Program. Soloists Participate.

The Oratorio society, consisting of more than 100 voices with both the Men's and Women's Glee clubs are preparing to give for the Easter Vespers, Sunday, March 24, at four o'clock, a "Messiah" program.

Solo parts will be given by Mr. Hays, Miss Cooper and Miss Katz of the department of music, and Prof. Lowell E. M. Welles, baritone, of Iowa State Teacher's college has been secured to sing bass solos. The University orchestra of 40 pieces will accompany the Oratorio society in the singing of the choruses.

The rehearsal last Thursday night with the orchestra was more successful than had been anticipated. The fact that the orchestra is to accompany the singing and that Mr. Welles will be here is assuring that the program will be unusual.

There was rehearsal last night and there will be another Thursday night at 7:15 o'clock. It is important that all who participate in this program be present at the beginning of these rehearsals.

EVEN FIDO LIKES IT

A long, lank collie sniffed and whined at the east entrance of home economics building. When anyone entered he drew back a few inches and looked up appealingly. The reporter eyed him as she opened the door a few inches. A rich, appetizing odor was wafted through the opening. The reporter hastily stepped inside and closed the door. There on a laboratory table before several white-aproned cooks was displayed a row of various breads just from the oven. Each was labeled according to the flour from which it was made: cotton seed meal, barley flour, rice, oatmeal, corn, made according to those new recipes. Poor Fido, no wonder he was hungry!

BASEBALL PRACTICE HELD OUTDOORS

Suits Issued and Several Athletes
Unable to Take Workout.

The baseball squad took its first outdoor workout last night. The grass court between the football gridiron and the baseball diamond was the scene of activities. Because considerable time was necessary for the issuance of suits and other equipment, some of the aspirants were unable to get in any practice last night.

Kent sent all men through a light batting practice and the outfielders began regaining their fielding eye by running down long flies from the bat of Joe Kerwick. Three of the varsity candidates for the box position took turns in lobbing the pill down the alley for the batters. Captain Frank, Kenneth Van Lackum, Aschenbrenner, Brown and others of last year's team seemed to have lost nothing of their adroitness with the stick.

The outdoor field will be used whenever the weather is at all favorable, Coach Kent states.

THRIFT CAMPAIGN AT IOWA IS SYSTEMATIC

Thrift Stamps Being Purchased
Quietly But Steadily By Various Organizations.

"In the thrift stamp campaign, the plan is to have all the organized groups on the campus assist in seeing that each does his share," declared Prof. R. E. Rienow, chairman of the committee for liberal arts men.

To this end, all the organized groups, the fraternities, the literary societies and cadet regiments, will be responsible for the members.

The fraternities have already responded. Each fraternity has appointed its representative to the inter-fraternity council the financial agent, to report the first of each month the amount of stamps bought and the average of each man.

Friday night, the literary societies pledged their support. Zetagathian and Philomathean will appoint a committee to be responsible for the group.

Professor Rienow will speak to the cadet regiment Wednesday afternoon. Each captain will have charge of the savings of his company.

Those men who are not connected with any of the above organizations will be grouped under the direction of some one who will report their savings.

"This plan is not merely a campaign for the present," Prof. Rienow wishes understood. "It is to last until next January. When one has bought one thrift stamp, his duty is not done."

"We are asking the men and women to curtail their expenses, to cut out unnecessary pleasures, and to put their money in savings stamps."

BUSH WRITES OF WORK

Prof. H. Bush wrote to his French classes yesterday, thanking them for the money which they raised for him to take to France. Professor Bush says that he has been very busy so far and finds a great necessity for the work which he is in. He thinks the work is very worth while which the Americans are doing.

Evelyn Bracewell, Tri-Delt, is ill at her home in Carydon.

JUNIOR RED CROSS BUSY WITH KNITTING AND THRIFT STAMPS

Students of Elementary School
Volunteer Services for One Hour Every Thursday.

ORGANIZE ARMY FOR STAMP SALE

Boys Cooperate With the Girls In Sewing for Belgians and Making Shot Bags.

Over at the University elementary school between three and four o'clock and any Thursday afternoon, one may see boys and girls busily at work knitting—knitting, basting shot bags for the Red Cross, or, in the case of smaller children, turning the bags that have been sewed by the older ones.

The Junior Red Cross is working for the local Red Cross organization, and the children are volunteering their services for an hour a week in making Belgian baby robes, afghans or coverlets, and shot bags.

Everyone Is Interested.

The boys as well as the girls are taking up this work with enthusiasm, as is evidenced by the remark of one little boy, "I took my knitting home the other day and one of the boys saw it and laughed at me, but I didn't care."

So interested are the children in the work that when they cannot stay on the regular night for work, they ask permission to stay some other time and make up for the lost time. One boy would rather knit during recess if his teacher would permit it, than go out to play.

Sell Many Thrift Stamps.

But more than that, the children are selling thrift stamps also, receiving recognition by a general scale of promotion from the corporal or sergeant who sells nine war savings stamps to the general who sells 165. One boy is already well up in the list with a total of 85 stamps sold to his credit.

Instructors at the elementary school say that there is a noticeable giving up of candy among the children, and that when a nickel is saved from walking instead of taking a car, it is turned over to some war activity instead of being pocketed for future pleasure.

ATTENTION, SENIORS.

It is very important that every senior in the University who expects to receive a degree or certificate at the University Convocation to be held June 12, 1918, file his application for the degree and the certificate which he expects to receive, IMMEDIATELY at the Registrar's office. Otherwise, it may happen that a student otherwise qualified for graduation will not be included in the list of students to be recommended for degrees. These lists are being made up now. If you have not yet filed your application please call at the Registrar's office AT ONCE to do so. Sign your name exactly as you wish it printed in the diploma.

OUR NATION'S NEED

Next to loyalty to sound ethical principles a nation's greatest strength lies in the intelligence of its citizens. Education is the greatest safeguard against mistakes of judgment. The nation in which the mass of citizens simply accept, without thought or real conviction, what somebody else tells them, may have a form of democracy but it does not have substance. No greater service can be performed for this or any other country at the present time than that service which results in arousing the people to free, independent thought, and to courageous and free expression of personal conviction. The ignorant man, who is generally disinclined to think, becomes an easy prey for the man who is base enough to take advantage of his credulity.

Nothing has been more striking in the course of recent events, with the possible exception of popular ignorance, than the readiness of the mass of the people to believe whatever they were told, especially when it happened to harmonize with their prejudices and passions. The upheaval of the world has almost completely stripped us of our national traditions and the force of precedents. We stand face to face in the midst of debris, with the task of reconstruction. What shall the course of procedure be? Will the people to whom the country belongs seek out and call forth those who are competent and worthy to lay down clear and adequate plans for the reconstruction? Will they insist upon such an intelligible explanation of those plans as will enable them to understand what is to be done and why they are to do what is assigned them and thus become intelligent constructors of the edifice in which they and their children are to live?

The greatest statesman will be that statesman who, in the spirit of genuine patriotism, will arouse the people of their need of intelligence. He will arouse them to think and lead them so to think as to make real, independent and intelligent citizens of them. We need leadership. Not until the people themselves work out the solution of these problems as intelligent sovereign citizens will they be truly free and independent. They cannot actually accept any solution of problems, no matter how submissive they may become to solutions offered, until they have thought things through, until those solutions have become solutions for them through their own, personal convictions.

PUT CHEER IN YOUR LETTERS

To persons who are writing letters to men who are giving their time and energies to the winning of war, we wish to issue a little word of advice: Don't write sob letters.

Soldiers know that they are making a supreme sacrifice; they know that theirs is a noble work; they know that they have in some cases given up a civilian work in which they showed special promise. They know all of these things full well and it is unnecessary for persons who write to them to recapitulate these things which they are often conscientiously attempting to submerge in their minds.

If you have received letters from soldiers, or if you have followed the letters which this paper has printed as a daily feature, you must know that the men in khaki are not calling for sympathy, they are not calling for praise, they are calling for news. The soldier is more interested in knowing that Mary Brown and Levi Cruitch "made up" again, than he is in knowing that you are sorry he had to leave his life of civilian usefulness and hope he will live "through it."

If we use a little discretion and feature the cheery rather than the dark brown kind of news, we can add still further to our effectiveness in maintaining the morale of our soldiery. Army men in France and in our own cantonments crave news. We should write to them often, and it is just as easy to write the kind of letters that will cheer them as the kind which makes them stretch and say: "Oh, hum!"

STRENGTH IN NUMBERS

One bullet can harm only one of the enemy.

But a million bullets can harm thousands of them, and thereby decide important battles.

That is the answer to the one who asks: "What good will my investing $4.14 in a War Savings stamp do?"

One person could buy the whole limit of the War Savings stamps issue but his contribution would effect nothing.

But 100,000,000 investing will hasten the war's conclusion.

Just do your share and watch the others do theirs.

Let us give up our luxuries and the Kaiser will give up his ambitions.

Put your money in War Savings stamps.

What Others Think

The Daily Iowan will gladly print any communications from students or faculty members. The writer must sign the article to show his good faith in sending it, but no name will be printed if the sender so designates.

YELLING FOR WHOM?

To the Editor:
At the University armory on Friday and Saturday will occur the state high school basket ball tournament. All are aware of the teams that will participate. We all know that the "Little Hawkeyes" are to play in the series. We are glad that they are going to play, but we are not all hoping that they will win.

Now, I know that I have gotten a start out of some of you, for there are some people who think that every student of the University should stand behind the "Little Hawkeyes." That would be true if they were competing against Illinois, Minnesota, or other outside teams. They are to compete with other Iowa teams and some of those teams are home teams or teams in which we have a personal interest (not financial). We believe that we should not be called poor sports when we yell for these teams as they appear on the floor Friday and Saturday.

The writer is going to yell for the team in which he is interested and he is going to do everything in his power to encourage them on to victory. I want our team to win and

I don't want to have any local people think I am a poor sport because I don't yell for the local team.

If every one who goes to the tournament would look at it in this broad light every body will be happy even though the crowd is divided on whom they would have win. They are all Iowa teams and we want the best IOWA team to win.

LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIERS

The following letter has been received by a friend of Clarence F. Hansen, who was a student here last year:

M. O. T. C. Infirmary,
Camp Greenleaf,
Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga.,
March 3, 1918.

My dear Friend:

I was very glad to get your letter the other day. Mail from Iowa City always cheers me up. And the "Iowan"—I hadn't seen it for a month and so devoured the two copies from start to finish. Iowa's victory over Chicago was grand, and I surely wish I could have seen the game, or at least the last five minutes. Iowa is getting along in great style in spite of the war, isn't she?

It has taken me about a month to find out myself what kind of work I am doing. The officers and supplies were not ready for use when we arrived, so we have done a lot of the training of the ordinary private—drill, scrubbing, policing, learning lectures, taking hikes, putting up tents, etc. Some of our New Yorkers developed the first callouses they ever have seen on their hands. Yesterday we moved from temporary quarters to—some other temporary quarters! We are beginning to get our military psychology now. More than half of it all is army drilling. Then we are being trained to conduct the psychological tests. These tests were used in four army camps last fall and winter, and the war department now wants them extended all over the U. S. armies. There are three kinds of group tests, and then some individual tests. The terrible "intelligence test" you mentioned seems distantly related to a small section of one test. You know, I having these tests for all recruits and officers (up to captain, inclusive) will largely prevent the biggest injustice a boy usually gets in the army. So many bright and capable fellows are usually caught in with the dull, illiterate or foreign-speaking recruits, and have no chance to use their abilities to rise from the ranks. We ran across an expert pharmacist acting as a cook the other day. The main idea is to give every fellow the chance that he should have in the army.

We have an interesting bunch of men in our group. They are all from universities in the east except a Georgian, Californian, and myself. We had high hopes at first of getting commissions after our training, but the war department seems to be preparing to make most of N. C. O.'s (non-commissioned officers)! That would be hard on our pride, but of course we would do our best anyway and hope for promotion later in the war. I'm sure I have no idea where I shall be sent. Perhaps before the war is over, I shall have transferred to some other branch. Last summer I thought it would be fun to enlist in the infantry and see the war from the ground up, but I couldn't leave my mother then.

This is a unique camp. It is scattered over the old battlefield of Chicamauga and the boys drill over the hills dotted with monuments. A few miles away we can see Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge, also the scenes of great battles. Lookout mountain draws lots of tourists. Some of our bunch have climbed it, but we get only one "pass" a week, usually on Sunday, lots of us haven't been there yet. Missionary Ridge is lined with monuments and millionaires' homes.

Of course, I would be delighted with anything in the way of eats that you might send. You know we get very little sugar in our food. Oatmeal, brangberries and cocoa without sugar are more or less terrible, but we get used to it (as we do to a thousand other things in the army) and they buy a great deal of candy on the side. Yes, I certainly believe in eating between meals (very frank, I'm afraid).

Three of our fellows are in the hospital—one of them a Harvard boy, 21 years old, who has a bad case of pneumonia. Several others have bronchitis, or other troubles. I have a severe cold myself. It is strange, so far south. It has rarely gone below the freezing point during all February. But the mud has been pretty bad.

Sincerely yours,
Clarence F. Hansen.

DEMAND FOR NEWSPAPER MEN
(Texas Journalist)

The demand for newspaper workers in every department of journalism is steadily increasing. The schools are unable to supply the papers with enough properly trained men and women. The war has laid a heavy hand on many offices and has taken many newspaper workers whose places have to be filled by competent workers, if they can be had, but otherwise by incompetent help. One trouble now with the schools of journalism is that the newspapers take their students as soon as they are qualified to do fairly well and do not leave them in school long enough to become proficient.

But this leads to the suggestion that young men and women who have inclination and talent for journalism in any of its branches should feel encouraged to prepare themselves for it. Journalism is going to play an important part in the great world reorganization that is sure to follow the close of the war. It will be the most potent influence in bringing about and maintaining international understandings. Men and women, too—will be needed to help in this greatest opportunity the world has ever afforded for real constructive work, but they must be men and women of broad vision, prepared by thorough education and specialized training for handling great problems.

Tell 'em—"I saw your ad. in the Iowan."

STUDENTS ARE NOT GIVING THEIR SHARE

Books and Magazines for Soldiers Are Being Furnished by Faculty and City People.

Very few books are being contributed by students for our soldiers and sailors at the general library. Last fall a shipment of three hundred books was made to Camp Dodge, but the students of the University are failing to do their part in the contribution. Most of the books sent in so far have been given by faculty members and people of the city, while the students, who usually have a larger library than the average citizen, have shown but little interest in this matter.

The American Library association is taking its place beside the Y. M. C. A., the K. of C., and other kindred organizations in providing for the general comfort and welfare of the soldiers and sailors in the camps and in all parts of the service. This association raised one million and a half dollars to be used in erecting suitable buildings and in securing librarians for the libraries in the different camps, hospitals and naval stations.

To meet the needs of the American Library association another half million books must be provided. Beginning March 18 a campaign to provide these books will be inaugurated all over the country. This campaign will last until March 23. The association desires that novels, tales of adventure, and all standard fiction, up-to-date books on all engineering branches, and recent books on travel, history and the sciences be contributed.

The books most acceptable are not those which are no longer cared for by their owners, but those which have been read, yet demand a sacrifice for their surrender, for the more dear a book is to its present owner, undoubtedly the more valuable will it prove to those who will reap the benefit of its contribution.

OH, SAY, CAN YOU SING?
(Syracuse Daily Orange)
Oh, say can you sing from the start to the end,
What so proudly you stand for when orchestras play it;
When the whole congregation, in voices that blend,
Strike up the grand hymn, and then torture and slay it?
How they bellow and shout when they're first starting out,
But "the dawn's early light" finds them floundering about,
'Tis "The Star-Spangled Banner" they're trying to sing,
But they don't know the words of the precious old thing.

Hark! The "twilight's last gleaming" has some of them stopped,
But the vallant survivors press forward serenely
To "the ramparts we watched,"

where some others are dropped
And the loss of the leaders is manifest keenly.
Then "the rockets' red glare" gives the bravest a scare,
And there's few left to face the "bombs bursting in air"—
'Tis a thin line of heroes that manage to save
The last of the verse and "the home of the brave."

LABORATORIES HELP IN SAVING WHEAT

Home Economics Experts Devise Attractive Recipes for Barley Products.

The laboratories of the home economics department have been turned over in a large measure to the working out of the proper methods of using the substitutes for wheat which the food administration is urging. As recipes are worked out and proved to be successful they will be turned over to the housewives of the state. Some of the recent work has been done with barley flour and some of the recipes which they have devised are printed below.

Barley Baking Powder Biscuits

1 cup barley flour
1 cup white flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 teaspoons baking powder
3 tablespoons fat
2-3 cup milk
Mix flours, salt and baking powder. Cut in or work in the fat. Add milk gradually. Pat or roll out to 1/2 inch thickness. Cut. Bake in a quick oven.

Barley Waffles

2 cups barley flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1-4 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 1/2 cups milk
3 tablespoons oil
Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add the milk, fat and egg yolk. Beat until thoroughly mixed. Fold in the beaten egg whites. Cook on moderately hot iron. The recipe will make 4 waffles.

Barley Pancakes

3 cups barley flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons corn syrup
1 egg
2 cups milk
2 tablespoons oil
Sift flour, baking powder, and salt. Add beaten egg, milk and oil. Beat until thoroughly mixed. Begin baking at once or more baking powder will be needed.

At the present time, say the University home economics authorities, barley flour is not a standardized product as are wheat flour and some of the other mill products. For this reason barley flours from various mills have to be used differently. For instance, in bread, barley flour could be substituted for wheat flour to the extent of thirty per cent in one case and fifty per cent in another. For pan cakes and waffles some barley flours may be used alone, while with other barley flours some wheat must be used.

In each training camp there is a large central library which supplies branch libraries in the Y. M. C. A. buildings, in the barracks, the hospitals and other places where the boys may gather.

F. M. Phillips, a graduate student last year, who has been in training camp in New Mexico, is about to enroll in the medical corps.

Write for our plans. Our territory extends from the Mississippi River to the Pacific Coast. Manhattan Building Des Moines Iowa.

A Plant that Grows with the Times
Bevo grew out of our big idea of giving America a soft drink, the like of which no one ever tasted—a true cereal soft drink—nutritious as well as delicious in an entirely new way—and pure.
Scientifically cultivated and finally perfected, Bevo sprang into popularity such as overtaxed even our tremendous facilities.
The result is our new eight-million-dollar Bevo plant—built by public demand—capacity 2,000,000 bottles a day.
You will find Bevo, "The all-year-round soft drink," at all places where refreshing beverages are sold. Families supplied by grocer.
