RULES GIVEN OUT REGULATING CREDIT DUE ENLISTED MEN

In All Cases Students Will Be Given Credit Up To Time of Enlistment.

MUST FINISH FIVE-SIXTHS OF WORK

Seniors in Good Standing and Fulfilling This Requisite May Be Graduated.

The general rules for the granting of credit to students who enter army and naval service before completing the semester's or year's work in which they are registered, formulated before the holiday recess but modified slightly since, have become effective by formal adoption by the facilities of all colleges which they affect.

Medicine, homeopathic medicine, and dentistry are the colleges which are not concerned in the action by reason of their reserve enlistment arrangement. The applied science, liberal arts, pharmacy, and law faculties have formally adopted the rules and the graduate college has informally approved them which means virtually their adoption.

Provisions Follow.

The provisions as announced by Registrar H. C. Dorcas yesterday are as follows:

"1. In all cases credit for residence shall be given in the sense that a student may return and take up his work where he left off, if he chooses to do so and if possible and practicable, without repeating what he has already covered.

"2. Students who have completed 5-6 of any course (i. e. semester or year course) before withdrawal shall be granted full credit if their class standing to date and an examination over the work covered warrant it.

Must Finish Five-Sixths.

"3. Students who have completed 5-6 of the year's work before withdrawal may be given full credit therein after their re-registration in the University under such requirements and regulations in each college as the faculty thereof may adopt. Each faculty shall provide special instruction to enable students to make up any omitted work necessary to the proper understanding of their advanced work.

"4. Any senior who at the time of his withdrawal is in good standing and has satisfied all the requirements for graduation in his college except the completion of 1-6 of his last year's work shall be recommended for graduation."

Clears Matters up.

This subject has long been a matter which has agitated the student body, more particularly since the selective draft law went into effect. These concrete provisions handed down by the faculty committee composed of Deans G. F. Kay, W. G. Raymond, and D. C. McGovney bring the matter to a final and tangible settlement.

Men who are contemplating, or are liable to, withdrawal from the University are advised to read over the above regulations carefully that they may know their exact position.

WILL SPEAK HERE APRIL 4

Mrs. Audrey Alspach Chase will not be here this Thursday, as announced in yesterday's Iowan. She will be in Iowa City April 4.

PRESIDENT JESSUP AT ANN ARBOR

Speaks at Short Term Institute—Cancel Later Dates.

President W. A. Jessup has gone to Ann Arbor, Michigan, where he is one of the speakers of the short-term state institute for superintendents, principals and supervisors. Yesterday he lectured on "Education as a Science" and "The School and the Individual," and today he will talk on "Educational Measurements" in two different lectures. His last address tomorrow will deal with the school and the curriculum.

It is expected that he will return to Iowa City from Ann Arbor to prepare some important lecture work in the interests of the war department. He will be required to abandon a number of high school commencement addresses in order to give his entire time to the war work.

STUDENT WRITES OF OLD FORT SNELLING

Review of the Famous Old Pioneer Fort by Marcus Hanson Was Published Recently.

A fort into which a foreign flag was never carried except to be burned in the sight of awestruck Indians, a fort in which the cannon were never fired at a foe, a fort over which no other flag than the stars and stripes ever waved and near which no hostile conflict was ever staged, this in brief is the history of Fort Snelling, as told by Marcus E. Hanson, M. A. 1917, in his book "Old Fort Snelling" recently published by the State Historical society.

The establishment in 1917 of an officer's training camp at Fort Snelling has renewed interest in the early days of the pioneer fort Josiah Snelling Founder.

Many interesting tales are told of the bravery and impetuosity of Josiah Snelling, captain in the French and Indian war and commander of a company at the battle of Tippecanoe, under whose direction the fort was built and for whom it was named.

The evolution of Fort Snelling, the Sioux-Chippewa feuds, the fur trade, descriptions of the fort and Indian life, and glimpses of garrison life are only a few of the subjects treated in the history of the fort from its establishment in 1819 to its temporary abandonment as a military post in 1858.

TO GIVE COURSE FOR SCOUTMASTERS

S. U. I. Summer Session Recognizes Importance of the Boy Scout.

An extensive course in Boy Scout work will be given at the University during the first two weeks of the summer session, June 17 to 28. A skilled Boy Scout leader has been engaged to conduct the work, Charles Smith, who comes from the national headquarters of the organization in New York.

The course will be very practical in nature and will be enough to occupy a student's full time if he desires, or he may take any regular courses in the University summer-session. The work is intended both for men who are now acting as Boy Scout masters and those who want to become skilled masters.

COMMANDANT ISSUES NEW RULES FOR THE CADETS THIS SPRING

All Military Organizations Will Drill At Six O'Clock After The Easter Recess.

REGIMENT TO MARCH MEMORIAL DAY

Company Work Supplemented Later by Solution of Battalion Problems.

Commandant Andrew C. Wright issues the following new rules to govern the cadets for the remainder of the year. They are as follows:

1. Beginning Wednesday, April 3, all organizations of the regiment will drill daily Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, from 6 to 7 in the morning.

2. The instruction will be practical, all available time will be devoted to preparing the cadets for field service. It will be found that the companies need some good energetic close order drill and manual of arms but these exercises must not take up more than ten minutes of each hour's work.

Course Practical.

3. The course will embrace extended order drills, bayonet fighting, advance guards, rear guards, flank guards, principles of attack and defense, orders, messages, patrolling, trench and mine warfare. Small tactical problems will be prepared and worked out. Each unit commander will submit through his next higher commander, on Friday of each week a schedule of instruction for the following week. The first part of the period from April 1st to June 1st will be devoted to company work.

Field officers will closely supervise each drill and report to the Commandant the progress or lack of it in each company. Battalion work will begin when the companies have attained the required standard of proficiency.

4. Any cadet of the regiment who

VARSITY 1 FRESHMEN 0

Kent's Men Nose Out Frosh in Five Inning Contest.

The varsity nine nosed out Coach Kerwick's freshman squad by a score of 1 to 0, in a five inning game yesterday afternoon.

In an effort to uncover pitchers, Coach Kent gave three men opportunities to display their wares. Boatman started the game and got along in fairly good shape for two innings.

Hall and Nichols each pitched an inning, and though giving a number of hits, they allowed no runs.

Luce caught for the varsity, while Captain Frank was coaching the rookies at the batting cage. Olson was on first, McLaughlin at second, Ehred shortstop, and Leighton third. Bender, Von Lackum, and Johnson cavorted in the outer garden.

Practice will be held at 3 p. m. every day during vacation and all the members of the squad are expected to remain in the city. Kramer, who has been kept from practice by an attack of ptomaine poisoning, is expected to be out in a suit tomorrow. Brown, too, is soon to be back in the fold and practice will be under way in earnest throughout vacation.

ARMBRUSTER ATTENDS AQUATIC MEET

Iowa Team Compares Favorably With "Big Ten" Swimmers.

David Armbruster, swimming coach, returned from Chicago yesterday where he attended the conference swimming and diving meet held at the Northwestern tank last Friday.

Although Iowa was not represented at this meet Armbruster is confident that we have swimmers and divers who could have given point winners strenuous competition.

The new record of 19 4-5 seconds in the hundred yard dash is only 2-5 of a second faster than the best time of Hanapel, Iowa's crack distance crawler. No dives were performed which Iowa divers are incapable of doing although the conference divers secured a greater altitude.

PROF. R. A. KUEVER TO TEST LICENSES

Large Eastern Drug Manufacturer Sued By Chemical Firm Using German Patents.

Prof. R. A. Kuever of the college of pharmacy has been retained as a pharmaceutical chemist by one of the largest synthetic drug manufacturers of the east, in a law suit which has been brought against it by a chemical firm, which was originally in the control of alien enemies, to test the validity of the licenses recently issued by the Federal Trade commission.

These licenses were granted by the Federal Trade commission to American firms, and permit them to manufacture synthetic drugs patented by German chemists.

Case is Important.

This case is a "blanket" law suit, and is of tremendous importance because it will stand as a precedent. It will determine whether these licenses will stand as valid and also whether or not other concerns than the investigators can use the name of a drug which has been used originally in connection with the marketing of it.

A vast amount of scientific talent is on both sides. The defendants have many chemists from the middle western and eastern universities, to assist in this suit. The case will come up in the courts of New York City, probably about the middle of April.

PLANTS HAVE VALUE IN WARFARE

Shimek Opens Lecture Series Given by Staff of Botany Department.

The first of a series of lectures by members of the botanical staff was given last night by Prof. Bohumil Shimek. The lecture treated of the value of plants in war time. Professor Shimek brought out the fact that the war in Europe today is being fought to a great extent with materials made from plants.

The two other lectures of the series which have been announced are: "The German University and War," Prof. Bohumil Shimek, Tuesday, April 2, and "The Lakeside Laboratory," (Illustrated) by Prof. R. B. Wylie on April 9.

All lectures will be held in room 206, old science building.

TRACK MEETS SIGNED WITH CORNELL AND COE FOR APRIL 13-27

Pending Negotiations Were Completed By Officials Yesterday.

BALL TEAM TO GO WITH TRACK MEN

Track Artists are Rounding Into Fine Form—To Practice During Recess.

Dual track meets which have been pending for some time with Cornell and Coe have been officially sanctioned by both Colleges, according to a statement given out by the athletic department yesterday. Negotiations with the Cornell director were completed yesterday. The meet will be held at Cornell, April 13. The Coe contest will be played at Coe on the 27th of April.

Coincident with the track meet there will be a baseball game between the respective teams. Kent's nine will accompany Coach Watson's proteges to Cornell on the same day. Arrangements are under way to make the dual meet an "Iowa Day" at the Mt. Vernon college. It is probable that both teams will make the trip to Cornell in cars if the weather permits. Iowa will likewise be represented at Coe by the baseball and track team on the 27.

Seventy-five Men Out.

Seventy-five men are pounding the track on Iowa field every afternoon and creating a competition in the stride game which has heretofore never been excelled on Iowa field. Most of the men will remain during vacation to carry on their practice with an endeavor to land a place on the team which will represent Iowa at the next meet, for the Coach has announced that the team which represented Iowa at the Ames indoor meet is not necessarily the one which will uphold the Old Gold in the following meets.

Marasco trod the mile path last night at a fast clip. At each round of the homestreach he set a pace which made his competitors draw on their reserve energy. Younkin and Paige are rounding into splendid shape at the low hurdles and will doubtless be in tip top form by the end of vacation. Taylor in the pole vault is recovering from his recent injury and is once more acquiring his old time swing over the bar.

Track Fans Confident.

With the possibility that Greenwood and Struck will be eligible to enter track events track fans are confident for a well balanced team. Greenwood throws the discus. Struck takes part in the sprints and tips off the short distances in remarkable time.

Coach Watson believes that he will have a team to compete with Cornell which will give the Mt. Vernon opponents strenuous competition. It is evident that the team which will contest Cornell will be of a far different calibre than the one which went to Ames three weeks ago. That the squad has improved is evident beyond doubt to anyone who has watched the men during the season. Every anticipation is held forth for a representative team at the coming meets. The men are fairly confident and working hard.

SIGNS OF LIFE

"The past examination week brought to mind the times during the years past when we had four examinations in one day."

To the new students the present system probably did not mean much, but to those who have had the experience of taking four examinations in one day, the convenience and merit of the present system means a great deal."—Arizona Wildcat.

The above clipping from the student publication of the University of Arizona shows the manner in which the change from the hybrid examination system which we endure here to a system based on reason has been received by students at the western state university. We are told that this University has a faculty committee appointed to investigate the desirability of a change from the present examination system. No one would suspect the existence of such a committee without being told, for they do their work behind closed doors, if, indeed, they are doing any work.

In a matter in which the students' interests are so strikingly involved, it is well to counsel with the student now and then. Has our faculty committee done this? No!

If they should, as they ought, refer the matter to the student, they would surely find a well-defined dislike for the system which often forces the student to undergo three or four examinations on a single day and at the same time carry on his classroom work in his other courses. Believe The Daily Iowan or try it. Activity is desired.

We are confident that we represent the student body when we condemn the examination system in vogue here. And we believe furthermore that the obligation either to defend or to alter it rests upon the faculty and its special committee. The columns of this paper are open to those of you who would defend the system. Any observed rustle on the part of the special committee will be interpreted as a wakening from a prolonged sleep.

WHAT YOUR MONEY DOES

Students who subscribed for Liberty bonds last fall may be interested in knowing just what his money is doing toward winning the war. We are printing below a few of the possibilities, as prepared by the treasury department of the nation.

One $50 bond will buy trench knives for a rifle company, or 23 hand grenades, or 14 rifle grenades, or 37 cases of surgical instruments for enlisted men's belts, or 10 cases of surgical instruments for officers' belts.

A $100 bond will clothe a soldier, or feed a soldier for eight months, or purchase 5 rifles or 30 rifle grenades, or 43 hand grenades, or 25 pounds of ether, or 145 hot-water bags, or 2,000 surgical needles.

A $100 and a $50 bond will clothe and equip an infantry soldier for service overseas, or feed a soldier for a year.

Two $100 bonds will purchase a horse or mule for cavalry, artillery, or other service.

Three $100 bonds will clothe a soldier and feed him for one year in France, or buy a motorcycle for a machine-gun company.

Four $100 bonds will buy an X-ray outfit.

One $500 bond will supply bicycles for the headquarters company of an infantry regiment.

undermine the grounds upon which the convictions are based. Here is the root of all the evil. We cannot afford to be impatient. Impatience leads to intolerance, the fault in undergraduates which every man must take upon himself to stamp out of his make-up.

HOUSECLEANING TIME

The man who said that "in the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," never hung around home much. Spring to us suggests "the housecleaning days have come, the saddest of the year." We're not home now and this is just one time in the entire year when we thank our lucky Saturn and Venuses and all the rest, that we are where we are. For spring with its early signs brings forth the thoughts of housecleaning, and housecleaning always brings one to thoughts of house-leaving.

Remember how you had to work when the folks at home started the attack on every particle of dust that might have crept in during the winter? Weren't those carpets hard to beat? Wasn't it some work to get out the screens, dust them off and put them into place? How you swore up and down then, that if you ever got married you'd see to it that there'd be no housecleaning going on in your house!

The fence had to be painted; the old buggy was ordered washed, and the grass needed rolling; the chicken-coop fence needed repairs and hinges had to be put on the old barn door; father wanted that garden spaded so he could come home from work and have all the fun planting the seeds. Then when the radishes and lettuce grew, he pointed with pride to "his" products, when he knew all along that the spading was the hardest and most important part of the job.

All this had to be done when it was the kids' idea that the time had come for marbles, fishing, baseball, caddy, shinny, and all of the rest.

Love in spring? Not for those who have to help in housecleaning and everything else will be at the same time as before. Only, one hour of sunlight will take the place of one hour of artificial light.

CONTEMPORARY OPINION

CREDO QUA CREDO.
(The Daily Princetonian)

Colleges today are the breeders of many a type of man; in spite of all we hear to the contrary, there is no institution for education which harbors birds of one feather. At least one bird is common to them all—the intellectual egotist—he who ignores the existence of other points of view. If education gives us anything, it is the realization that in no faith or theory is there absolute truth. Science has produced the only certainties of which there can be no doubt; and the egotist invariably considers as scientific certainties those which are only relative. When he comes to a conclusion or makes a decision, it does not occur to him that a personal assurance might appear to another as an opinion open to suspicion, that after all every question admits two answers.

It has been said that men of strong intellect are never converted by argument; but it seems an axiom of justice that a man should attempt to appraise various views, to understand others rather than to persuade them. Too often things are taken for granted and preferences are maintained in the face of truth. Egotism may be cast off by the acquisition of a desire for evidence in forming judgments, and in dealing with opponent's blind attack upon convictions which never change them; one must be patient enough to French. The latter were so far from their base of supplies, however, that they were forced to retire without accomplishing the object of their mission.

(6) Is there any other connection between Iowa history and the military history of France?

In 1762, after the French and Indian War, France ceded all her claim to land west of the Mississippi to Spain, rather than to have it fall into the hands of England. Again, in 1803 Napoleon sold the Province of Louisiana, including the Iowa country, to the United States, partly because he needed funds with which to carry on his wars in Europe.

OUR APATHY

White moonlight filters thru the shadowed street;

Just moonlight here; in Flanders, dawning day.

The court-house clock chimes solemn and sweet;

St Quentin's hell is very far away.

The glowing students' house, with open doors,

Reveals bright glimpses of the drifting dance;

A lovelorn waltz strain hauntingly implores

And dies away; while over there in France

The future of the World lies with the might

Of that great God of Battles, who shall stay

Our British brothers in their heroic fight,

And help them thru this flame-crowned day.

The British line must hold! And over here

A fox-trot tinkles, rythmical and clear.

Eugene S. Guild

MEN WHO MARCH AWAY

What of the faith and fire within us

Men who march away

Ere the barn-cocks say

Night is growing gray,

To hazard whence no tears can win

us;
What of the faith and fire within us
Men who march away?

In our heart of hearts believing
Victory crowns the just,
And that braggarts must
Surely bite the dust,
March we to the field ungrueling
In our heart of hearts believing
Victory crowns the just.

—Thomas Hardy.

TAKES WASHINGTON POSITION

Edith McGrew, Kappa Kappa Gamma sophomore, has accepted a government position in Washington, D. C., and will leave today to begin on her new work. She has been in the University this year only since the beginning of the second semester.

THIS IS THE DAY

We love our school life—but there's no place like home! If some student—especially a girl—comes along with a hop, skip and jump today, instead of the usual and dignified walk worthy of University girls—why, you know then, that today Spring vacation starts.

All you need to do is to get off of the sidewalk and let her go merrily on her way. Talk about Xmas being the happiest day of the year—it isn't in it with March 27, 1918. You love your enemies and don't bear any grudge, not even the teacher who keeps you about four minutes after the bell rings.

at any time during the year has been absent from a drill or lecture will be required to make good the time lost. Makeup drills will be held on Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays of each week from 4:30 to 5:30 p. m. until all absences are made up. Cadets except officers who have no absences will not be required to attend makeup drills; all officers will attend until further orders. From this date, April 3, two lates will be counted as an absence from drill. An absence from a make-up drill will be an absence from drill. Any cadet who fails to make up his absences will be marked failed for the semester work and thereby lose his credits for that period.

RIFLES MUST BE CLEAN.

5. Each cadet is required to keep his rifle and equipment clean and to see that they are in a serviceable condition. Company commanders will be held responsible for the compliance with this order.

6. The cadet regiment will march in the Memorial Day parade May 30. This formation will be considered a drill and no one will be excused.

7. After companies have had an opportunity to get together on their drills, uniforms complete, rifles cleaned, etc., the commandant will minutely inspect the regiment and the company making the best record at this inspection will be excused from three consecutive drills with full credit for three hours' work.

8. The written examinations will be held about the middle of May and will cover the work prescribed in this order.

9. This order will be read to all organizations on March 21, and April 3 and 4.

RED CROSS WILL START CAMPAIGN FOR MORE FUNDS

Need $2,000 a Month At Least To Meet Needs of Iowa City Organization.

LOYALTY LEAGUE TO CANVASS CITY

Enormous Output Is Necessary To Supply Demands of 3500 French Hospitals.

A big Red Cross drive for the minimum pledging of $2,000 a month, will cover Iowa City Thursday and Friday of this week.

Under the auspices of the Loyalty league, effort will be made to cover the needs of the local Red Cross in the future. A thorough canvass of the city will be made, and every one will have an opportunity to subscribe his or her portion to be paid monthly during the remaining period of the war.

Payments will be collected monthly by officers of the local chapter, and all the handling of the money will be in the hands of the Iowa City division.

IOWA CITY CHAPTER ACTIVE.

"We are supplying at this time between 3500 and 4000 hospitals in France and all the gauze work must come from America," is the statement received from Mrs. John Glass, superintendent of surgical dressings for this district, a few days ago.

Since the organization of the Iowa City chapter to March 18, 1918, 174 yards of gauze alone has been used. In addition 11,700 yards of muslin, 7,000 yards of outing flannel, and 1,842 pounds of yarn have been made up into hospital supplies and articles of comfort for our soldiers in France.

For every $10. worth of material that is taken into the rooms, the value of the finished products which are shipped to France is placed at $46, according to the report from the central bureau at Washington.

DRESS WOUNDS WITH SAW DUST.

In Roumania right now, it is reported they are dressing wounds with saw dust in place of the much needed gauze bandages. That must not happen to American soldiers.

Not a single article is rejected. If a sweater or other garment is so far off specifications that it cannot be accepted for any use, it goes to the Belgian relief supply.

"It may bring him back to you" is the impetus sent out from the central division headquarters to prompt the untiring efforts of the Red Cross workers and to direct the campaign the last of this week.

LIBRARY INVENTORY

The library force will take advantage of the Easter recess and make an inventory to ascertain the exact number of volumes in the library.

Make It Two!

Coca-Cola is always a mighty welcome suggestion, whether the crowd's hot and "dry" or just wanting a glass of delicious refreshment. It's the favorite call of millions daily.

Demand the genuine by full name—nicknames encourage substitution.
