IOWA GETS CHAPTER OF THETA SIGMA PHI

DILL WILL DIRECT EXPEDITION PARTY ON THE GULF COAST

Will Collect Birds, Mammals and Reptiles in the Region of Mississippi Delta.

NATURAL GROUP TO BE REPRODUCED

Party Will Consist of Many Noted Curators, Ornithologists and Skilled Helpers.

Prof. Homer R. Dill of the vertebrate museum left last night to conduct a party of national experts in a trip to the islands at the mouth of the Mississippi and along the Gulf coast to the Texas border, for the purpose of securing material for a large new group in the University museum. The party hopes to obtain a complete collection of the birds, mammals, and reptiles of the region, to take numerous photographs and to secure specimens of plants, flowers, trees and foliage. A large natural group will be made in the museum of this material, showing the rookeries of the birds and the swamps in which the alligators, snakes, and other reptiles are found

An important feature of the trip will be an alligator hunt. Old settlers have reported the discovery of numerous giant alligators in this region. Many of the specimens to be collected are of birds and animals now exceedingly rare. Among these are the almost extinct snowy heron and the roseate spoonbill which is now found only on the state reservations. The major part of the expenses of the expedition will be met by friends and alumni of the University.

The members of the party will meet Professor Dill in New Orleans and from there proceed by boat to the islands and the Gulf coast. The party is as follows: Alfred Bailey, a former student in the University and now curator of the Louisiana State museum, T. Gilbert Pearson of New York, secretary of the National Audubon society, who will go as far as Pelican island where he will make a special study of the fish that are used as food by the pelicans; Dr. Stanton Arthur, state ornithologist of Louisiana, who will assist Professor Dill in making a survey of the state reservations on the islands. All other members of the party will be skilled helpers.

E. A. McIlhenny, owner of one of the larger islands of the group, has given the party permission to collect specimens of birds there. He has also offered the use of his cottage as a laboratory and sleeping quarters for the party, and has placed his fine private yacht at its disposal.

PHARMACISTS DEMANDED

Dean W. J. Teeters of the college of pharmacy has received a letter from the dean of the medical college of the University of West Virginia, asking for two men or women competent to teach pharmacy. He claims that, unless two instructors can be secured, the pharmacy department will have to be closed.

250 LEAVE THE UNIVERSITY

Since the beginning of the school year last fall two hundred and fifty students have left the University, one hundred and twenty-one of them entering some branch of the army. The other one hundred and twenty-nine left for various reasons, such as to accept teaching positions, on account of illness, financial matters, to get married, to take up other lines of work, and so on. Seventy-five have gone since the beginning of the second semester.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR THE DUAL TRACK MEET ON SATURDAY

Large Number of Points Piled Up By Well Balanced Team Will Win Meet.

NEBRASKA DEFEATS CYCLONE TEAM

Greenwood, Justin, Bauma, Berrien and Young Will Perform in Respective Events.

Iowa's overwhelming victory over Coe last Saturday and the decisive defeat of the Ames track team by Nebraska has brightened Iowa's prospects of winning in the Iowa-Ames dual track meet at Ames next Saturday and has lessened considerably the heretofore prevalent feeling of Ames track superiority.

The records at the Iowa-Coe meet in the two-mile, mile and half-mile, quarter, low hurdles, mile relay, half mile relay, discus, high jump and broad jump were better than those at the Ames-Nebraska meet although the rain and heaviness of the track at Nebraska necessarily made the time slow.

Ames Second in Hurdles

The absence of Ames' crack distance quartet who won first in the four-mile relay at the Penn relays also weakened the Ames team and threw the distance to Nebraska. However, Ames was unable to place in the 100, 220, and 440 yard dashes, events in which Watson's athletics are strong and were only able to

FRESHMEN GIRLS CHALLENGE SOPHS

Material of Both Classes Is About Evenly Matched, 'Tis Said.

Unable to keep to the sidelines longer, the freshman girls' baseball team has challenged the sophomore team to another game to be played Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Those who watched the first game between these two classes will remember that after the first inning the freshmen held even with the upper-class girls, and that it was only during the excitement at the start that the sophomores ran away with the score.

Girls on the freshman team are: p. Helen Evans, c. Cornetta Grothaus, f. b. Edith Law, s. b. Joyce Brady, t. b. Iva Baker, s. s. Helen Von Lackum and Lola Long, fielders Helen Hayes, Claribel Wright, and Barbara Chase, substitutes Olive Bateman, Margaret Briggs, and Margaret Mulroney.

All women are invited to attend the game.

MUSICAL ARTISTS OF RENOWN IN SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA CONCERT

Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra Here May 6 Made Up of Famed Musicians.

HARD TO TRANSPORT INSTRUMENTS

Twenty Kinds of Instruments Make Up Orchestra—Oberhoffer is Conductor.

The personnel of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra which is to give two concerts at the armory, May 6th consists of artists trained in the greatest music centers of the world. Petrograd, Berlin, Praigue, Brussels, Rome, Paris, and Munich, are only some of the European cities in which the players and soloists of this great musical organization studied. Christine Schutz, contralto, Idelle Patterson, soprano, Allen McQuhae, tenor, Royal Dadmun, baritone, make up the vocal soloists of the Symphony while Bruno Labate, oboist, Cornelius Van Vliet, 'cellist, Richard Czerwonty, violinist, and Henry J. Williams, harpist, are the instrumental soloists.

Not only is each soloist a master in his art but every individual in the orchestra is a virtuoso with years of training in his art, and has a fine interpretation of the great composers. The ability to be a conductor of such a group of musicians is significent of Emil Oberhoffer's genius.

There are twenty different kinds of instruments in the orchestra. First violins, second violins, violas, 'cellos, double-basses, harp, flutes, piccolo, oboes, English horn, clarinets, bass clarinet, bassoons, contra bassoon, horns, trumpets, trombones, tuba, kettle-drums, and various percussion instruments make up the media through which the artists express themselves.

The delicate mechanism and the high cost of these instruments make their transportation an exceedingly difficult matter like their players they are tempermental and the least jarring is apt to mar their harmony.

SECOND HOME EC. SHOW TO BE THIS AFTERNOON

The second home economics food show will be held today from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock. The saving of sugar will be stressed. Sugarless sweets are to be obtained with recipes and directions. An admission of ten cents will be charged to cover cost of "tastes".

SCHOFIELD DELIVERS PATRIOTIC ADDRESS SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Harvard Professor and President Jessup Stir Audience With Appeals for Patriotism.

NEW SPIRIT CREATED THROUGH WAR

Everywhere College Men Realize That They are Privileged to Answer Call to Duty.

Patriotism was truly the feature of the mass meeting held in natural science auditorium yesterday afternoon. President W. A. Jessup delivered a stirring appeal for all to pledge their loyalty to the cause of right. The University band gave several fitting selections.

Professor Schofield is now exchange professor at Grinnell and he was formerly representative at Copenhagen, Paris and Berlin. He knew that the hand of Germany was ready to strike at an innocent world. The issue at stake was realized by the men in position who knew the real situation. Pathetic emotion and sympathy was shared with the speaker when he declared "the spirit of our war is one of chivalry for the weak and the distressed and for the cause of justice."

DISCUSS COMMENCEMENT PLANS

Professor Ensign Appointed Head of Commencement Committee.

Commencement plans were discussed and plans were laid for the graduation of the senior class in June at a meeting of the commencement committee in Old Capitol Saturday morning. The meeting was called by President Jessup who informed the members that he would like to have the commencement function observed this year in such a way as to uphold the traditional program of sending seniors out into the world of affairs.

In the absence of Keith Hammill, secretary of the alumni association, Professor F. C. Ensign has been appointed chairman of the commencement committee. The other faculty members of the committee are: Capt. A. C. Wright, F. C. Eastman, Dan E. Clark, J. H. Dunlap, E. H. Lauer, C. H. Weller, Frank Thayer, W. E. Hays, E. M. McEwen, C. A. Cumming, H. F. Goodrich, Clara M. Daley, and M. Aleeth Willard, Vergil M. Hancher, president of the senior class, and Mary Kinnavey are student members of the committee.

PROFESSIONAL FRAT FOR WOMEN GRANTED TO UNIVERSITY GIRLS

First Woman's Professional Fraternity on Campus Given to Girls in Journalism

15 WOMEN PETITION FOR CHAPTER

Theta Sigma Phi Has Chapters in Fifteen Institutions With Journalistic Standing.

A chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, the honorary journalistic sorority, was granted to fifteen petitioning members of the Iowa Woman's Journalistic club at the national convention of the Theta Sigma Phi held at Lawrence, Kansas, April 25-27.

The charter members of the fraternity at Iowa will be: Vivian Carpenter, Agnes Dawson, Marian Dyer, Elizabeth Hendee, Alice Hinkley, Gretchen Kane, Agnes Kingsbury, Mary Kinnavey, Marjorie Peters, Ferne Richardson, Ruth Rogers, Beth Wellman, Rowena Wellman, Ethlyn Williams, Mildred Whitcomb.

Organized at Washington

Iowa will be the sixteenth chapter of the honorary woman's journalictic fraternity to be installed. The first chapter was organized at the University of Washington. Chapters have since been installed at Kansas, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Missouri, Oklahoma. Ames received a chapter last June and was installed shortly after Thanksgiving.

In order to become a member of this organization women must be entering journalism as their life work and have high standing in the profession. Other academic scholarship is also considered as well as the all round activity of the members.

Chapter Quickly Granted

Iowa believes that she has established a record in the dispatch in which the chapter was received. The women organized into the Iowa Woman's Journalistic club or the Hawkeye Scoops, Limited, last fall and received faculty approval of their constitution in November. In February the first inquiries were made of the national president of Theta Sigma Phi. Since then the girls have been busy compiling their records. Their petition and recommendations were presented to the national convention held at Kansas, and there met an unanimous vote of approval.

The officers of the club for the year have been: president, Mildred Whitcomb; corresponding secretary, Marian Dyer; secretary-treasurer, Rowena Wellman. All upperclass girls who were or had been actively engaged in journalism were eligible for membership. Two members of the club were not among the petitioners since they did not intend to enter journalism as a profession. The grades of the petitioners from the registrar's office ranked almost at the top of the list of both social and professional sororities and fraternities.

JOURNALISTIC IDEALS

Some persons like to emphasize the irregular things of life. When reviewing their past experiences they delight to tell of wicked deeds. That is an individual matter. However, when such individuals relate incidents that reflect upon the dignity and ideals of their profession, others have the right to rise in its defense.

Newspaper men and women used to stoop to almost any means to gain their end. Tricks involving petty robbery and false representation were considered only an evidence of the reporter's cleverness. That day is past. Some yellow journals may permit such practices, but the average newspaper collects its news in a legitimate and honorable fashion.

A recent lecturer on journalism at the University gave the impression that although dishonorable methods are not used extensively on newspapers, it is better to get stories by fair means if possible. Woman reporters can get good stories without jollying the men along, and it is unnecessary to flirt with the man being interviewed in order to cover a given assignment. It is better, the speaker declared, not to do this.

The mere consideration of such low journalistic ideals is repulsive to the worker on a good newspaper. The average publication not only discourages such boldness, but it refuses to tolerate it. The woman in the newspaper office must be as highly refined as the woman in any other occupation or profession.

Speakers should be extremely cautious in addressing young audiences to picture things in their true light, and not to trail the standards of their profession in the dust.

THETA SIGMA PHI

The young women of the University who are enrolled in the course in journalism and who are members of the Iowa Women's Journalistic club are to be congratulated upon their election to Theta Sigma Phi, journalistic sorority. The convention which just closed at the University of Kansas showed wisdom in granting the petition of the Iowa women ,for they are capable and determined to make the most of their profession.

The honor is indeed a signal one, for Theta Sigma Phi is the first professional women's sorority to receive a chapter in the University of Iowa.

Theta Sigma Phi is an organization of college women who are desirous of entering some form of the newspaper or periodical business as a life work. The sorority was organized at the University of Washington in 1909. Until the recent convention at Lawrence there were fourteen active chapters. This year the University of Illinois as well as the University of Iowa were added to the roll, making sixteen chapters in all.

The new president of Theta Sigma Phi is Marion Lewis of the Minneapolis Journal, a woman of high professional ideals and forceful ability in daily newspaper endeavor. She will undoubtedly guide this fraternity of women to still higher paths of usefulness. The Iowa chapter is fortunate in coming into the organization under her leadership. And the young women here are fortunate in gaining entrance into a professional band designed to aid college women in a great service, the service of public opinion.

HAVE YOU BOUGHT YOURS?

The week beginning May 4 and ending May 11 has been set apart by Governor W. L. Harding as Thrift Pledge week. Iowa has been asked to purchase forty-eight million dollars worth of these securities during the year ending Dec. 31, 1918. Up to this time, only six million dollars worth have been purchased.

In order to meet the request of the government and complete our quota, every man, woman, and child in the state, and students certainly come in one of these classes, must purchase at least twenty dollars worth of stamps. This type of investment, it seems to The Daily Iowan, is the most logical for students, for the payments can be met easily by saving, whereas Liberty loan subscriptions require actual production or communication with the home folks.

Have you bought your thrift stamps yet?

What Others Think

The Daily Iowan will gladly print and communications from students or faculty members. The writer must sign the article to show his good faith in sending it, but no name will be printed if the sender so designates.

"UP STAIRS AND DOWN" AT ENGLERT THURSDAY

That particularly successful comedy, "Upstairs and Down", by the Chicago critic-playwrights, Frederick and Fanny Hatton, is to be a May month attraction in this city. The bright satirical lines and the amusing situations that have been furnished this merry play by its authors, and th story they have told have served to kaap audiences in gales of laughter wherever it has been presented. "Upstairs and Down" has a record of one year in New York City; four months at the Cort theater, Chicago; two months in Boston and one month in Philadelphia. Oliver Morosco is to present his big laughing success with practically the same clever and competent cast that has been identified with the play's long career during its coming engagement at the Englert Theater, Thursday, May 2.

propoganda, practiced dishonesty and ruthlessness, but their nation has never known ancient chivalry and they can not exist. We will get rid of them and they will find out that it does not pay to waste themselves as tigers in lust.

"They have repudiated Christianity because their people were first born Germans and then they became Christians.

"Plans have been made for their next war, but there will never be a next war, they will be so badly beaten in this one."

College Man Knows Duty.

Prof. Schofield said, "I do not know how you feel about it out here, but in the East we have been seriously in the war since the start.

"Our boys slipped off one by one from school during the early months of the great struggle. Not for adventure, but for the saving of humanity, they have consecrated their bodies for their soul's desire. Thirty-eight of our Harvard sons fell before America's entrance.

"They, too, like Alan Seegar and many more have found their "Rendezvous with Death.

"College men everywhere have realized that they were the privileged ones and they have felt the solemn call to duty. They are risking their all for the cause of justice, they understand. Our boys have a new vision of the world and we ourselves are on the horizon of the sea of inspiration.

Realization of New Spirit.

Then the theme of the masterful address brought a world of meaning to his hearers when he made a plea for us at home to be worthy of our boys consecration. As the gold stars increase in our service flags let us adopt an attitude of humility and pride.

"The war is breathing out a new spirit of democracy and religion day by day. Our men realize and know the spiritual things in 'No Man's Land' and we shall live our nobler lives through the realization of young America's consecration," concluded Professor Schofield.

place second in the hurdles and half mile races in which Iowa scored a shut-out against Coe.

Young will probably be eligible for the Ames meet and as he is running the two mile close to 10-30, he will bolster up considerably Iowa's weak distance crew. Greenwood in the sprints and discus, Bauma in the javelin, Berrien in the broad jump, and Justin in the 100 yard dash performed exceptionally well last Saturday and are expected to show the Cyclone tracksters a classy line of goods in their respective events.

Ames' mile relay team took Iowa's dust at the Drake relays and barring accidents will probably suffer from shortness of breath next Saturday. Iowa's half mile relay team won in the time of 1:30 4-5 while Nebraska beat Ames to the tape with 1:51 in this event.

Ames Excels in Mile Run

Ames has without question the best coterie of distance runners in the United States and will likely win every point in the two mile and mile runs, but the best distance runner in the world is good for only about one race and can win only five points. It is a large number of points piled up by a well-balanced team that wins a meet more than a national reputation in one or two events.

PROFESSIONAL FRAT TO UNIVERSITY GIRLS

The general activity of the club and the fact that one issue of The Daily Iowan is put out each week by the women is thought by the women to have reacted in their favor. The programs of the Scoops club have always taken the form of experience meetings, and tips from their own journalistic experience have been related by the members. Outside speakers on journalistic topics have included Anna Dawson, managing editor of the Washington County Press, Dr. Sudhindra Bose, experienced on newspapers in India, Prof. C. H. Weller, University editor, and Kitty Kelley of the Chicago Examiner.

Almost all of the petitioners have had practice on their home town or other papers besides journalistic training in the University. Mary Kinnavey has been society editor of the Davenport Democrat, and Gretchen Kane reporter on the Iowa City Citizen and substitute city editor of the Iowa City Press. Alice Hinkley, Marian Dyer, and Vivian Carpenter have worked on the Des Moines News. Agnes Kingsbury has reported on several papers and has been correspondent for several city dailies. Most of the other members of the club have had outside journalistic experience.

Have Prominent Members

Miss Helen Bennett of Chicago who spoke here recently was on the program at the national convention at Kansas last week. Miss Bennett is an honorary member of the Kansas chapter of Theta Sigma Phi. Mrs. Margaret Hill McCarter, Zona Gale, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, Dana Gatlin are also honorary members of some of the chapters near here.

No word has been received from the national officers as to when the Iowa chapter will be installed. A telegram Sunday announced that the chapter had been unanimously granted. The fifteen Iowa women hope to be installed this spring.

DUBUQUE HOME SERVICE CHAPTER WAS SUCCESSFUL

The chapter course in home service held at Dubuque April 23, 24, and 25, was the most successful chapter which has been held by the extension division, according to O. E. Klingaman, director of the extension division. This is the last of the district chapters which will be held, for the meetings from now on will embrace only one county.

Plans are going forward for the organization of the different counties. Mrs. Max Mayer of Iowa City has been busy the past week organizing northern Iowa, and Mrs. Jarvis of Oskaloosa will organize the territory around Oskaloosa.
