UNIVERSITY WORK TO BE CONTINUED DESPITE INFLUENZA

Quick Action on Part of Medical Authorities Prevents Spread of Epidemic

SUSPECTED STUDENTS ARE ISOLATED

Few Actual Cases Among Students—Campus Under Military Guard

Immediate and effective action in making precautions to prevent the spread of influenza has forestalled the need of closing down the University although some institutions have abandoned all activity.

The University is under military administration and is not affected by the orders passed by the city board of health yesterday, prohibiting public gatherings.

Every student must undergo a medical examination. Guards halt all persons entering or leaving the campus. No one is permitted on the campus except students, faculty members, and members of the administration, and they only upon presentation of permit cards signed by Capt. George W. Robertson.

Authorities have isolated 227 cases suspected to be influenza, in hospitals, and 119 men are in quarters with colds. Twenty-four hours is the required time to ascertain whether the case is that of influenza.

Isolation hospitals have been provided in Psi Omega house, the Sigma Nu house and the law building, in addition to the University isolation hospital. Two floors of one wing of Currier hall are being used for suspected cases among the girls.

Tents are being placed near the women's gymnasium for those men who are unaffected. A number of well soldiers who were quartered in the law building have moved across to the children's hospital on the West Side.

"We are examining all cases which are likely to develop into contagious diseases," President W. A. Jessup said yesterday. "This is merely a preventive measure. Although it is an inconvenience, it is merely a safeguard to the institution and the city."

The complete hospital staff of nearly 40 physicians 180 nurses and military officers, is in charge of the campaign to prevent the spread of the epidemic. The military headquarters of the S. A. T. C. in case of emergency, were removed to the hospital Thursday. All physical examinations of the men were suspended Oct. 1 for the duration of the epidemic and will not be resumed until further notice. Lectures in physical hygiene are being given to the men daily.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Doolittle will be interested in the announcement of the arrival of a baby son at their home in Pittsburg, Penn., Sept. 1. Mrs. Doolittle will be remembered here as Miss Elsie Kensingler, a member of the class of 1915. Mr. Doolittle also took his degree here and is at present an instructor in the Carnegie Institute of Technology.

CO-OPERATE TO COMBAT THE INFLUENZA

By President W. A. Jessup

To the members of the Instructional Staff:

We are at the present time having an extensive epidemic of influenza.

We desire to have the university work continue with as little interference as possible and at the same time do not desire to have the infection spread through the medium of the class room.

You are therefore asked to instruct students and observe additional precautions as follows:

1. Instruct your classes regarding the nature and methods of spread of influenza. Also that for the present and continuing for the next few weeks every "cold", no matter how mild should be regarded as a case of influenza, and proper precautions taken accordingly.

2. In case you are affected by a "cold" or influenza so mild that you feel that you can carry on your regular work, it is recommended that during the class period you cover your nose and mouth with gauze—at least three layers in thickness—or in the absence of such, with a handkerchief, even though it is not necessary to cough or sneeze.

We are sure you appreciate the seriousness of the situation and that we may count on your hearty cooperation in limiting the spread of influenza.

The prevalence of communicable disease is such as to warrant the University in exercising the most vigorous regulations relative to the health of the University community.

The following regulations, based on directions from the state epidemiologist, are to be observed:

1. All members of the University unit,—students, instructors and helpers, will be subjected to periodical health examinations.

2. Students will be directed to cover their mouths and noses with clean handkerchiefs or clean gauze when they sneeze or cough.

3. Instructors will report to the main office, University Hospital, telephone 70, the name of any student who neglects to so cover his mouth and nose when he coughs or sneezes.

4. Instructors will report to the main office of the University hospital, telephone 70, the name of any student whom they believe to be suffering from influenza, a cold, or any other disease.

5. The matrons of dormitories, sorority houses and rooming houses will report to the main office, University Hospital, telephone 70, the names of students who, on account of sickness, are unable to attend classes.

PATRIOTIC LEAGUE GAINS MEMBERS

University's Scheme to Develop Patriotism Successful

The Iowa Patriotic league which has been organized by the Extension Division under the direction of Miss Jessie P. Hastings now has a membership of 35,456 taken from 351 high schools of the state.

The State council of defense is promoting the league, the purpose of which is to train the youth of the state in effective citizenship and through this to lay the foundation of a higher, more constructive, and more intelligent public opinion.

Miss Hastings is a graduate of the University and has done special work at the University of Chicago and Columbia. She also has had considerable experience in the high schools of Iowa.

A complete library service will be instituted for the league by the University which will provide newspaper and magazine clippings as well as books and pamphlets written for this express purpose.

The high school students in the league will learn to combat fallacious arguments and to discuss contemporary topics. A monthly leaflet will be published as an official news organ of the league.

The Hotel Jefferson has engaged a ladies' trio, composed of violin, cello, and piano, to fill the vacancy left by the men who have been called into the army during the past summer. The government orders prevent the members of the Student Army Training Corps from doing outside work, and for this reason the members of last year's quintet have had to turn over their positions.

ORGANIZE CAMP COMMUNITY SERVICE

Iowa City Cooperates in Offering Hospitality to Students

In order that Iowa City may do her part in offering hospitality to the newly-formed Students' Army Training Corps, a local branch of the War Camp Community Service has been formed here.

The activities of the War Camp Community Service will be conducted by nine committees, representing the different departments of work. These committees are: canteen, girls' work, camp mothers, entertainment, church, commercial regulations, accommodations and hospitality, music, and girls' protective.

The various committees will endeavor to furnish entertainment for the students who are quartered here, to engage in war activities, and to see that the relation between the town and the students is all that may be desired.

The War Camp Community Service will work in cooperation with the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A. and the K. C. in securing organized hospitality in Iowa City.

LITERARY SOCIETIES MEET

Four of the five women's literary societies have announced meetings for members, this week. Hesperians will be entertained at the home of their president, Romola Latchem, on Gilbert street, Tuesday evening at 7:30. Athena society will meet at 4:30, Monday in the liberal arts drawing room. Whitby and Octave Thanet will meet on Tuesday evening, in the liberal arts building; Whitby in room 116 at 7:15 and Octave Thanet at 7:30 in the drawing room. Erodephian has not yet made arrangements for its first meeting.

SUNDAY VESPERS POSTPONED

On account of the epidemic of Spanish influenza among members of the S. A. T. C. the university authorities have deemed it necessary to postpone Vesper services Sunday.

Dr. Dwight Witherspoon Wiley, formerly of Iowa City, but now of Philadelphia was to have been the speaker for the occasion and an attractive musical program had been arranged. Owing to the danger of infection, the university authorities have decided to abandon the holding of any public meetings of the students until the epidemic has been checked.

IOWA HAS BEST TEAM IN EIGHTEEN YEARS

Walter Eckersall of Chicago Tribune Says Promises Are Great For This Year

That the University of Iowa eleven for this year is the best football team that has represented the institution since 1900, when the Hawkeye claimed the western championship, is the contention of Walter Eckersall, sports writer for the Chicago Tribune.

Eckersall declares that the form shown by the Iowa men in the game with the Great Lakes Naval Training station was worthy for any opponent.

Although the recent war department ruling may prevent the Hawkeyes from playing some important games, they have already displayed enough ability to prove that they can meet almost any team he says.

The team is not heavy, but is fast and works with clocklike precision. A good punter is the one essential lacking, in Eckersall's opinion, and will probably be found before long. The following material in Iowa is rewritten from the Tribune sports man:

Speedy plays devised by Coach Howard Jones and the open formations in which the men are being groomed are proving very successful. Marked skill in the forward pass was shown in the game with the Jackies, when ten out of thirteen passes were completed.

Practically every member of the team deserves individual praise. Captain Reed, at left end, is an aggressive player of great value. In the tussle with the sailors, he caught most of the forward passes.

Smith and Worth at the other end, Slater, the 200 pound lineman, Greenwood and Block at tackle, Heidt at center and Mockmore and Hunzelman, are doing splendid work and show much promise.

The backfield is especially strong with Kelly, Scott and Lohman.

Dr. V. H. Young, for the last two years assistant professor of botany at the University has recently been head of the department of botany at head of the department of batany at the University of Idaho, Moscow, Idaho. During the summer, Dr. Young was employed on research work in connection with the spoilage of food products in storage and transit by the U. S. Bureau of Plant Industry. Mrs. Young will be remembered as a student of the University.

HAWKEYES OUTPLAY NEBRASKA IN FAST GRIDIRON CONTEST

Two Touchdowns in Third Quarter Turn Game Into Brilliant Victory

FORWARD PASS GETS FIRST SCORE

Opponents Thoroughly Outclassed By Varsity In Straight Line Plunges

Special to The Iowan

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 5—Iowa defeated Nebraska by outplaying the Cornhuskers in the third period through the scoring of two touchdowns here today. "The Iowa team carried the ball 60 yards by straight plunges to the five yard line and then scored by a cleverly executed pass. Before the Nebraska players could recover from the effect of permitting their opponents to score Iowa rushed the ball for 40 yards by consistent ground gaining for the second touchdown.

Iowa was within two feet of another touchdown when time was called.

Iowa's fighting football men, accompanied by Coach Jones, Coach Kent, Jack Watson, left Friday night for Lincoln to meet the Cornhuskers in the first contest of the year between Iowa and one of the teams of the Missouri Valley conference.

The Varsity had its final practice Friday afternoon, running through the signals with attention to minor faults pointed out by the coaches. The line charged with a fighting spirit such as was displayed last Saturday in the contest with Great Lakes. The backfield found plenty of holes in the scrub line and gave every evidence of championship form.

Line in Shape

The line was intact with the exception of Hunselman, who is confined in the hospital with a bad cold.

Reed and Smith worked on the line extremities and both players grabbed passes with accuracy. From present indications Capt. Reed is on the high road to all western end. Smith, who is an all state tackle is making good at end. Greenwood, another scrappy tackle continues to be a tower of strength both offensively and defensively. He plays an aggressive game and shows the true Iowa Fight spirit. Former Captain Waddie Davis is playing a fighting game true to his style of 1917 football. Slater continues to tear holes in most any combination the scrubs manage to effect.

Are Real Guards

Mockmore and Synhorst, men weighing over 200, are proving real guards. Heidt, the center, is a new man, but has given indications of being first rate material.

Iowa's set of backs are undoubtedly the fastest since the days of Gross, Dick, McGinnis. In Lohman, Iowa has an excellent forward passer and his line plunging ability has been of the best in all the practice games of the year.

IOWA OR BECKER FIELD?

This is a day of quick decisions. Military judgments are instantaneous; the masses have grown accustomed to immediate readjustments; even Congress has curtailed the utterances of LaFollettelunged orators.

Comes now a man bestirred by true patriotism who says: "Iowa's greatest athlete has given the ultimate sacrifice. Let us name our stadium in his honor that his name may be perpetuated in University annals, as befits a hero. We will rechristen Iowa Field as a tribute to the first and possibly the greatest Iowa athlete to fall in The world conflict."

The emotional appeal for such a change is powerful. Driven by patriotic appreciation for a magnificent death and moving hastily under the stress of present conditions, officials might be swayed to a ready acceptance of the proposal. Becker was a great soldier, as he was a man and athlete. As such his fame will not perish. No need exists to safeguard his memory. Iowa has and will have other great stars of the gridiron who perhaps may be called to a death as glorious. No field will carry their name to posterity.

Although it is splendid to die on the field of battle, it is ever as heroic to live a life of service. For fourteen years on this campus a man gave lavishly and unremittingly his store of judgment and wisdom, and he made Iowa athletics what they are. Fourteen years of trusty service, so unceasing and whole-souled as to weaken his physical resistance, should create for Professor A. G. Smith a tribute of value equal that of a brilliant death.

But why Smith Field or anything but Iowa Field? By that name is it known and at no time has it been associated with dishonor. It is the logical name. Iowa Field means the the University field, not a green on which Iowa College boys may romp or a plot on which Iowa State whips up a second rate football squad. Iowa, the University, will endure when the names of its sons have been obliterated, and Iowa Field will reflect and spread its glory.

PARING POTATOES

Paring potatoes is an estimable task, but wielding a paring knife involves no larger degree of courage or moral tenacity. In the light of current happenings, bayonet practice would seem a shade more manly. Yet our campus harbors a few that have chosen the endless routine of peeling potatoes to the training of brain and muscle for a righteous war. Some charitable person designated these domestically inclined fellows conscientious objectors, and the misnomer has clung.

Time was when the world admired the man who stood foursquare for his convictions in the face of derision and punishment. Of such stuff were martyrs. Just now indignant nations rightly have neither respect nor pity for the man who suffers the excruciation of jeers and mental torture through dogged blindness to fact. An objector nowadays must be conscientious to a right ideal; his objections must be logical.

The type of conscientiousness that allows a man to sit in a warm and cozy kitchen, head bowed over a pan of potatoes, while outside in the extremes of weather his countrymen learn to aim instruments of war against an aggressive and rapacious enemy receives more charity from military authorities than it deserves. While a peaceloving citizen fights to gain peace for the world's weak, both individuals and nations, the objector scrapes potatoes and smokes in comfortable conscientiousness. His religion, he says, forbids him more.

A man's religion is his attitude toward men, life, God. It is not the creed teaching him that war is an unholy means to an unholy end. A religion involves thought; a creed, credulity. When the objector gets beyond creeds into religion, conscientious of what he has heard about France and Belgium, and then becomes conscientious to his religion, the potato pan will be given over to a limited service man and a conscientious fighter will be bayoneting his way up Unter den Linden.

LETTERS FROM OUR SOLDIERS

Somewhere in France. August 20, 1918.

Hello Bill; How is everything in the States? Everything is O. K. over here. But I sure do think of you people every once in a while. I wonder how things are running at good old Iowa. Gee, they were good old days there, but a fellow doesn't realize it until he gets over here, living on hard tack and sleeping wherever he can find a place. But we haven't a complaint to make. We can't expect feather beds and a banquet at each meal over here.

I wasn't called into service until May 25th, but I have been over here about a month, so you see I made a quick trip. I didn't even get any drill or training in the states but I kept my eyes open and I haven't pulled a boner yet. (I better knock on wood.) I was sent to Ft. Sill and came across with a regular army outfit. This is a swell bunch, mostly West Point officers and real fellows. This regiment didn't have a dentist for two years before two of us joined it in May, so you see there is enough work for ten dentists. The first thing Capt. Paquin and I did was to examine each man. Then for ten days we did nothing but extractions a day. When I was in practice I let the other fellow do the extractions. I lacked the nerve but believe me after the experience here there will be no other fellow when I get back. I surely was lucky in getting to work with Capt. Paquin of St. Louis, he is an associate of Dr. Winter and worked with him a lot. So I get all the benefit of that.

You ought to see my office here. At present it is an old broken down barn with cows around me. It sure is some office. But we do the business at that. We are billeted in a town of about 2000 population. They never had a dentist here before so the natives turn out and watch me work. I have been doing extractions for them; they seem to like it. But last week we noticed that our novocain supply was getting low so we started to inject sterile water only; since then they seem to keep shy of us. I don't blame them at that.

We have been working at dentistry in the afternoon only, as I take a 10 to 15 mile hike every morning with the regiment. We have to stand reveille and retreat and all formations. So a dentist over here catches thunder. We had it soft at Ft. Sill but it's a lot different over here. We received orders this week telling us what to take to the ring line. So by the time you receive this will be up where the fun is. Am anxious to get there.

We had quite an air raid the third night we were in France. We had arrived at a depot in a certain city, to entrain for here. It was after midnight; all of a sudden, they started to let go shrapnel and high explosive bombs. They tried for the depot but missed us about 50 yards on each shot. That was plenty close enough to suit me. It was sure some sight. Since then we have got it a few times but a person's first experience like that, is the one he will always remember.

I met Drs. Wright and Lauck at a sea coast camp. They were Delta Sigs. It sure seemed good to see them. They were practising at rest camps and have it soft. But I wouldn't trade places with them, as they won't ever get up to the front. They seem as "locky" as ever.

Well, Bill let me hear from you once in a while. Let me know how Iowa-Ames game comes out at least. Will Iowa have a good team this year?

If you have any dental magazines extra send me a couple. You don't get them over here. You are allowed to send them. If you can't send them, tell the house in Des Moines to do it. I would give $5.00 for a dental digest.

Will see you a year from this Xman.

Truly yours, Lt. G. P. SPICER, 78th F. A., A. E. F.

THE COLLEGE WORLD

Grinnell college has added military drill to girls' athletic work there. Gardening is also a major outdoor sport for the college girls. The vegetables they planted last spring are now ready to harvest.

One thousand S. A. T. C. men are quartered in fraternity houses at Indiana university.

The University of Missouri has approximately 1,500 university students in its S. A. T. C. unit. A vocational unit of 500 is in training on the campus at Columbia.

A chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the honorary journalistic fraternity, has been granted to Grinnell college. Boys in the University high school of Missouri are taking home economics. A course in army cooking is being offered.

Class elections at Ohio State university have been postponed on account the unusual rush at the registrar's office. Eligibility slips cannot be issued until later.

Elsa Dethlefs, Alpha Xi Delta, who has been teaching school at Nashua this year is spending the week end in Iowa City.

Gladys Abel, Alpha Xi Delta is visiting in Moline this week end.

Mary Kinnavey, Alpha Xi Delta, arrived in Iowa City yesterday to attend the funeral of Robert Dunham.

A Word of Cheer from President Emeritus Thomas H. Macbride

I am asked what are my thoughts on returning to see the University a cantonment; its men in uniform, its halls barracks crowded with tramping soldiers, its courses of study confused.

Well, in the first place I rejoice in the loyalty and cordiality with which the universities and colleges of the whole country have put all their resources and equipment at the service of the Republic at this hour of the world's extremest need. In particular I am glad that, thanks to the men of old, Iowa has a university great enough and fine enough to meet this unexampled call.

In the second place the situation is not without great compensations.

B. I. F. F. "With Malice toward All and Charity for None."

That Liberty shall not perish from the earth, this column has been drafted, inducted, and barracked, as one place in which full liberties may be taken with all the powers that be, and vengeance wreaked upon even those whose duty it is to guide the weary mind of youth. The quotation that adorns our portals, adopted as it is from the work of our fellow-scribbler, B. V. D., expresses with accuracy and precision the creed for which we stand.

O noble lads of the S. A. T. C., take heart! One voice has been heard that brings you sympathy and consolation. A sweet young thing at flag-raising was heard to object in greatest indignation to "that bossy officer who ordered the boys around." Next time you languish in K. P. be cheered by the thought that there is one who understands.

PRECAUTIONS SUGGESTED TO PREVENT INFLUENZA

1. Isolation of cases and separation of cases.

2. Covering the mouth and nose when coughing or sneezing.

3. Nothing should be placed in the mouth or nose which may have any reason to believe is contaminated with infective material.

4. Keep the body in the fighting trim by eating wholesome food at regular intervals, drinking plenty of water, getting moderate exercise and get plenty of sleep in a well ventilated room.

Avoid crowds and crowded places. Keep the rooms well ventilated.

ADDRESS FRESHMEN

President Jessup addressed the freshmen girls at the first convocation lecture in the Liberal Arts auditorium Thursday afternoon.

Blakely, a member of the state circle; Mrs. Aurner, Dean of Women, and Miss Geyer gave the talks.

A special section of the War course has been set aside for graduate students, Monday, Wednesday, and Friday in the natural science auditorium, at 11:30.

Graduate students are advised to avail themselves of this opportunity.

WAR OFFICE TELLS STUDENTS' CHANCES FOR OFFICER CAMP

Students To Be Transferred as Far as Possible According to Own Choice

Work on WITH TECHNICAL STUDIES

Prises Men in Professional and Technical Schools Not To Consider Transfer

Each soldier in the S. A. T. C. will be treated with regard to several disqualifications, according to information just received from the War Department.

Their intelligence, judged by their academic scholarship, their ability to command men, physique, business ability, character, honor, and other qualities together with individual extensions of choice will enable intelligent transfer of students, it is believed by the committee on education and special training.

The proportion of calls upon the S. A. T. C. for officer candidates during the next nine months, say advisors from the War Department, is expected to be as follows:

- Infantry, field and coast artillery, 60%. Two thirds of these will require special preparation in mathematics, such as the University is prepared to give.
- Air service, 20%.
- Ordnance and quartermasters, 10%.
- The remaining corps including engineers, signal corps, chemical service, 10%. These corps require special technical qualifications.

Information is now being prepared by the government and will be sent to each student soldier which will give a definite statement of the kind of men and the kind of preparation required by the several branches of the service as well as a statement of the duties of officers of each branch.

The War Department further advises all student soldiers who have been pursuing or had planned to pursue some technical course to continue that technical line or in preparation for it. Col. R. I. Rees, chairman of the committee on education in regard to the number of men who will be selected for officers' training camps.

It is expected that a substantial number of soldiers of the S. A. T. C. will develop sufficiently to warrant their transfer to the officer training schools for infantry and various corps, and there being given the chance to demonstrate their fitness as prospective officers, it will be understood that the selection will be on a highly competitive basis and that many will necessarily be transferred without special recommendation in this regard. Such men will have their further opportunity to qualify for commission in the line of active service."

TT. R. E. DUNHAM DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Former Student Passes Away After Influenza Attack; Funeral Friday

Funeral services of Lieut. Robert Dunham of the National Army held in the Methodist church this afternoon. In the absence of E. Ellis, the Rev. Ira J. Housh, pastor of the First Congregational church, conducted the services, which were given the full rites of a military funeral. The S. A. T. C. provided an escort in honor of the soldier.

Lieut. Dunham was perhaps the latest victim of Spanish influenza in Iowa City. After receiving his commission at Ft. Sheridan he was taken ill. He came home and although hopes were held for his recovery he never completely recovered his first illness. Pneumonia developed and death quickly followed.

The young man completed his sophomore year in the chemical engineering course in the University last June.

Lieut. Dunham was born in Oakdale 19 years ago. He came here with his mother, Mrs. Melissa Dunham to receive his education.

ELY WINS PROMOTION

Brig-Gen. Hanson E. Ely, formerly of Iowa City has been promoted to major generalship. His friends will be glad to hear of his quick advancement since his remarkable action in the battle of Cantigny. He entered the college of law in '98, but did not finish his course, as he left to fill his appointment at West Point. He has been in the service since his graduation from the military school at West Point.

GETS NEW SOCIAL WORKERS

Bessie A. McClenahan social welfare worker at the extension division, who is well known over the state through her work in organizing the charities of ten or more of the largest cities, has resigned her position and will be succeeded by Sarah A. Howell, who has had several years experience in social work.

Y. W. SEEKS WORKERS

Many calls have come to the Y. W. C. A. for girls to work for their room and board. If the girls desiring work will leave their names and addresses at the Y. W. office they will be put in touch with those who have made calls.

INSTRUCTORS ORDERED TO TAKE EXAMINATION

All members of the University's administrative and instructional staffs are ordered to take special medical examinations at the University hospital Monday. The order has been posted under the name of President W. A. Jessup, who is extremely eager that every precaution be taken to prevent the spreading of the influenza among the students and townspeople.

The hours for this examination will be from 8 to 12 o'clock and from 1:30 to 4:00 o'clock.

MIXER POSTPONED

The Y. W. C. A. mixer which was to have been at the liberal arts drawing room Friday was postponed on account of the Spanish influenza epidemic.

Herbert O. Pillars and E. G. Rich, students in the college of applied science and Jackies from the Great Lakes station have been ordered to report to Dunwoody Institute at Minneapolis for naval aviation training.

KAPPA PHI TO MEET

A Kappa Phi cabinet meeting will be in the L. A. drawing room Monday afternoon at 4:30. At that time the chairman of each committee will be expected to give a brief outline of her work for the coming year.

COURSE LEADS TO CIVIL SERVICE

University of Iowa Assists Nation In Filling Positions

Civil service positions without examinations are granted to persons who pass successfully the war courses for women at the University. Upon the completion of these courses, the women are placed upon the eligible list.

To assist the government the University has decided to give special training for positions as clerks qualified in special statistics or business administration, schedule clerks, typist, stenographers, and bookkeepers. Entrance salaries for these positions range from $1200 to $1800.

Three months special training is offered in secretarial work for women who are high school graduates, are qualified in stenography in typewriting, and have had one year's business experience. A nine months' course is offered high school graduates and a six months' intensive course for women of sophomore standing in an accredited college.

The government requires clerks qualified in statistics or business administration and schedules clerks to have reached their twentieth birthday on the date of making oath of application. Other applicants must be seventeen.

62 MEN ENROLLED IN JUNIOR S. A. T. C.

Students Under 18 Take Over Old Delta Chi House For Present Barracks

An auxiliary unit to the S. A. T. C. made up of men under 18 years is now installed in the former Delta Chi house at 618 S. Van Buren street. All men under 18 years in the University are required to belong unless excused by Robert E. Rienow, adviser of men, to whom the University has given the responsibility of the unit. Sixty-two men have their barracks and mess hall there and are under the military instruction of Lieutenant Borden.

When they reach the minimum draft age and are registered, they may be admitted to the S. A. T. C. Up to that time they can drill as regularly inducted men but they must bear their own expenses of uniform, barracks, and subsistence.

SPECIAL MASS FOR STUDENTS

In St. Patrick's Church at 9 o'clock every Sunday morning except during quarantine there is a special Mass known as the Students' Mass. An excellent student choir sings at this Mass. It is the wish of the Rt. Rev. Bishop of the diocese that students as far as possible attend this special Mass.

FRENCH CLASSES CROWDED

Registration for French this year has been exceedingly heavy, Romance language professors declare Classes are crowded. In the 9:30 division, students filled the room to the doorway, and others stood in the hall. Definite figures could not be given as to the number of students registering for the course but estimates give the following figures:

More than 400 have registered for elementary French, about 175 have registered for military French, and the more advanced courses have shown an increase over that of last year. This enrollment has necessitated the adding of two more instructors to the regular force.

MORE GIRLS THIS YEAR

Thus far 325 girls have enrolled in the freshman class. This is almost a hundred more girls than was enrolled at the same time last year. Approximately one-third of this number are taking the war-issues course and the dean of women reports that nearly all of the girls register automatically for courses in French.

Houses for freshmen are not entirely filled. The new plan of keeping freshmen girls in fraternity houses is working out successfully. About ten more girls could find rooms at these houses if they so desire.

The Delta Zeta girls will give a tea Sunday in honor of Jean Terraz, the French girl at the University.

I. W. A. A. WILL SELL YEAR TICKETS

University Women Now Organizing To Boost Athletics

The Iowa Women's Athletic association by the sale of athletic tickets, is going to keep the Iowa field from being overrun with weeds.

Lillian Prentiss, president of the I. W. A. A., met last week with sixteen presidents of women's organizations and received three recommendations from each for the organization of University women to push the sale of I tickets when the big drive comes.

The selling of athletic books will begin on the day the first mass meeting is held. On account of the epidemic now prevalent, dates have not been definitely fixed, but will be announced later in the Iowan.

The idea is, according to Miss Prentiss, "to make the girls of our University feel that it is their part and privilege to share in athletics." The government has requested that wherever it is possible in universities and colleges athletics should be encouraged in order that the men may be kept fit in body and spirit.

SOCIAL WORKERS PLAN CONFERENCE

Iowa Professor To Address Muscatine Meeting

The Iowa State conference of Social Workers will hold its annual meeting at Muscatine Oct. 20-22. Among the speakers are several University professors and men prominent in the social work of the state. Former Prof. J. L. Gillen, at present director of civilian relief for the central division of the American Red Cross with headquarters in Chicago, will give one of the principal addresses.

O. E. Klingaman, director of the Extension Division, is scheduled to discuss the Iowa plan for the combination of public and private relief.

Prof. P. S. Peirce, Prof. Ellsworth Paris and Prof. F. E. Haynes will also be on the program. Prof. Haynes is the acting secretary for the conference in place of Miss Bessie McClenahan who resigned recently because of poor health.

W. I. Atkinson, of Waterloo, who was for four years a member of the University football squad and also former speaker of the Iowa house has started a movement to have the athletic field named Becker Field in honor of Lieut. Fred H. Becker of Waterloo who was killed in action July 21. It is believed that Becker was the first Iowa varsity man to lose his life in France.

Lieut. Becker was awarded the distinguished service cross for bravery in action last June when he led a patrol across no man's land. The honor came after his death which was caused by being hit by a shell fragment while his battalion was attacking the enemy in a wheat field near Soissons.
