"BILL" FELKNER, OLD UNIVERSITY LEADER DIES OF INFLUENZA

Influenza Iowa City Insurance Man and S. U. I. Enthusiast Passes Away

HOSPITAL NURSE IS ALSO VICTIM

All Medical Men Are Striving To Cope With Emergency Conditions

W. W. Felkner, insurance man of this city died Sunday. He was in the University for three years, two years in the college of applied science and one year in liberal arts. He was affiliated with the Delta Tau Delta fraternity. Last June he was married to Lottie Lester who was an Aechoth in the University some years ago. He was active in many local enterprises and was a Mason and an Elk.

Death came as a result of pneumonia following Spanish influenza. Until shortly before his death his condition was not regarded as serious and he was supposedly on the road to recovery.

Loss To City

The death of "Bill" Felkner will come as a personal loss to Iowa City and University people alike, for he was well known to many and beloved by all who knew him.

Miss Rovena Spencer, head nurse in the department of pediatrics of the children's hospital, who died Sunday at the University hospital of pneumonia came here from Chicago where she had been doing infant welfare work following a position in the Children's Memorial hospital, of which institution she was a graduate. The body will be sent to Eagle Grove where funeral services will be Wednesday or Thursday from the home of her sister, Mrs. John Tyck.

Miss Spencer was 27 years old and was waiting her call to foreign service with the Red Cross in which she was to have done infant welfare work.

Two Students Die

Francis Quinn, freshman, of Company B, S. A. T. C. died of influenza at the University hospital at one o'clock yesterday morning. He was the son of F. E. Quinn of Parnell and the body was sent there for burial.

Arland L. Orcutt of Company C, S. A. T. C. died yesterday at the University hospital of Spanish influenza. His home was at Swan, Iowa. He was the son of D. B. Orcutt.

Nurses at the University hospital are all working overtime and many are not taking their regular hours off duty. The day nurses begin duty at 7 a. m. and the night nurses at 7 p. m. Out of 135 nurses, 66 are ill and there are 22 probationers and 10 ill for duty. All the probationers are helping and also the junior and senior medical students, dental students and S. A. T. C. men.

WOMEN IN DEMAND

Fewer women than usual are working their way through school this year and because so many of the men are being inducted into the S. A. T. C., women are in much demand. Bernice Cole, Y. W. C. A. secretary, reports that many good positions are still unfilled.

Girls have replaced men in the dining room at Currier hall and in many of the offices of the faculty.

GIRLS NOT TO LOSE ON "I" TICKETS

At Least 12 Games Are Guaranteed Or Refund Promised

After a consultation with President Jessup yesterday afternoon Coach Jones states definitely that girls who hold "I" tickets will not lose money on them, and that probably a good game will be enjoyed next Saturday.

At least 12 games must be furnished for the $6.00 purchase price. If on account of the quarantine or military regulations, 12 games are not furnished during the year holders of season tickets will receive a fund of 50 cents a game. Negotiations are under way for a tilt with Cornell on the Iowa field Saturday, but this is not definite.

INFLUENZA IS NOW GREATLY CHECKED

No New Pneumonia Cases Reported at Military Headquarters Yesterday

Only one new influenza case was reported yesterday and no new pneumonia cases, according to information from Capt. Wm. S. Brownell's office. The Psi Omega house, which was used as a detention hospital, is closed and the few remaining patients have been transferred to the women's gymnasium.

Two deaths, F. A. Quinn of Co. B and Mrs. Taylor, wife of the janitor in the liberal arts building, occurred yesterday. Sunday, Rovena Spencer, head nurse in the pediatrics department, and Orland L. Orcutt of Co. C died of influenza.

Of the 60 pneumonia cases on record half are dangerous. Each pneumonia patient has some faculty member appointed to look after his welfare. This faculty man communicates with the parents if the patient in his charge is seriously ill, meets them at the train, escorts them to the hospital and the hotel, and does everything he can to be of service.

PROF. HIXSON IN WASHINGTON

Arthur W. Hixson, associate professor of chemistry, who is now absent on leave, is holding an important post in Washington. In a letter recently received by Professor Rockwood he tells something of the work in which he is now engaged. He is responsible for the entire production of trench warfare powder. Under his supervision are 27 high explosive plants, manufacturing ammonium nitrate, mercury fulminate, nitro starch powder, lyconite, and ammonium chloride. When the big synthetic nitrate plants in the South start up, he expects to have something to do with them also.

NO CONFERENCE THIS YEAR

The department of psychology has dispensed with the conference system which has been employed in the course in elementary psychology in previous years. Because of the increase in the number of students the department is unable to conduct the conference sections as usual. Instead the department has adopted the policy of three lectures each week instead of two as formerly. Next year the department expects to return to the system of two lectures and a conference section weekly.

Bertha Roewe, ex '19, is attending Iowa state college this year.

IOWAN STAFF TO BE CHOSEN EVERY MONTH UNDER NEW SYSTEM

Student Members of Board of Trustees Now in Service or Government Work

NIGHT EDITORS NAMED THURSDAY

Sporting Writer is Only Man of The Iowan—Business Manager is Woman

A new system has been devised for editorial work on The Iowan this year. Staff members will be chosen for the period of one month, subject to reappointment. The managing editor will be the only permanent member of the staff.

The editorial staff for the month, Oct. 15,--Nov. 15, follows:

Rovena Wellman—managing editor
Agnes King—news editor
Ethy Williams—exchange editor
G. D. Evans—sporting editor
Elizabeth Hendee—humorous editor
Ruth Stewart—feature editor

Assistants will be announced ETAOIN Night editors and their assistants will be announced in the masthead of each paper. The Iowan also plans a military section of the paper, and a military editor will be announced as soon as the column makes its first appearance.

Every Student A Chance

Shortage of experienced workers and an abundance of good material among the new reporters, copy readers, and special writers in journalism courses brought about the change from permanent to temporary staff organization. Every student who is registered in journalism and does superior work on The Iowan will now have a chance for a place on the editorial staff, proper, sometime during the year.

Due to changes in registration, the reportorial staff of The Iowan will be announced later. About the same number of reporters are gathering news for the student paper as were last year. Girls will dominate the staff almost entirely, since men in the S. A. T. C. have not time to spend on the work.

Woman Is Business Manager

For the first time in its history the business management of The Iowan is in the hands of a woman. Romola Latchem has the distinction of being the first woman business manager. Miss Latchem acts also in the capacity of advertising manager. The board of trustees of The Iowan lost all of its student members this year. Virgil Hancher, the senior member of the board is in training (continued on page 3)

Y. W. C. A. GIRLS MEET TOMORROW

Mrs. Aurner and Violet Blakely To Speak—Tea Served at Four

The first meeting of the Y. W. C. A. for the year will take place Wednesday afternoon at 4:45 in the liberal arts auditorium. An attractive program has been arranged for the initial meeting.

Nellie C. Aurner, dean of women, will speak and Violet Blakely, president of the association, will talk on various phases of Y. W. C. A. work and of the association's need of girls. Special music has been prepared for the occasion.

Tea will be served in the liberal arts drawing room at four o'clock. The Y. W. C. A. is especially desirous that the new students attend.

The first cabinet meeting of the year was held at 4:30 yesterday afternoon in the liberal arts drawing room.

"MORALE COUNTS" SAYS "DAD" ELLIOTT

Y. M. C. A. Leader Gives Inspiring Address to S. A. T. C. in Local Unit

"Dad" Elliott gave an inspiring address to about 350 S. A. T. C. men on the campus Sunday afternoon.

In the course of his talk he spoke of the place of morale in the life of the soldier, stressing what Thorn-dyke would call "mind set," wherein each man upholds the honor of his country by maintaining his individual standard of life. He also spoke of Gen. Pershing who, when he landed in France and realized the situation, brought his fists down on the table and said: "By God's help we are going to send these men back to America as good as they were when they came over here."

Mr. Elliott, who is in charge of all Y. M. C. A. work of the S. A. T. C. in the central department, came here to talk over the plans of the Y. M. C. A. work for the coming year.

Various entertainments have been given on the campus for the S. A. T. C. men the past week. The program Saturday evening consisted of a "sing" by the soldiers, three flute solos by John Parosns of Company M and three vocal solos by Margaret Wieneke. A "sing" by the soldiers closed the program.

NO WORK ON DIRECTORY YET

No action has been taken, thus far, toward the publication of a student directory. Prof. C. H. Weller stated yesterday that it will be given consideration as soon as adjustments of other matters are completed. Since the S. A. T. C. men are to live in barracks, a directory will be unnecessary, for the men may be reached, according to their companies, through the central office.

Ruth Fall, a recent graduate of the University, has entered canteen work in France. Miss Fall, whose home is at Albia, left in September for New York, where she expected to remain a week before leaving for France. She may be transferred later into educational work. Miss Fall taught last year in the high school at Mason City.

Miriam Chase who has been absent from her work in the English department since Monday on account of Spanish influenza, returned Friday morning.

VARSITY IS GIVEN PEPPERY WORKOUT AFTER COE BATTLE

Probable That There May Be a Game With Another Iowa Team Saturday

MANY REGULARS FAIL TO REPORT

Jones Issues Call For Linemen To Fill a Shortage In The Forward Wall

The Iowa varsity went through a light practice on the Hawkeye field last night. The initial practice after the defeat of the Coe team in Saturday's mix. The regulars showed that they are sadly in need of stiff scrimmages and plenty of signal work. Their work in the Coe game was anything but rosy as Eby's huskies made our Hawks look anything other than a varsity team that whipped the Nebraska team a week ago.

The Presbyterians displayed a fight and a variety of plays that made the Hawks look bad in the first quarter of the game, for they succeeded in taking the oval to Iowa's 10 yard mark before being halted in their mad attempt at a touchdown. Time after time they broke a Hawkeye pass or recover the ball on a fumble and marched toward the Old Gold goal. Another desperate effort was put forth in the final period when they advanced to the 12 yard line only to have the whistle interfere. Considering the fact that the Coe men were in their first battle of the season and that they had several green men in the lineup, they put up a game that demonstrated that they will land toward the top of the Iowa college percentage column.

Many Hawkeyes out of Game

The Hawks started the Coe game with no fewer than four regular bat-tlers on the varsity team missing, and this no doubt helped in no small way to weaken the offensive game of the Iowa team. Hunzelman, Reed, Greenwood, and Lohman were the absentees, the first 3 being victims of the flu, while the big tank has not recovered from his injury sustained in the husking bee with Nebraska. Last reports indicate that the broken cartilage is not mending properly, and in all probability the big boy will not enter the ranks until the Illini are taken on at Urbana in the next big 10 game. The services of these gallant Hawks were badly missed in the teams fight and drive, but not too much honor can be bestowed on those who filled their places in the teams personnel last Saturday. Saturday's combat gave the coach a line on his material and several men showed promise as comers who were heretofore unheralded as athletes. The showing of Belding, Parker, Voegel and Smith of Cherokee, was especially pleasing to Iowa followers for if these young Hawks develop as they should, Iowa will possess a reserve list almost the equal of the first team.

Negotiations are now underway whereby Iowa may take on another Iowa college as an opponent in the next game. What team will appear is not known at present but in all probability, Iowa will go up against one of the state's best college teams. Thursday's Iowan will state the team to take on the Hawkeye eleven. Coach Jones is doing his utmost toward giving the Iowa followers the best card that may be had, although (continued on page 3)

THE STAFF

In announcing the staff of The Iowan, the editor makes no attempt to conceal her pride. Of their ability to co-operate she is convinced; she knows of their individual capacities.

Where last year a precedent was broken to allow a place on The Iowan staff for one woman, this year a lone man finds his name on the masthead. No college, no department, no class in the institution has seen a revolution so complete.

A year ago, general skepticism prevailed when the women were allowed to publish an edition of their own. In the editorial rooms and the business office their disorganized efforts were viewed with smiling condescension and open rebuke. It was several months before taunts of their business inefficiency died away. The printers still discuss the first women's edition with raillery.

Now the business management of the paper, under the direction of a woman, runs without friction, and under adverse conditions of quarantine gives the financial support that is fundamental to a news sheet. In editorial matters, due to the co-operative efforts of the new staff, the paper is proceeding much as usual.

Handicaps to this feminine staff mean nothing. Insurmountable obstacles simply do not exist. One paper last week was written by fifteen reporters whose sole experience in the newspaper field was limited to the composition of a personal item in the preceding class hour. The copy was edited by girls who had the first glimpse into The Iowan style book that afternoon. They laboriously counted out their first headlines for that issue. The make-up of the edition was in charge of a girl whose only claim to a night editorship was gained from following a completed "dummy" on two previous occasions. She was assisted by another young woman who had only had a glimpse of a printing office on a conducted tour. The editor has been approached with no major criticism of last Thursday's issue.

For the Iowan thus far, there are no apologies to make. There have been errors of expression, of fact, of makeup, but they were due almost wholly to inexperience, rarely to carelessness. Weeks, possibly a month or two, will pass before The Iowan is even approximately what its staff means for it to be, but every member of the staff announced today, together with the reportorial staff, is working toward a definite goal—to make each issue of the paper excel its predecessor in every conceivable way.

SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE

Three girls, members of one of the leading sororities, slipped past the guard Sunday and made a self directed tour through the barracks and guard house on the west side of the river. It is a mystery to everyone except the girls, how they accomplished this feat.

The military authorities are highly incensed at this breach of etiquette and good taste. Though the young officers smile over it in a polite and casual way, they give the impression that they do not like to be trifled with. The older officers are actually angry. One man went so far as to ask the Iowan to publish the names of the would be adventurers. This will not be done this time because it is the first offense of the kind,—not because we do not know the names.

The Iowan is asked to state positively that this is a serious matter. Civilians as well as soldiers are expected to live according to the new rules and laws now in force on the campus. Warning is given that such an offense will not be treated so leniently in the future.

OUR SOLDIERS' PEACE

"Let the weak hearted who are dreaming of a compromise; let the pacifists who are talking a peace by agreement; let the sideliners who have had enough of war; let the secretly inclined pro-German who think this war should end without a decision—let them one and all know once and for all that for the American Expeditionary Force there is no such word as 'Peace' with the Huns unbeaten. The man who talks of peace to-day, except through victory, is a traitor."—Stars and Stripes

WHAT OTHERS THINK

The Daily Iowan will gladly print any communications from students or faculty members. The writer must sign the article to show his good faith in sending it, but no name will be printed if the sender so designates.

To the Editor and to a Senior Woman:

Several thousand men drilling in the S. A. T. C. have caused an epidemic in the minds of a few women for similar training. That the University women should desire physical training throughout their college course to maintain the best of health is the conservative opinion of the majority.

The institution is not half divided strictly speaking. The various representatives of women's organizations on the campus have the following consensus of ideas. Lillian Prentiss, president of the Iowa Woman's Athletic association states, "A few girls like a small brother half-seriously wish to imitate their elders and wear a uniform and carry a gun. So it is with a few Iowa women they see Uncle Sam's soldiers drilling and catch the fever.

The president of the Women's League, Edythe Sailor, declares, "I am strongly against strict military training for girls in my college. We have a wonderfully equipped gymnasium; let some of these militaristic women leaders go down and take a few hours work on the floor. The rudiments of military training may be learned in these exercises."

The librarian of the State Historical library and president of the Woman's Suffrage organization says "Never, but I wish physical training for all women on the campus." The acting dean of women advocates "Let the University girl 'Keep the Home Fires Burning' and stabilize conditions. There is plenty of war work and exercise for all of us to do this year."

Marion R. Lyon, head of the department of physical training believes that we should not take well trained army officers who are needed in the service to train a few women who object to even strenuous physical culture. Then too, the uniform factories are having a hard time to fill rush orders for our ever increasing armies. "The Plattsburg Manual" and other manuals are complete and will give any military information that the serious minded girl desires to know.

Rather let us keep up the morale of the college campus, let us help in the Red Cross shop and take the regular university work. Then let us take our hour of physical culture daily purchase a military manual for a quarter, and master everything military from a corporal up to a general. I pledge myself against the establishment of military training at the university.

MORE PEP

When the S. A. T. C. men were cheerfully carolling "Smiles" at their "sing" the other evening, it was remarked that they should spend their time learning Iowa songs, by means of which a little Iowa spirit might be injected into the brave soldiers.

But, it might be suggested, how can they sing Iowa songs when there is no collection of them? How can they learn "Old Gold," "Iowa University Iowa," or "Three Cheers for Iowa," when copies are not easily available?

Northwestern has a song book, in which not only N. W. songs, but the characteristic songs of other colleges and universities and peppy little ditties have been printed. It is an admirable aid to college spirit.

Why can not some competent person, familiar with Iowa spirit, collect the Iowa songs and have them published? It would be appreciated by the old grads, especially. E. W.

SENTRIES GRATEFUL FOR NIGHT LUNCHESS

Sentry duty at night is not the gayest occupation on earth, but there are compensations, at least in Iowa City. When you are a chilly, hungry S.A.T.C. boy and have been tramping all around one lonely corner for two solid hours in the middle of the night it's pretty fine to be presented with two large fat sandwiches and a liberal portion of fruit, just when you have got to the place where you are about all "in".

Just as The Iowan was going to press last night, the corporal of the guard of Co. H. came into the printing office with a message from all the boys on sentry duty. They wish publicly to express their thanks to the Iowa City ladies who have generously furnished them with lunches every night this week. A number of patriotic women have grouped themselves together to provide a little cheer for the sentries in Iowa City, and more than seven hundred lunches a week are provided. Each lady furnishes an entire week's supply of more than a hundred lunches every night. It takes work and time and money to make two hundred sandwiches a night, but the heartiness with which the boys express their appreciation proves the task worth while.

STUDENT WRITES FOR MAGAZINE

Stella Clearman Contributes Article on Laysan Island.

Stella Clearman of Oxford, who for three years was a member of The Iowan staff, and who last year was features writer for this paper has an article in the September issue of the Greater Iowa Magazine entitled "Iowa's Cyclorama of Laysan Island."

In this article she tells why the exhibit in the natural science building is without parallel. She also states that Prof. Homer R. Dill of the University with his two assistants collected many specimens on this island and they returned here, where they worked the following three years in reproducing the wonders they had seen.

Prof. C. C. Nutting, head of the department of zoology, visited the island in 1902, and as Miss Clearman stated, he promoted the expedition by persuading a number of graduating classes to donate their class memorials. It was fortunate that this exhibit was made permanent for today these famous Laysan rookeries are almost entirely destroyed by Japanese poachers and this exhibition is the principal record remaining from this once beautiful island of birds.

Miss Clearman is now working on the Davenport Democrat.

TO STAY IN QUARANTINE

Neither University nor military authorities can make and definite announcement as to how long it may be till the S. A. T. C. boys return to classes. They were kept in strict quarantine because of danger of further spread of influenza epidemic is over. At present can predict how long the arrangement will of course be as to the class work they expect. Officers and professors expect to operate to the fullest to make possible for all credit to be earned without increasing the work of boys whose time is already

Coach Issues Call For Linemen

In an attempt to bolster his forward wall, the coach sent out a call for more linemen. The long list of backs looks good, but the shortage in good line candidates has led the Iowa teacher to stir up the football air so as to bring out the good material which has not showed up as yet. There are several star performers of state wide known high schools at Iowa this year who are not out for a place and those interested are asked to do their best in order to bring out the best available material. Keen competition for places is the thing that brings out the scrap in a football man and with help from the student body in getting more men to try out, Coach Jones believes he will be able to turn out a title winning machine. Without this help the Hawkeyes will be handicapped Iowa's coach has turned out wonderful teams in the past and with far less material than that which he has at his disposal this year. With a far greater list of men from which to pick a varsity he no doubt will have a better opportunity to send on the field a team that will prove the best team in the west. No fewer than 75 men at least will please the coach.

To have Iowa at its best in the next game the varsity men will be sent through a hard week of practice in an effort to perfect their play. With the return of the now sick Hawkeyes, Iowa will go into the rest of the games as a logical choice to bring victory to the Old Gold institution.

HESPERIA: There will be a meeting at the home of Romola Latchem Tuesday evening at seven thirty. Every one must be on time since we wish to get through the business meeting early. The address is 606 North Gilbert Street.

DIRECT INFORMATION GIVEN PRE-MEDICS

Dean of College of Medicine Returns From Washington With News For S. A. T. C.

L. W. Dean, dean of the college of medicine, is back from an official visit to Washington. He brings the following definite information relative to pre-medical courses:

Under war conditions in those colleges where there has been established units of the S. A. T. C. the requirement for admission to the medical course will be one year's work in a college of liberal arts. "one year" in this connection means a calendar year of twelve months or four full terms of work as the college calendar is now arranged. This will permit students starting their pre-medical work this fall to complete the course and be ready to enter the medical college by Oct. 1st 1919.

No definite statement of the specific subjects which students will be expected to take in this course has yet been issued but it will probably be in the hands of the college authorities in a short time. It has been intimated, however, that the course will consist largely of science subjects, such as chemistry, biology, and physics. In the lack of definite information those contemplating entering medicine should include as much work in these subjects as possible and then be prepared to adjust their schedule as soon as the definite subject requirements are made public.

The authorities at Washington insist that it is essential for the welfare of the army that medical education continue, but like other essential industries a speeding up process is necessary. They therefore recommend that those who anticipate the study of medicine continue to do so and that provision will be made so that those who do will be given a reasonable opportunity to continue to serve the government in this essential way.

Grinnell has an army of 150 women. It is planned to have officers; a bugle will call the unit to the training grounds. The girls are to wear gymnasium suits.

The "no-date" tradition of Grinnell has been changed by an almost unanimous vote; certain hours are now set aside in which the women may entertain their S. A. T. C. friends.

"Sunday sings" are being held at McGill university this year, at which hymns and popular airs are the favorites.

ALL S. U. I. WOMEN IN POMPOUS DISPLAY ON CAMPUS FRIDAY

Brilliant Lanterns Delight the Eye, Sings Soothe the Ear, Speeches Spur Intellect

IS TO BE GET-ACQUAINTED AFFAIR

Mrs. Jessup and Mrs. Kay Head Receiving Line With Presidents of Organizations

Women of the University are planning another Chawa Kwai for Friday evening, October 18, on the campus. The committee in charge is composed of the presidents of the various women's organizations: Hermina Dorweiler, representing Forensic council; Dorothy Cave, Pan Hellenic league; Violet Blakely, Y. W. C. A.; Lillian Prentiss, Athletic association; Edythe Saylor, Women's league.

Forensic council is in charge of the receiving line, Y. W. C. A., the publicity, I. W. A. A., the entertainment, Women's league, the parade and Pan Hellenic, refreshments.

To Begin at 7:30

On account of the epidemic most of the program will be held out of doors. The receiving line composed of Mrs. W. A. Jessup, Mrs. G. W. Kay, Bernice Cole and the presidents of the five women's organizations, will be in the drawing room at 7:30 to welcome the girls.

With lighted Japanese lanterns and canes, the girls will form a procession and later assemble on the steps of the liberal arts building. Under the direction of the Glee club, University and patriotic songs will be sung at this time, and short speeches will be made by the presidents of the different organizations, explaining the work of the group which she represents. The remainder of the evening will be spent in playing games and getting the girls acquainted with each other.

Every Woman Invited

The purpose of Chawa Kwai is to get all the women together so that they can get on more familiar terms than is possible in their daily life. All girls of the University, the faculty women, and wives of the faculty men, are invited to attend.

Chawa Kwai is the first large party of the year and it is the hope of every "old girl" on the campus that it will surpass even the splendor of the one held last year.

TO MOUNT SAWFISH

The large sawfish, which was secured in the Mexican gulf by Professor Dill on his expedition in the South this spring, will be mounted and put in the museum.

The fish became entangled in a seine, and had nearly ruined the net before it was landed. One fisherman was injured in the attempt to get the fish on board, but finally, with the help of 20 men it was landed. The sawfish measures 16 feet and when caught weighed 865 pounds.

IOWA TOPOGRAPHY PROVES ARMY AID

Camp Dodge Region Resembles France for Study of Real Warfare Conditions.

In just what respects the region about Camp Dodge resembles the valleys of the Somme, the Oise, the Aisne, and the Marne and how soldiers can learn of maneuvers and military strategy in France from the topographical features of the Iowa cantonment has been worked out under the direction of Dr. George F. Kay, state geologist and dean of the liberal arts college.

The Des Moines river valley near and above the camp, says James H. Lees, assistant state geologist in his report, affords abundant opportunities for study and practice of offensive and defensive warfare, such as shielding stationary or marching troops or training in gas warfare. The ridge between the Des Moines and Beaver rivers resembles the French ridges markedly and is a splendid place for tactical work.

The soils in the region of the cantonment also resembles those of Belgium and northern France, and the same problems in trench digging are found in both places. A study of the water supply in the Des Moines region both as to the surface and underground water has been made.

"It is a well known fact," says Dean Kay, "that wherever military operations are being carried on and war is being waged there is an intimate relationship between the topography and geology of the region and the movements of the armies. The mountain, hill, cliff, plain, valley, swamp, soil, underlying rock, each of these plays its part in connection with the activities of artillery, cavalry, infantry, the digging of trenches, and the furnishing of water supply."

Nesta Williams, M. A. '16, now instructor in psychology in the Eastern Illinois normal school, is visiting at the Alpha Theta house.
