CLASS POLITICS OCCUPIES ARENA IN STUDENT THOUGHT

New System of Elections Meets With Approval of Students Generally

PETITIONS CIRCULATING

Don Nasby Has Strong Backing for Senior President—Kelly to Run for Junior Leader—Seven Petitions Circulated for Positions on Student Council

Class politics took a decided slump this morning when the new system of elections became a clearly defined fact, and the venerable and ancient steam-roller and political-bargaining was cast among the discard. The old regime as a possibility is gone forever; the old slate is wiped clean; but already new tickets are growing from the ashes of the old.

The new system calls for petitions from all who desire to become candidates, and these must be signed by a certain percentage of the class of which they are members. It is the same old tale of "those who read may run", and last night several petitions were being circulated by those for whom the joy of life had not been completely removed.

Miss Strub Vice-President

Don Nasby, Delta Tau Delta, is being boomed for senior president. Friends of Florence Strub are circulating a petition bearing her name as a candidate for vice-president in the senior class. Persistent rumors indicate that Leo Nicolaus will be a candidate for secretary-treasurer. Petitions for nomination to the student council carry the names of Margaret Hayes, Mary Rice, Mable Turner and Edward H. Chamberlin.

William S. (Bill) Kelly, football quarter and Y. M. C. A. head, seems to be the only junior who has tossed his hat in the ring for the initial position of the junior class. No petitions have been started for the other offices in the junior class but petitions for nominations for the student council are in the field for Marlon C. Smith, Delta Delta Delta, Arthur Rosenbaugh, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Robert Kaufman, Sigma Nu. Others were materializing last night.

Fresh in Line

Among the sophomores the new ruling seems to have caused a certain quieting effect in political circles. Paul R. (Chick) Olson, Alpha Tau Omega, deviated from his regular duties yesterday long enough to see his petition properly started toward the desired number of names necessary to place his name on the ballot. It is reported that Virginia Des Jardins, Pi Beta Phi, will be a candidate for sophomore vice-president, and Emmett Harney, Phi Kappa, has yielded to the urging of his friends and consented to have his name on a petition for nomination for secretary-treasurer. As yet no one has announced his intention of running for the Hawkeye board of trustees.

Last of all the yearlings have fallen in line with the new system and are circulating a petition for Lawrence Organ, of the newcomers' football aggregation for president. This seems to be the only paper among the freshmen to date although it is stated that several other petitions will be filled out today.

TELEGRAPH REPORTS

Brigham Will Telegraph Minnesota Game Play By Play

Iowa fans may get the play by play reports of the game today at natural science auditorium at 2:45 o'clock. The large attendance last Saturday enables the athletic board to continue the service. Admission will be twenty-five cents.

Leon H. Brigham, sports editor of the Daily Iowan, will send the reports by telegraph this time. This method will prevent the difficulties encountered in the telephone communications during the Illinois game.

Reports will be announced to the audience by some member of the athletic board and registered on the chart as usual.

YOUNGEST LIEUTENANT COLONEL IS STUDENT

James E. Thomas, School of Commerce Student, Made Brilliant Rise in Military World

Distinction of having been the youngest man in the American Expeditionary forces with the rank of lieutenant-colonel falls to James E. Thomas, 18 Van Buren street, now a student in the school of commerce at the University.

Thomas is very reluctant to make any statement regarding his exceptional rise in the military world, remarking that he is here simply as a student, and is anxious not to be regarded in connection with the rather vivid past.

As a regimental sergeant-major, Thomas, whose home is in Red Oak, Iowa, was called into federal service with the 168th infantry on July 15, 1917. On the twenty-second of that month he was commissioned as second lieutenant. Just prior to the sailing date of the regiment in October of that year, he was given a first lieutenancy, advanced to the rank of captain the following April, made a major in October, 1918, and in April, 1919, scarcely two months after his twenty-fifth birthday, he was promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel. "You see, April and October are my lucky months," Thomas concluded.

Thomas' participation in the coming festivity of his former division is being strongly objected to by Mrs. Thomas on the grounds that it is a purely stag affair.

HAWKEYE BUSINESS MANAGER RESIGNS

Arthur Walling Leaves School to Take Position With Des Moines Capital

Arthur K. Walling, business manager elect of the 1921 Hawkeye, has dropped his school work and is now connected with the Des Moines Capital, word was given out at the Hawkeye office today. Although he left school sometime ago definite verification of his intention to resign from Hawkeye duties and cease to be a student was not received until this morning. Mr. Walling was a member of the Delta Chi and Sigma Delta Chi fraternities, a prominent figure in journalistic circles and his sudden and unexpected departure leaves no little work on the shoulders of the editor in chief until a suitable successor can be found.

Just what action will be taken by the trustees of the annual in regard to this particular case is but a matter of conjecture at present although it was rumored that a new and rather unique system would be inaugurated whereby all advertising is to be eliminated and the book published without it.

Should this new method be acceptable to the powers that be it will do away with the duties of business manager to a great extent, leaving the bulk of such work to the associate editors. Mr. Walling's resignation comes at such a time that it will necessitate a careful revision of the staff before the actual work can progress rapidly. This list of members will be published soon and a complete explanation of the new system should it be accepted.

Meanwhile the junior picture campaign is being carried on and will be in full force by next week. The deadline has been set for December 15 and at that time the last junior pictures must be in the hands of the photographers or be left from the book.

CLOCKS SET BACK

Monday, October 27, need not be "Blue Monday" for students and faculty members of the University for Sunday morning at 2 a. m. all clocks in the United States will be turned back and everyone will have that one long needed hour of sleep.

FRENCH ORPHAN RECEIVES SUPPORT

S. A. T. C. Gets Letter From French Orphan Who Is Helped

A letter from France has been received recently by Mrs. Eleanor F. Biggs, state chairman for the French orphan relief, thanking Co. B of the S. A. T. C. for the support of the French orphan adopted by them a year ago.

CHARLES LARROQUE

French Orphan adopted by Co. B., S. A. T. C.

Last year Co. B voted $36 annually toward the support of this orphan. Mrs. Biggs has expressed the wish that members of Co. B might receive thanks for their money through the Daily Iowan.

The letter follows:

Sept. 1, 1919.

My very dear benefactor;

I have just now received your second gift of $9 and I am eager to reply that I may prove my gratitude and thanks. As I promised you in my last letter to send a photograph of your dear child, I keep my word, send it to you in the letter, and hope that it will give you very much pleasure, and at the same time you will learn that he is the one whom you help. Just now he is amusing himself with his little comrades. They are having vacation since July 31, and the class begins October 1.

In order that the letter may reach you I am going to register it, for I do not know whether or not they reach you. Your child is very well and hopes you are the same. He thanks you very much for your affection and good generosity which you send him. He waits to hear from you. Receive, dear benefactor, from your French child, all his good wishes and a thousand caresses.

Charles Larroque

Receive, Monsieur, the expression of my profound respect, and a thousand thanks for the gift which you sent my child.

Vuive Larroque.

FORMER STUDENT, COACH

Mortimer Blackburn, a former student of the State University of Iowa, who left school in 1916, and who is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity, is now assistant football coach at Leland Stanford University.

MINNESOTA TAKES FINAL WORKOUT

May Have Slight Changes in the Line-up for the Back-field Men

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 24—(Special)—Dr. Williams' Gophers received their last hard workout this afternoon for the game Saturday with Iowa. It was a long scrimmage which was finished with a chalk talk in the gym.

It appears likely that Arnold Oss will start at half back in place of Regnier Saturday, although Nell Arntson may also get a chance in the backfield.

The injured Gophers were all in the lineup and indications are that minor hurts would not keep any of the stars out of the game. A light signal drill is looked for today.

The biggest number of former Gopher stars of the season were out assisting Dr. Williams. Pickering, Baston, Wyman, Long, McGovern, and others drove the men through a long scrimmage, pointing out and correcting faults.

LATE SUBSCRIPTIONS RAISE ORPHANS' FUND

Colleges of Law and Dentistry Respond to Solicitations of Drive Workers

More than $170 has been collected in behalf of the Belgian orphan campaign which came to a termination late last night, according to Miss Julia Wade, in charge of the work here. An extension of time was granted here as was done elsewhere in the state and due to this the total amount was increased materially. Currier hall subscribed to the extent of $40.75; Phi Zeta Epsilon, $10.00; Gamma Phi Beta, $7.00; Alpha Chi Omega, $6.25; and the Tudor cottage, $2.25. These contributions came in during the week and at the end of the campaign no more accurate figures were available.

When the conductors of the campaign solicited the college of dentistry, $12.00 was raised in less than one hour. The college of law responded with $8.00 in about two hours.

ANNUAL CLASS SCRAP SET FOR HOMECOMING

The annual pushball contest between the freshmen and sophomore classes will probably be held at Homecoming time for the amusement of returning alumni. The rules of the game have been changed in that the ball must be kept in the air, making the game more exciting and reducing the danger of injury to the participants to a minimum. Three periods will be played as formerly, the first two between the chosen teams and the third between the entire men personnel of the two classes.

The ball that has been used formerly is property of the University, but is used by several mid-western universities. The bladder was punctured at the contest held at Purdue this fall and considerable difficulty was experienced in getting a new one. The cost of pushball bladder is about $150.

Director E. G. Schroeder, who has charge of the annual class scrap, asks that the class president report to him as soon as elected that a captain may be chosen for the teams.

YOUNGEST MAJOR AT AMES

The Ames Cyclones claim the distinction of having on their team the youngest major in the American expeditionary forces. Major Janda plays right end on Coach Maysers' football team.

Janda played with the Ames team before going to France with the ninth infantry and the second division. When he sailed, the young football star was only 21 years old.

IOWANS INVADE MINNESOTA CAMP FOR BIG BATTLE

Hawkeye Crippled List Smaller Though Kelly Remains In Hospital

QUARTERBACK TO FOLLOW

Both Teams Composed of Many Old Stars—Williams and Jones Make No Predictions on Outcome—Betting Lively but no Odds Being Given

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 24. Special: Coach Jones and the Iowa football team arrived here early this morning and later went through a light workout on the field. Quarterback Kelly was absent from the lineup owing to injuries but is expected to join the team in time to lead the Hawkeyes in tomorrow's battle.

Cripples Better

Beside the little quarterback, Charlton has been having trouble with his shoulder, and in case he is not able to get in the game Pyles or Paul Smith will be available for that end. Bruises from which several of the linemen have been suffering since the Illini game are improving and the team is expected to take the field in fairly good condition.

Gophers Strong

Minnesota will have the assistance of several old stars although the odds go to Iowa in number of experienced players. Lampi, whose passing was one of the features of the game last fall at Iowa City, will undoubtedly cause the Iowans considerable trouble. Others of the Gopher personnel include such stars as Trig Johnson, Reuben, Phillips, and Roos, a gigantic guard weighing 325 pounds.

Coaches Make No Statements

Both Doc Williams and Coach Jones were not inclined to give their opinions as to the outcome of tomorrow's tilt, but it is certain neither expects anything but a close score. Betting here has been lively but very few wagers giving odds have been made.

ROOTERS TO MINNEAPOLIS

More than twenty-five men took the extra car to Minneapolis last night. Through the efforts of Dr. John L. Voss, Fred Racine and W. O. Coast an extra sleeper was obtained for the convenience of the Iowa rooters who wanted to make the trip.

KELLY FOLLOWS TEAM

William Kelly, varsity quarterback, who has been confined to the hospital for the past few days and did not leave with the team Thursday night, left Iowa City last night for Minneapolis. Although not in the best of condition it is quite likely that he will start the game against the Gophers today.

TO PLAY WEST BRANCH

University High School to Battle on Iowa Field this Morning

"We are going to win," is the general sentiment among University high school students regarding their clash this morning with West Branch high school on Iowa field. This confidence is tempered with the belief, however, that today's game is the hardest proposition on the schedule. The game will be called at 10:30 o'clock.

Tiedeman, who was expected to be one of the mainstays of the University high eleven, has been declared ineligible under the new state board rules regarding ex-service men over twenty-one years old. This action was taken because Tiedemann was not a member of the high school when he enlisted.

Rumor has it that there is a possibility of a game between the University high school and the Iowa City high school elevens soon. Practice scrimmages between the two teams have proved them to be well matched.

PLAYING THE GAME

The spirit of our team playing upon the gridiron is indeed typical of true sportsmanship and cooperation. No better example is before us for the real "Play the Game" spirit. Its application to other phases of college life would make this University a unified institution.

What Iowa needs is a little more "Play the Game" spirit. In every organization, whether fraternity, literary society, athletic club or class, each man has a little niche to fill and if he fills it properly he can be a real booster and backer of his team, his organization and his University.

On the football field no man knows just when he is going to receive the ball or how far he is going to carry it, but he keeps a watchful eye anxiously waiting to have a chance to "play the game."

This is the spirit needed in all University activity. The fellow who is ready to carry on his share of the burden is sure to be a winner. Yet he is no more of a servant than the halfback. He is really an executive, for it is he who makes the accomplishment. The old adage, "We learn to do by doing" is nowhere more applicable than in college.

If you are a member of any organization whatever, make yourself a part of it. Throw off the shackle of inertia and move forward to an accomplishment. The runner carrying the ball over the goal line does not stop to ask questions. He assumes the job when it is put up to him and if a good man he gets away with it. Real push, work, and confidence is all that is required to accomplish an aim and the fellow who has these qualifications will invariably carry the ball over the line and score a touchdown.

OLD GLORY

Why is it that one's heart beats faster when the national anthem is played or when the flag is raised? Why is it that tears often come to the eyes of those who think of the things that have to do with the flag, with national greatness, with duty and service and sacrifice?

These and a dozen other questions might have occurred to those who saw the flag raising yesterday. The reason perhaps has to do with the heart and not with the mind. Perhaps it is of those finer emotions that one experiences but does not explain.

Perhaps too, there were those who saw in memory the war-torn fields of France. Others probably saw in misty dreams a khaki-clad lad who marched away under the folds of the flag but did not return. Perhaps there were those who glanced at the flag and looked through the mists to the battlefields in the land of the lily where fifty thousand of America's bravest and best lie in their eternal sleep.

In this month of October the goldenrod is swaying over their graves. By the winds of France, our hearts are reaching a tender which it stands. At least there is one little spot in France which will forever float Old Glory.

Those who "went west" remembered to the end the things that the flag had taught. They died that they might live. We must not fail them.

THE LISTENING POST

A college column conductor cannot be expected to compete with the professionals. For instance, B. L. T., of the Chicago Tribune, and Don Marquis, of the New York Sun, have their daughters contribute a wheeze or two when times are dull.

Frank, that is, openly open, is the middle name of the editor of the Iowa State Student, the college journal at Ames. The morning's mail brought a letter from him and he closes with, "Well, old top, I must get to the editorial desk and grind out some would-be helpful and ambitious editorials. As an editorial writer, I'm a good can opener."

Readers may be interested in knowing that the Initial contrib was a co-ed. She admits, without saying so, that she aspires to be a column writer.

Here is some more of her stuff:

If we think we have a monopoly on brains, we ought to remember that the learned scholars of Chaucer's time could solve such weighty problems as how many angels could dance on the point of a pin.

Cheer up, you ex-gobs if you thought your tight-where-it-oughta-be-loose and your loose-where-it-oughta-be-tight uniform enraged your manly dignity in 1919, you ought to see what the poor gobs wore in mediaeval times. Then the gallant sailor lads, not only couldn't swim but had to ride a cart horse. Yes, and they wore a gown falling gracefully down to the knee with a nifty little dagger suspended from a string over their left shoulder. Talk about camouflaging one's masculine dignity. It's evident that the present costume is a natural product of evolution. Cheer up! I say.

No, But We Shall Haunt the Windows

Van: Have you seen the dazzling array of beautiful features of the attractive co-eds? It's open to the public gaze in the photographer's window, and surmounting the physiognomies of our diminutive beauties is a cleverly written, red lettered card, with the glaring information, "Our Bargain Counter." Yes, and then some. Another card says, "We frame it for you." Oh Boy! G. E. S.

Here's a capital last line.

"Grayson, Ruffin, Stitt."

COLONEL MUMMA GIVES ADDRESS AT IOWA DAY MEETING YESTERDAY

Rev. Robert R. Reed, Pastor of Presbyterian Church, Gives Invocation

MEN'S GLEE CLUB SINGS

Doctor Clapp, Head of the Music Department, Leads Glee Club with Band—Company of Cadets Acts as Color Guard—Large Audience Attend Annual Event.

Col. Morton C. Mumma, professor of military science and tactics, gave the main address at the Iowa day program yesterday afternoon on the Old Capitol Oval. Colonel Mumma spoke on the subject, "Citizenship and what it signifies". He stated that Iowa Day was set aside for people to take stock of themselves and asked the question whether or not they were good citizens.

All classes were suspended at 4 o'clock and a large attendance was present. A short invocation was given by the Rev. Robert R. Reed, pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city. Following invocation, the mens' glee club led by Dr. Phillip G. Clapp, head of the department of music, and accompanied by the University band, sang America.

Col. Mumma's address followed the flag raising held in recognition of Flag Raising Day. The University band played the Star Spangled Banner at the close of the exercises.

Iowa Day has been established as an annual event. Appropriate ceremonies were held in all colleges of the state yesterday.

A CITIZENS PLEDGE

(By Col. Morton C. Mumma in Iowa Day address)

"Be Faithful to our trust and fulfill our obligations."

And finally let us revert in tender remembrance to the valorous deeds of the brave men who went forth from this University and from the great state of Iowa and from the other great states to suppress the attempt of the Hun to reverse the decree of Almighty God and exalt German Kultur above human liberty. Many of them sleep in blood stained graves in the battle fields of France yet they live in our tender and our grateful remembrance.

Their example appeals to our manhood and to our conscience. They helped carry our government thru the greatest crisis in its history. They helped establish it upon immutable truth. They helped give it the grandest opportunity a nation ever had to benefit mankind. It now devolves upon us to determine whether they died in vain. In no way, I conceive, can we so truly honor them as in studying well and performing faithfully the duty they have helped to cast upon us as citizens.

If we are to prove equal to our opportunity, if we are to stand firmly for justice and good government, if we are to keep the lamp of liberty trimmed and burning and allow its light to shine from our altitude throughout the world, we honor them; they have not died in vain.

They died for others, not for themselves, and let us so live as to exert the influence of the exalted position they conferred upon us for the benefit of mankind and not for the attainment of selfish ends.

Let us put ourselves to the test, let us examine ourselves and here in the shadow of that banner of justice and freedom whose white stands for purity whose red stands for valor, and whose blue stands for justice, under the canopy of Heaven's dome and in the presence of Almighty God, with bared heads, as our flag once again descends to earth to the strains of The Star Spangled Banner, to be committed to the tender care of its guardians for the night, pledge ourselves in the name of our honored dead to be faithful to our trust and fulfill our obligations as American Citizens.

RESEARCH COUNCIL HONORS SEASHORE

Returns From National Research Council Meeting at Washington

One of the three memberships of the executive committee representing the psychological division of the National Research council is now held by Dean C. E. Seashore of the graduate college.

Dean Seashore received this position of nation-wide prominence in scientific circles at a meeting organizing the new division of Anthropology and Psychology of the council, which he attended in Washington the first part of this week.

The National Research council was organized in 1916 at the request of President Wilson, by the national academy of sciences, as a measure of national preparedness. By an executive order of the president, May 11, 1918, it was perpetuated for the general purposes of stimulating research in mathematical, physical and biological sciences, and the application of these sciences to the public welfare.

The executive committee of the psychological division, of which Dr. Seashore is a member, is the executive head of that group co-operating with the executive board of the council and the president of the national academy of sciences.

Other members of the committee are, Prof. W. V. Bingham of Carnegie Institute of Technology, chairman; and Prof. Walter Dill Scott of the governmental Bureau of Business Research.

TUTORS APPOINTED

The following list of approved tutors in French and Spanish has been announced by the department.

Spanish: Irene Batcher, Antero C. Carinam, Arthetta Evans, Margaret Mulrone, Pauline Thompson.

"QUADRANGLE" OFFICIAL NAME OF NEW DORM

"The Quadrangle" is the official name of the new men's dormitory according to the results of an election just held. A total of 163 votes were cast at the election.

Work on the building is progressing very nicely, it is reported. All of the rooms are now being occupied with the exception of a few of those on the west side of the structure. It is hoped to have the work entirely finished by November first.

"The Quadrangle" is, according to reports, proving a most popular institution.

SPEAKS AT SIOUX CITY

Mrs. Max Mayer of the extension division, will address the annual luncheon of Sioux City women's clubs Saturday noon at the Hotel Martin in Sioux City. Mrs. Mayer's subject will be, "Americanization," which will be delivered before four-hundred women.

Junior and senior students in commerce will be given the opportunity of competing for a $100 prize to be awarded to the student writing the best essay in a contest which closes next June.

F. A. W. Lawrensen, New York City, offers this prize to commerce students. Details concerning the subject may be learned from Dr. Norris A. Briscoe.

ENGINEERS ON TOUR

Fifteen seniors studying mechanical and electrical engineering leave Iowa City tomorrow morning on a five day trip for the purpose of inspecting the chief electrical and power plants throughout the state. They will be accompanied by Prof. B. P. Fleming of the mechanical department and Prof. A. H. Ford of the electrical department, and expect to visit Fort Madison, Burlington, Davenport and Keokuk. Unless the weather prohibits the trip will be made in automobiles.

IOWA DAY AT HIGH SCHOOL

Iowa day was celebrated with appropriate ceremonies in the University high school assembly room yesterday afternoon. The junior class had charge of the exercises which consisted of speeches by various members of the class.

Two assemblies are set aside each week in which a class is designated to take charge of the entertainment. It fell to the lot of the juniors to provide the entertainment yesterday.

WOMEN FORM NEW LITERARY SOCIETY

Constitution is Drawn Up and Twelve Women Have Signified Willingness to Join

Plans are now being made for the formation of a new literary society in the University. Miss Ethel Verry, president of the women's forensic council feels that there is a definite need for another literary society since many desiring to participate in literary activities are not given the opportunity.

Constitutions of the present active societies limit membership to thirty-five or fifty members. Since all talent is taken in these organizations, a group of University women have decided to form a new organization.

According to present plans there will be no limitations as to membership. A constitution has been drawn up but as yet no name has been given to the society. An advisory committee of forensic council members is helping to initiate the movement. The organizers, who number twelve are as follows:

Gretchen Sueppel, Marie Phillips, Mary McGlaughlin, Theresa Schultz, Velda Barker, Marie Cone, Anne Hagen, Alvena Baum, Bessie Krohn, Mabel Abraham, Beatrice Bender, Euna Cusack.
