CAMPUS ORGANIZATION FOR CO-EDS ONLY IS FORMALLY DISSOLVED

Women's League is Declared Defunct at Meeting of Members Held Yesterday Afternoon

WAS ACTIVE ON CAMPUS

President of Organization Says That the Women's Council Through Its Superior Organization Can Better Serve Girls on the Campus—Was Organized in 1913

The Women's League is now an organization of the past, the result of a special meeting held in room 13 liberal arts, yesterday afternoon. Julia Wade '20 was president of the dissolved organization of University women.

The dissolution of the League has been contemplated for several weeks, according to Miss Wade. "Ever since the organization of the Women's Council, which has a very effective district organization, we have felt that the newer body could do the work that we were doing better because the Council can reach so many more girls."

Had Distinct Purpose

The Women's League was organized at the University in 1913 and membership was open to any woman on the campus. The purpose of the organization as set forth at that time was "to encourage high standards of living and scholarship and to promote a broader democracy and an unswerving loyalty among the women."

BASKETBALL TOURNEY WILL END THURSDAY

Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Beta Theta Pi Are Contestants For Pan-Hellenic Championship

Pan-Hellenic, basketball will come to a close Thursday evening at the men's gymnasium when Beta Theta Pi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon will meet for the final championship clash. Pan-Hellenic fraternities were divided into the north and south sections and championships in these two sections were played out to decide the final contest, Beta Theta Pi winning the south end and Sigma Alpha Epsilon the north end.

Close competition was shown between some of the teams in the tournament while some were forced to drop out on account of sickness and quarantine. Practice has developed some good fraternity basketball teams this year which have put up a good scrap for championship.

The prize to be awarded for the champions of this tournament is a purse of $25 to purchase a trophy of some sort to be kept in honor of winning the Pan-Hellenic championship for this year. If the winners wish they may add to this amount and buy a more appropriate or expensive trophy in honor of the championship.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon has won four games out of four, defeating Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Kappa Psi, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Chi. Beta Theta Pi has won three games out of three, defeating Sigma Nu, Phi Delta Theta, and Delta Tau Delta.

NO MERE MEN ALLOWED AT SORORITY GAMES

No men will be admitted to the inter-sorority basketball games, according to Florence Gabbert chairman of the committee. The first of the series of games will begin Tuesday at 7:30 o'clock at the women's gymnasium.

Delta Delta Delta will play Alpha Xi Delta and Pi Beta Phi will play Alpha Delta Pi.

The referees will be Miss Marion R. Lyon and Miss Anne Bollin of the physical education department. Fifteen minute halves will be played.

The next games will be played Thursday evening. No prize is offered.

IOWA MAT MEN DRILL DAILY FOR AMES MEET

Captain Jensen Bothered With Torn Cartilage—Team Will Be Fit by Saturday

The University wrestling team, under the direction of Coach E. G. Schroeder, is working daily in preparation for the Iowa-Ames match to be held at Ames Saturday.

All members of the team are in good condition except Captain Jensen, who is still bothered by a torn cartilage between two ribs, received in practice a few weeks ago, and John Heldt, who was called home shortly before the Indiana match and consequently was unable to keep in tiptop shape. Both of these men will probably be ready to leave with the rest of the team Friday. Glenn Devine, who has been out of school on account of sickness for the past few days, has returned and will be ready for the coming match before the team leaves.

Coach Schroeder said, "Any man in school has the privilege to challenge any member of the team for his position and if there are any who wish to do so they should report to me before Wednesday in order that a match can be arranged before the Ames meet."

The following men will probably make up the team which will leave Friday afternoon. Vana, 125 pounds; Francois, 135 pounds; Jensen, 145 pounds; Glenn Devine, 158 pounds; White, 175 pounds; and Heldt, heavyweight.

DATE SET FOR MEN'S GLEE CLUB CONCERT

The University Men's Glee club will hold its annual home concert March 10, in the natural science auditorium. The program is not as yet complete, says Holger Hoegh, business manager of the Glee club, but will be given out soon.

The date of the women's Glee club concert has not been decided, according to Prof. W. E. Hays of the department of music and director of the glee clubs, but will be held some time after the Easter vacation.

I. W. A. A. INITIATES

Every girl who is to be initiated into I. W. A. A. must come to the meeting Wednesday evening February 18 with a five minutes stunt prepared. Any girl who has fulfilled the requirements which are posted on the bulletin board at the gymnasium is eligible for initiation.

After the initiation a regular business meeting will be held and a delegate will be elected to attend the national meeting which is to be held at Columbia, Mo.

REGINA DES JARDINS WILL FEATURE PROM WITH "BALLOON DANCE"

Budget For Junior Party Submitted to Social Committee This Afternoon

200 TICKETS FOR SALE

Dean Teeters Advised Lowering of Ticket Price From $4 to $3.50—Party Will Be Held March 5 in Armory—Programs and Favors Have Been Ordered

Regina Des Jardins, sophomore in the college of liberal arts, will dance the "Balloon Dance" at the Junior Prom this year. Miss Des Jardins danced an Egyptian dance at the junior class party last year with great applause from everyone.

Regina Des Jardins received her training in dancing at her home in Denver, Colo. She is a sister-in-law of Prof. William F. Russell, dean of the college of education. She is a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Tickets On Sale Wednesday

The Junior Prom will be held March 5, in the Armory from 8:45 o'clock until 1 a. m. The party is strictly formal. Two-hundred tickets will go on general sale at Whetstone's Wednesday morning, February 18, at 10 o'clock if the budget is approved by the social committee this afternoon.

The budget for the Junior Prom has not been accepted as yet, according to Marquis Smith, temporary chairman of the committee. "It will be submitted to a meeting of the social committee this afternoon," said Mr. Smith.

Programs Ordered

Dean Wilbur J. Teeters, chairman of the social committee, advised that the price of the tickets be $3.50 instead of $4. "The budget is figured to a minimum we believe. The favors and programs for the party have been ordered," said Mr. Smith yesterday. The price of the Prom last year was $3.50. "With the programs, favors, feature dances, decorations, music, and refreshments that we have planned, we feel that we are giving a bigger party than was given last year and for the same price considering the decreasing value of a dollar," said Mr. Smith.

CONDUCT PERSONAL HYGIENE COURSE

Course Given by University And Iowa City Doctors—Eighty-One Women Enroll

First aid discussion groups under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. will be conducted by University and Iowa City doctors. Six doctors having charge of the groups are Dr. John W. Cogswell, Dr. T. L. Hazard, Dr. C. S. Grant, Dr. W. J. McDonald, Dr. Mary K. Heard, and Dr. Zella W. Stewart.

Eighty-one women have signed cards and registered for the course. The course will begin February 16, and continue for six weeks. The hours of the courses are: Tuesday at 11 and 4, Wednesday at 10 and 3, Thursday at 4, and Friday at 11.

"If a great number of girls sign up for the course we will have more classes," said Jean Speers, chair- (Continued on page 3)

IOWA MEN PETITION FOR GOLF PRIVILEGES

Several men of the University are considering the formation of a University golf club if the privilege of playing and holding matches on the local golf course can be secured.

Petitions requesting these privileges are now being circulated by Lee W. Miller, Clarence Fackler and Belvel Richter. About twenty-five signatures have already been secured, but a few more are desired before the petitions will be presented to the officers of the Iowa City country club for consideration.

SPIRITUAL BALLAST A NEED OF THE HEATHEN

Bishop Stuntz Pictures the Work and Results of Foreign Missionaries

"Spiritual ballast supplied through moral leadership is the great need of the less civilized persons of the world," said Bishop Homer C. Stuntz in his vesper sermon at the natural science auditorium Sunday afternoon.

Missionary experiences in India, the East Indies, the Philippines, China, and South America enabled Bishop Stuntz to give vivid pictures of conditions in those countries. He predicted a brilliant future for the natives of India under the guidance of the Christian schools established there.

"Vast natural resources of coal and lumber remain practically untouched in the province of Borneo," Bishop Stuntz said. The inhabitants of the island still enjoy the ancient pastime of head hunting and the work of education is somewhat hampered by this penchant of the natives.

In the Philippines, South America, and China, the missionary work of the different churches is now bearing fruit in the great advances made in those countries along educational lines. There is still room for a great deal of work, however," said Bishop Stuntz.

CHEMISTRY REGISTRATION

Growth Of Department Shown in Enrollment

In a recent news item regarding the registration of Prof. Elwood W. Rockwood, professor of chemistry, it was stated that 520 students were enrolled in his courses now in comparison with fifty students when he first took the office.

Professor Rockwood states that there were but fifty students in applied science registered when he started and now there are 520 registered in applied science alone.

"There are 850 freshmen taking various courses in chemistry and approaching twice that number taking work in chemistry," says Professor Rockwood. Medicine requires work in chemistry three years, dentistry two years, and pharmacy two years.

HAWKEYES TO PLAY PURDUE HERE FRIDAY IN RETURN GAME

Two Big Ten Games Remain On Schedule—Also To Play At Ames

IOWA NOW TIES FOR FIFTH

Coach Ashmore Makes Plans to Secure Revenge on Boiler-makers—May be Possible For Iowa to Win Third or Fourth Place in Conference

Undismayed by the disastrous outcome of the Indiana trip, the Iowa basketball squad has arrived home to begin a grim preparation for the remaining lap of the season. Two Big Ten conference games remain on the Hawkeye schedule and a return contest with Ames, the latter billed to be played at Ames. Purdue comes to Iowa City Friday for a return game and it is with the idea of securing revenge, that Coach Ashmore will drive his tossers this week.

Northwestern Here This Month

Although the two defeats last weekend bumped the Old Gold five back to a tie for fifth place in the conference percentage column, there is reason to believe that Iowa can yet finish third or fourth. Northwestern was an easy scalp for Iowa a few weeks ago and should prove soft prey for the Hawkeyes in the game here the last of the month. Purdue had a difficult forty (Continued on page 3)

DO YOU FAVOR THE HONOR SYSTEM HERE?

Campus Discussion Has Caused The Iowan To Take Poll of Student Sentiment

Do you favor the honor system? Campus agitation of the Honor system has caused the Iowan to take a poll of student sentiment in regard to this question which comes up for discussion each year. The Iowan believes that students should have a means of expressing their opinions on this subject and has prepared a ballot upon which they may cast their choice.

The honor system is nothing new. Many institutions have adopted the policy of the professor being absent from the class room during examinations and of placing the students entirely on their honor of personal honesty and to report on the dishonesty of others. In some colleges it has worked out successfully. In others it has not. The choice of adoption, success or failure rests with the student body.

Do the students of Iowa want the honor system? Check your choice on the ballot on this page and send it to the Daily Iowan.

HAVE YOU AN IDEA

What would you do to amalgamate and unite the various colleges of the campus into a stronger union? Have you any idea for making the University more democratic? Do you favor a student vocational bureau? Are you in favor of the honor system? Do you quibble over the little things and overlook the main issues of your University? Are there enough organizations on the campus to provide membership for those who desire affiliation? Are students loyal to the University? Note: Mail any ideas you may have on these subjects to the Editor Readers Letters. Articles must not be over 200 words in length.

THE HONOR SYSTEM

An old time question, one that has been the source of considerable agitation in years past, among discussion groups on the campus, is again having a place in the thoughts of thinking men and women of the University. The sentiment of the campus in the past toward the honor system has been one of indifference. The question before the students today: "Is the student body ready for the honor system?" There would seem to be many divergent views among the student body. A few would favor the inauguration of the system; others are opposed to it; and the majority is apparently indifferent to the subject. What was prevalent on the campus in the past is doubtless present today—that of indifference and lack of interest in the honor system. Do the students want it? At institutions where the honor system has come up for consideration, but one question has worried the student body. Is the student responsible to report actions of dishonesty which come to his attention during examinations. This one question has prevented the acceptance of the honor system in some colleges. Students stumbling on this issue lose sight of the main point of the system. The honor system is greater than the individual, it is backed by the good name of the University. Can anyone doubt what it would mean to the name of Iowa to know that every student who comes out of the University is one hundred percent in knowledge as the standards set by the curriculum. It would also involve a training in honesty, honor, and integrity—three of the basic principles that every respectable man wants linked with his name. The honor system is not a game of tattling. Taken seriously it involves the principle of being loyal to Alma Mater and abolishes the personal element between man and man. It is the principle of every one working for the honor of his University and the man who breaks faith, laws and rules should be brought to justice. This is the principle which men and women should see who object to the honor system because of "telling on the other fellow." The honor system does away with the so-called "spying" and "watchful waiting" policies of the professor. It would permit students to leave the class rooms; take examinations on the campus under a shade tree; and put the University on a new basis. Every man wants to be trusted. But the honor system can only be successfully incorporated by the wish of the students. It is only by affirmative sentiment that it can be established on the campus. If it is to be successful, the students must put it across. It can not be a success without the approval of the student body. Are the students ready for the honor system? THE THING THAT COUNTS Last weekend was not at all a success for the Varsity basketball team. Iowa not only lost two games but also lost an opportunity to win the premier honors in the Big Ten conference. Friday night's defeat at the hands of Indiana and Saturday night's loss to Purdue was bitter medicine to swallow. But the Iowa team and the student body of the University will take the defeats with genuine Iowa spirit. It is a disappointment, to be sure, to see the championship go "aglimmering." Such honors are rare at Iowa but upon the disappointments of the present the joys of the future must be founded. Next year a better team will surely result from the brilliant quintet that Coach James Ashmore has built this season. Coach Ashmore still has an opportunity to see his team finish among the leaders. Purdue comes to Iowa City Friday for a return game and who upon the campus will admit that the Hawkeyes have not an even chance for victory? The Bollermakers will come here prepared to fight for they are making a superb effort to win the Big Ten honors but with 2,500 fans calling to the Old Gold with the "Iowa Fights" cry, the visitors should be the vanquished. The basketball season at Iowa has been a success. That Iowa has a strong team is evidenced by its victory over Chicago. The Maroons have lost but a single conference game this year and it was the Old Gold that administered that defeat. Iowa ranks above five other universities of the conference in the basketball standing, and the four teams that are above the University have a lot of respect for the Old Gold. That's what counts, after all.

Editor Daily Iowan:— For the second time, Frivol has put in its appearance. As an example of a humorous magazine, it is a decided failure. The covers of both numbers have been good. But, if one has any regard for the good name of the school, we suggest that he go no further than to advertise the cover and the editorials. A great number of the jokes have been copied from other magazines. It is our opinion that any liberal arts student spends enough time in the library to read a dozen better hand-me-downs. Then, too, if we really want a compilation of witty sayings, we can make the selection ourselves. We can get as much enjoyment out of collecting the jokes ourselves as we get out of reading what the exchange editor of Frivol selects. The editors of Frivol jokingly state that 3999 out of the 4000 students at S. U. I. are serious and cannot forget their seriousness to laugh at the frivolities of life. We do not believe that those responsible for the contents of Frivol have shown themselves to be capable judges of humor and frivolity that they should even jokingly make such a statement. Any student paper should reflect the sentiment and tone of the student body as a whole. We do not believe that Frivol does this, or at least we hope that it does not. We might add that we have not anyone buying several copies of Frivol in order that they might have a sufficient number with which to supply the folks at home. No, we can not point to Frivol as a good example of literature from the State University of Iowa. Humor has its place in the lives of all of us, and no good American is without a sense of humor. We do not, however, believe that the spirit of burlesque and second-rate musical comedy should be made the theme of a magazine of S. U. I. supposedly representing the frivolous and humorous side of student life. The magazine could be made a lively, witty, journal. Perhaps the publication, in later numbers, will improve. We hope so. If it does not, we suggest that the paper be suppressed. G. W. O P. H. L. SOCIAL LIFE

Personals

William H. Ray, '11, of Waverly, Iowa, has accepted a position as superintendent of the school at Tipton, Iowa.

Gerhart Goike, graduate student in the University, has gone to Des Moines to fill a position in the East high school, as a history teacher.

Helen McAlvin, senior in the college of liberal arts, is doing substitute work in the Clinton high school, as a teacher of history. She will be employed for the next two weeks.

man of the groups. Several different phases of personal hygiene and first aid to the injured are to be discussed. "The doctors will give practical demonstrations," said Miss Speers.

Miss Marion Lyon, acting head of physical education for women, expressed her ideas of the course as one that was most essential to a university or college graduate. "The women in the University hardly know a thing about first aid," said Miss Lyon yesterday and "no one should consider herself educated without a course of personal hygiene and first aid."

University of Iowa offers a course in hygiene and sanitation open as an elective to any student of the University with three hours credit for three hours a week, explains George F. Kay, dean of the college of liberal arts. "I am in sympathy with the Y. W. C. A. discussion groups, for I feel that what they are planning to take up is necessary to a liberal education," said Dean Kay.

CAMPUS ORGANIZATION IS FORMALLY DISSOLVED

plishments can be credited to the Women's League. It was instrumental in bringing to the University Valbjarn Stefannson, the noted arctic explorer who lectured here last year. Financial help to educate a French student, Jean Terraz, was also extended last year. The Belgian relief fund campaign was handled at the University this year by the Women's League.

Several hundred dollars were raised last spring from campus organizations for the purpose of refurbishing the drawing room in the liberal arts building. The University later voted $1500 for that purpose and the original sum was left in the League treasury.

"There was some discussion as to what should be done with this money," Miss Wade said, "but it has been decided to add it to the furniture fund as the drawing room is yet incompletely furnished."

minutes last Saturday night worrying a victory out of the weary-footed "Who Wah Wahs" and may expect an entirely different kind of a team when it meets the fighting Hawkeyes this week on the Armory floor before an Iowa crowd. By winning these two last conference tilts, Jimmie Ashmore's youngsters would have a record of seven games won and five lost, or a percentage of .583, which might be good for a fairly high ranking when the last Big Ten game is played for the 1920 season.

Iowans Won Out At Purdue

In the workout last night, Coach Ashmore spent considerable time drilling his varsity on a defense capable of breaking up the powerful offense exhibited by the Boilermakers at Lafayette Saturday night. No actual scrimmaging was permitted and the men contented themselves with limbering up sore muscles. "The team was decidedly off color at Bloomington Friday," said Coach Ashmore in speaking of the recent trip, "otherwise it should have defeated Indiana with little trouble. The Purdue five was too much for us, however, in our fagged condition and although Iowa played better basketball than the night before, the Purdue players were able to wear us down."

Aubrey Devine again established himself as a valuable man on the Indiana trip. As a result he will undoubtedly hold a permanent place on the five during the remainder of the season. The last few weeks has demonstrated the fact that Iowa has, in reality, six first string players of nearly equal ability. This has proven a most valuable asset to Coach Ashmore, especially at the time when Captain Nicolaus was ill. The coming games should see all of this sextet, Nicolaus, Kaufmann, Shimek, Worth, Finlayson and Devine, in action.

CITIZENSHIP SCHOOL OPENS TOMORROW

The school of citizenship for Iowa women will open at the University, Wednesday, February 18 and will continue Thursday and Friday.

It will be held under the auspices of the University extension division with director O. E. Klingaman in charge.

As Professor Klingaman himself says "The duties of citizenship are as definite as the duties of housekeeping."

The school will be open to any woman in Iowa.

Mrs. Frederick Schoff of Philadelphia, president of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations says, "The University of Iowa has certainly inaugurated an important movement in establishing a school of citizenship. It is of the greatest necessity in every community. Not only the women but the men as well need the education in citizenship."

The school will open in room 221A liberal arts building.

Religion from Mothers; Politics from Fathers

By F. E. Horack

It has often been said that we inherit our religion from our mothers and our politics from our fathers. It is perhaps true that most people have accepted the conclusions of their ancestors in both religion and politics. But from time to time the bases of these conclusions must be re-examined, and it is often found that the conclusions reached by our fathers and grandfathers are neither appreciable nor valid under the circumstances in which we now live.

Heretofore it has been easy for a woman to say that she was a democrat or republican. Everyone understood that, in nine cases out of ten, this was only another way of saying that her father was a democrat or a republican. But today the woman who expresses a party preference begins to feel a sense of responsibility. She begins to wonder what really is the difference between a democrat and a republican. If she turns to her male relatives or friends for information, the unfortunate part about it is that she is usually disappointed in trying to get any clear cut notion of what great issues or principles divide the two great parties.

Which party is for the peace treaty and the league of nations, for woman suffrage, prohibition, railroad control, tariff reform or any one of the many other issues which finds space in the congressional record or in the public press?

When James Bryce wrote his American commonwealth in 1894 he admitted that he could find no satisfactory answer in the United States as to what divided the two great parties, and he finally came to the conclusion that: "Neither party has, as a party, anything definite to say on their issues; neither party has any clean-cut principles, any distinctive tenets. Both have traditions. Both claim to have tendencies. Both contain war cries, organizations interests, enlisted in their support. But those interests are in the main the interest of getting or keeping the patronage of the government. Tenets and policies, points of political doctrine and points of political practice, have all but vanished. They have not been thrown away, but have been stripped away by time and the progress of events, fulfilling some policies, blotting out others. All has been lost, except office or the hope of it * * *

"Parties go on contending because their members have formed habits of joint action, and have contracted hatreds and prejudices, and also because the leaders find their advantage in using these habits and playing on these prejudices. The American parties now exist, because they have existed. The mill has been constructed and its machinery goes on turning, even when there is no grist to grind."

These statements of Lord Bryce are perhaps as true today as they were when he wrote a generation ago. But there are evidences of unrest in both of the old parties. It is constantly becoming harder to keep the rank and file in line. Nor does it take much of a political prophet to see that a regrouping of political elements in the near future is likely to take place. In such realignment women will no doubt have an opportunity to take an active part. When that day comes it may be found that the paths their fathers trod will not lead to the new goal. Women must share the responsibility of blazing new trails in which liberty and democracy will be the sign posts as of old, but with a new and broader meaning.

near piloting the Illini through last year by his steady work in the box but he didn't have any such array of fiends behind him that favored some pitchers. Vollmer, Hinkle, Curtiss, and Mochel, will again appear on the infield for Chicago and can handle the grounders. To be in the running the Maroons will have to produce something phenomenal in the pitching staff as they have been woefully weak in the past seasons.

Should women be paid for being mothers?

Last year 250,000 babies were lost and 23,000 mothers died in childbirth.

They died because they lacked attention—because the United States Government failed to give them the protection it gives hogs and cattle.

The foundation of tomorrow's democracy is being undermined. Something must be done to wipe out this condition which makes the United States a disgrace among nations.

You can do that something. Read "Every Woman's Chance to Serve Humanity" in February Good Housekeeping. Anne Martin tells what is wrong and explains how you can do your part.

Michigan, Iowa, Illinois and Chicago Look Formidable Before Season Opens

WOLVERINES MAY REPEAT

Lundgren Has Strong Team In All Departments—Iowa Strong In Pitching Staff With Batsmen Doubtful—Rating of Maroons and Illini Depends on Dark Horse Hurlers

Before the crack of the willow ushers in the national pastime and begins to eliminate contenders for the Big Ten baseball championship several teams may well advance claims to the title. Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, and Chicago promise to be the ones to cross bats for the honors.

Michigan, last season's victors, will have a strong aggregation both on the mound and at the bat and may repeat their last year's performance. Parks' the Wolverine mainstay, proved to be the class of the conference pitching departments last spring and bids fair to repeat. Behind him he had a team who could hit and hit hard, and a shortstop, Knode, who handled himself in big league style. Along with these two stars Coach Carl Lundgren has several other veterans to form a nucleus for his team.

Iowa Has Pitchers

The Hawkeyes lost the 1919 honors to the Wolverines by going to pieces under an avalanche of hits in the latter innings of both the Michigan contests. Iowa was weak in hitting and much of the success this year will likely depend upon the ability of the Old Gold to solve the offerings of the opposing pitcher. Hamilton and McIlree have both been through a conference season and should do their share if Coach Ashmore can find a catcher to fill the shoes of Merrill Olson, who is lost by graduation.

Chicago Has Veteran Infield

Illinois and Chicago will both have veteran teams but are likely to be weak in slabmen. Paddy Ryan came
