ATHENA, HEP-ZET, WHITBY AND NURSES WIN STUNT PLACES

Judges Name Organizations For Competition in All Fools' Jubilee in Iowawa

TO SEEK $50 IN PRIZES

Vaudeville Acts Will Be Presented At Festival In Armory at 10 O'clock Saturday Night—Eight Societies Entered Tryouts Held During Past Two Days

Athena, Hesperian-Zethagathian, Whitby and the Nurses' organization, will compete for prizes amounting to $50 in the All Fools' Jubilee which is to be given in connection with the Iowawa festival, Saturday evening, May 1, as a result of a series of tryouts staged on Friday and Saturday afternoons. The winners were announced by the judges late yesterday. Eight organizations competed in the tryouts.

Practically all of the organizations presented worthwhile acts, according to the judges, but the manner in which the winners executed their stunts won for them the higher approbation of the arbitrators. The winners will present their acts Saturday night, commencing at 10 o'clock. The prizes will consist of $25 for the first, $15 for the second, and $10 for the third ranking acts.

Choose Various Titles

Titles of the winning stunts were Whitby, "It Pays to Advertise, a singing and talking skit;" Nurses' organization, "A Burlesque Operation;" Hep-Zet, "Omar Khayam Visits Iowa City in Search of a Harem;" and Athena, "Novelty Singing and Dancing." Other organizations competing were Erodolphian-Irving, "A Visit From Mars;" I. W. A. A., "Julius Caesar Revised;" Philomathian-Octave, "The Death of Spaghetti;" and Cosmopolitan, "A Night at a College Inn."

Judges in the tryouts were Martin Flentje, president of the Associated Students of Applied Science, Mary Anderson '20, Elizabeth Dorcas '20, and William S. Maulsby, director of Journalism.

New Judges Are Named

When the four organizations compete next Saturday night, three members of the faculty and two students of the University will act as judges. They will be Edna N. Patzig, of the department of graphic and plastic arts; Olive K. Martin, of the department of Romance languages; Prof. Edward H. Lauer, of the department of German; Allen Dunn, of the college of applied science, and George Scanlon, of the medical college.

THREE TO THETA SIG CONCLAVE AT MADISON

Marian Dyer, Dorothy Lingham, and Beth Wellman will leave Wednesday morning to attend the national convention of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalistic fraternity, to be held April 29, 30, and May 1, at the University of Wisconsin, Madison. Miss Dyer, president of Rho chapter, is the official delegate. This is the second national biennial convention. The first convention was at the University of Kansas, Lawrence.

An exhibit of University publications was mailed to Madison about a week ago.

ALUMNUS OUT APRIL 28

Dr. Nollend Writes on "American Impressions of Italy"

"Music and the University," by Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the school of music, will be a major article of the next issue of the Alumnus which will be on sale next Wednesday, April 28, according to Mrs. Grace Partridge Smith, editor of the Alumnus.

Another feature of the Alumnus will be "An American's Impression of Italy," written by Dr. John Nollend, an alumnus of the University and former president of Lake Forest college at Lake Forest, Ill. Dr. Nollend was active in promoting Y. M. C. A. interests in Italy during the war and is at present living at Rome to establish a permanent foundation for the Y. M. C. A.

Various short articles with illustrations of Mecca day and the law jubilee, written by representatives from the respective colleges, will also appear in the April issue of the Alumnus.

SPRING GARDEN MOTIF FOR PAN-HEL FORMAL

Booths to Represent Fraternities in Party to be Given At the Armory Friday Night

Nine booths, representing the nine fraternities in the Pan-Hellenic council, will be placed around the armory floor and decorated in fraternity colors for the annual Pan-Hellenic formal dancing party Friday evening, April 30. The main armory floor will be decorated as a spring garden, with plenty of foliage. Arthur Thorwick of Coast's is to direct the decorating.

"Each of the nine fraternities is responsible for twenty tickets; tickets are not sold outside of Pan-hellenic council," said Robert Kaufmann, Sigma Nu and member of the party committee yesterday. Contrary to custom dancing will begin at 8:30 o'clock and end at 12. This is on account of recent action of the social committee limiting the number of formals which may last until 1:00," explained committee members.

The party committee consists of Joel Hill, Sigma Chi, chairman; Herold Reinecke, Beta Theta Pi; King Vanderwicken, Kappa Sigma; Tedford Miles, Phi Delta Theta; Adrian Shields, Delta Tau Delta; Claude Richards, Alpha Tau Omega; Owen Meredith, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; E. J. Goodrich, Phi Kappa Psi; Robert Kaufmann, Sigma Nu.

One alumnus of each of the nine fraternities will chaperon. They have been announced as: Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Coast, Beta Theta Pi; Prof. and Mrs. J. M. Schlesinger, Phi Delta Theta; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur B. Cannon, Delta Tau Delta; Dr. and Mrs. Robert Funsten, Alpha Tau Omega; Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Kirk, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McDonald, Kappa Sigma; Dr. and Mrs. N. G. Alcock, Sigma Chi; Prof. and Mrs. H. C. Horack, Phi Kappa Psi.

PHILOSOPHERS TO MEET

The Philosophical club will hold its last meeting of the year Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Dey, 507 N. Clinton street. Professor G. T. W. Patrick will read a paper on "The Psychology of Work."

Burlesquing the Student Council in a series of cleverly executed skits, students of the college of law spread a slice of enthusiasm at the beginning of the Senior Mixer at the Women's gymnasium last night that held the attention of about 350 persons throughout the "1920 Revue."

The laws did their stunt well and whenever it tended to lag a bit they instilled enthusiasm into it with music. W. E. S. Hutcheon as J. Mellow Hickersnap, president of the Council, and Roy D. Burns as R. Everett Overalls, editor of the "Daily Disappointment" held the center of attraction in the meeting of the "deliberative body."

EQUIPMENT FOR MOTOR CORPS BEING DELAYED

Material Has Been Shipped But Freight Conditions Hold Off Delivery Here

Equipment for the Motor Transport corps of the University R. O. T. C. has been ordered shipped to the University by the war department, according to Major Morton C. Mumma, University commandant. "Owing to the irregular freight deliveries, we do not expect to get the material in time to use it this academic year," Major Mumma says.

The equipment has been consigned in two divisions. From the general supply depot at Camp Holabirt, Maryland, have been shipped one Dodge touring car and five trucks, ranging from Dodge lightweights to a Mack 5 1-4 ton cargo. Four other trucks and two motorcycles are being shipped from the supply depot at Jeffersonville, Indiana. In addition to this equipment, parts for assembling are being sent, including ignition systems and other motor equipment for instructional purposes.

The material will be stored in the engineering building until next fall, when it will be kept in the new armory, which will be completed by that time. A large portion of the south side of the new armory will be devoted to the work of the motor transport corps, Major Mumma says.

Seventy-eight men are enrolled in the motor transport corps section of the R. O. T. C. Captain Fred R. Palmer, assisted by Sergeant 1st class, Conrad H. Kimmel, who has been stationed at the University for some time, have charge of the section of the work of the University cadet regiment.

STUDY SELF-GOVERNMENT

Mabel Turner Will Represent University at Ann Arbor

Mabel Turner, president of the women's council, will leave Tuesday to attend the convention of the Middle Western Intercollegiate association for women's self government, which meets in Ann Arbor, Michigan, April 28 and 29. Fifteen colleges are represented in the association. As the University of Iowa is not represented, Miss Turner will go as visiting delegate from the women's council.

Violet Blakely, assistant to the dean of women, will accompany her on part of her journey. Miss Blakely will visit the Universities of Minnesota, Wisconsin, and Chicago, and will study their systems of self-government.

The meeting of the women's council, scheduled for next Tuesday, has been postponed until the following Tuesday. At that meeting officers will be elected and a report of the convention given.

SCIENTISTS OF IOWA ELECT 1920 OFFICERS

Thomas and Wylie Given Executive Positions at Annual Business Session

Prof. Nicolas Knight of Cornell college, Mt. Vernon, was elected president of the Iowa Academy of Science in the business session of the thirty-fourth annual convention which closed in Iowa City yesterday.

Other officers named were Prof. D. W. Morsehouse of Drake university, Des Moines, first vice-president; Prof. R. B. Wylie of the University of Iowa, second vice-president; James H. Lees, Iowa Geological Survey, Des Moines, secretary; Prof. A. O. Thomas of the University of Iowa, treasurer.

Prof. H. L. Rietz of the University was named president of the Iowa State Mathematicians society at the annual meeting here yesterday. Prof. R. B. McClellan of Grinnell college was elected vice president and Prof. E. F. Simondson of Upper Iowa University of Fayette, was chosen as secretary.

Many Sectional Meetings

Yesterday morning's session was largely taken up by the various sectional meetings held in different rooms of the Physics building, at which papers were given on the following groups of science, botany, chemistry, geology, physics, psychology, zoology, archeology and mathematics. These various papers represented the result of thorough and original scientific investigation and as such will be published in the proceedings of the Academy.

At the adjournment of these sectional meetings a general session was held at eleven o'clock in the lecture room at which William H. Norton of Cornell college gave a geology paper on "The Palisades of the Cedar." Various committee reports were given and the session broke up at 12:30 for a get-together luncheon at the Burkley hotel. The business meeting was again resumed and election officers followed.

Scholz of Missouri Hits Tape Barely Its Width Ahead Of Hawkeye Runner

IOWA PLACES IN HALF MILE

Relay Team Takes Third Place—Two Records Broken—Ames Smashes Best Time in Two Mile and Illinois Records in Mile—Webb's Feat Makes Aggies Victors

By Arthur G. Kruse

Special to Daily Iowan

Des Moines, Apr. 24.—Colby of Iowa took second in the hundred yard dash and the Iowa half mile relay team copped third place in the Drake relays held today at the stadium Scholtz of Missouri won the century in 9:4 but daylight could scarcely be seen between the Hawkeye runner and the tape when Scholz broke it and won the big race of Drake's annual classic.

Justin, Matthey, Wahl, and Colby carried the baton for Old Gold in the half mile relay and took third place finishing behind Michigan and Missouri, the Wolverines making the distance in 1:29:1. The Iowa quartets entered in the mile and four mile relays did not place.

Ames Breaks Record

Illinois took two firsts, Ames one, and Michigan one. In the two mile event Ames smashed the previous record for the track, held by Illinois, and came within one fifth second of tying the world's record. The Aggies covered the distance in 7:53:1 beating Illinois to the tape. Webb won the race for the State College team after one of the most sensational sprints ever seen in a Drake classic. Starting behind the Illinois runner thirty yards he drove past him and

IOWA DROPS LOOSE GAME

Cedar Rapids Takes Last of Series 13 to 5 in Listless Contest

In a riot of smashes and errors Cedar Rapids took the last game of the series from Iowa yesterday afternoon 13 to 5. The Bunnies left only four men stranded on the bases while Iowa had ten die there.

The fourth inning was the fatal one for Iowa. At that time the leaguers were leading five to four but with only two hits six runs were scored and the game was on the skids. Coach Ashmore sent only part of the first string lineup in the game and substituted frequently.

In the series just finished Cedar Rapids played snappy baseball in the field, hit the ball hard, with the exception of the innings against Hamilton, and looks to have a club that will be in the race for the Three-I leadership.

The next game is with Dubuque college tomorrow afternoon and following that the Hawkeyes leave for the east where they will open the Big Ten season with Purdue and Illinois on April 30 and May 1.

The score:

Cedar Rapids	023	602	000
Iowa	202	000	010
Batteries	Weichman, Literal, Higgins and Hruska; McIlree, Frohwein and Michaelson.

"SHOWING" SENATOR REED

Democrats of Missouri in their state convention at Joplin on Friday failed to name Senator James A. Reed as one of the state's delegates to the San Francisco convention in June. Strict interpretation of their refusal to list him means that they have repudiated him as their representative in congress.

"The Democracy of Missouri has at last had the opportunity it has so long sought. Jim Reed has just been overwhelmingly defeated for delegate to San Francisco by a fully attended Democratic convention," was the message sent to President Wilson by the convention members.

The action of the Missouri democrats recall Senator Reed's activities in opposition to the peace treaty and his general conduct during the war. "He condoned the sinking of the Lusitania," asserted Francis M. Curlee of St. Louis, when Senator Reed's name was mentioned as a possible delegate. Reed's friends of course, denied the charge. Whether it is true or not, his attitude toward Germany seemed to have branded him unfit in the eyes of the Missouri democrats.

Jim Reed's repudiation will have but little effect nationally, but for Jim Reed it means almost certain political death. His tirades against President Wilson have been most bitter at times and whether there was any justification in them or not, he must suffer consequences. Perhaps he did not break faith with his party but he broke faith with his constituency, a far greater fault. Missouri democrats "showed" Reed!

WHERE THE TREE FALLS LET IT LIE

They are bringing the boys back from France. Some of the American soldier dead are being disinterred and sent back to their native land, by a recent ruling of the war department.

Much sentiment has been connected with the matter of whether or not the American soldiers who died in France should be brought back to America, or whether they should be allowed to sleep in the land where they died. Many have shared the opinion of the late Roosevelt who said, when his own son fell, victim of a German bullet: "Where the tree falls, let it lie." Many, however, have maintained that the khaki-clad heroes should be brought back to the States and be buried in native soil.

The Iowan believes it is a mistake to bring back the soldier dead. The general opinion of former service men in the matter is that the individual soldier would prefer to sleep on the soil where he fell in his last hour of duty to flag and country. Where he gave his last full measure of devotion, he would prefer that his dust should to dust return.

Were all the bodies to be returned to America, the task would be an almost impossible one. Many of the bodies have been buried several times by the grave registration service of the army. Many of them must be unrecognizable; unfortunately many of them were lost in the combat. For such is war.

Why should heartaches that have become somewhat soothed be renewed by the ordeal of bringing back the 100,000 American dead who sailed away on American transports in the prime of life. Rather, why not assuage the now deadened grief of loved ones by making of the cemeteries, beautiful parks.

There is something tragically beautiful in the thought of the American cemeteries in France. The French government, in cooperation with the American army, has arranged the burial grounds of Yankee soldiers in a beautiful and orderly way. And the French people are taking care of these graves, both in the cemeteries back of the lines and in those graves hastily made and afterwards perfected in the fighting areas.

In the autumn months, in the dying time of the year, the hundred million busy Americans can contemplate those French hillsides and those thousands of crosses that mark the final resting place of American soldier heroes, with an emotion of pathetic pride. Americans may vividly imagine those long rows of crosses, bedecked by blooming plants. There the golden rod will wave in mingled sadness and pride while French winds toss the tree tops as they sing eulogies to the deathless spirit of those soldier heroes who came across the seas.

Don't bring the soldier dead back from France! Let them have the honor of their eternal sleep in the land of valor where they fell.

THE LISTENING POST

If one really desires to enjoy the sunshine on these unsettled days one must get up with it, so to speak. The bright, cloudless sky of the story books is at its height just as the last R. O. T. C. recruit straggles into line at 6 a. m., one of them informs us. "Arise early some day and see it blaze its way over yon eastern hill," he said with a flourish of his trusty Enfield, "and incidentally watch us drill in its shining rays." He must have seen us stifle an incipient yawn.

"Generals probably are born, not made. Colonels and captains can be trained," writes such an eminent economist as Professor Taussig of Harvard. Second lieutenants, he might have added with graciousness, are just "turned out."

A reader argues that it is safer to "say it with flowers" even though the practice of writing it might be cheaper, for then they can't sue you.

The only time a lot of college men acquire callouses on their hands is during the canoeing season. Still others acquire them by waxing the floors of their houses.

One of the numerous bonus plans for soldiers calls for $1 for each day served in the army minus the $60 bonus which has already been paid. A mathematician attending the convention of Figurers here yesterday, computed at that rate, we'd owe the government $58.

It is not always the bird who applauds the loudest who is the most appreciative person in an audience.

A girl we knew in Sioux City repudiated her home town recently by traveling to Ireland to be married.

Women with bobbed hair have one advantage over their sisters who wear the well known "bobs." They do not have to disarrange their coiffure every time they answer a telephone call. M. V. M.

IOWA GRADUATE STUDENT TESTS MUSICAL ABILITY

Testing to find out whether musical talent is inherited is the work of Miss Hazel Stanton, a graduate student on leave of absence. Miss Stanton is working for her doctor's degree under the direction of Dr. Charles B. Davenport of the Eugenics Record office at Cold Springs Harbor, New York.

Miss Stanton's work consists of examining by means of the Seashore and other tests the members of the typical musical families of America such as that of Damrosch, the director of the New York Symphony orchestra, of Lowell Mason and of Dudley Buck, famous composers. Miss Stanton has just completed her work in New York and is in Boston. She will return to receive her Ph. D. from the University in June.

NEXT BAND CONCERT NOT VESPER PROGRAM

Only Best of Selections Will Be Given Place on May 2 Says O. E. Van Doren

The next concert to be given by the University band, on Sunday, May 2, in natural science auditorium, will not in any way be a vesper program. Neither will the principal numbers on the program consist of jazz or popular airs, as some people have the impression, according to Dr. O. E. Van Doren, director of the University band.

"The program will be selected from the best there is in band music. We will present an hour of music which we feel sure will not offend the most sensitive lover of band music," Director Van Doren continued. "The Iowa band probably plays of the so-called 'jazz' music than any college band in the west."

pose and aims of the society to his classes stated "It is one of the institutions of the university that can serve to keep the alumnus in closer touch with his university, as well as to keep him informed as to what is new in science and especially what the men of science in his own state are accomplishing. There are two types of members, the active who is a man of science himself, and the associate who simply wants to keep in touch with the new things in science; as such he receives all publications."

COLBY WINS SECOND PLACE IN HUNDRED

the resolution calling for the appointment of a new chairman of the censoring board on the ground that Prof. E. D. Starbuck had "fallen on the job 'Up in Mabel's Room.'"

Students of the college of liberal arts occupied the spotlight when the laws had retired and they continued to spread the soft salve of enthusiasm over the audience.

Taking as their topic "Twenty-Five Years Hence," they presented a living album of the various members of the class. "Marthy" and "Ezra," impersonated by Margaret Hayes and Ralph E. Overholser, read from the great book.

Addresses by Prof. F. C. Ensign of the law college and Dean Wilbur Teeters pointing out the benefits that could be derived from such all-Senior mixers followed the stunts. "This affair can become a tradition if the classes that succeed yours will take hold of it in the right manner," said Professor Ensign.

About 250 seniors remained for the dance that closed the affair. The mixer last night was the first ever attempted by a senior party.
