TENT STAKES ARE DRIVEN FOR IOWA CARNIVAL TONIGHT

Armory and Women's Gymnasium Will Be Scene of Activity For the Evening

IOWIGGLE LEADS PROGRAM

Four Organizations Will Contend for Prizes in First All-University Carnival Ever Attempted—At 8:30 o'clock Dancing Commences in Women's Gym

Iowawa, an evening of surprises, the first all-University carnival ever attempted, will make its premier tonight. It will pitch its tents at the armory and the women's gymnasium where noise, hilarity and dancing will "play around" from 7 o'clock until midnight.

Headlining the program tonight will be the Midway, the All Fools' Jubilee, and the Iowiggle. The first two will be held at the armory while the dance will be held at the women's gymnasium. Attractions on the Midway which will include a minstrel show, a Forty-niner show, a house of illusions, a chamber of horrors, and many other gaudy booths, will open at 7:30 o'clock, following a free show which will be staged at Whetstone's corner at 7 o'clock.

Four Seek Prizes

In the All Fools' Jubilee, the vaudeville section of the Iowawa, four organizations will present acts in competition for prizes amounting to $50. Athena, Hep-Zet and Whitby literary societies and the Nurses' organizations are the four which will

FORENSIC LEAGUE BANQUET

Debaters Who Opposed Nebraska Are Given Medals Last Night

"Be yourself on the public platform," was the keynote of the toast program as expressed by the toasters at the banquet of the Forensic League at the Hotel Jefferson last evening. More than one-hundred men from the ranks of the three men's literary societies, Delta Sigma Rho, honorary debating fraternity, and faculty, and alumni of the University attended the social gathering.

W. Emslie Hutcheon, debate coach and senior law, presented the Forensic medals to the Iowa men who participated in the Iowa-Nebraska contests. Those to receive the medal were Frank K. Shuttleworth, Clarence Fackler, William P. Berghuis, Max Conrad, Harold Merry and David Hopkins. The medals are awarded each year by the League to University men who take part in inter-collegiate debates or oratorical contests.

Negative Team At Nebraska

While the Forensic league enjoyed good-fellowship, jests, and talks, the negative team composed of Conrad, Merry, and Hopkins were upholding the Old Gold standards on the University of Nebraska platform against the Cornhuskers. The negative Nebraska team with the personnel of Miles Hildreth, William C. Hull, and O. A. Drake was present at the banquet.

President Walter A. Jessup expressed his interest and the interest of the faculty in the Forensic League and the work it is doing. "Interest

DOPE FAVORS IOWA OVER DRAKE TODAY

Watson Track Men Expected To Hand Good Walloping To Bulldogs

The Hawkeye track athletes are doped to give Drake University a great trouncing this afternoon in the dual meet on Iowa Field. Conservative dopsters have given the bulldogs points wherever there was a question of doubt and have estimated the score to be 94-42 although the grand total for the Hawkeyes is expected to be higher.

Drew, star Drake sprinter, is given first place in both the short dashes and the 220 yard low hurdles although Colby's performance at the Drake relays would give him the edge. Drew is given the benefit of the doubt because of his past performances. In the 440 yard dash Iowa is doped to take first and third places respectively while Drake is given first place in the half mile.

Drew, joint holder of the world's record in the 100 yard dash, is the big cog in the Drake machine this afternoon. Ebert is the other member who is expected to place high in the shot put as he put it farther in tryouts than did any one in the dual meet with Coe several weeks ago. For the Hawkeyes Colby, Belding, Hoffman, Slater and A. Devine are expected to be the heavy scorers. This is the first dual meet the Hawkeyes have had with Drake since 1914 of 1915.

In the longer distances the Bulldogs

COLLEGE VOTE PLAN OPPOSED IN PETITION

Whether the proposed student council will be ratified by the board of deans or not will probably be determined some time this coming week, according to word given out at President Walter A. Jessup's office yesterday. The board will hold a regular meeting Wednesday.

CHANGE OF LOCATION

After May 8 the business office of the Daily Iowan will be at the office of the Athens Print shop 121 Iowa Avenue due to the sale of the Chesnut Printing company, the present printers of the Daily Iowan. Both the Iowan and the Alumnus will be printed at the Athens shop.

BENEFIT LOAN FUND FOR STUDENTS GETS OFFICIAL SANCTION

President Jessup Approves Report of Proposition by Van Epps, Freshman President

FROSH PARTY OFFERS $100

Proposed to Assess First Year Liberal Arts Students Fifty Cent Fee—Van Epps Hopes to Get Other Classes in Line For Organization

That a Student Loan and Benefit fund will be established in the University for the purpose of providing financial aid to students reduced to unhappy circumstances, was announced yesterday by James Van Epps, president of the freshman class. Half formulated plans which he had submitted to President Walter A. Jessup had been received with an enthusiasm modified only by several valuable suggestions regarding its application.

One hundred dollars, accruing from the freshman party has been offered by the committee, as the basis of the fund which will be increased shortly by the assessment of fifty cents on each freshman liberal arts student, and maintained in future years by adding that amount to each student's registration fee.

Force For Good

"The establishment of a loan and benefit fund at Iowa," said Mr. Van Epps, "is being welcomed and approved by high officials since it is obvious that such an institution can be a powerful force for good in the University. I have received permission from Mrs. Aurner, dean of women, to explain my plan to the freshman women next Monday, and I am confident that they will support it without reservation."

Secretary William H. Bates will take over the finances.

"The administration of the freshman fund will be effected, by a committee composed, according to the present plans, of the dean of men, the dean of women, the president of the University (ex-officio), and one student representative from each class, probably class presidents," said Van Epps yesterday. "At the present time," he explained, "only members of the freshman class are concerned in the Benefit Fund, and I mention the presidents of the other classes because it is extremely probable that each class will favor this plan and adopt one of their own. The tentative plans provide that when a class leaves the University their money will be turned over to a general University loan fund under the same plans."

Offers Services of Bates

That an institution for the benefit of the unfortunate students ought to be established at Iowa, would receive the support of high officials was instanced when President Jessup offered the services of William H. Bates, treasurer, to keep the finances of the fund in good shape. He said further: "The plan for a Loan and Benefit fund is an excellent and one, and I believe that large subscriptions will be received by the Fund from persons who appreciate just what it really means."

"Dean Robert E. Reinow, and Dean Nellie S. Aurner," said Van Epps, "are acquainted with the plan and have sanctioned it. They will probably be on the committee."

JEANS FADE AWAY ON CAMPUS AFTER VERY SHORT REIGN

Not brave enough to withstand the maddening indifference of the monstrous many, the ridiculously few souls who took up the kahki cause or donned the blue denims have resumed their place among their common-place companions again, leaving the "over-all banner" behind them in the mud.

No word is spoken but the silence is more powerful than speech in expressing Iowa's disapproval of the over-all method of combating the high cost of living. A more popular method seems to be that adopted by the engineers of wearing one's old clothes; and who shall say that Iowa will not yet see an order of the Knights and Ladies of the Royal Patch. Anyway as regards wearing old clothes we all do that, don't we.

FIFTY TO ENTRAIN FOR MILITARY CAMPS

Men Will Take Six Weeks Work This Summer in Start For Reserve Commissions

Nearly fifty students of the University will go into a six weeks military training camp this summer, beginning June 17. These men going to camps will be furnished with all transportation to and from their camp, including berths. At these camps they will be furnished with uniforms and ration allowances, the same that West Point cadets receive; which is nearly twice that allowed by the regular army. No pay will be given.

Those taking advance courses will receive forty cents a day for two years, except while in camp. After graduation from the University they will receive reserve commissions.

The following men will report to Camp Holabird, Maryland, before June 17; R. G. Amlong, H. H. Bittinger, J. R. Buchanan, H. B. Corrigan, L. B. Bill, A. C. Floto, C. C. Graves Jr. R. E. Hoyne, O. D. Johnson, S. J. Johnson, R. H. Luscomb, E. A. Mangels, G. R. Marshall, L. J. Moeller, F. V. Morrison, R. D. Mott, A. L. Schump, G. L. Tilton, D. N. Wagoner, W. G. Wood, E. A. Wortman, L. S. Wright, E. Soper, A. Cronin, F. G. Spennen and G. H. Cheek.

To the infantry camp at Camp Custer, Michigan; R. L. Block, T. C. Byerly, P. E. Custer, Harry Dawson, Gardiner, K. E. Griffin, J. L. Larson, F. L. McAvinchey, H. H. Page, J. H. Riepe, P. B. Wilson, R. S. McLaughlin, H. J. Kriebs, G. H. Seigle and R. L. Hunter are assigned.

Engineers going to Camp Humphreys, near Washington are Howard H. Coe, J. A. Hartman, V. M. Long, H. B. Miller, J. F. Phillips, J. C. Wason, W. M. Horner, and Carl F. Young.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

All former members of the military department who have not yet turned in the uniforms and other property issued to them must do so without delay. No report of credit will be made to the Registrar until property responsibility has been terminated by compliance with the above requirement.

Morton C. Mumma, Commandant.

SEERLEY GIVES BIG ADDRESS OF DAY AT TEACHERS' SESSION

President of Iowa State Teachers College Makes Practical Suggestions

'TEACHING NO PROFESSION'

Seerley Declares It To Be "No More a Profession Than Digging in the Streets"—Shortage of Educators is Cause of Concessions—Last Meeting of Convention Today

In his address on "Recruiting the Teaching Profession" which concluded the second day session of the conference on supervision at the women's gymnasium last night, President Homer H. Seerley of Iowa State Teachers college brought forth several practicable suggestions for improving the business of teaching.

That the professional teacher should be a state instead of a community employee; should be guaranteed permanent employment as a reasonable income; and should have the same position as a prominent citizen that other persons of equivalent talent now enjoy, is the belief of President Seerley.

Teaching is Business

"The trouble with teaching is that it is not a profession any more than digging on the street is. It is just a sort of business or occupation. The only people who are all professional are superintendents and principals; the rest are subordinates," declared the educator.

He pointed out also that the present undemocratic system of school administration and the maintenance of an almost military workers grading of teachers as well paid privates has caused to enter professions which seemed more hopeful, permanent, and independent. "The public is in a panic because of the increasing shortage and as a consequence public sentiment has come to the conclusion to pay big salaries to grant concessions, and to guarantee the future as the number of candidates is not sufficient to fill the vacancies."

Lecture Closes Full Day

President Seerley's address closed a day that was full of lectures and conferences from 9 o'clock in the morning until the same hour at night. F. E. Spaulding, who will head the graduate college of Yale university next year but who is now superintendent of schools at Cleveland, Ohio presented in humorous

PAN-HELLENIC FORMAL

Former University Students Return For Annual Party

The formal season of the year closed last night with the annual Pan-Hellenic formal. Booths for each fraternity decorated in its own colors featured the decorations.

Drop lights decorated streamers of spring colors, lattices with streamers and flowers, and weeping willow decorations about the different fraternity booths gave the effect of a pretty spring garden.

Over two hundred couples were present and many former students of the University returned for the party. Chapin's orchestra from Monmouth, Ill. furnished the music. Decorations were in charge of Art Thorwick of Coasts.

SUPPORT THE IOWAWA

Upon the extent the students of the University support the Iowawa festival at the armory and women's gymnasium tonight will depend the future of the affair. This is the first time an all-University carnival has been attempted and only through financial backing at the start can it hope to become a tradition on the campus.

An event such as the Iowawa can be made a real red letter day at the University. The first attempt must of necessity be given a financial foundation. After it has procured a solid footing, the Iowawa will be able to stand purely on its merits.

Traditions are lacking at Iowa. That is an admitted fact. If one is desired for May 1, here is an opportunity to start a worthy one. It is up to the students to furnish the foundation.

SUMMER SESSION OR LOAF?

The approach of summer brings a new question to the student. "What will I do this summer?" Many firms are offering jobs to college men for the period of the vacation. Some students are taking them, others are indifferent and undecided. The Summer Session should solve the question for many who have nothing in view but the monotony of spending a frivolous summer.

If there is one thing distasteful to active Americans it is constant loafing which the three months of summer vacation offers to the college student. At the close of vacation the loafer has become a professional loiterer without energy, interest, or ambition. To the contrary a person who works, finds perpetual pleasure-seeking a bore.

Work and play go hand in hand. To let either monopolize one's time is inconsistent with nature's laws. Summer School at Iowa has recognized this law and has arranged a curriculum of work and play to the advantage of intellect and health. The Summer Session represents nearly all lines of study in the University which are included in the work of the rest of the year, together with many special branches appropriate to the occasion. Hot weather is counteracted by the river picnics, tennis courts, dramatic artists, lectures, and art fairs.

The advantages of the Summer Session to students who need credits to rank them in their respective classes are evident. To others who would graduate from the University in three years it offers another opportunity. The eleven week's Session is the equivalent of an entire quarter. This period is divided into two terms, the first six weeks, from June 16 to July 26, the second of five weeks, from July 28 to August 30. Students may enter at the beginning of either term and pursue their work for one term or for both. Summer brings its question, but they are easily disposed of if you have ambition and energy. If you have a job, well and good. If you have nothing in view but a summer's loaf, go to summer school. Don't waste the summer in seeking pleasure. It isn't fair to humanity.

Andre Chotin, French player, says "substitute for wine takes pep from work" which reminds us that the argument might be used by the beer advocates. No one wants to see the world go stagnant.

The committee which will probe the causes of the paper shortage will discover that an exorbitant amount is being used and itself will use reams to make the report—just as another substantial of the perpetual circle theory.

We suggest that the Iowa-Nebraska debates be staged on the floor of the senate.

Eight wamps for two-bits. Sounds like a fair exchange.

Good morning May. How fresh, how welcome your are.

EDITORIAL VIEWS

PROFESSORS' PAY

The standard of instructors in American universities have arisen immensely in the last few years, but in most of them the salaries have not kept pace. With the growing demand for experts in the outside world, this situation must inevitably lead to the lack of men of high caliber to fill the college chairs.

It is needless to argue the thesis that the college professor is one of the most valuable elements in any nations; it is a truism only too well known. It should seem sufficient to point out that unless some action is taken speedily, this element will be lost. Yet this has been pointed out time and again and still there is a supineness about our legislatures that numbs their commonsense and initiative in the matter.

Education of the highest order obtainable has always been a fetish with the American people. They have always been ready to sacrifice and deny themselves that their children may have the benefits that are only learning can impart. They are willing to bear slight extra burden of taxation to know that ignorance and its attendant miseries and vice are being banished.

It is not only the college man or woman who shares in the mental wealth that can be found in a university. Such a man or woman well trained by competent professors is one of the most progressive and constructive of citizens. Poorly trained, he is nothing less than a menace to the public welfare. "A little learning is a dangerous thing."

Lack of properly trained professors, which will be the result of a failure to raise the level of salaries, will not check the stream of the young that will pour into the universities in search of higher education. The consequence will be that an ever-increasing number of expensively trained and worthless dunces will be cast upon an unsympathetic world at every commencement season. This group to whom the nation should look for its leaders will have to be cared for even as little children and idiots for they will be equally as helpless.

This is the outlook at the present. What is to be done?—Evening Missurian.

in your fellowmen is the keynote of the success of the Forensic League. Does your breadth of sympathy go out to men? The trouble with a great many men today is that they do not take enough interest in their fellow beings," the president said. "If you are not interested in your fellow men you will not make much of a success as a public man." The president emphasized the importance of analyzing a talk before it is given in order that the point of the speaker may be easily grasped by the audience.

Be Yourself on Platforms

Clarence B. Isaacs, secretary of Iowa City Commercial Club, made a short talk on the necessity for careful preparation of an address.

"Be yourself and do not make the mistake of trying to imitate some one else," was the gist of a clever address by Henry G. Walker, Iowa City attorney.

W. Emslie S. Hutcheon, debate coach, said. "If the forensic League is to meet the standards of the past the literary societies must insist on greater participation and individual preparation among their men. The men who get by in debates are the pluggers."

O. A. Drake of Nebraska made a few remarks in which he expressed his appreciation of the University and the cordial treatment he and his teammates had received during their stay here.

John M. Grimm, attorney at Cedar Rapids, was unable to be present.

Earl W. Wells was happy as toastmaster.

This is the first Forensic banquet to be held at the University. It is the plan of the members to make it an annual occasion.

The Forensic League is composed of the men's three literary societies, Zetagathian, Irving, and Philomathean and members of the Delta Sigma Rho, honorary debating fraternity.

DELEGATES PREPARE NEW MEMORIAL UNION DRIVE

About 150 delegates representing the various fraternal organizations on the campus met in the liberal arts auditorium Friday at 4:30 for the purpose of making another drive among the unsolicited students to secure funds for the Iowa Memorial Union.

Professor Ensign conducted the meeting and spoke of the progress of the fund, amounting at present to $40,000 subscribed by the students. However, he emphasized the necessity of giving every unsolicited student the opportunity of contributing to the fund.

J. Mel Hickerson speaking as the Student Council representative cited the campaigns of other universities where more than the stated fund had been subscribed, in less time than was given for our memorial union campaign. R. E. Overholser speaking for the Daily Iowan emphasized the influence a large student subscription would have with the alumni.

Drake is thus given first place in the shot put with Iowa taking the other two places while the Hawkeyes are doped to make a slam in the high jump and the pole vault. In the discus and javelin throw the Bulldogs are given one point in each event respectively and a second place in the braad jump.
