ASHMORES BID FOR STRONGER HOLD ON CHAMPIONSHIP TODAY

Two Game Series With Indiana Opens This Afternoon at Bloomington

HAWKS APPEAR FAVORITES

Captain Hamilton Will Probably be Coach Ashmore's Choice to Go Against Hoosiers in Pitcher's Box—Layton, Injured, Does Not Make Trip

With eyes set on the championship of the Big Ten, the Iowa baseball team left yesterday afternoon for Bloomington, where the first of a two games series will be played with Indiana this afternoon. Twelve men went with Coach Ashmore and were the same ones as made the trip last week against Purdue and Illinois, with the exception of Layton, who was injured in the Purdue mix.

Captain Hamilton, McIlree, Michaelson, Leighton, Woodard, Cray, Shimek, Irish, Parrott, Anderson, Draper, and Frohwein made up the Hawkeye roster. Before the men return two games with Indiana will be played, one today and the other Saturday.

Iowa Still Undeclared

Coach Ashmore has worked the team hard all week and hopes to bag two more victories and keep the slate clean. The Hoosiers have much the same club that performed here last year when they were beaten handily. Jeffries and Walker are their two best batters in the pitcher's box, but the way the Ashmores took to Captain Ryan at Illinois recently makes the going look rough for them.

Just who will be Coach Ashmore's choice to work on the mound in the game today is a question of doubt. With Illinois coming Monday for its last chance it is probable that Hamilton will be used against the Hoosiers in the opener to enable him to be in shape for the Indians again the first of the week.

Michigan Contends

At the present time neither Michigan nor Iowa has lost a conference game. The Wolverines have a strong team this year and they are doped to go against the Hawkeyes in the eleventh hour confession. Before that the Hoosiers must be put through the ordeal. With the same brand of baseball that the Hawkeyes have shown to date and Hamilton turning back his usual dozen by the knockout exit, Indiana does not look to be the favorite today.

TRANSIT APPEARS IN MAY

Engineering Organ Will Contain Many Articles, Says Miller

The Transit, annual publication of the engineering college, will appear the last week in May with a full account of the year's activities and a number of leading articles, according to Maurice C. Miller, editor-in-chief.

The purpose of the magazine is to keep the alumni in touch with the activities of the college and to further a larger enrollment.

The leading articles contributed are by Dean William G. Raymond, on the Railroad Situation; Improvements on the Iowa Athletic Field, by Prof. E. J. Lambert; The New Hydraulic Laboratory, by Prof. J. H. Dunlap.

Allen W. White and E. H. Bailey, former graduates of the college, will write on Railroad Work in China and the Inefficiency of Investment of Life Insurance.

COMMERCE CLUB SELLS COPIES OF ORGANIZER

"The Organizer," the publication put out by the Commerce Club, has been selling rapidly, according to members in charge of the sale in the liberal arts hall. Nearly all of the subscriptions have been paid in and the venture has been a great success.

Next year the editors are planning on putting out a larger publication. This was the first year that the students in the school of commerce have tried anything of this nature and their efforts have proven to be a success. There will be one more issue of the magazine to come out in about a month.

WELLS IS UNIVERSITY ENTRANT IN ORATORY

Northern Oratorical League Holds Contest at University of Wisconsin

Earl W. Wells, freshman law, will represent the University tonight in the Northern Oratorical League contest at the University of Wisconsin, at Madison. The title of his oration is, "The New American Principle."

The N. O. L. is composed of the universities of Iowa, Chicago, Minnesota, Michigan, Northwestern, Wisconsin, and Oberlin college. Prizes of $100 and $50 are given to first and second places. The contest was won last year by Robert Aurner, of the University of Iowa.

The judges of the oratorical are the heads of the public speaking departments of the various universities in the league. Each judge ranks all the speaks but the one from his own university.

Wells won the University oratorical here, March 3. He is president of the Forensic League, a member of Zetaphian literary society, and of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

A. F. I. GOWNS ON SALE AT GOLDEN EAGLE STORE

The Golden Eagle will handle caps and gowns for the A. F. I. instead of Coast's, as originally announced. William Coast has turned the entire thing over to Bremer, who has had charge of it in previous years. Orders may be given in at any time now to the senior class president, to any member of A. F. I., or to the Golden Eagle. The only measurement necessary is the length, but the college must be designated to get the proper color of tassel. Proceeds from the sale and rental of the caps and gowns is placed in the A. F. I. athletic extension fund, for the encouragement of University athletics in the high schools.

DOPESTERS PICKING THREE

Look Upon Cedar Rapids, East Des Moines as Probable Winners in the Twelfth Annual Interscholastic Track and Field Clash—Fraternities to Entertain

Two more high schools, Dubuque and West Branch, have entered the twelfth annual interscholastic track and field meet to be held on Iowa field Saturday. This makes the total number of schools entered twenty-nine and the number of athletes 238.

The meet will begin at 9:30 in the morning and all preliminaries in both track and field events will be run off then. The finals of the field events will also be staged in the morning, beginning at 11 o'clock. At 12:30 a training lunch table will be served to all participants in the men's gymnasium. In the afternoon the track finals will be held in connection with the Iowa-Minnesota dual meet. The events of both meets will be run alternately.

Award Medals

Immediately after the close of the meet medals will be awarded. To the winners of first place, gold medals will be given, to the second place silver, to the third and fourth place, bronze. The team winning the meet will be allowed to keep in its possession for one year the "Des Moines Alumni" cup. This cup will become the permanent property of the first school to win it for three years. West Des Moines and North Des Moines have both won it once.

Dopesters pick the strongest contenders for the winning place to be Cedar Rapids, East Des Moines and Mason City, but as there is little known of several of the schools entered a surprise is liable to be sprung.

OPPORTUNITY IS KNOCKING

Howling 300 will be given several opportunities to show its worth during the next few days. It need not wait until fall to demonstrate that it is really going to function as the liveliest boosting organization on the campus.

On Sunday morning the Varsity baseball team will return home after playing two games against Indiana at Bloomington. Is Howling 300 going to greet the team when it returns? The howlers can create a lot of attention by going to the station en masse Sunday morning. Whether the team returns victorious or not should not enter into the "reception" plans. Howling 300 is supposed to support the Old Gold no matter what its fortunes may be.

Saturday afternoon, Minnesota comes here for a dual track meet. On that day Howling 300 can give tangible evidence of its worth. Likewise on Monday afternoon when Illinois is here for a baseball game with Iowa, Howling 300 can show that it is alive to its opportunities. Howling 300 can have the campus howling about its graces if it plays its cards right.

HEAR YOU, FRESHMAN!

At the Iowa-Drake track meet last Saturday, three or four men were needed for a moment to set up some hurdles. A request was made to spectators in the stands near the track but no one offered services. "The incident was a sad commentary on the University," an instructor remarked in speaking of it.

If every freshman at the University wore a green cap, no request would have been necessary to set up hurdles. Three or four green-capped Freshmen near the spot would have been alert; they would have known what they were supposed to do. They would have put the hurdles in place.

It is indeed a sad commentary that we do not at least have a freshman green cap tradition at the University.

Now the Irish are blamed for the United States' failure to accept the League of Nations. It would seem that Pat and Mike have been the source for stories about long enough.

There seems to be a war tax on breach of promise suits these days. A New Jersey girl was awarded a nickel and one cent.

A merchant says clothiers are facing serious conditions. And the buyer reflects that he has been facing them for a long time.

Iowa won from Illinois last year; will you let it happen again today? —Daily Illini.

Well, brethren, you can't prevent the inevitable.

Presidential candidates should run on a beauty contest ticket. At least it would create an interest in politics.

The longer the day, the longer the stroll.

The pin tourney is on.

THE LISTENING POST

It was a great pleasure for us to note that the noted physicians who recently gave our fair city the all-over have their little failings.

One of them rolled his own—Bull Durham.

Another expressed his appreciation of the Jefferson music by staging an exhibition shimmy dance.

That was the celebrated French savant.

We ought to be thankful in Iowa City, because at the University of Wisconsin the price of canoes has gone up to fifty cents per hour. It is hinted that the Dean of Women was behind the raise. The high cost of l—ving.

Girls wearing summer clothes have as much chance of keeping warm these days as the girl who tries to hide from the chaperon behind a bead curtain.

It is something of an encouragement to know that no matter how ignorant a man is nowadays, he cannot earn over $4 an hour. Not even the plumbers.

We suggest the origin of the name, "The Howling 300." They started it when the bill for the yell leader's trousers was presented.

READERS' LETTERS

Regulations governing the reservation of rooms for the academic year 1920-21 were circulated around the Quadrangle Tuesday afternoon, May 4. Students residing therein have been assured by persons in authority that their applications would be considered before all others for the reservation of rooms. But the circular letters carry the surprising news that any person who is at present living here, and who wishes to retain his room for the coming year, must make application for it on or before May 7th, and that all applications must be accompanied by a deposit of ten dollars. This leaves the student less than three days to decide whether or not he wants the room, to raise the necessary deposit, and to sign up for the entire ensuing school year. No previous notice had been given and absolutely nothing had been done to let the students know that the time would be so limited. In most cases they must consult their parents or guardians before they can sign for a room, especially when they rent it for the entire year. This is not fair to the person who is now occupying the room for in very few cases will he be able to decide in two days and a half, what he intends to do the following year. At least two weeks' notice should be given before the room is thrown open for the applications of outsiders.

The committee has further decreed that any room not reserved before the 8th of May will be held for one week more, during which time any other inhabitant may sign for it. After this date it is fair meat for any person. The extension of a week is of little importance, but the committee has made elaborate rules stating that the applications will be considered with respect to the person who sends it. The Seniors to have first choice, the Juniors next, and so on. This paragraph only means that if a person is unable to reserve his room by the fifth, his neighbor may take unfair advantage of him rather than letting an outsider do it.

It can plainly be seen that a rank injustice is being done to the pioneers who have done their best to make the Quadrangle a homelike dormitory. Student government has been organized and has been given loyal support. Mixers and smokers have been given to foster a spirit of good will and build up a true campus spirit among the fellows. And for their loyalty the Quadranglers are told that they have but three short days, or less, to decide whether or not they shall retain their present rooms, raise the required ten dollars, and reserve the room. Does this seem a fair treatment to the men who came into a bare, unheated building and built up a compact, brotherly organization?

The Faculty Committee acted according to recommendations received from the General Council of the Quadrangle, according to the circular letter. After an extensive investigation we have failed to discover that the Council recommended that the students be given three days to reserve their rooms, and we do not believe that the Council had any such idea in mind. The present inhabitants should be given a longer time to decide, and the rooms should not be open to outside bidders until after the close of this school term. Give the fellows who have made the Quadrangle a REAL dormitory, at least a semblance of a fair deal, and do not make unreasonable demands such as stated in the regulations.

HAROLD M. LARSEN,
"A Quadrangler."

SUNDAY IS DAY SET ASIDE TO SHOW LOVE FOR OUR MOTHERS

Tribute to the ideal of motherhood will be shown by University students on Sunday, May 9, the day officially designated as Mother's Day. Florists of Iowa City report a brisk demand for flowers of all kinds, especially roses, and say that their stocks will amply supply any demand.

"Say it with Flowers," the expression popularized by extensive advertising, takes on more than its usual significance when applied to the day set aside to honor the mothers of the nation. Whether the idea is a scheme to increase the sale of flowers or not, there is scarcely any person who will not agree to the sentiment which actuates the promoter of Mother's day.

According to the tradition, red carnations are the flowers to be given by those who can personally deliver their gifts, and white carnations to be used as a remembrance to those mothers who are no longer among us.

In years past the observance of Mother's Day has taken the place of the regular service in many of the churches, or a special sermon eulogizing mothers has been prepared for the occasion. No extensive plans are being prepared by the University for this day, but many of the students have already signified their intention to show their appreciation by honoring their mothers in this symbolical way.

The three debates were held in Close Hall and one judge served in each case. The judges were Prof. Herbert F. Goodrich of the college of law, Prof. Arthur C. Trowbridge of the department of geology, and Prof. Abram O. Thomas of the department of geology. In speaking of the results, Rexford R. Bateson, Philomathean coach, said, "The overwhelming victory of our freshmen debaters certainly speaks well for Philo prospects in the inter-society and inter-collegiate

DENTISTS HOME FROM MEET AT CEDAR RAPIDS

University Professors Take Prominent Part in Program at the Annual Convention

With an enrollment of practically 800, the Iowa State Dental society yesterday brought its annual convention to a close. Dentists from every city and hamlet in the state as well as many of national repute from other states, and practically all the juniors and seniors from the college of Dentistry taxed the hotel accommodations of Cedar Rapids. Crowded conditions caused many of the visiting doctors to come to Iowa City to spend the night.

The members of the faculty of the College of Dentistry who took part in yesterday's program were: Dr. Y. Chikaraishi, who gave a table clinic on "Clasps and Bridge Abutments on Vital Teeth;" Dr. A. W. Bryan, who had charge of another table clinic entitled, "The Relation of the Health of the Supporting Structure to Tooth Form;" Dr. R. H. Volland, Dr. E. Thoen, and Dr. H. J. Altfillisch completed the demonstration on a "University Cast Gold Inlay Unit;" Dr. W. W. Martin exhibited practical cases of Orthodontia and Dr. R. A. Fenton took charge of a table clinic on "Jaw Fractures."

One of the special features of the program was a concert given by the Women's Glee club; on Wednesday evening a men's quartet from Coe College entertained the doctors with old favorites and popular airs.

About sixty dental assistants were also in attendance and special clinics and helpful lectures were given for their benefit. "The Duties of an Assistant," and "The X-Ray" were given by Dr. J. A. Bliss of Jefferson.

Between sessions many of the dentists came to Iowa City to visit their alma mater. They expressed general surprise and approval at the number of changes since they were here. Some of the alumni who have been strolling through the halls and clinic the last few days are: Dr. H. M. Willits, Dubuque; Dr. R. M. Miller, Sioux City; Dr. Paul Barth, Garner; Dr. D. J. Reinke, Spirit Lake; Dr. E. J. Jack, Cedar Falls; Dr. C. R. Heiney, Plymouth; Dr. Blanche A. Getman, Davenport; Dr. Louis Kadesky, Fort Dodge; Dr. R. W. Rogers, Lawkey; Dr. J. R. Allbright, Grundy Center; Dr. E. J. Ricks, Waterloo; Dr. Dede Mudget, Mason City; Dr. Charles Veech, Belleville; Dr. Sam Carpenter, Chariton; Dr. E. H. Ford, Des Moines and Dr. Max Frazier, Oskaloosa.

In the election of officers which took place yesterday, Dr. E. S. Smith of this College of Dentistry was re-elected as secretary.

MONEY STARTS ROLLING IN

Memorial Union Drive to Get New Impetus Today

The total of yesterday's subscriptions to the Memorial Union have not yet been tabulated but Wednesday $1,083 was subscribed by a few boosters and $830 in pledges was sent in from Davenport. Added impetus will be given the drive today when presidents of both men's and women's literary societies will meet and discuss plans and purposes at luncheon at the Burkley Hotel at noon.

Every effort will be made within the literary societies to make the organization one hundred per cent loyal to the cause of the union. Mrs. Agnes Larrimer, secretary to Ruth Rogers, who is in charge of the project, in speaking of the part that for-ensic organizations will have in the proposed building says, "The literary society, freed from the details and the hard times stories of keeping house for itself will have more time and money to devote to literary activities. It will come to mean not less but more than it ever did before."

Guests at the luncheon will be: Harold D. Keeley of Irving, Walter W. Kester of Philomathean, Warren

P. Lawrence of Zetagathian, Melvina McKenna of Athena, Mollie Kraushaar of Octave Thanet, Florence Volkmer of Whitby, Marjorie Peter-soff of Hesperian, and Iva Baker of Erodolphian.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY ELECTS NEW MEMBERS

At the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Curators, held in the rooms of the society Tuesday afternoon, the following persons were elected to membership in The State Historical Society of Iowa: Dr. J.
