GOVERNMENT OFFERS CADET EXAMINATION IN U.S. COAST GUARD

Opportunity Furnished to Complete Education at Expense of Government

COURSE LASTS THREE YEARS

Cadet Engineers May Graduate at End of One Year—Third Lieutenant's Commission Offered—Physical and Mental Tests Will Be Made of Applicants—Twenty-five is Age Limit

The United States coast guard has announced a series of competitive examinations to commence July 12, 1920, for the appointment of cadets and cadet engineers. These appointments offer an opportunity for young men at the expense of the government while they are receiving their special instruction for a commission in the coast guard.

The age limit for cadets is 18 to 24 years and for cadet engineers, 20 to 25 years. The cadets and cadet engineers are trained to become officers of the coast guard at the Coast Guard academy at New London, Conn. During the summer months the cadets are taken on extended practice cruises. In the past these cruises have included visits to ports in Nova Scotia, the West Indies, the Canal Zone, and to European ports, and it is expected to visit the channel ports of England and France this year.

Increased Pay

The pay of cadets has been raised to the same as those of a midshipman, six hundred dollars a year and one ration a day and the cadet engineers receive seventy-five dollars a month and one ration a day.

After three years at the academy the cadet is graduated and commissioned by the President as a third lieutenant in the coast guard. The cadet engineers are graduated after

FRATERNITIES SETTLE ROWS WITH BASEBALL

Pan-hellenic and Professional Tournaments Near Their Decisive
Closing Contests

Baseball has been taken up as the leading sport by the fraternity men on the campus. In the Pan-hellenic tournament the north end championship rests within the grasp of Kappa Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Alpha Tau Omega. The two latter teams play Tuesday evening and the winner of this game will play the Kappa Sigma team for the championship of the north end. So far all three of these teams have a clean record of two victories each.

In the south end only one game has been played thus far, that being between the Delta Tau Delta team and the Sigma Nu nine, in which the Sigma Nus came out with the long end of a 6-2 score. The games in the south end section will be played off as early as is convenient for the players and the champions will play the winners of the north end division for a silver-loving cup.

In the law college much interest is being aroused over the game between the Phi Alpha Deltas and the Phi Delta This which is to be played this afternoon. The losers will banquet the winners at the Hotel Jefferson.

FRIVOL ON CAMPUS MONDAY

Publication Delayed to Secure More
Cuts For So Long Number

The So Long number of Frivol, the University humorous magazine, will be placed on sale Monday morning, May 31, instead of tomorrow morning, as was previously announced. This change has been made because of unforeseen delays in securing the cuts from the engravers. In speaking of this, Warren Bassett, editor-in-chief, said: "The delay has enabled us to secure several excellent cuts which will aid materially in bettering our magazine."

The business staff of the magazine has decided not to follow the former custom of carrying out an extensive selling campaign by having staff members sell tickets. No tickets will be issued for this number, but copies of the magazine will be sold in campus buildings and at the bookstores. Because of the change in selling methods a limited number of copies will be printed and it will be a case of first come first served, according to Robert W. Hayes, circulation manager.

Several entries have already been made for the second annual canoe race to take place next Saturday, according to David A. Armbruster, swimming coach. The race will begin promptly at 2 o'clock from Coralville and the finish will be a line at the Iowa avenue bridge.

"The Eel club has agreed to pay all expenses connected with towing the canoes up to the starting point," said Coach Armbruster. "All persons planning to enter the race should make arrangements with Fitzgerald's boat house for the selection of the canoe in which they wish to race."

Mr. Armbruster will act as starter and probably Ernest G. Schroeder, physical director for men, will act as the judge of the finish.

The entries will close Thursday night at six o'clock.

Guessing

Pitching one of the greatest games in his career McIlree was robbed of a perfect hurling feat by White, Purdue outfielder, who singled with two down in the ninth; the only Boilermaker to reach first base during the entire route when Iowa blanked the visitors yesterday afternoon 2 to 0.

Wagner, his opponent on the rubber, pitched a beautiful game but all the attention was centered on McIlree, as inning after inning he sent the Boilermakers down in one, two, three order. In the first frame an uproar went up on the Purdue bench when Umpire Birch stopped Wagner from throwing the spitball though it only took a glance at Rule 30 to start the game in peace, as that curve is barred.

Ashmores Take Lead

The Ashmores took the lead in the second inning on two successive hits. Michaelson doubled and Wilhelm, who ran for him, scored a moment later on a slashing drive through short-stop by Draper. Woodard scored the other tally on a circuit drive to left center that sent the two outfielders down to the track to get it.

On one other occasion did the

DRAMATISTS PRESENT DRAMA AND COMEDY

Dunsany and Creighton Smith Plays
Given in Little Theatre
Last Night

"The Tents of the Arabs," a two-act drama by Lord Dunsany, and "The Florist Shop," a one-act comedy by Creighton Smith, were presented by members of the educational dramatics class under direction of Miss Emma C. Dumke of the department of public speaking, at the Little Theatre in the University high school Monday evening before an invited audience.

The scenery, painted by Margaret Hayes and George Stout of the art department, was particularly excellent. The arch and back drop representing the gate of an eastern city stood out as something very different from the usual stage setting of University productions.

Members of the dramatics class appearing in "The Tents of the Arabs" were Mabel Lucas, as Eznaraza; Bruce Gould, as the King; Robert Hunter, as the Chamberlain; Arthur Umlandt, as Zabra; Carrol Widell, as Bel-narb; and Lloyd Hurlburt, as Aaab. The audience was very appreciative.

THE FLUNKER A SLACKER

Final examinations have a bearing on future athletic records of the University. Each quiz period harvests its flunkers. Of these, there are always a few who are athletes, and whose services on the field of sports are needed.

We are approaching the time of the University year when every student on the campus will be held accountable for the studies he has pursued during the past few months. Many students will meet the tests and conquer. The few will fall by the wayside. A part of the personnel will be athletes.

A flunker is a slacker. The curriculum is arranged so that the average student may pass the work with a fair grade after a fair amount of application. One who can not pass the curriculum has no place on the campus. Entrance bars should keep him out. One who flunks because of non-application should likewise be expelled from the University. He is a parasite; a stumbling block impeding the progress of his fellow students. He is a slacker to home, University, and nation.

The athlete who flunks, although individually no worse than the non-athlete who fails, carries a greater responsibility for upon him to a certain extent the laurels of the University are dependent. To him and his prowess the University looks for success on the field of sport. His negligence in the scholastic field will defeat him on the athletic field. Curriculum is a foe to be reckoned with before an able opponent. An athlete who flunks betrays himself, buries his talents, and is a slacker to his University.

Examinations will soon be upon us. There is ample time to abolish flunking. Scorn and ridicule on the part of the student body, upon such offenses will go a long way to abolish flunking from the campus. Public opinion wins many battles. If the student body would encourage grades, and talk up the importance of passing the year's curriculum, the athlete and the non-athlete who is on the verge of flunking "will come through." Let public opinion give flunking a knock-out blow.

Iowa doesn't need the javelin to win a track meet but every point helps.

What was once fore-ordained to be a "Peace Without Victory" has turned out to be a victory without peace.

In Mexico the sword is still mightier than the pen.

The dandelion may become the national flower.

Overalls have given way to gingham.

THE LISTENING POST

"At the end of the trail one expects to find comfort, ease, and happiness," says the Iowan, editorially. But does one find it there? The trail has no ending in this world, it seems. One simply plods and plods and plods, unceasingly; yea, ad infinitum.

"Have you paid your graduation fee yet," he asked her.

"Yes, and nothing ever pained me so much," she said. "If one can buy a B. A. degree for $10, why go to school for four years?"

The average student does not go to school four years to earn a B. A. degree. One attends classes that long to obtain the grace of a higher education and that includes the art of wearing numerous fraternal pins upon one's heaving chest.

A man, to qualify as a student of higher education, must wear four pins, one for each year in college. A woman must have five, the fifth pin belonging to The Man. The average student of higher education has but little difficulty in keeping the wolf from his door after he leaves the campus forever. When the wolf howls all he needs to do is to run and hock another of his pins.

Our admiration for Emil Oberhoffer, conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, went up about ten points when we heard he demanded that his name appear in every story concerning his organization. We dislike people who seek publicity, and yet deny they are seeking it, but anyone so frank as Mr. Oberhoffer commands respect!

The Post feels envious of editors of Frivol. They have been asked to contribute ten cuts from their magazine to a national publication. The Post has yet to be quoted on the screen by the Literary Digest.

Outside of that "BNMUB," printed in two-inch type on white cards and distributed over the campus has a translation. It means "Be an Iowa Memorial Union Booster." Pretty soft after all.

Hawkeyes come near to scoring. In the fifth Leighton wandered around as far as third base but was caught at the plate on a squeeze play when Layton failed to deliver the bunt.

Last Conference Game

The game yesterday was the last for Iowa in the conference and the deciding one with Purdue as the two clubs had played a 1 to 1 tie in twelve innings at Lafayette early in the season. In that fracas it happened that McIlree and Wagner were hooked up against each other. Iowa now stands in the Conference with 4 won and 2 lost for a percentage that will probably finish the team in third place.

Yesterday's tilt was a hard one for McIlree, especially after he had gone until the last of the ninth in sensational style. The first two to face him in the last episode were strikeout victims and it was thought that the last man on the Purdue list would not attempt to break the record hung up by the Hawkeye.

Michaelson played all through the game with a badly sprained ankle though when he got on base in the fourth he was refused a runner by the visitors and limped down to second and was caught out there a moment later on a throw from Roberts, Purdue catcher.

The next game here will be with Ames Wednesday afternoon.

one year and given a commission as a third lieutenant of engineers in the coast guard. The commissioned officers of the coast guard rank with officers in the army, navy, and marine corps and receive corresponding pay.

The mental examinations are to be strictly competitive and appointments will be made entirely on merit and are not apportioned to states or congressional districts.

Hold Examinations

The mental examination will follow the physical examination and will last for three days. This examination is to be over the following subjects as given in high schools: algebra, geometry, physics, spelling, composition, trigonometry, and geography. In addition, the candidates for appointments as cadet engineers will devote an extra day and one-half to mechanics, electricity, and steam engineering as given in colleges.

Examinations will be held at Boston, Mass., New London, Conn., New York, N. Y., Philadelphia, Pa., Baltimore, Md., Washington, D. C., Norfolk, Va., Savannah, Ga., Chicago, Ill., Fort Stanton, New Mexico, San Francisco, Cal., Seattle, Wash., and perhaps a few other places.

The opportunity this year is particularly favorable because there is an unusual number of vacancies. It is hoped that there will be an exceptionally large number of cadets and cadet engineers appointed. For complete information write to the Commandant, U. S. Coast Guard, Washington, D. C.

Y. M. Has Caps and Gowns

Caps and gowns are available at the Y. M. C. A. now. Mr. Fitzgerald, Y. M. C. A. secretary, states that they have at least ninety gowns and a greater number of caps. These caps and gowns are rented for $1.50 for the remainder of the term.
