WHAT OF A CAP NIGHT

"Tomorrow night is Cap Night. Another of Michigan's traditional ceremonies will take its place in the round of activities that bring the school year to its close. On this night each class moves about one year. As the fresmen round out the final year of their high school course, so the students feel that they are one step closer to graduation."

"This occasion should draw the entire University into a closer feeling of good will and fellowship, so that the students feel that they are one body working toward one end. Any attempt at the least bit of discrimination on any form of a "household" will be a distinct violation of the spirit of the 100 Night—Michigan Daily."

"We wish that Michigan might celebrate another occasion like this. As the University is deprived of such ceremonies by the death of tradition, we hope that in the future Michigan will not have similar customs without initiative, action, and action at once, in the only manner of custom. Being a custom which future college generations may enjoy."

"Cap night would mark a milestone in a college generation. It would be an occasion of advancement for all classes. For the freshmen, it would mark the completion of the most arduous part of the University course. It would be the formal acknowledgement of the success of the first year of the first students."

"The custom of cap nights for Iowa freshmen is a long-standing tradition on the campus. The Iowa has urged its adoption."

"The customs have arranged to inaugurate such a custom in their college for coming fall term. The Hawkeye 200 has gone on record as favoring such a movement and are making plans for establishing the custom. The movement should not be confined to one college or to one university."

"Such a custom can only come through action and enforcement, by the Student Council. Plans for the custom must be made at once for its inauguration next fall will fail. There is to be action before the present term closes. But it must come once."

"Traditions agitate for an opportunity to "put over" a custom worth while. Preparations will only delay the inauguration of the tradition of the campus will welcome. May we look forward to a cap night in 1921?"

"I intend to work with my vote," says Capt. J. W. Bowers, student body president, "and it seems to me that a cap night for Iowa students is long overdue. We are unwilling to give up, and the price of loyalty and university spirit is plum."

"Princeton men on the whole are probably no richer than Iowa men. They pay $20 for tuition while Iowa men pay $20. Yet ever and above that they subscribe $1500 in our $4000.

"The "Big June Push" affords us a last chance this year to make good. Relatively little is asked, no more than a mere trifling from the alumni. The officers of the campus Memorial Union are looking for $750 to $800 from the students this year, a very moderate estimate. Will we or won't we for Iowa?"

"This is the time for action. We need not be afraid. We shall be Old Gold. Down in our hearts we love Iowa more than anything in the world. Let's show our appreciation. Here's to $1000 by June 20th."

SINCERE APPEAL TO THE AMERICANS OF S. U. I.

Security is the keynote of this ap- peal. It is not difficult to convey the real values of the relations the American people's favored re- cognition—the motion picture—has to true Americanism.

Not long ago there was passed Congress a bill to define and re- gulate the relations of the joint committees on education of the United States Senate and House of Representatives of the motion picture industry of the United States be sent to the governor of the state for adoption. It is expected that few will be able to attend the meeting, but those who can will be invited to the meeting.

The management of the Strand Theatre of Iowa City, before eternity- ing for the "Copperfield" for the three-day engagement here which starts today, as a film program for Memorial day, personally viewed the preview of the production in New York, as described above. The picture is a moving playEric Blakeney that will be a sensation among the American people that they have to have a part in creating, thus keeping the true Americanism safely under the control that this nation has never had before.

"Copperfield" has never been in the cinema's eye! And why not? Because the performance of the picture is thrilling million s of starting today. It is a great American play. The producer's aim is to impress upon the audience the invariable qualities of a dramatic Americanist, the leading producer in the field of drama entertainment—entertainment for the American people's foremo t recrea- tion duty but the deepest root of the American isms in the United States, the era in which the average American is employed with the May Drug com- pany at Charles City.

A third of the nation has been entertained at a dinner dance this evening by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Doolittle.
