KAUFMANN, M CILREE AND DYKE ELECTED ATHLETIC CAPTAINS

Annual Banquet Held by Board in Control of Athletics at Reich's Pavilion

FORTY-SEVEN LETTERS GIVEN

Dr. Henry J. Prentiss Presides at Banquet—Howell and Jones Also Give Short Talks—Freshmen Are Awarded Numerals in Track and Baseball

Robert J. Kaufmann, Vance E. McIlree and Lester M. Dyke were elected captains of basketball, baseball and track teams respectively, for next year at the annual banquet held under the auspices of the Board in Control of Athletics at Reichardt's pavilion Wednesday evening.

One hundred and twenty-five athletes and members of the athletic board were present at the banquet. Dr. Henry J. Prentiss, chairman of the athletic board, presided at the banquet and emphasized the necessity of good scholarship among athletes as well as all students. He then called upon Judge R. P. Howell, who said that it was the duty of all Iowa men to attend Iowa instead of attending schools outside of the state. By so doing the athletes are working against Iowa instead of helping her to defeat other schools. Coach Howard H. Jones said that the success of a team did not depend so much upon the coach as upon the men themselves.

Captains Prominent Men

Robert Kaufmann of Davenport, is a member of Sigma Nu, A. F. I., and a member of the Student Council. He won the honorary letter in basketball for two seasons, in track and football for one.

Vance E. McIlree of West Union, is a member of Delta Tau Delta, A. F. I., and has won his letter in baseball for the past two years.

Rich.

TO IOWAN READERS

Sunday's Iowan will not be delivered. It can be obtained by subscribers at Wienekes' news stand, Kirk's or Whetstone's. Monday the paper can be had at the Iowan office. The Daily Iowan is delivered by students throughout the year, and the regular carriers will have gone home before Sunday.

GENEVA GATHERING TO BE ATTENDED BY TEN IOWANS

Ten students from Iowa will attend the annual Y. M. C. A. conference at Lake Geneva, Wis., June 11 to 21. George F. Kay, dean of the college of liberal arts, the Rev. Robert E. Serles, student pastor of the Presbyterian church, and R. H. Fitzgerald, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. will accompany them. The students who will attend are Frank and Craven Shuttleworth, Max Conrad, Lloyd E. Anderson, Frank Drake, William Goodell, Byron Biersborn, Harry E. Schmidt, Rodney F. Cobb, V. and F. B. Acquero. The party left yesterday morning.

SENIORS FROLIC AT REICH'S TOMORROW

Margaret Hayes, Maurice C. Miller, Sabria E. Clark and Ralph E. Overholser Will Give Toasts

Seniors will open Frolic Day festivities tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock with the senior breakfast at Reich's pavilion at the city park. Reservations for the breakfast may be had by notifying Kathryn Dayton, chairman of the breakfast committee.

Following the breakfast a toast program will be held with Edward L. O'Connor, president of the senior class, acting as toastmaster. Those who will respond to toasts are Margaret Hayes of the college of liberal arts, Maurice C. Miller of the college of applied science, Sabra E. Clark of the college of law, and Ralph E. Overholser of the college of liberal arts.

Senior Frolic Program

Other members of the senior breakfast committee are Alice Lincoln, liberal arts; Rosalie Martin, liberal arts; Lois Ackerly, liberal arts; Leo D. Nicolaus, liberal arts; Margaret Geiger, law; W. J. Wehrli, law; Wesley M. Burton, applied science; Stanley A. Price, applied science; Max E. Witte, medicine; Paul H. Shreves, dentistry; Marie Myers, pharmacy.

After the breakfast the senior frolic committee has arranged some after dinner mints to top off the ham-and-grape fruit. A baseball game between a team of men and a team of women will follow with a knight's tournament, a thread needle race, and a balloon race.

Degrees Offered to Some

Water sports will consist of a tub race across one of the city park ponds in which proficiency will be rewarded with degrees—about 102 degrees if it's shady. There will also be a canoe race between representatives of the different colleges on Iowa river. It has been rumored that the laws are preparing to issue injunctions to restrain all colleges but the law college from competing in the event. Mr. O'Connor labeled the idea as preposterous.

MARION BRIERLY WINS TENNIS MATCH

Tennis singles of the women's tennis tournament was won by Marion Brierly '20, over Esther Mackintosh '20, in the finals played Wednesday evening, June 9. The score of the final game stood first set, 6-0, and second set, 6-1.

Finals of the tennis tournament doubles will be played this morning at 6:30 on the University courts. Gladys Hayden '23, and Esther Mackintosh will play against Lucile Burtis '22 and Emilia Hartman '23. This game will complete the annual tennis tournament for women of the University.

OPINION PUTS STAMP OF CAMPUS APPROVAL ON "THE GREAT DIVIDE"

Heavy Drama Presented at Englert Theatre Wednesday Will be Repeated Monday

ALL ROLES PLAYED WELL

Jean Birdsall and Hugh Rosson Star in the Leading Parts—Experienced Cast Gives Professional Air to Production—Beautiful Scenic Effects Draw Approval

By Frank D. Hicks

Probably the heaviest drama ever attempted by a University cast was presented most creditably, in the opinion of many observers, by the cast of the senior class play, "The Great Divide," given at the Englert theatre Wednesday night. The play will be given again on Monday night for the benefit of alumni and other Commencement visitors.

The outstanding features of the play were the skillful handling of the leading roles of Ruth Jordan and Stephen Ghent by Jean Birdsall and Hugh Rosson, both members of the University Players. The chief characteristics of the two roles are the necessity for sustained emotional appeal and the building up of tense dramatic moments.

Professional Presentation

In addition to a cast, which was made up of students who have been active in dramatic work throughout their University careers and which lent a professional air to the production seldom found among amateur casts, there was a display of scenery that gave evidence of a vast expenditure for the picturization of western landscapes. It was this feature of the play that lent the name of the "$1,000 production" to the presentation.

Credit for developing the production to the high standard set in Wednesday night's performance must be given to Gladys Powers, who has had complete charge of the work of choosing the cast and presenting the play. The result of the work of Miss Powers and the cast to do credit to William Vaughn Moody's greatest dramatic success was well brought out by one

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The approval of the proposed constitution of the Student Council by the Board of Deans and the Board's interpretation of the constitution to the effect that all colleges on the campus are a part of the Council, when five of the colleges have ratified the pact, only complicates a distracting situation. The Council is a jumbled affair. It needs reorganization.

Some folk interpret article VII of the constitution as forcing all colleges into the Student Council when the constitution has been ratified by five colleges. The article reads, "this constitution shall go into effect immediately upon being approved by five of the seven colleges. . ." The Iowan does not believe that any college can be elected into the Council by a constitutional referendum.

Each college should of its own volition enter the Council. Would it be just for a majority of the states to elect into the Union a territory which objected to the constitution? It is not done and cannot be done. A territory that does not ratify the constitution cannot become a state in the Union. Likewise a college which does not ratify the proposed constitution of a Student Council should not become a member of the Council. Such action would be to force oaths and demand acknowledgments against protest. Colleges must come into the Council or stay out of their own accord under the present plan of Council organization.

The Iowan hoped that the Board of Deans would see the unjust principles involved in the representation of the proposed constitution and that it would solve the present strife by compromising suggestions. The Board did not; on the other hand it ratified a constitution which has been drawn up on college lines. Strife will continue.

A Student Council should be an all University body and not an organization divided by college spirit. But if college lines are to be drawn, they should be drawn on a fair basis of representation. The Eight and Ten plan is not fair. Of the students represented in the Council, the professional colleges have 1373 or 32 per cent of the electorate, while liberal arts has 3014 students with 68 per cent of the electorate. Because of this unfair and unjust method of representation liberal arts electors turned the proposed constitution down. The Iowan has sponsored the cause of liberal arts not as a college, but for the principle involved. The minority should never rule and governmental principles should apply to a university as well as to nation.

An election at large would be a fairer method of electing a Council, at least it would have a tendency to wipe out college lines. A Council, without all represented will never attain genuine success, much less when 68 per cent of the student body is not represented. A divided Council cannot stand. Other means of representation must be inaugurated in order to wipe out college grievances and jealousies.

We must have an All-University Council.

high in University dramatic circles, who said, "Wednesday night's presentation of 'The Great Divide' was the greatest and best portrayed production ever put on by a University cast."

Mrs. Ray Supplies Humor

The parts of Polly Jordan and Philip Jordan were played by Mrs. Josephine Hunter Ray and Fred K. Smith. It fell to Mrs. Ray's part to furnish a piquant humor which was never lacking at any time during the play. The difficult role of Winthrop Newbury, well played by Robert R. Aurner, furnished the "far" corner of the eternal triangle.

"Lon" and "Burt," the two farm hands of the Ghents, opened the second act with droll humor which was much appreciated in the acting of Clarence Fackler and Ralph E. Overholser. "Dutch" and the Mexican, the two western roughs, who appeared with Ghent in the first act, were portrayed by James A. Hollingsworth and Roy D. Burns. Herbert O. Pillars acted the part of the architect and Harold T. Sandy was the contractor. Mrs. Jordan was played by Julia K. Wade and Dr. Newbury was played by James Van Ek.
