Housing Situation for Next Fall Is Big Problem Now

New Delta Tau Delta Fraternity House on North Dubuque Will Help

House Canvas Is Probable

All Rooms in Carrier Hall Taken Last January—Increase Expected in Approximate 450 or 525—Prospective Students Are Urged to Register Early

The housing problem for next fall is getting much attention right now from the authorities. Just last year, 5,000 students who are expected here during the current enrollment year is a vexing question. Last year, the completion of the Quadrangle, the new dormitory, and other new rooms available for students.

New housing developments in Carver University dormitory for women, are all taken for next year. Last year, new houses have been built in Iowa City since last summer. Last summer, a campaign was referred to in which it was made among house owners in Iowa City to build more houses. The number has been made to list accommodations for students in the fall. Every available room was used.

As a result of this personal solicitation, it is reported that there is almost every private family in the city. A similar program will be carried out by the student under the direction of Robert K. Reese, dean of men, and Miss Nellie J. McArthur, dean of women. One of the University regulations is that men and women shall be housed separately.

One alleviation for the expected crowded condition now known by the University authorities is the new fraternity house being built this summer, which will increase the number of available rooms.

ART OF CANOEING POPULAR COURSE AT WOMEN'S GYM

Canoeing is proving a most popular indoor sport at the women's gymnasium this fall, as can be seen in the numerous spectacles that gather to watch the canoeing exhibitions.

The course, established for the first time this summer semester, is taught to the women students under the head of the department of physical education.

"Some misunderstanding has been connected with the registering and the time required to complete the course," said Miss Lyon yesterday. "From one to two weeks seems to prove sufficient time for the women to learn all the necessary forms employed in the correct handling of a canoe. The course is open to all women registered students in the University with the exception of their swimming requirements. New sets of lining, if necessary, will be issued the day before the session begins, arrangements being made at the gymnasion without formal registration through the registrar's office. No academic credit is given for the course."

The canoeing class begins at one o'clock each week and each set is given ten to fifteen minutes in instruction under Miss Lyon, while the course continues under the course in instruction. The course consists of all forms of instruction as to canoe handling, as well as tennis instruction.

The canoe is one of a series of lectures Professor Ulmann is giving. The first, on "Traveling in Italy with an Old Roman," was given Friday evening.

GIVE YOUR CHECKS AND HELP KIDDIES CELEBRATE FOURTH

Iowan Has Adopted Crippled Children at Perkins Hospital for Holiday

GLODIOUS DAY IS PLANNED

Fireworks Will Feature Evening and Flags the Day—Money Is Needed for Professional and Faculty to Cross Across—Iowan Staff Leads Off With Five Dollars

THE FOURTH OF JULY FUND RAISING CAMPAIGN Iowan Staff $5.00

Would you like to help make the Fourth of July a happier day for the little crippled children at the Perkins Hospital?

With only five days left until the Fourth you can still help to celebrate the occasion, the one hander, you can help to make the children's hospital being feeling healthy.

An Iowan reporter just happened to ask Miss Etta Myrick, supervisor of the Perkins Hospital, to explain to them. And when she said, "Nothing will be more appreciated by the children than to adopt a little cripple child, for that one day at least."

So the Iowan is appealing to the student body, to Iowa City people and the students of the faculty of help of the Perkins. And we all have that we care they do.

The money or checks sent to the Iowan office will be used for buying fire works for a big display in the evening, and flags and toys which will help to make the children the day.

Members of the Iowan staff started the ball rolling last night with a contribution of $12. There are only five days for other contributions.

"Anything which will help to make the children feel that the day is being specially published for children," said Miss Myrick. "This is not a free gift, as all money will go to the hospital. It cannot have regular old-fashioned fire crackers, but paper caps, little flags, even candy and toys which will help to make a noise would help. Any kind of a treat to make this day different from other days is what we want."

Christmas Campaign a Success

At Christmas time the Iowan asked the Santa Claus to the children at the hospital, with funds raised from the body, and the campaign was so successful that about $500 was available to buy all kinds of worthwhile gifts for the youngsters.

Money or checks can be brought or mailed to the "Children's Editor," care of the Daily Iowan.

The catalogue will be mailed to subscribers.

The instructional and administrative staff for the coming year will include approximately 195 approvers. The catalogues have been delayed on account of a shortage in paper.
FIGHTING THE R. C. L.

An interesting and unique way to combat the high cost of living at college is furnished by the story of a student at Ohio State university, published in the Ohio State Lantern.

"I do not want to cut out, a nephew of Dr. John W. Evans, who, while a student at the Ohio State University, when asked how low he could live on the sum of 819 dollars, which he had given as the total of his expenses for the period, replied "I can have this room for the week I do for the place, which reduces me a good deal."" he said.

"He has a neat and comfortable establishment on the second floor of a solid frame house in the west end of the city, and the room is large and well furnished."

When asked about his diet, the nephew stated that he received 10 dollars for his board and that he spent 5 dollars a week for his meals. He bought his food in bulk and prepared it himself.

"My recreation is mainly described and carried on, although I cannot stay out late on account of studies," he added. "I try to get all my recreation in the morning and evening, and I keep my room clean and orderly."

"In the houses which are suitably furnished, a student can live comfortably on a diet of bread and milk."

"My income is on the whole much larger than you would think," he concluded. "I have a good many friends who live on less than this, but they are more careful in their spending."
