LECTURE ON BARBADOS OF INTEREST TO MANY

A large number attended the illustrated lecture on the Barbados-Antigua Expedition, given by Prof. C. C. Nutting, Thursday morning. This lecture was a fore-runner of the motion picture film shown at the Garden theatre Friday.

Scenes in the life of the party, customs of the natives, pictures of corals and sea weeds interested the audience the entire hour.

Professor Nutting dwelt upon the importance of expeditions such as this, not only because of the opportunity which they give for collecting specimens for the museums and for the use of the classes in Zoology, but also because of the occasion afforded for the study of nature at first hand.

MUSICAL TESTS GIVEN

Dr. Gaw Tries Sound and Time Discrimination of Students

The tests of intensity of sound and time discrimination conducted by Dr. Esther Allen Gaw, in the liberal arts assembly yesterday morning were attended by about thirty-five students. Two tests were given, the first of which enabled the student to record his impression in discriminating between two sounds of different intensities. After the test Mrs. Gaw read the correct answers, instructed the students how to reckon their grades in per cent, and gave the corresponding per cent ranks, upon which are based the classifications in the Seashore tests.

Then followed the test in discrimination of time. Mrs. Gaw said that for most tests the victrola is set at seventy-eight revolutions per minute, but for this one it is set at from sixty to sixty-five revolutions. The change was made accordingly and the test was given in the following manner: A click was heard, a brief interval of time elapsed when a second click was given, after a period of silence there was a third click. The student recorded his impression of the second interval with reference to the first, as shorter or longer.

These tests are proving helpful in enabling a student to estimate with a considerable degree of accuracy his own musical talent.

PALIMPSEST IS NEW HISTORY MAGAZINE

Monthly Publication Will Deal With Past and Present of Iowa

"The Palimpsest," a name suggested by the palimpsests of the early times—parchments from which one writing has been erased to make room for another—will be the name of a new magazine, to appear monthly, devoted to the history of Iowa. The magazine which is about to appear, will be launched by the state historical society of Iowa and is edited by John C. Parish, associate editor of the society.

"The writings on these parchments which had been erased," said Mr. Parish, "were not always complete or permanent and dim and fragmentary characters remained half hidden by the later record. From these the original text might often be restored."

"So the history of Iowa is like a palimpsest which holds the record of successive generations."

"These fragments rescued from the dimness of the past will be reconstructed and presented in narratives and short articles in the pages of the magazine."

DEAN KAY WILL SPEND THREE WEEKS IN CANADA

Dean and Mrs. George F. Kay and their three children will leave Monday evening to spend three weeks in Canada. Mr. Kay, who is dean of the college of liberal arts, will visit his old home in the vicinity of Toronto, Can., where he has many relatives.

On the trip the dean expects to visit some places of geological interest in Michigan and Canada, which he had not previously visited. Arrangements have been made to keep his office in the Old Capital building open during his absence.

RELIGIOUS WORKERS DISCUSS RELATION OF SCIENCE TO RELIGION

Dr. Votaw of Chicago University Speaks in Series of Six Interpretation Lectures

TO CONTINUE THROUGH WEEK

Round Table Discussion Every Day in Liberal Arts Assembly Hall—Students Are Urged to Take Advantage of Interesting Discussions—Conference Closes Saturday

Lectures by Dr. Clyde W. Votaw, professor of biblical literature at the University of Chicago, Dr. George F. Kay, dean of the college of liberal arts, Prof. Orrie E. Klingaman, director of the extension division, and Dr. Charles H. Weller, director of summer session, featured the first three days of the fourth annual religious conference, which began Thursday, July 8, and which will extend to July 18.

Dr. Votaw, in his series of six lectures on the "Interpretation of the Sermon on the Mount," analyzed and discussed at length the teachings brought out by Christ's ideal existence—"the Christian ideal of life and its relation to the old testament, marriage and divorce, returning good for evil, love, the supreme principle, true worship and the Lord's prayer, the right attitude toward material things, brotherliness and the golden rule, and the duty of righteousness. Dr. Votaw's purpose in these lectures was, he said, "to give an interpretation of the Sermon on the Mount in such a way that the religious workers attending the conference may be better prepared to scatter Christ's fundamental conception of life. Although, it is my first attendance at the conferences that are held here," he added, "I am deeply impressed with the work, and I feel that a great work is being done by religious conferences of this type."

Dr. Kay's purpose, in his lectures, discussing the subject "Science and Religion," was to prove that there is nothing to cause scientists and theologians to stand at variance with one another in teaching their respective fundamental truths, and that the belief in one is no cause to overlook the other; the teaching of science and religion should be in harmony. "I have found this group of religious workers," said Dr. Kay, "as in past years, intensely interested in all the leading topics of the day."

Professor Klingaman, in his series of talks on "Church Surveys," lectured on church problems as they are discussed among members of different families; the relation of the family to the church, what the family does for the church and what the church does for the family. And from this analysis of the church and the family, he pointed out what bearing these relations had, first, upon

DR. VOTAW TO SPEAK

"The Lord's Prayer," is to be the subject of the address that will be given by Dr. C. W. Votaw of Chicago University, at the weekly vesper service this afternoon.

The meeting will convene on the campus in front of the Liberal Arts building at 5 p. m. J. F. Gaston will lead the singing.

BARBADOS PICTURES SHOWN

Scenes Are of Historical, Scenic, and Scientific Interest

Motion pictures that told the story of Prof. C. C. Nutting's Barbados-Antigua expedition—one of the most important of the expeditions yet sent out by the University, according to Professor Nutting, were shown at the Garden theatre Friday afternoon.

"These pictures," said Professor Nutting, "are to show what the University has been doing in a unique field. Expeditions such as this one have been a prominent feature of this University for thirty years. They have been undertaken to build up the museum, to furnish material for class work in zoology, and for the inspiration of teachers who handle the materials. This last expedition was a companion piece of the one of the Bahama Islands twenty-five years ago."

The pictures dealt with all the interesting things about the expedition, such as scenes of historical, of scenic, of natural science, and of human interest. Pictures were shown of the house where Washington and his brother visited in 1751, of the bearded trees because of which Columbus named the island Barbados, of the English naval bases, of the cliffs and sea, of natural history life such as serpent stars and sea anemones and of the natives in their own work and pleasures.

This entertainment provided by the University was made possible through the courtesy of the management of the Garden theatre.

TO OBSERVE BASTILLE DAY AT CONVOCATION

July 14 Will be Commemorated in Honor of France by Professor Bush

France's "Fourth of July" happens to fall on the fourteenth, and Bastille Day, commonly known as the birthday of France, will be observed at the general assembly, Wednesday, July 14. Professor Stephen Hayes Bush, head of the department of Romance Languages, has been chosen to give the address.

Professor Bush was in Paris last year on July 14, and viewed the grand "Victory Parade" of the allied armies as they marched through the Arc de Triomphe, which was used on this occasion for the first time in nearly half a century, since the French considered that this triumphal arch had been desecrated by the Prussians at the time of the bombardment of Paris in the war of 1870.

In many respects, if not in every way, July 14, 1919, was the greatest festival day in the history of Paris, according to Professor Bush, and his talk will center around this event.

CURRIER HALL WILL HOLD FROLIC FOR PERKINS KIDS

A stunt program given by a group of summer students will be staged on Currier hall lawn Friday, July 16, for the benefit of the Perkins children. No admission will be charged but a collection will be taken in order to raise funds for school equipment and playground for the kiddies across the river.

The program will consist of folk dancing, readings, short plays, vocal selections, and solo dancing. The stunts will commence promptly at 7 o'clock.

SUMMER STUDENTS WILL BE ASKED TO HELP UNION FUND

Opportunity to Become Life Members Will Be Offered During Coming Week

SUBSCRIPTIONS ARE ASKED

Total Amount Raised for Memorial Building Now Amounts to $160,000—Plans and Purposes of Project Are Explained by Professor Weller and Dean Russell

Iowa Memorial Union subscription campaign for summer session students will start off Monday morning, July 12, and continue throughout the week. During this time opportunity will be offered to all summer session students to become members of the Iowa Memorial Union. Regular life memberships are $100.

Subscriptions of any amount may be made at the Memorial Union office on the second floor of Old Capitol or to Prof. C. H. Weller, at room 11, liberal arts building. "Subscription may be paid in a lump sum or on a four term installment plan, the first payment being made some time during the year 1920 and the three remaining payments on the same date of the three succeeding years," according to Prof. H. C. Weller, who is acting as campaign director.

At present the total of subscriptions stands at $160,000, with some 700 subscribers, according to figures as given out by Ruth Rogers, field secretary of the Union, yesterday. "Our ambition is to reach the $1,000,000 goal by the next commencement in June, 1921," said Miss Rogers.

Description Will be Given

The second issue of the Iowa Memorial newspaper will be out sometime during the week. The newspaper will contain a complete description of the building as to architecture and other information concerning the development of plans.

The Union, a memorial for University people who have served in the three great wars is to furnish a general social center for University students and alumni.

The memorial project started a year ago this summer under the auspices of the University of Iowa Association. The initial subscription of $10,000 starting off the campaign last fall was that of Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, alumnus of Iowa. Up to date there are 700 subscriptions of varying amounts from University alumni, students and friends. "The project is the most notable effort ever made by our institution, and is bound to transform the life of the University," said Professor Weller.

FORTY STUDENTS VISIT QUAKER OATS FACTORY

Forty students took the trip to visit the Quaker Oats Mills in Cedar Rapids, yesterday. Upon arriving in Cedar Rapids the party was divided into two sections and a guide assigned to each section. Each different stage in the manufacture of the finished product was seen and explained. Some of the students climbed to the tower of the mill from which the whole city could be seen.

Mr. Bruce E. Mahan had charge of the party. The excursion left Iowa City at 7:30 o'clock and completed the tour of the factory by 11:30.

THE SECOND

It was Bernard Shaw, surely, who remarked, many years ago, upon the depreciation in value of the "second umbrella" compared with the first; whilst the "third umbrella" was without any practical value at all. All of which is apropos of the fact that when Lady Astor was returned to the British Parliament, some months ago, the event was, and rightly so, regarded as a great news feature on two continents. But when the first woman member is returned, as she was recently, to the South African Parliament, the world is content, and again rightly so, to take it as a matter of course. Nevertheless, the new "lady member" for the eastern division of Rhodesia, Mrs. Tawse Jollie (achieved a notable triumph, receiving in votes one-third as many again as her nearest male opponent.—Christian Science Monitor.

SUGAR PRICES

The price of sugar might ordinarily be considered a subject of greater interest to housewives than to college students.

This is admittedly true in ordinary circumstances. It may still hold during the sugar shortage which affected the coffee of some of us and the deserts of all of us during the past year.

Even yet it applies to the majority who have not stopped to think that sugar was almost unobtainable during the months when it climbed in price through 12, 15 and 20 cents a pound, while now when it is selling at the price of 28 cents a pound at retail stores in Iowa City, the supply seems to be unlimited.

However, the price of sugar ceases entirely to be a topic for housekeepers alone, and becomes one of general interest with the reading of a news item in the press dispatches from Havana, Cuba, in which it is reported that Cuban sugar men claiming to control 2,180,000 sacks have pledged themselves to withhold this amount of sugar from the market until they shall be able to get 24 cents a pound for it. The report includes the fact that there are believed to be only 1,740,000 sacks in existence outside of this control.

The question naturally arises as to whether the Cuban sugar men are not now receiving enough for their product to pay them well.

SUMMER SESSION STUDENTS AND THE MEMORIAL UNION

Summer always brings a relaxation of activities, a general "let-down" feeling, in a university as elsewhere. But there is one interest which should not be allowed to lag, one flame which should not die down—that of the Iowa Memorial Union. To put through the plans for a million dollar union in the shortest possible time, the spirit of the campaign must go marching steadily along; there must be no relaxation of enthusiasm.

The Memorial Union is to serve a two-fold purpose; it will be a building of great beauty and service to the university, built especially for the students; it will serve as a memorial, to keep always alive the remembrance of Iowa men and women who served and sacrificed in the great war.

The Memorial Union should assume its place in the mind of every student at Iowa university as one of the goals to be won to make this a bigger and better institution, in the winning of which every student can have a substantial share.

The gift of money is not the only one which students can make. A gift which will be of as great value is that of intelligent interest, of sharing in the spirit of "putting it across." If every one of the students of the University would go out through the state, familiar with the plans of the Union, enthusiastic as to its need, inspired with its vision, the task of securing the million dollars necessary for its realization would be materially lessened.

To the students of the summer session, this duty should not be less apparent than to those who are here during the entire year. True, many of them are here only for a few weeks and will not return. But having once been students at Iowa, a part of the Iowa spirit should be theirs. Whatever they can do to contribute to the greatness of this University in which they have had a share, they should gladly give.

SECOND TERM OF SUMMER SCHOOL STARTS JULY 28

Many changes will be noted during the second term of the summer session which begins July 28, the day following the close of the first term, and extends to August 31, a period of five weeks. Most of the members of the University staff who have been teaching during the present term will start their vacations the second part of the summer session, and many instructors who are now taking their vacation will return to teach the second term.

A number of courses are to be omitted and a few new ones will be substituted. Some departments will offer no courses at all. There will be no courses in Americanization, botany, child welfare, geology, graphic and plastic arts, history of art, home economics, library methods, manual arts, music, physical education for women, and zoology.

On account of the second term covering only a period of five weeks, the amount of credit will consequently be less. A five hour course which gives two hours credit for the present term will be reduced to 1.6 hours credit for the second term.

The department of chemistry will offer eight courses which are inorganic chemistry, physical chemistry, electrochemistry, physical chemistry laboratory, phase rule and theory of solutions, research in physical chemistry, and research in inorganic chemistry. The work will be in charge of Mr. Bond.

The department of economics, sociology and commerce will offer courses in principles of economics, current economic problems, principles of sociology, social problems, and research in sociology, economics and commerce. Mr. Johnson is scheduled to teach these courses.

The department of education has twelve courses scheduled, which are principles of secondary education, school hygiene, teaching high school subjects, junior high school curriculum, high school program of studies, high school administration, supervision of instruction, tests and scales work of grade principle, school finance, hygiene of superintendents, and graduate seminar. The instructors are Harris, Griswold, Ashbaugh, Greene, and Russell.

Denecke's have just completed a very successful season and prior to buyers leaving for the East, we will conduct a typical Old Fashioned Clearance Sale.

Everything offered in this sale will be seasonable and desirable—of course, in many instances we have included some lines which we shall discontinue as well as many odds and ends of our season's best selling numbers—these goods will be marked so low that they will bring back memories of Old Fashioned Prices.

Economical women will find this a most advantageous time to save money.

Included in this sale are many smart summer frocks, wash blouses, silk hosiery, accessories of dress, etc., at prices that justify one in anticipating future wants!

Remember, Sale starts Saturday, July 10th, and continues till Saturday, July 17th—closing time.

with opportunities for the sort of student life which will tend to give citizenship and morality a chance to grow and develop," said Dean W. F. Russell of the college of education. "This out-of-class education is a problem that the universities of America have as yet failed to solve. It means more than a building. It means more than a place to entertain visitors. It means more than a mere center of student-life. It means that in such a building, if we have competent leadership, we can develop a great number of student activities. We can extend our literary societies. We can encourage debating, dramatics, journalism, athletics, and other functions of sufficient variety in aim and purpose to enlist the interest of every student."

At present the architect is engaged in revising of plans for the building, although final plans will not be complete for some time yet. The exact location of the building is still a much disputed point of discussion. "Building will commence as soon as money will justify," said Professor Weller yesterday.

RELIGIOUS WORKERS MEET (Continued from page 1)

church attendance, and, second, upon church membership.

Dr. Weller gave a lecture on "Stepping Stones in Christian Art."

Many people have been attending these lectures each day, although there are not as many University students attending as was anticipated. It is urged upon all those who are interested in religious work, to hear the lectures and take part in the round table discussions at their leisure hours during the week.

The program up to and including Tuesday may be found in the University calendar.

When it's time to Eat

The THREE restaurants of the JEFFERSON are waiting to obey your every command. They are unlike each other in everything but excellence—all the food comes from the same tempting cuisine. At some time or other you'll probably use all of them.

The most beautiful and luxurious of them—and a perfect setting for any meal—is the Main Dining Room.

When your principal concern—besides, of course, a good meal—is fast service, little ceremony and much economy, the COFFEE ROOM is the answer.

And for the man with only time for a hurried lunch, there's the QUICK SERVICE—which meets such an emergency quite satisfactorily.

ASSIMILATION OF FOREIGN BORN IS MODERN PROBLEM

Country Must Wake Up to Needs of Americanization Says Miss Campbell

IMMIGRANTS STUDIED IN NEW

Must Not Simply Consider Who is to be Admitted to Country, But Must Study to Adapt Them to New Environment When Here, Says American Social Worker

"Whether we are to remain one country or a group of many nations will depend upon how well the assimilation of our immigrant population takes place," says Miss Helen Campbell, a member of the faculty of the University of Iowa during the summer session, who has charge of the work in Americanization offered there this summer for the first time. She has previously assisted in municipal and federal investigations of the civil and industrial conditions of foreigners in this country and is thoroughly acquainted with the immigrant and his needs.

Miss Campbell believes that the immigration problem should be considered from two standpoints: the racial elements and the home environment of the emigrant; and the methods used in adopting the immigrant into the American community. While the problem of immigration is by no means a new one, yet America has viewed it simply from the point of who was to be admitted.

In Miss Campbell's course on racial elements and European background, the immigrant is studied in his environment, with his customs and his ideals, the practices of many centuries which are brought with him to this country. "The immigrant brings a fund of useful information and many characteristics that would add to American culture," says Miss Campbell, "if we would but know him."

Besides these studies in Americanization taught by Miss Campbell, other faculty members at the University have charge of studies in Americanization, which are intended specifically for the training of teachers and social workers among the foreign-born residents and communities of the state.

STUDENTS FROM MANY STATES AND FIVE COUNTRIES HERE

Twenty-five states of the union and five foreign countries are represented in the present summer session at the University of Iowa. Students from the far eastern portions of the United States and the far western portion are enrolled in the summer school. China, Japan, Java, Norway, and the Philippine Islands are represented also.

The twenty-five states which have students enrolled at the University now are Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Minnesota, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Among the foreign students are four Chinese, one Japanese, three Javanese, one Norwegian and eight Filipinos.
