Men's Dormitory Filmed--Twenty-two On Waiting List--The Quiet Hours Go Into Effect

With every one of the 180 rooms accommodating 300 men already taken and a waiting list of twenty-two more students, the Quadrangle promises to be one of the popular residence places of the University during the coming year. This is a material increase over last year so that more than 300 men were living there at any one time during 1920-21, the Quadrangle's opening year.

"At the opening of school we had a waiting list of thirty-seven persons, but pictures of those have been accentuated by others' cancellations," said Robert E. Hurley, dean of men, who has charge of the Quadrangle.

The cafeteria, under the management of Frank Hunscher, opened Tuesday morning and is being heavily patronized by Quadrangle residents.

Quiet hours went into effect yesterday at 7:00 p.m. They stand from 10:00 p. m. to 4:00 p. m. and from 7:00 p. m. to 11:00 a. m. on all days except Saturday from 11:00 a. m. to Sunday 7:00 p. m., and on holidays and proceeding evenings. Women's Organization Assures the Charge of a s Afternoon at Varsity

Saturday afternoon Varsity will be conducted this year by the Women's Association of the University. According to Margaret Holmes, the former president of the association, arrangements have been completed to give an entire charge of the Varsity to the Women's Association. A committee from the association cooperated with Mrs. Dellen S. Armstrong and Mrs. J. E. Baker, managers of the ball and orchestra, to conduct the dances as strictly University affairs.

The dances, to commence Monday afternoon, are to be managed in the same manner as those held last year in the Women's Gymnasium. A business manager is to be appointed from the public association to take charge of the weekly arrangements. University women each week will attend the University and will serve as an introduction committee.

Margaret Holmes, in speaking of the dances said: "The plan of conducting a University dance on Saturday afternoon proved to be a real hit in the last year, and the Association was more than glad to discover a means for continuing an all-University dance to be conducted by University women for University people."

BUILDING WORK SHOWS SLOW BUT STEADY GROWTH

Shortages in Labor, Materials, and Transportation Facilities Delay Progress

ARMORY LACKS HEAT PLANT

Bakery is Latest Addition to University

BACK TO OLD-AGE APPLICANTS HALL

CONSTRUCTION ON NEW ADMINISTRATION BUILDING TO HAVE NEW FRONT

The work on the New University building, which was started last spring as a result of an appropriation by the state legislature, progressed slowly but steadily during the summer, according to J. M. Fisk, superintendent of grounds and buildings, and the date for completion of the various building units can be estimated with more or less accuracy. Although held back by the shortage of labor, and lack of materials due to transportation difficulties, the work of the summer has been very satisfactory.

Building new in the process of construction are the Psychopathic hospital, the nurses' home, the new armory, old armory, new bakery, and an addition to the University laboratory.

Perhaps the most recent addition is the new laboratory which the University is building in connection with the library. The plans for this building were accepted last week, and it is expected that the building for the furnishing of its own foodstuffs. Ovens will be heated by electricity and it is estimated that it will be necessary to bake at least one thousand loaves and two hundred dozen per day for University use, besides a large amount of bread for the public.

Add to Heating Plant

Another addition which was started by the University during the summer is an addition to the front of the heating plant, which will provide heating to the old armory, new chemists' branch of the grounds and buildings for. A new Celanese engine and generator are expected to be installed at the present time in order to keep up the necessary fire for heating.

The new armory, situated across the river, has been enclosed and completed and an appropriation for this building not being enough to provide for the installation of steam heat. According to Mr. Fisk, it will be necessary to use the armory this winter, except where use can be made of the heat from the armory. Plans are being considered at the present time to build a new armory at the annual homecoming, November 12, 15, in the new armory.

Hospital Ready in Spring

It is expected that the brickwork on the Psychopathic hospital will be completed in about three weeks, which will enable the building so that the finishing can go on this winter. It is in no further delay in getting materials, the hospital will be ready in the spring, though expectation was to have the building ready in the fall of this year. Many difficulties have been encountered in respect to delayed transportation; it was impossible to obtain the necessary stone and cement. The appropriation for this building was $35,000.

The same difficulty with transportation has been the cause of delay in the completion of the nurses' home. Work has been rather slow on this building, although it has progressed steadily as conditions would permit. A shortage of carpenters and bricklayers has hindered during the summer, which also delayed construction. With good weather this fall, completion of at least two and perhaps three of the four stories is looked for and the building should be ready for occupancy in May, 1929. The appropriation for this building was $150,000, and it is expected to accommodate 100 nurses.

ERNSTENE WILL ANNOUNCE TO THE STAFF

Hawkeye Editor to Make Public

New series of October 13

Announcement of the staff of the 1922 Hawkeyes, the official year book of the University is promised in the near future by Carroll Ernsten. A large number of the alumni have been received, and a thorough canvass of the city has been made to secure the best possible representation. The alumni have been canvassed for the past two years, and the results are being compiled.

"We hope to sell at least 5,000 copies of The Hawkeyes this year," Ernsten said. "This will be an increase of 1,000 copies over the 1921 sale. Plans are laid for numerous new features, which it is expected will make the 1922 edition a better and stronger volume.

"THE HELPERS AND INFORMATION IOETERS"

Arrangements were made by the University Y. M. C. A. to help the incoming students during the days of registration by establishing information booths for their convenience. These booths were manned by the Y. M. C. A. at the Rock Island station and in the eastern part of the city. The "Y" also had a checking counter at the Y. M. C. A. building.

Miss Condon and committee in charge of this work checked more than 100 suits and furnished the men for free of charge.

During the first few days, the Y. M. C. A. men were also sent out to nearby exchanges to help the men.

BOOK SALES STARTING WELL

The days of the athletic year book design are gone with results also so far satisfyingly, according reports from Coach Howard Jones’ staff. Nearly 300 books have been sold by business houses and individuals on the campus.

Although more than 1000 "I" books were sold before the first football game last year, the first scheduled game was so soon after registration that little canvassing was necessary. This year the first game will not be played on Iowa field until October 9, and by that time the officials hope to have greatly exceeded the number sold last year.

All effort so far has been only with students as they passed the stands, but it is planned to begin a campaign among the students in plenty of time for the first game here with Cornell, and it is thought that after the confusion of registration is over, the students will purchase year books in great quantities.

It has been estimated that if a student attended all the home events and telegraphic reports, and paid the general admission for each contest, it would cost $16.00 more than the price of the I ticket.

YOUR FALL SUITS

The pinched-in, high-waisted effect has gone. The new style brings a fuller, more spacious coat which hangs freely from the shoulders ad outlines the figure in its falling straightness. Vents are noticeably shorter in this season’s models.

Hair-line stripes in both dark and brown shades are predominating, although plain shades are still in demand.

GOOD BOOKS AND READING

Good books are like good friends; the longer you have them the longer you want to have them. The man who reads well will talk well. He will have learned something to say and his reading will have taught him how to say it. He writes well for the same reason; for, aside from the knowledge of his subject, he has unconsciously mastered a style in which he can convey the meaning intelligently to the reader.

The well-read man can advance more rapidly than the man who reads but little. He knows what to read next and how to study what he has on hand.

The man who reads mediocre material should ask some one who reads good books what he might read and thus work gradually in to a better habit of reading. The field of reading is usually a narrow one for all those save those who have made a practice of enlarging their vision by a definite scheme. Women usually want fiction; boys want science, and men prefer works on travel. But when people limit themselves to one subject they are not progressing. A variety of subjects is necessary for a good education and the man who would be well-read must be acquainted with many subjects.

Better shelter reading, however, is not the way to obtain knowledge. A definite course should be followed until at least one is sure of his intention in reading and can specialize intelligently.

One’s reading describes him more than a description of his face would. For it is the mind that fits into the world machine, not the appearance.
