AERIAL FLIP LIKE CLOCKWORK

Hard Scrimmage and Snappy Drill
Sends Every Squad Through Man Sized Workout — Illinois Plays
Gain on Left Wing — Frosh Squad
Given Hot Mix

Scrimmage, open field work, and risk signal drill, put the varsity football squad through a man-sized workout on Iowa field yesterday afternoon.

Practice started with the first string and substitute backs blocking forward passes. This preliminary work was followed by a short signal drill with all three teams scattering over the field.

Illinois Shift Effective

After a short workout on the north field, Coach Ashmore brought his freshmen into the oval to meet the regulars with a complicated shift play.
The Orange and Blue strategy seemed to be effective on Jones' veterans, and the yellow-jerseyed frosh repeatedly attacked the left wing with this formation for effective gains.

After about thirty minutes work with the play the first string machine was given the offensive and proceeded to plant the oval between the goal posts three time in about fifteen minutes.

Drill Follows Scrimmage

The forward pass was working with well-oiled precision, and was used insistently by the varsity. Aubrey Devine to Belding, Aubrey Devine to Kadeska, Aubrey Devine to G. Devine were all safe ground gainers, only one flip of the ball falling incomplete. Aubrey opened the counting for the regulars with a touchdown from open field running, and Kelly and G. Devine rated the other two.

When, after the third touchdown, the freshmen were sent in, the sun was setting, and the newsies in the stands were gathering a luncheon from the fag ends of peanut bags, the third phase of the workout opened, with stiff signal drill for the first string and scrimmage between the second and third elevens.

Repeated attempts to puncture the third line, resulted in only one unofficial touchdown for the seconds, when Rich dived half through and half over it for a count after about twenty minutes of play.

The remnant of the freshman squad left out of the scrimmage with the varsity ran a scrimmage of its own on the north field.

PROFESSOR SEIG LECTURED TO PSYCH STUDENTS YESTERDAY

Prof. L. P. Seig, of the physics department lectured before the students of psychology on "Color Appearance" at the physics lecture room yesterday. The lecture was given three times, at 9 and at 11 o'clock and at 7 p.m. in order to accommodate the 540 students who are taking the course in elementary psychology this year.

Professor Seig has given this lecture for eight years, missing only the time during which he was in the army.

In his lecture Professor Seig said that color and light are intimately associated, and that for every temperature there is a distinct color. To illustrate the principles of which he spoke, he used lantern slides, showing all the arrangements of color in refraction, defraction, corona and rainbow. He also explained the use of the glass prisms in the making of colors and the mixing of colors and pigments by addition and subtraction.

According to Mable C. Williams of the glass prisms in the making of her lectures outside of the regular work have been planned.

CARL SANDBURG SAID TO WRITE WITH HIS FISTS

Carl Sandburg called "The Poet of the Commonplace" will give a lecture and read some of his own poetical selections this evening at 8 o'clock in the natural science auditorium. Mr. San-burg is connected with the Chicago Daily News and much of his poetry is of city life. During the war he served in the secret service in Sweden.

Prof. Edwin F. Piper said that no one should miss the opportunity of hearing this lecture.

The Chicago Daily News says,
"There's a smile and a whine to him and he sometimes writes with his fists."

"Mr. Sanburg enjoys newspaper writing as a craft and the writing of poetry as an art and religion," says the Tribune.

Mr. Sandburg will be the guest at a tea given by the instructors in the department of English at the University club rooms from 4 to 6 this afternoon. Many of his personal friends and those interested in his work will be present.

Mr. Sandburg will arrive this afternoon at 3:30 over the Rock Island, and will be met at the depot by Edwin Ford Piper of the English department and several other personal friends.

MEMORIAL UNION RALLY MONDAY

Linn County Will be Pacesetter in Rallies — Program Given
At Cedar Rapids

Under the direction of Prof. C. H.
Weller, director of the Memorial Union, and Mrs. Elbert W. Rockwood, assistant campaign director, plans have been made to hold loyalty rallies in every county in Iowa. No funds will be solicited at the time of the rallies, but a thorough canvass will follow until every alumnus and former student has been interviewed. Thus the campaign work in each county will be completed.

The first of these rallies was held in Linn county at Cedar Rapids, Monday evening. John Grimm, B. A. '89, and L. L. B. '91 who is an alumnus member of the Memorial Union board acted as master of ceremonies. Short talks were given by President Walter A. Jessup, Prof. Charles H. Weller, Mrs. Elbert W. Rockwood, B. A. '92 and M. A. '96, Carl F. Kuehnle, B. A.
'81 and M. A. '84. The rest of the program consisted of songs by the men's glee club quartet and the singing of college songs led by Prof. W. E. Hays.

Dr. Agnes Safley, M. D. '04, Mrs. Irving C. Emery, L. L. B. '10, and Mrs.
Neil Adamson made up the committee for the promotion of interest in the rally.

Much interest is being shown in these rallies by the various counties.
Linn county will be the pacesetter for the others. Wapello and Crawford counties will hold their rallies sometime in November.

Ralph Grassfield, University of Iowa alumnus, formerly editor of the Iowan, secretary of Iowa City commercial club and secretary of the commercial club in Enid, Okla., has been appointed field director of the campaign. Ruth Rogers will continue as field secretary.

ington was elected junior class representative to the student council from the college of applied science at a meeting held in the applied science building

The cross country track team will run the full five mile course this afternoon. It is expected that 35 or 40

Leaders in Liberal Arts College Favor Re-entering Organization — Charlton and Smith Endorse It — Question of Interpretation Was Cause of Misunderstanding

Tomorrow will be election day in the college of liberal arts as well as in every other college on the campus.

This is believed to be assured because of the attitude taken by leaders in the college of liberal arts towards advances leading to peace made by Clyde H. Doolittle, president of the student council.

The situation has been that there was some doubt as to whether the college of liberal arts was a member of the student council inasmuch as members of this college voted against going into the council last spring under the eight and ten plan of representation which gave the college of liberal arts eight votes in the council to ten for all the other colleges combined.

The best legal opinion on the campus this fall has been that the college of liberal arts was in the council despite the adverse vote in the spring because all the other colleges ratified the proposed constitution thereby making it operative. Students and faculty members having the good of the University at heart have also taken this view. It was thought for a time this fall that liberal arts leaders might decide to fight the council.

This view has been dispelled by the recent statements in favor of the council made by Clyde B. Charlton, president of A. F. L.; Marquis M.
Smith, candidate for liberal arts senior president; and other undergraduate leaders.

TAG COMMITTEE MEETS

Dondore and Benge Present Plans for Consideration of Women

Twenty-four members of the women's pep club who are to sell tags tomorrow to send the band to Chicago, met last night in the drawing room of the women's gymnasium. Joe Benge, drum major of the band, and John L.
Dondore, president of the "Howling 300" gave short talks.

Carfare for the fifty members of the band will be $1000. One hundred and eighty dollars of this sum was raised at the Cornell game last Saturday from the sale of "On Iowa."

Every college will be solicited tomorrow, and it is expected that every student will contribute his twenty five cents, thus making it unnecessary for the members of the band to dig too far down in their pockets.

During former years it was necessary for individuals of the band to pay at least half of their carfare.

PETITIONS IN TODAY

Nominating petition for candidates for any office to be voted on at tomorrow's election must be in the hands of Robert E. Rienow, dean of men, by 4 this afternoon. Each petition must be signed by twenty-five members of the class the candidate is seeking to represent. The student council will meet at 4 in Old Capitol to pass on the petitions.

CHARLTON FOR IT

Clyde B. Charlton, president of A.
F. L. issued the following statement last night:

"The junior and senior classes of the liberal arts college should accept the invitation extended them by the student council, and should elect repressentatives in the coming elections. This opinion is a reversal of my former judgement indicated by active opposition to the student council plan last spring. In deference to the opinions of men whom I respect because of their life-long associations with the University and the favorable judgment of a majority of the members of A. F. I. this change of attitude is taken."

Staff and Circle to Back New Candidate — Meeting Called Today — Bowie Does Not Give Out Platform
— Hoffman, Charlton, and Smith
Claim Independence

A new flame burst up in the political fire yesterday afternoon when Staff and Circle, honorary senior society for women started to function towards putting a senior woman candidate in the field against the three men candidates.

There will be an all-senior women's mass meeting in the liberal arts drawing room today at 11:50 to decide on candidates and start the circulation of petitions. Marion G. Smith is being mentioned frequently although she herself says that she knows nothing about it. It is thought that she will run on stickers, meaning that stickers with her name will be printed to paste on the ballot.

Hoffman to Run on Merits

Charles C. Bowie has announced that he is supporting Warren L. Bassett for vice-president and Helen Rolleston for secretary-treasurer. His campaign is being run on no particular platform saying that he feels that three persons who have made a mark on the campus on their own merits need no other stimulant for getting votes. "If any issues are forced on us we will not evade them and are ready to meet the other two candidates on either platform or personal qualifications."

Hoffman announces a platform the content of which is that he is going to run on his own merits, is under obligation to no one for support in the election and will pick a dance committee absolutely from men who have done something on the campus for Iowa.

Smith Mentions Spirit

Clyde B. Charlton said last night that he has no political nest to feather and has no intention of holding any office through support given to candidates. He speaks of the support formerly given Smith which Smith claims deserted him, as alleged and that in that way an organization was attempted, but failed.

Marquis M. Smith announced a campaign whose text is more class organization, more co-operation for the Iowa Memorial Union, and the hope that the student council will become a thoroughly functioning organ with a unified purpose; the betterment of Iowa spirit.

The political supporters of the three men are quietly smiling about the women's issue and proceeding to strengthen their own followings. Political propaganda flew fast and furious around the campus after class hours yesterday, but today will be the big day for dark horses to come to the front, and there will be many of them in the three lower classes but politicians believe that there will be no more seniors and the entrance of the suffragists is something of a surprise.

DANCES AND CLASS PRESIDENTS

As far as can be discerned from the somewhat distant eminence of the editorial chair, it would seem that those who are bidding for election to class office are doing so mainly on the strength of their dazzling personalities.

The logical and worthwhile class election would assure the best man or at least the most popular man being born triumphantly into office. Without casting aspersions on the present scurrying office seekers, we may say, however, that this is quite seldom the case. More than often, the man who has the strongest campus clique about him gains the coveted office, due perhaps as much to the indifference of the discriminating student as to the activities of his special and hardworking friends.

There are several men on the campus who, if nominated, would be almost unanimously elected. Rather than enter a contest which they know to be a matter of privilege, most of these men prefer to keep themselves inviolate.

Instead of allowing ten or twelve men who hope to secure free tickets to the class dance to pick the candidate who pledges himself to them, it would seem more decent to the class as a whole to have some campus organization of standing select the man who undoubtedly stood at or near the head of the class.

JUST TO BE DIFFERENT

How would it seem if some Friday or Saturday night the walks approaching the campus leading to the various libraries were swarming with students eagerly on their way to study?

Do you think anyone would apply the gentle "raze" to the activity, which most of us know is, in the final analysis, the most important matter in our student life? Of course there would be conscientious objectors to this sort of program.

There are some wildly misinformed students in and around the campus who stoutly maintain that the drag and strain of five days of monotonous and boresome classrooms entitles them to the legitimate rest of at least two days of amusement. However, it is doubtful whether such a relief is absolutely necessary for even the most ill-nourished cerebellums in our midst.

The point is that the bars for getting a respectable grade in every subject are so low that no one can have a really logical excuse for flunking out. The amount of culture demanded in exchange for a degree is almost negligible, forty or fifty students are usually taking the same course, the libraries are full of books containing the information desired, the professors are amiable to an extraordinary degree, in short the path to a very creditable showing is so ridiculously easy that nothing but the admittance that one is an imbecile can save one from the sting of being designated as hopelessly lazy.

For the sake of the headline writers we hope Bowie wins, so that they can write how Bowie Knives Smith and Hoffman.

After one is elected to the presidency of the class, what sort of parlor athletics are to be recommended.

The average office seeker runs not so much on one ticket as on twelve of them; all dance tickets.

CARL SANDBURG

A random guess at the sort of activities that should reasonably attract the average undergraduate who is somewhat intent upon insuring himself of a liberal, well-rounded education, would result in the inference that a large group of students will be present in the natural science auditorium at the lecture by Carl Sandburg, Chicago poet, tonight.

Applying the polish supposed to result from college life includes more than good grades and support of the team, commendable as these are. Within reason, a cultured man or woman, or one who feels that he might well acquire a little more culture, will be anxious to hear this rather famous poet. It will be an opportunity to get first hand impression of the man, an impression which might be communicated with pride to nephews or grandchildren in another one or five decades, or transcribed from the dog-eared pages of a diary.

LISTENING POST

They All Flop Sooner or Later!
Anatole France, noted French author, was married to-day to Mlle. Emma La Brevette. The famous Frenchman is 76 years of age and has been a bachelor all his life.—Chicago Tribune.

Attention Iowa City Landladies!
As a candidate for the hall of fame we suggest that earnest consideration be given the Chicago landlord who announced a ten percent decrease in rent.

The Frosh's Daily Razz!
Waxing Biblical and resurrecting that old line about "keeping your light under a bushel" we are authorized by several professors to press upon freshmen the advisability of leaving the well known bushel at home.

To-day's prize advertisement reads: Helen Donovan Dresses—Iowan. If we made any remark about that it would probably not get into the line and we don't want to take any chances Use your own imagination anyway.

No Offense!

There has always been much said about the impossibility of accumulating a great fortune and at the same time following the higher pursuits of life. Radicals point out that only a yokel or a liar holds to the opinion that one may lead an ethical life while amassing great material wealth.

They further show us that professors and great thinkers are poor and that they elect disdain to concern themselves with Mammon at all!....All of which suggests this: That the wealthy real estate dealer who has forsaken the business of making any more money, despite his age, and the fact that his son is a senior, has solved the problem by enrolling in the university himself. He sits in front of us in philosophy and eagerly absorbs the professor's sapient observations of the higher things of life, etc. We are sure that as he listens to these prescriptions for moral and righteous conduct, that the smile which comes over his face occasionally is merely the ripple of a deep and profound thought which should it ever be expressed would read something like this: "It's certainly a good thing that I wanted until I was fifty before coming to school to get all this precious stuff. Otherwise my son might have been compelled to work himself through, or worse still, I might have been a professor myself!"

The girl I marry must conscientiously regard those words in the marriage ceremony which read, "love, honor, and obey," and at the same time vote the republican ticket. H. A.

cal machines will run a close race while the Bowie outfit, claiming a large following in literary societies and other circles figure that they can slip in between. However, there are some who believe that the women's candidate believed to be managed by Staff and Circle will have some showing.

Juniors are not doing much except working. Both Parker and Moore are putting up a hot campaign, but where is the dark horse that will cop the laurels? As far as the two are concerned they stand about a fifty-fifty chance, leaders think.

Expect Candidates Today

Sophomores are still quiet. Their political race will be launched with a rush this morning and a plethora of candidates will be out. Frances Ristine, literary society leader, and sister of Leonard P. Ristine, track star has developed considerable following and is expected to be a vote getter asset to some presidential candidate, as vice-president.

Clinton M. Sims of Lone Tree, is running a fast campaign for freshman president on a slogan "All for Iowa." Robert G. Rankin of Fort Dodge is candidate for vice-president and Helen Shrader of Iowa City for secretary-treasurer. Some of the dopes think this combination might pull something as it is well formed but the numberless candidates that will show up today will tell the sad story to many hopefuls.

Dorothy Lingham is out for the position on the student council vacated by Margaret Dilliver and Genevieve Clearly one of last year winners in the beauty contest, has announced herself as running for the social committee. It is said that these candidates are lined up with Rosenbaugh's group who hope to put Bowie across.

Y. W. C. A. SPEAKER WILL TALK TO
GIRLS' CABINET

Miss Charlotte Adams, director of the biblical work at the national Y. W. C. A. training school in New York City will arrive in the city this afternoon. Miss Adams has been connected with this school for years.

Miss Adams returned last spring from the Orient. While there she studied conditions of the native women. She is now touring the middle western states, coming here after having advised at the Ohio State University and the University of Nebraska. From here she will go to Illinois, Michigan and Indiana.

While at the University she will have charge of four meetings of the full Y. W. C. A. cabinet, which consists of forty-five girls. Miss Adams will also speak at a dinner to be held by the Y. W. membership committee in the liberal arts drawing room Wednesday evening at five o'clock. The faculty women of the University and advisory board can hear Miss Adams speak Friday and Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock on "Christian Fundamentals."

The aesthetic dancing class which meets Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons has begun its sessions. This class, composed of forty-six members, is the largest ever enrolled and many others want to take the work, according to Miss Marion R. Lyons, head of the physical training department. This is all that can be accommodated now but next semester another class may be formed.

A meeting of the political club was held Tuesday evening at the home of Dean McGovney. Prof. C. O. Ruggles read a paper. Plans and announcements were made for the coming year.

"I" TICKETS SOLE ADMIT TO BASKETBALL GAMES

The Cornell game caused a great increase in the sale of "I" tickets, nearly 700 tickets being sold just previous to that game. The total is now slightly over 2100, although it is impossible to obtain definite figures because there are several persons who are selling tickets who haven't made complete reports.

According to Coach Howard H. Jones it is now practically certain that no one except holders of "I" tickets will be admitted to basketball games. This should greatly stimulate the sale. This should greatly stimulate the sale of tickets and last years mark of 2200 wil probably be surpassed.

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR BASKETBALL

Coach Ashmore Plans Early Start For Champion Season With Veterans Ready

Iowa bids fair this year to be represented by the best basketball team in many seasons. With all eyes centered on the football games, the basketball season seems far away to Iowa fans, but a glance at the veteran material available indicates that the Hawkeyes will be a championship contender from the first game. Previously, Iowa teams have been put out of the running in the first two or three games. This year Coach Ashmore plans to start things early enough so that the men will be in fine form when the conference schedule opens January 15.

Bob Kaufman, playing guard position captain this year, is expected to be a big cog in Iowa's defense. He has a splendid build and speed for an ideal guard, and on the offense usually comes through with neat long shots or short dribbles for a needed two points. His last year at Iowa should be his best.

Last year Frank Shimek, a sophomore made the team as a forward and in every game played clever, consistent ball. He is fast, slippery, and has a deadly eye for the basket. In free throwing he ranked third in the conference with seventy-four, and tied for fifth place among the Big Ten high score men. "Shim" was feared by every team Iowa met, and at the close of the season was chosen all-state forward.

Boy Finlayson will play his third year for Iowa. When he is going well his basket eye is unerring, and his clever dribbling never fails to keep the opposing team worried. He made twenty-five baskets against conference teams last winter and should continue his good work this season.

Aubrey Devine came out for basketball last year, and at first, inexperience kept him on the second team. But playing in the big Chicago game in the absence of Capt. Nicolaus he surprised everyone with his ability, and thereafter held down the position as Shimek's running mate.

Of the reserves who saw action last year there will be Frowein, Lohman, Ehresman, and Riddlesbarger, forwards, and Newcomb, guard. The freshman team of last year will be out to fight for positions also. Mortenson and Seiling, forwards, and Jones, center, are good men.

James V. Ashmore, coaching his first year at Iowa, turned out a team last year that won five straight conference games. To him should go much credit, and with four experienced regulars and many good reserves this winter, he should turn out a team that will keep the Big Ten considerably interested.

BUILDING HOUSING MUSICIANS AND CARPENTERS TO BE RAZED

Plans to tear down the building behind Old Capitol now occupied by the carpenter shop and band room are now under way. According to J. M. Fisk this building will be razed next spring. It was the first home of the military department, and has for many years been the headquarters of the University band.

Mr. Fisk also said that a new home for the band is to be provided, perhaps on the west side, near the new armory.

The carpenter shops are to be moved to the new addition now under construction on the University heating plant.

* NO SKELETON KEY, NO MAIDS AT QUAD. *

The residents of the Quadrangle have, for the past three or four days, been playing the part of housemaid. The cause of their newly acquired occupation is that the four maids who were employed at the first of the year to clean and sweep the rooms daily, went on a strike last Friday and have not yet returned to work. They walked out, leaving the students to clean up their own rooms, or leave them dirty, as they may desire.

The result is, that at almost any time of the day, a Quadrangle visitor may see some resident wielding a broom, or a dust rag, or even making the bed. Up to the present time none has purchased dust caps, but this may be the next move.

The cause of the strike is not a question of wages, though the former maids claim that they were underpaid, but a dispute as to whether or not each one of them should be furnished with a skeleton key.

Society Brand Clothes

FOR YOUNG MEN AND MEN WHO STAY YOUNG

Style rules us all

We may pretend indifference to style, but after all we feel comfortable when our clothes are in style, and a trifle self-conscious when they are not.

There are seasons of extremes and seasons of conservative styles. This is the year of easy, graceful lines rather than the form-fitting, militaristic models of last season. The waist line is lower—the vent is shorter—the coats hang freely from the shoulder.

This change is welcomed by every college man. He likes comfort with his style; and another thing—here is a coat that will not be noticeably passé next year.

You are sure of quality, of all-wool fabric and fine tailoring—you are confident of full value, and you have the endorsement of the greatest style authority in America when you invest in a suit of Society Brand Clothes.

WOMEN OFFER IOWA BANNER

Mysterious 300 Seek Name For Organization — Contest Closes Tomorrow at 6

Promoters of the women's yelling organization are offering a gold felt Iowa banner with the seal of the state University of Iowa on it in leather to the University woman who presents the catchiest and most applicable title for the organization which is now going under the name of the "Mysterious 300."

The contest will close tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock. All titles should be dropped in the ballot box just inside the door of the Daily Iowan office, room 14 L. A., before that time.

The purpose of this organization as outlined by Jean Spiers, its promoter, is to encourage interest and pep in both men's and women's athletics, and to support all pep meetings and games by requiring members to attend all athletic games.

Miss Spiers is issuing a call to all women of the University to attend the meeting of the club at the women's gymnasium on Wednesday evening, October 20. At this meeting a chairman or president and three or four cheer leaders will be elected.

Jean Spiers, Dorothy Lingham, Ada Yoder, Lue Prentiss and Hubertine Kueneman, have been appointed as an executive committee to meet with the executive committee of the Howling 300 and representatives of the band tomorrow evening.

QUADRANGLE FROSH VOUCH FOR BROTHERS

A secret organization, the Virile Vindictive Vigilantes, has been formed by about fifteen freshmen at the Quadrangle. The purpose of this group is to help persuade any refractory freshmen that it is to their advantage to include green caps in their wardrobes, and to appear with them on their heads between the hours of 6 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. week days. In the bulletin board at the Quadrangle the following notice is posted:

Fellow Freshmen:—Being a group of Freshmen like unto yourself, and having voluntarily vowed that we would vouch for the "Wearin' of the Green", we take this means of presenting to you our means of persuasion.

The V. V. V.'s.

In addition to this notice there are three paddles. The first, labeled "First Application" is an ordinary paddle of good weight and strength. The second, named "Second Dose" is similar to the first except that several holes have been bored in it, forming the letters V. V. The third, also of the same size, is named "Last Resort." Its chief claim to persuasive powers lies in the points of numerous tacks which protrude prominently upon the working side, arranged in the form V. V. So far there has been no occasion for the use of any one of the paddles, as all Quadrangle Frosh have conceded that it is to their best advantage to wear the green. But if the occasion arises, the Virile Vindictive Vigilantes, are ready to go into action in order to compel their class-mates to comply with the ruling that all first year men wear this form of headgear.

 NO PAIN IN THE SAW-DUST ***

"Jane is dead!", wailed a voice from a neighboring room at Currier. As the sobs augmented, a group of youthful co-eds stopped in front of Room 280 where a dainty crepe of pink and white was fastened to the door.

"Who's Jane?" whispered one of the frightened listeners.
"Whose room is it? Let's go in."

Softly the door opened and the sorrow stricken co-eds looked aghast upon Jane's remains. There on the floor lay a heap of fragments of a poor kewpie doll.

DRAMA STUDY ADOPTED FOR LIT PROGRAM

Hesperia literary society has adopted a new plan of devoting its programs this year to dramatic work including the study of the drama and the stage, according to Marie Baldwin, president. The change in the plan of programs has been brought about by the increasing interest in dramatics and the demand for a more intensified study of one phase in literary work.

Hesperia society is the first literary society on the campus to ally itself with this movement by giving its programs over to the study of one thing instead of continuing the usual literary society program covering miscellaneous subjects.

Printed pamphlets of the programs of this semester will be issued today and will be distributed at freshmen lectures this afternoon. Each program includes a one-act play, and a definite drama will be covered at each program. The programs will be given once a month instead of every two weeks, and the regular business meeting other two weeks. Membership in the society will be held in the society will be governed by interest in dramatic work.

The first program will be given Tuesday evening, October 19, in the little theatre of the elementary school. Following is the program:

"The Little Theater Movement"
I. Sturt Walker and The Pantomime Players.
II. Washington Square Players.
III. Amateur Workshops.
IV. "The eBeauty Brigade."
V. "Suppressed Desires."

BAND WILL GIVE OPEN AIR CAMPUS CONCERT SOON

Plans for an open air concert to be given on the campus sometime before the Chicago-Iowa game are being made by the University band, according to O. E. Van Doren, director of the band. New selections which are now practiced by the khaki-clad musicians will be played for the first time at the concert.

The concert will be given in order to raise a fund sufficient to send the band to Chicago October 23. As a start toward the collection of this fund a sum of $180 was realized from the sale of copies of "Old Gold" in the grand stands during the Cornell game last Saturday. The proceeds from the concert and tag day, it is expected by the committee, will be sufficient to raise the necessary quota, according to Andrew W. Bossen, chairman of the committee.

MCDONALD EXPLAINS STUDENT HEALTH DEPT. TO GIRLS

Relation of the student health department to students was explained to the freshmen women by Dr. W. J. McDonald, director of the student health department, in the natural science auditorium yesterday.

Students who are absent from classes on account of illness are asked to notify the department on the day of illness, as excuses come through the student health department," said Dr. McDonald. Vaccination against smallpox was urged by Dr. McDonald.

University yellers were in charge of John Dondore, president of the Howling 300. Singing of the University songs, "Old Gold" and "On Iowa," which the freshmen women were assigned to learn, was directed by Vesta Meredith.
