ILLINOI SHIFTS FALL FLAT ON VARSITY LINE

First Team Offense Quickly Scores Three Touchdowns on the Frosh Squad Working 100%

TEAM TO URBANA TONIGHT

Short Signal Drill, Onside Kick, and Forward Passes Are Features of Yesterday's Preliminary Practice — Scrimmage Relatively Short — Two Teams to Urbana

A well organized defense prevented the freshman eleven from repeating its drive through the Varsity line when the two teams lined up for an experiment with the Illinois shift at last night's workout on Iowa Field.

Following preliminary work of kicking, getting down under punts and a short signal drill featuring the onside kick and forward passes, the frosh squad was called in and was rehearsed in the business of the intricate Illinois shift play.

A. Devine Scores Quickly

After the play was run a few times and the varsity defense coached to follow it, the yearlings were given their cue and the mix began. Orange and Blue tactics however failed to make more than a random yard or two the first string line. The defense was working a hundred percent, the regulars were given the nod and Aubrey Devine started the first machine with an open field run of forty yards. In a few downs he had scored on a similar play.

Frosh Hit Second Team

Scrimmage was shorter than on the night before. A pass to Glen Devine and an open field run by Kelly in quick succession completed the combat practice. A Devine was excused early in the drill. He was replaced by Joe Sykes who galloped over the turf for some good gains against the yellow-shirted eleven. A little later Jaqua went in for Locke at the full back position.

After the scrimmage, the varsity was sent up and down the field for a snappy signal practice, and the coaching staff concentrated its efforts in building up a second team defense for the freshman interpretation of Illinois strategy.

Today's practice will probably be devoted to light work. It is expected that Coach Howard H. Jones will take two full teams to Urbana. The squad will leave tonight.

CONCERNING HIS STAND THE CANDIDATE STATED

SENIORS

Charles C. Bowie: We are running a campaign that is all for Iowa. The A. F. I. will be given a chance to pick the senior hop committee.

Edgar P. Hoffman: I will run on my merits, am under obligations to no one, and will pick a dance committee of men meritable, regardless of politics.

Marquis M. Smith: I urge more cooperation for the Iowa Memorial Union, and hope to see the present student council become a thoroughly functioning organization.

Marion Dyer: I think that women should be represented in school affairs as this is a co-ed school. I want better class politics and am running independently.

JUNIORS

Bruce Gould: I am not a politician, am running independently, and think that we should have a closer school and class organization. Class officers should be men and women that have demonstrated that they are willing to make sacrifices for Iowa.

Guerdon Parker: I wish to see a closely organized class with more action in all classes and politics run on CHRYSANTHEMUMS WILL BE SOLD HOMECOMING BY W. A. A.

Popcorn balls, chrysanthemums and "I" buttons will be sold by the women's athletic association at Homecoming, Saturday November 13, at a table just outside the gate. The campaign is the first of its kind the women of W. A. A. have undertaken. It will be conducted under the supervision of Claribel Wright A4 chairman of the finance committee. Miss Wright desires that fraternities and sororities wishing chrysanthemums for that time will take the lead in the movement by placing their orders for flowers with Lue Prentiss A3. Miss Prentiss' telephone is 1760.

TEAM TO HAVE GIANT SEND OFF

Monstrous Mass Meeting Will Be Held on Campus Tonight At 7 o'clock

A giant mass meeting, booster program and a parade to the station is planned by the Howling 300 organization for tonight to give the team a real send-off for the Iowa-Illinois game. The meeting will be called promptly at 7 o'clock on the campus in front of the liberal arts building. A real pep program has been arranged for the meeting, according to John L. Dondore, president of the Howling 300. New yells will be learned and practiced and more fight will be injected into the old ones. Short speeches by Prof. B. J. Lambert of the Athletic Board and by George L. Stout, A4, of Winterset.

The new women's organization, the Mysterious 300, will make their initial appearance as an activity booster at this meeting tonight.

Following the pep program on the campus, a giant parade is planned, headed by the band and the two booster organizations of the University. The parade will escort the team through the main streets of the town to the Rock Island station, where another short yell-fest will be held before the train pulls out for Urbana at 7:55.

Every student of the University is urged to be present at this meeting. "We want every man and woman in the University, who has any real Iowa spirit at all to be at this meeting tonight," said Dondore. "Everyone of us knows that this is the big game of the season and we must put the pep of the University into the team so they will go down there and win."

All details as to the special train to Chicago will be given out tonight, according to the committee in charge of arrangements. One hundred and twenty-five students are needed to make the trip.

the merits of the individual.

William O. Moore: I favor the student council and stand for officers representative of the general student body and campus organizations.

SOPHOMORE

Frank E. Boyd: Let us have a democratic class and school, and officers who will work to put Iowa on that basis. I want to see the good spirit that Iowa has shown this fall continue and enlarge.

Gordon Locke: I would like to see a well organized Iowa back athletics and other campus functions. We must all pull together.

FRESHMEN

Ray E. Belney: I want to see Iowans put forth every effort for a greater Iowa.

Clinton M. Sims: All for Iowa is my only campaign slogan.

M. G. Bridenstine: An all Iowa democratic spirit.

Clifford Anderson: I am working independently and want to see a closely organized freshman class.

Max J. Meissner: Let us start our university career with clean politics and a live freshman class.

SANDBURG GIVES TWENTY OF HIS OWN WRITINGS

Chicago Poet Flavors Evening of Entertainment With Guitar Accompaniments

HE DEALS WITH REAL LIFE

Poems Classified as Industrial, Lyrical, Locally American, and Sketches with Atmosphere — Writer Says That Free Verse is the Outgrowth of Democratic Drift

Lending additional mood to the already marked atmosphere of his work by occasional guitar accompaniments, Carl Sandburg, Chicago poet, read about twenty of his own poems in the natural science auditorium last night. His writings are classified as poems of industrial life, lyrics, local American sketches, and sketches with atmosphere.

From the three volumes of his poems just published, "Cornhuskers," "Chicago," and "Smoke," he read poems of real life. "Skyscraper," "Prayers of Steel," and "Leather Leggings," were three poems embodying industrial life. The group of lyrics he read were "Bronzes," "Harvest Moon," "Harvest Sunset," and "The Great Hunt." He gave also his local American sketch, "Caboose Thoughts"; these sketches with an atmosphere, "The Fish Crier," and "Snow"; "The Sin of Kalamazoo," from his latest volume "Smoke and Steel"; and the poem "Gold Mud" which appeared in the latest issue of the Nonpartisan Review.

Towards the close of the program Mr. Sandburg read "Death Snips Proud Men," "Smoke of Autumn," "Fire Dreams," and "For You."

Concerning his profession Mr. Sandburg said yesterday, "During the last three or four years there has been a remarkable Celtic renaissance of poetry in both America and England. Free verse is the development and result of the drift of democracy, which has tended towards making poetry as clamorous and common as itself." "Poetry is coming nearer than either the novel or the drama to the actual life of today."

"The earliest painting found on the walls of the cave dwellers was real art." "All of the present art is exaggerated," he concluded.

STUDENT HANDBOOK IS NOW AVAILABLE AT OLD CAPITOL

Announcement is made that the Student Handbook is now available in room 2, which is the mailing room at Old Capitol. This book is for every student and contains all classifications, rules and regulations, social affairs and all activities that pertain to the University.

TRY-OUTS TO BE CONTINUED

Sixty men were out Tuesday evening for the first try-outs for the Men's Glee Club. Because of the large number of candidates these tryouts will be continued Tuesday evening immediately after the pep meeting. Prof. William E. Hays said that these tryouts are for all who are interested in glee club work. Those who tried out Tuesday evening are to come again Thursday.

MOORE ELECTED TO Y. CABINET

William O. Moore, '22, of Seymour, was elected to the Y. M. C. A. cabinet at the last meeting of the cabinet. He will succeed Byron M. Biersborn, of Liscomb, as chairman of the publicity committee and hand-book publication.

NEW RECORD SET AT RANGE

J. C. Hoglan of Center Point, a second year man in liberal arts college established a new record at the rifle range today by finishing with a score of 111 out of a possible perfect record of 125.

OFFICE SEEKERS HOLD THE LIMELIGHT TODAY

RULES FOR VOTERS

Several rules and regulations governing today's election in all colleges have been given out by Clyde H. Doolittle, acting president of the student council, and Arthur Rosenbaugh, member of the council in charge of arrangements.

Voting in the professional colleges will be an informal election with candidates nominated and voted for at a class meeting.

Voting in the liberal arts college will be by ballots in the main hall of the liberal arts building from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m.

There will be no soliciting of votes in the vicinity of the polls.

There will be no crowding at the ballot boxes. Students will be let in for voting three at a time.

The group in charge of the polls will be composed of three members of the student council and others selected by candidates for the various offices.

Freshman laws, who are working for a degree in the liberal arts college may vote in both freshmen law and senior arts classes.

Unclassified students may vote according to the classification of their credit hours rank, according to Dean Robert E. Rienow. A student in his first year unclassified votes as a freshman, those having 25 hours credit vote as sophomores, those with 55 hours as juniors, and those with 85 hours as seniors.

PARTY PLANKS ARE EXPLAINED

Inside Dope of Political Parties Given Women at the School of Citizenship

"Recent Conventions and Party Platforms," was the subject of the lecture given by Kirk R. Porter, assistant professor of political science before the school of citizenship yesterday afternoon.

A political party, according to Professor Porter is a group of people organized for the purpose of operating government. The purpose of the national conventions is to formulate the principles and policies of the party to select the men they wish at the head of the party, and to hold public officers accountable.

Professor Porter believes that the republican party is now ready to enter some kind of an agreement between nations. Harding stands not only for an agreement, but an association among nations.

Professor Porter believes the democratic platform to be more sympathetic in its attitude towards the Irish and the bonus for soldiers questions. Neither party takes any stand in regard to the wet and dry issue.

WOMEN OPEN TAG CAMPAIGN TODAY

"Buy a tag and send the band to Chicago," is the slogan of the campus today.

Forty-eight will begin this morning at 8 o'clock to sell the tags for twenty-five cents each. The doubling of the original number of women picked to sell tags was found advisable after a meeting of the executive committees of the "Howling 300," the women's pep club, and representatives of the band Tuesday evening in the women's gymnasium.

The carfare for the fifty members of the band who will go with the team will be $1000. All but $180 will have to be raised today.

L. A. POLITICAL FANS GET JOLTS IN LAST LINEUP

Bruce Gould and Marion Dyer Loom Up as Unexpected Lights on the Horizon

SOPHOMORES HAVE CLOSE RACE

Parker, Junior Presidential Aspirant to Fight Hard for Position — Gould Gallops in as Expected Dark Horse — Bowie and Hoffman Promise a Close Race — Dope Against Dyer

By Harry H. Page

Today brought forth two jolts in the political line up: C. Bruce Gould for junior president and Marian Dyer for senior president. A number of candidates sprang up in the lower classes notably Gordon Locke and Frank E. Boyd of the sophomores for president.

Some hot plots are said to have been cooked up in the professional schools and are cleverly concealed. Professional schools hold informal election and outside of the political machines no one knows much about their candidates until they are nominated at the open meetings. However today will tell the sad tale and some of the dope that has been hatched in the halls will come forth.

Bowie Is Strong

Four candidates are in the senior liberal arts field; Charles C. Bowie, Marian Dyer, Edgar P. Hoffman and Marquis Smith. Hoffman, the pride of the old guard, is doped to win by some wise campus politicians but Bowie is expected to make a stronger run. Uninterested students can't figure where Marian Dyer of the senior suffragettes will poll more than a few votes nor is Fred A. Steiner's understudy, Smith, expected to more than make the home stretch. However, Smith has lined up Grace Emery and Harriette Kirkwood as associates which he thinks will be a valuable asset.

Bowie, it is said, has a strong group in Warren Bassett, Helen Rolleston and Dorothy Lingham. It is thought that the fight now hinges between Bowie and Hoffman with the latter the probable fortunate person. Other senior candidates are Florence Bandy for secretary-treasurer and Ada M. Yoder for student council.

Numerous Juniors in Race

With Gould bursting into the Junior race with a rush this afternoon the other two candidates tightened up their belts a bit believing him to be a real foe. Gould stands all alone on the assumption that he is a man who has demonstrated himself as being a real Iowa worker with more results than either of his competitors. Gould is the expected dark horse which politicians believe will win the laurels. However the Guerdon Parker, Althea McGrath, David Mitchell, Maud Adams, Margaret Benton, Robert L. Hunter, and Helen Maulsby aggregation have lots of followers from all fractions of the campus. It is thought that Gould's record can cope with even this group but William O. Moore is said to have a powerful following in literary society circles and he has for team mates Lucille Bennisson and Cloyce K. Huston.

Other junior office seekers are as follows. Aletha McGrath, and Cloyce K. Huston, vice-president; Lucille Bennisson and David Mitchell, secretary-treasurer; Maude Adams, Margaret Benton, Douglas F. Boynton, Max Conn, Fred G. Evans, Frank B. Howes, James Van Law, and Ruth Wilson for student council; and Rob-

POOR MR. CHASE!

A young gentleman signing his name E. P. Chase writes a terse communication to the Harvard Crimson in which he airs a very marked dislike for all things political, and begs to be excused from wasting time thinking or talking of, or voting in the election.

"I despise Harding," he says, "I despise Cox and the democratic party; I loathe the socialist and farm-labor and prohibitionist platforms; I don't know and don't want to know anything about the socialist, labor, and single tax parties. And I strongly suspect that most respectable people feel just about as I do. . . . why should we waste time talking or thinking about the election and why should we bother to vote?"

Probably Mr. Chase, this Mr. Chase who so abhors the affairs of practical politics, is not numbered among the descendants of one of the gentlemen who in high-crowned hats, doublets, and silver buckles put ashore from the diminutive Mayflower not far from the scene of his outburst of disgust with a grim resolve to set up some sort of fair government in the uncultured wilderness of America.

It has so developed that that government has grown up in such a way that it demands the intelligent support and cooperation of all of its citizens in order to function at its best. Mr. Chase refers to the foolishness of "those of us who are not professionally obliged to keep up the dismal pretense of enthusiasm about the wretched business" being forced to waste precious time at it.

One differently minded might reflect that if this commonwealth is to be all that it may be it will come when every rational adult who claims it as his country, Mr. Chase and his respectable people included, is enthusiastic in keeping it in good running order.

Mr. Chase does not mention the occupation in which he is so busily engaged that he loathes taking time from it for consideration of governmental affairs. Undoubtedly it is a good one. It must be a good one to so command his time and attention that he feels it absurd to consider the issues which confront a great government at a rather critical moment in its existence, and to assert himself as a factor in that government.

Abraham Lincoln, one of the nation's greatest politicians, evidently did not have Mr. Chase and his respectable people in mind when he spoke of "a government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

WHEN IN ROME

Ignorance of the law has never been credited with being a valid excuse for its disobedience, and that rather flimsy alibi fails in regard to University regulations since the announcement that students' hand books, containing official information with regard to traditions, customs, organizations, and rules of the institution may be had by calling at the mailing room in Old Capitol.

Undergraduates who are in their first year at Iowa, whether as freshmen or advanced students might find that a perusal of the pages of this little book would save them some ultimate embarrassment or even serious complication. "When in Rome do as the Romans" is a good old maxim and here is a printed copy of the code and habits of the University Romans.

THINK IT OVER

To-day the undergraduate politicians lock horns.

It will be a good election day if every man and woman who casts a vote will cast it for the candidate whom he believes to be best fitted for the position of those in the field.

While the world might go on with a fair degree of normality if there were no class officers or representatives, these positions mean something. They mean enough so that it seems unwise to dole them out carelessly to the first man who comes along with a candidate to propose.

A cool head, careful consideration, and thoughtful judgment of the possibilities of to-day's election will make the coming class leaders all that a class leader ought to be, the choice of the majority of the people in that group.

Whatever the results of today's contest, there will be several who cannot but feel that the best man did not win.

LISTENING POST

Query!

Suppose the authorities announce that there will be no class parties held this year? Tow many candidates for the class presidency would withdraw gracefully from the field?

CONTRIBUTORS' COLUMN

FRESHMEN AND OLD GOLD

About this time of year the average freshman seeing the apparent laxity of the upperclassmen as regards studies, athletics, and campus life feels it is up to him to imitate what he takes for the true attitude of the other classmen.

But something more than a cursory investigation will disclose to him that the average Old Gold man and woman holds the traditions and honor of the University very close to his heart. The freshman will find that any attempt to arrogate to himself the privileges of the upperclassmen will be met with in no uncertain terms.

After a man has demonstrated his enthusiasm and support of the colors, for a year or more, he naturally may assume a different apparent attitude towards the University than would be permissible in the freshman.

The freshmen by their ready acceptance of the green cap have shown the spirit which we hope will continue all through their university life; thereby making any trip down the flowery path leading to the wet and cold Iowa river entirely unnecessary. B. G.

THE HOUSING QUESTION

There are now four dormitories located at the state agricultural college at Ames as compared to one at the State University at Iowa City. All women who attend the college at Ames are housed either in one of the dormitories or at a sorority house. When it was found that there would be more women at Ames than the present system would accommodate immediate preparations were made to build new dormitories which would be completed by the time registration opened. There are approximately 800 women at Ames.

There are 1500 women attending the University with 170 accommodated at the one dormitory and approximately 250 in sorority houses. No new dormitories have been built in a great rush to accommodate the greater number of women now registered in the University. The one dormitory which is already here was built through the efforts of a man who was interested in the University's women and wished them to have as many advantages connected with their college life as possible. There is always a waiting list of those who wish to room at the dormitory.

Is it not only fair to bring this matter to the consideration of the state legislature and try to secure an appropriation for one dormitory at least? D. L.

TATTERS

Did you ever walk along the south end of State street in Chicago where all the circuses and cheap shows in the country have their flaring posters? And did you ever keep your eyes open when you entered the campus at the east entrance? If so, you were no doubt reminded of the resemblance of the two. Yesterday evening as we left the campus we heard one of our deans say, "It make's me sick to see the way they litter up that entrance with posters and announcements." We'll leave it to you. Do we want all our deans and faculty to get sick at the same time?

Take a look at the situation the next time you come on the campus. See for yourself. If we can't have a bulletin board that is useful as well as ornamental, let's make the best of it and at least use judgment in the use of those we do have.

Notice the torn banner suspended across the entrance and notice the posters on the trees. Look at the flopping cards and papers on the bulletin boards and then wonder if we can't do something to enhance the beauty of our campus. C. H.

PHILOS PLEDGE FRESHMEN

The Philomathean literary society pledged the following men under the new probationary plan which has been accepted by the forensics in the University: Marian Blum of Des Moines, Robert Buchard of Davenport, G. L. Bretz of Wapello, John Brauns of Wapello, H. K. Bowen of Ft. Dodge, Ray L. Bryant of Colo, A. D. Clem of Marshalltown, L. F. Eckland of Clinton, G. O. Hess of Charles City, Roy Hafer of Spirit Lake, Harry Henke of Chicago, Ill., Dwight Kinsey of Wapello, Donald R. Lindsay of Iowa City, C. F. Marshall of Wapello, F. W. Miller of Wapello, T. J. Pepper of Logan, and Don B. Williams.

For A Non-Political Senior Hop Committee

Bowie Declares:

"I have no political debts to pay; and, if elected, will give A. F. I. the opportunity to determine the personnel of the Senior Hop Committee. This organization is honorary and essentially non-political, and should have only the best interests of the Class at heart."

VOTE FOR THOSE WHO MERIT Compare these records with those of other candidates: then vote FOR SENIOR PRESIDENT FOR SENIOR VICE-PRESIDENT

CHARLIE BOWIE

Bowie's record speaks for itself, rests solely on its own merits, and is devoid of all political connections. Without debts to pay, if elected, he is free to act with only the welfare of the Senior class to consider. During his first year he was a member of the Freshman track squad and later a member of the Varsity squad, winning his "I" in Cross Country. As a member of the University Players, he has taken active part in dramatics; is a member of Philomathean; is a strong figure in literary society circles, and is a candidate for intercollegiate debate. The great success of the Y. M. C. A. campaign this fall is due to Bowie. As chairman of the membership and finance committee, he has proved his ability as an executive and organizer. At this time last year not a cent had been subscribed; and Bowie has already raised over a thousand dollars, nearly as much as was collected all last year, with a subscription average of 85 percent as against 25 percent last year. He is president of his fraternity, Sigma Phi Epsilon. He will enter law next year and thus continue his connection with old Iowa.

For Senior Secretary-Treasurer HELEN ROLLESTON

One of Iowa's most popular girls. Helen Rolleston is well known on the University Campus, and has engaged in numerous activities. She is a member of the Commerce Club, and belongs to the Delta Gamma sorority.

WARREN BASSETT

That the University of Iowa has a humorous publication which, in the course of one year, has come to be recognized as one of the leading college humorous magazines, is due to the efforts and genius of Warren Bassett. "Frvol is now an Iowa institution and its editor is its life. Last year he was associate editor of the Hawkeye; is now sports editor of Iowan; and is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalistic fraternity. He is a member of Athelney literary society; and in 1919 was battalion adjutant in the military department. Bassett has no political handicaps and the candidacy of the Editor-in-Chief of Frvol rests upon his efforts to push Old Gold to the front.

For Senior Member, Student Council DOROTHY LINGHAM

Miss Lingham has been appointed managing editor of Iowan; is a member of Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary journalistic sorority; last year was on the Hawkeye staff; and is on the Iowan Board of Trustees.

For Senior Member, Social Committee GENEVIEVE CLEARY

Miss Cleary was one of the top notchers in the University Girls' Beauty Contest held last spring. She has engaged actively in dramatics; is a member of the University Players and belongs to the Erodolphian Literary Society.

ASTRONOMER SEES SIGNS OF LIFE ON SURFACE OF MARS

Mars is inhabited by intelligent beings, according to O. H. Truman, who was formerly an instructor in mathematics and astronomy at the University, and who has been spending the past year in research work at Flagstaff, Ariz. at the Lowell observatory. Mr. Truman is spending a short vacation at the home of C. W. Keyser

Mr. Truman said, "My present belief is that Mars is inhabited. My opinion may be changed by future developments, but that is what I think now." He has been making a special study of Mars with the intention of proving or disproving the existence of intellectual beings on that planet says that he has been able to make out some of the supposed irrigation canals and to make some interesting photographs with existing equipment. He hopes to carry his work much further with the aid of the improved apparatus which he is designing. He is working upon the design of a new lens for measuring velocities of spiral nebulae, which will be five times as powerful as any now in use.

Mr. Truman has been using a telescope so powerful that it is possible to see a spider web 600 feet away by its aid. He thinks that the canals are four to five miles wide, and that they are not natural phenomena but the work of the Mars inhabitants.

In regard to communication with Mars, he said that he does not think it will be accomplished soon or as easily as some scientist would have believed. He regards the disturbance noted by the Marconi stations a few months ago as electrical disturbances from the sun.

AMES TO HAVE MEMORIAL

Students Subscribed $60,000 in Preliminary Campaign last June

Ames, Iowa, October 10, Special: A million dollars is the goal of Iowa State college alumni in a war memorial building campaign which they set in motion at a conference held in Ames this past week end.

"We are going after this million dollars with the expectation of getting it by next commencement time," said M. J. Riggs, president of the alumni association, a prominent steel industry man of Toledo, O., who heads up the campaign. "We believe our alumni have that much money to give to a worthy need of their Alma Mater and that they will give it willingly, with the aid of students and faculty members."

Already students have subscribed about $60,000 to the fund, doing this in a preliminary campaign conducted just as college was closing last June.

ADDITION MADE TO STAFF

A. E. Briceland Becomes Instructor in Physical Training

Another addition has been made to the teaching staff of the physical training department, E. G. Schroeder, head of the department announced yesterday.

Beginning this week, A. E. Briceland, of Davenport, Iowa, will have charge of four freshmen and two sophomore classes in physical training.

Mr. Briceland was commissioned in the artillery and transferred to the tank corps during the war and since that time has been actively engaged in physical training work. He was recently located at Beloit, Wis., where he had charge of the physical training in both public schools and in the Y. M. C. A.

The department is making extensive plans for the year's work and Mr. Briceland stated when he arrived yesterday that he was especially pleased with the material and prospects here for the coming year. "It will be somewhat crowded, however," he added, "because of the great number of students enrolled as compared with the accommodating capacity of the gymnasium."

Four Board Officers

Boyd and Locke will fight a close race in the sophomore class. Some of the dopsters say Locke and some Boyd. Boyd has an organization thought to be a real vote getter in Marjorie Proudft and Frances Ristine. Proudft is the only candidate for vice-president and Ristine has a long list of backers it is said. Maurine Yaggy is running with Locke for secretary-treasurer. Politicians think it is Boyd's popularity and organization against Locke's athletic ability, with Boyd the probable winner.

For the Hawkeye board of trustees Elizabeth Ensign, Paul Minnick, Robert Munn, and Victor D. Peck have announced themselves and no dope is out here for there are but four offices to be filled.

The freshmen have sprung a long list of candidates with Clinton M. Sims expected to win, freshies say. It is whispered that Sims has the old guard back of him and that his cards are being played with careful precision. His running mates are Robert Rankin and Helen Schrader, the latter from Iowa City, which is always a good running point in freshie camps.

Other candidates are Clifford Anderson, Ray E. Belney, M. G. Bridenstine and Max J. Meissner for president; Margaret Benda, Jack Judy, Edna Rummelhart, Gretchen Schmidt and Margaret Wilson for vice-president and Edwin Baker and Helen Unrath for secretary-treasurer.

PLANS MADE FOR PUSHBALL MEET

Annual Sophomore-Frosh Contest is Set for Morning of Homecoming Day

Arrangements for the annual freshman-sophomore pushball contest have started with settlement on the morning of November 13, second day of Iowa Homecoming, and the date of the Iowa-Minnesota football game as the time for the first and second year men's mix over the big pigskin.

All green cap men are eligible for the freshmen team and all second year men are given a chance to defend the honor of the sophomore class. Captains of the teams will be picked by the presidents of the respective classes.

The game will consist of three ten minute periods. In the first and second periods, each class will be represented by a team consisting of a captain and twenty men. The same men may compete in both the first and second periods, but this is not required. The whole of both classes is to battle in the third period regardless of the results of the first two periods. Only scores made in the first two periods count in the final result.

This annual opportunity for the two classes to vent their enthusiasm has been a custom at Iowa for the past ten years. Interest has been growing each year, and E. G. Schroeder, director of physical education, expects that the pushball contest, along with green caps and silver-mounted canes will be one of Iowa's traditions.

The majority of the contests in previous years has been won by the frosh chiefly because of the greater number of available men. However, owing to the fact that there is a great number of sophomores enrolled this year, there is believed to be no reason why the second year men should not have an equal chance.

An admission price of twenty-five cents will be charged at the contest, the returns of which will go to the athletics board to help defray general expenses of the affair.

PRELIMINARY STEPS FOR HOMECOMING ARRANGED

Preliminary steps were taken towards arranging for this year's Homecoming celebration, last night, when the Homecoming committee held its first meeting.

Prof. E. W. Rockwood suggested that the public and the alumni be informed that no subscription will be solicited for the Iowa Memorial Union during the Homecoming. It was felt that this practice kept many persons away last year, and it was therefore determined that no subscriptions will be asked for at this time.

It was suggested that the annual freshman-sophomore pushball contest be held during the homecoming celebration again this year.

Another idea advanced was that the Homecomers be cared for so that they might remain in the city for a day or two instead of staying only a few hours Saturday afternoon in order to see the game, as has been the case on a number of former occasions. It was pointed out that the Homecoming crowd is not so much interested in being shown about and entertained as in finding eating places and getting to the game on time.

As a dental meeting is to be held here on Friday it was further suggested that the University dinner be held on Friday evening in order that the persons attending the dental meeting might be entertained Friday night.

It was also thought practical to devise some means of lighting the oval for the mass meeting on Friday evening, the twelfth.

STRIKE GETS COMMISSION

Clarence L. Strike, a graduate of the college of applied science in 1915, has been commissioned a first lieutenant in the signal corps of the regular army. While in the University he was captain of Co. A, engineers. Before the war and since leaving the University he has been in the employ of the Iowa telephone company.

Y. W. COMMITTEE HAS DINNER

This afternoon at 5 o'clock the membership committee of the Y. W. C. A. will hold a dinner at the liberal arts drawing room. This will be a meeting held before the final round up of the membership campaign. Margaret Young, Alpha Xi Delta, chairman of the committee will have charge of the meeting and Dorothy Banks, head of the membership department will give a short talk. Miss Charlotte Adams, biblical director at the national Y. W. C. A. school at New York, will also be present to give a talk to the girls.

Of all the girls who have been canvassed for membership, seventy-five percent have joined, making the total number of new members to date 400.

BOARD SELECTS MOORE

William O. Moore A3 of Seymour was appointed by the Iowan Board to fill the vacancy on the board of trustees left vacant by the failure of Edwin H. Lighter to return to the University this year. Moore ran third in the election last spring so the board considered him entitled to the position.

Stop, listen to the music of the band,
Whose Baby are you?
Naughty eyes
Oh
Everybody calls me Honey
And Whispering
Dearest One
I love you
My Budding Rose
Because you're mine
Your eyes have told me so
Since you crept into my heart
I want all your love or none at all
Take me
In your arms
Cuddle up
Kiss me again
My blushing Rose
She gave me the Ha Ha
And all that she said was Ump,
