LEAGUE TO HELP SEND AFRICAN AMER. PICTURES

In 1905, during the former of the Pan-American Exposition, the United States donated a building to the Pan American Union, the residence of the Permanent Secretary of the League of Nations was established in this building, and the International Law Library and Research Office were also located in this building. The League of Nations was established in 1919 and operated until 1946, when it was succeeded by the United Nations. The building was subsequently used by various organizations and is now the site of the United Nations Secretariat Building.

In 1930, the League of Nations was succeeded by the United Nations, which was established to promote international cooperation and to maintain international peace and security. The League of Nations was dissolved in 1946, and the United Nations was formed to replace it. The United Nations is a multinational organization that consists of 193 member states, each of which is represented by a delegation at the United Nations Headquarters in New York City.
